RED FEATHER DRIVE NOVEMBER 9

1581 Wayland residents made use of 33 Red Feather agencies last year. That's reason enough why every Wayland resident should be at home on Sunday, November 9 ready with a contrbution to turn over to his Red Feather campaign solicitor.

Richard W. Foster, campaign chairman, says that over 100 persons have volunteered to trudge the highways and byways of Wayland that day to collect donations which they hope will be at least one day's pay per family. Wayland's goal this year is $6500. Almost half of this comes back to Wayland. Also 103 Wayland men and women in the Armed Forces are being served by USO, again a beneficiary of the drive.

An innovation will be four Red Feather parties to be given solicitors on November 6 and 7. A skit on soliciting and a movie will be shown, and refreshments served.

Personnel of the campaign includes William A. Waldron, vice chairman; Mrs. Schuyler Hollingsworth, administration; Mrs. John G. Adden, secretary; Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis Jr., Nathaniel Cannistraro, Rugh F. Colliton Jr., Henry G. Pearson, campaign committee; Richard A. Howard, Retail Chairman, assisted by William O'Connell.

District Directors are Robert W. Schuette, J. Otis Post Jr., Mrs. Robert L. Spang, Dunbar Holmes, Donald M. Powers, E. Milton Bevington, Newbury LeB. Morse, William H. Bowden, Francis W. Bartol, Marshall Ramill.

DIAL PHONES, RATE CHANGES PLANNED

The telephone company is planning for early 1954 local rate changes which would wipe out the extra charge for calls between Wayland and Natick, Sudbury, Weston and Waltham.

Dial phones would be installed, and Wayland operators would get new jobs. So says J. Robert Crowley, manager of the Natick office, which now includes Wayland.

The plan was explained to the Wayland Selectmen the other night. A 100% poll of telephone subscribers is being taken and, Mr. Crowley says, the company will go along with the majority's wishes.

At present, of course, the town is split right down the center of population by an imaginary telephone line. In some places it costs 10¢ just to make a call across the street.

The idea is to wipe out this annoyance. The catch is that there would be increases in the base rate. The boost would be $1 a month for a private line, 75 cents for a two-party line and 50 cents for a four-party line. For a business private line the jump would be from $6 plus tax to $11.50 plus tax.

The deal is what the company calls "extended area calling".

The present Wayland telephone facilities would be enlarged somewhat. The present Wayland operators would be placed, Mr. Crowley says, in positions as near Wayland as possible.

Under the proposed scheme, a person in Wayland or Cochituate could talk to Natick, Weston, Waltham or Sudbury at no charge, and persons in those communities could call Wayland without charge.

TOWN HOUSE ELECTS

New officers and seven members of the Board of Trustees were elected at the annual meeting of the Wayland Junior Town House, October 20. The meeting, presided over by President Donald B. Willard, featured Dr. Louise Bates Ames, Boston Globe columnist and director of the Gesell Institute of Child Behavior in New Haven.

Officers elected were: F. P. Walther, chairman of the board, Mrs. Howard C. Weeks, clerk, and Robert G. Paine II, treasurer.

Members of the Board of Trustees elected for a three-year term were: George I. Emery, Mrs. William Owens, Dunbar Holmes, John C. Quinn, Duane B. Haagensen, Mrs. Gordon Holmes, Mrs. Frederick G. Perry.

KIWANIS ELECTS

Ed Veno was reelected president of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland at a recent meeting. Other officers elected were: Dick Howard and Frank Smith, vice-presidents; Walter Cheslak, treasurer; Clayt Morrill, secretary.

ACTIVE DRIVE IS PLANNED IN COCHITUATE

Cochituate's Red Feather Drive gets under way with a bang on Thursday, November 6, Chairman Theodore R. Magoun, of Eden Rd., has announced. The Cochituate campaign already ranks 5th among the 43 cities and towns in the extent to which it has its organization set up for action. The goal this year is $1500, 7% over 1951.

Also on the campaign staff are George G. Bogren, residential chairman, Mrs. Stanley N. Marshall, administration, and Kenneth C. Ringer, public relations

Captains appointed are: Mrs. John J. Simoni, Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, Miss Ena M. Tillson, Mrs. Hazel Taylor, Kenneth C. Ringer, Mrs. Peter C. Baker, Robert H. Scotland, Mrs. George C. Lewis, Mrs. John C. Bryant, and Arnold Bradley.

ELECTION DAY HEADQUARTERS PICKED

Republican Headquarters on Election Day will be established in Wayland at the Roger Stokeys on Bow Road, telephone 533, and in Cochituate at the home of Miss Edith Thayer, 58 Main St., telephone Natick 3747-W. Both transportation and baby sitters will be provided.

Two vacancies on the Town Committee have been filled by the election of Theodore R. Magoun and Mrs. J. Gordon Baldwin to membership. New associate members are Mrs. Pierpont Blair, Mrs. Victor H. Carr, William Dugan, Mrs. Ralph Field, Dean W. Hocking, George F. Johnson, Mrs. Edward B. Caraker, Mrs. Arthur L. Kimball, Otis W. Murphy, Mrs. J. O. Post, Jr. and Mrs. Mae Thibodeau.

SCHOOLS FILLED UP

Wayland schools are big enough this year, says Dr. Rexford S. Souder, Superintendent of School, but he adds that they'll be "tight"next year and "impossible" the year after that.

Studying ahead, the School Committee figured that the Wayland school population should be 1122 as of Oct. 1. 1952. Actually it was 1129, and a few were being added from time to time as new families moved in.

With completion of the High School addition scheduled for Nov. 1, says Dr. Souder,"We'll be in good shape." But there are 141 children in the 1st grade as against only 42 in the senior clase, and the increasing numbers of small pupils will require more elementary school space soon.

SIAMESE PUT THE PEEK ON TOWN

A couple of important Siamese gentlemen, governers of provinces in Thailand, went through Sudbury, Wayland and Weston some days ago, with Roward S. Russell of Wayland and John C. Hall of Sudbury as guides, but they were pretty polite about what they said.

These Thailand governors, Khumtrai and Prasert by name, said many of the Wayland houses looked comfortable, and they were particularly interested in the maple trees and in chapter 90 roads.

Asked their opinion of America, they said: "Much too busy. Everybody in big hurry."

They were not looking at Wayland when they said it.

VOKES TO GIVE "HARVEY"

Harvey will leap invisibly across the Vokes stage next month. The figment of Elwood P. Dowd's lively imagination is coming to life on Friday and Saturday evenings, November 7 and 8, 14 and 15 at 8:30 p.m. directed by Alice Colliton. David Bernard will play the part of Dowd.

Other members of the cast are: Carol Foster, Mary Sears, Kinty Morss. Grace Benson, Sandy Blanchard, John Buzzard, Phil Bassett, Toni Morgan, Cecil Bessell and Russ James.

This will be the first play to be produced in the newly enlarged building. The addition is a 20' by 40' extension to the working space back of the stage. There is also a large basement which eventually will accomodate dressing rooms. Other improvements include various safety measures required by the Town building code.

BIG VOTE EXPECTED ELECTION DAY

Wayland voters are expected to turn out in record numbers on Election Day, Tuesday, November 4 to elect Federal, State and Country officials from President to Registrar of Deeds.

Since the Primaries, 350 persons have registered, bringing new registrations for the year to an all-time high. The total now registered and eligible to vote is about 3250. If 92% of those eligible actually vote, which they did in 1948, the total vote will be close to 3000.

One set of figures that political dopesters are going to watch is how the Eisenhower-Stevenson ratio in Wayland compares with the Dewey-Truman ratio of four years ago. In 1948 the Dewey vote was 1373 as opposed to the combined Truman & Wallace vote of 792, or a ratio of 1.7 to 1.

Also the experts will be watching to see if the Republican candidate for Governor, Christian Herter, can improve upon the ratio held by Bradford four years ago over Dever. That ratio was 1.4 to 1.

Another interesting wrinkle of the last presidential race here was that whereas Dever ran ahead of Truman by about 150 votes, Dewey outdistanced Bradford by about 100 votes.

Candidates whose names eppear on the ballot November 4, are:

President & Vice President
Republican: Electors for Dwight D. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon.
Democratic: Electors for Adlai Stevenson and John J. Sparkman.

Senator
Republican: Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.
Democratic: John F. Kennedy.

Congressman - 4th District

FIRE STATION WORK BEGUN

Construction on the new fire station in Cochituate began early in October and was progressing rapidly. The contractor is Daniel H. Canning of 89 North Avenue, Natick, and the architect, Frederick Gagnon of Worcester.

The contract was signed Sept. 25. Price was $43,900 and the job was to be completed in 120 calendar days.

CHURCHES PRESENT NEW BIBLES

Presentation copies of the revised standard version of the Bible were given at a joint service of the Trinitarian Congregational Church and the Unitarian Church in the First Parish Church on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30, as part of the nation-wide observance of the publication of the new edition.

The copies were presented by Mrs. Gordon Baldwin, chairman of the committee in charge, to J. Sidney Stone, for the Library; W. Maxwell Griffin, for the Wayland schools; Donald B. Willard, for the Junior Town House; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Gregory, for the Unitarian Sunday School, and Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Surgenor, for the Congregational Sunday School.

J. Kenneth Emery, George Shepard, Howard Lyford and Frank Kilburn of the Wayland Kiwanis Club were ushers.

LADIES BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

Cheney C. Jones, past superintendent of the Home for Little Wanderers in Boston, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society of the Trinitarian Congregational Church on Wednesday, November 12 at 2:30 pm.

FIRST PARISH ALLIANCE

The Woman's Alliance of the First Parish Church will hold a church supper on Tuesday, November 11 at 6:30 pm. There will be a guest speaker.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY

Regular meetings of the Holy Name Society of St. Ann's Church will be held on the first Thursday after the second Sunday of each month at 7:45 pm, it has been announced. The first meeting was held October 16, with a large attendance of old and new members.

TO MY VOTING FRIENDS:

For 12 years as your senator, I have served you to the best of my ability, both in legislative matters and in personal problems. I devote my full time to public service. My record is open for all to see.

Your support on election day will enable me to continue these efforts. May I count on you?

Sincerely,
Charles W. Olson

THE TOONERVILLE TROLLEY TO WAYLAND

To the Editor:

I want to tell you what a chuckle I had over your comment about the old trolley line which used to run from Sunnyside, now known as the junction of Routes 9 and 27.

It was the original Toonerville trolley. It used to go along pretty well coming over through Cochituate, a bit seagoing, perhaps, rolling from side to side as it plunged up and down over the weaving road bed. But very often, as it approached Wayland coming around the bend by Sandy Burr, it would get a bit out of hand and plunge down the hill, off the tracks.

Thereupon the passengers would get out, give it a push back on the tracks, and away it would go, right through the center of town to the end of the route in front of the Town Hall.

Occasionally, some of the sports who had been to Saxonville would totter off the car, to be met by the constabulary and be escorted to the dungeon cell downstairs in Town Hall, there to sit and repent until sobered up enough to go home.

It has been many years since I have gone into those lower halls, but I can assure you that the cell, with its iron gratings, masonry walls and gorgeous festoons of cobweb, was bad enough to see when cold sober. As children we used to dare each other to go down and look at it. ***

You may marvel at the number of names in the telephone book. I can remember when there were just four names listed under Wayland, and now look at the darn thing. The Hendersons, Dr. Draper, Lovell's store and the Whitneys, all on one line ...

Next time I'll try to send some modern news.

Sincerely,
Emily Blair.

DOROTHY THOMPSON SPEAKS IN TOWN

Dorothy Thompson, well known newspaper columnist, discussed foreign and domestic affairs at a meeting of the Wayland Woman's Club in the High School Library on Oct. 11. About 85 were present. Mrs. Kimball C.Powning preeided.

A. L. AUXILIARY URGES GIFTS

Christmas gifts for the Bedford Veterans Hospital gift shop are being solicited by the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 133. Mrs. Quo V. Heggen requests that all gifts of $1.00 or more in value be left at the homes of either Mrs. John W. Leavitt or Mrs. Edna Bishop before Nov. 15.

RIVERVIEW NOTES By Anna Dugan

Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Linderman of 20 Riverview Circle brought home their baby boy from the Boston Lying-In Hospital. The baby weighed only 2 pounds 9 ounces when he was born, last July.

Mrs. Nora Penney was confined to the Framingham Community Hospital for five days. She came home Oct. 15.

CANDIDATES SPEAK

The League of Women Voters held its annual Candidates' Meeting at the High School on the evening of Oct. 21. Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, president of the League, presided. It was a strictly non-partisan affair, with each candidate given the same brief period in which to speak.

ONE THIRD USED RED FEATHER AGENCIES

The Red Feather Campaign's Claim that 1 out of 3 need and use Red Feather agencies is well borne out by the currently released report on the number of Wayland residents using Red Feather organizations during the year.

The agencies and number of Wayland persons using them are as follows:

Boston Floating Hospital , 1; Boston Guild for the Hard of Hearing, 2; Boston Legal Aid Society, 2; Boston Lying-In Hospital, 19; Boston Y.M.C.A., 13; Boy Scouts, 252; Mt. Auburn Hospital, 3; Prospect Union Educational Exchange, 9; Catholic Charitable Bureau, 1; Childrens Hospital, 15; Family Society, 12; Free Hospital for Women, 2; International Institute. 2.

Mass. Association for Mental Health, 1; Mass. Eye and Ear Infirmary, 4; Mass. General Hospital, 8; Mass. Memorial Hospitals, 8; Mass. Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 40; Leonard Morse Hospital, Natick, 268; Natick Girl Scout Association, 176; New England Deaconess Hospital, 7; N. E. Home for Little Wanderers, 1; N. SORRY! NO COVERAGE OF TOWN MEETING

The Editors regret that it has not been possible to cover the special Town Meeting on October 22. The meeting was not announced until after the October issue had gone to press, and again the meeting itself was held after this issue had gone to press.

WAYLAND BOY SCOUTS

First big event of the new Scouting season in Wayland was a camp out at Woodridge on the night of Oct. 18.

Director is Donald W. Light. The new Scoutmaster is Nevin Kather, who's assisted by George Kearsley, Gene Rumpel and Allen Morgan.

Between 30 and 40 boys have attended the meetings, which are held between 7:30 and 9 p.m. in the Wayland High School gymnasium. At first there were six troops which, it was thought, might settle into four.

Says Mr. Light:

"We want to build up strong patrol activity, with separate meetings and competition. And we would be delighted to have help from parents or others who have an interest in Boy Scout work."

TEXTILE STENCILLING CLASSES

Free textile stencilling classes will be held in Wayland during November under the direction of the Middlesex County Extension Service. Those interested should call Mrs. Edward O'Neill, Wayland 269, or Mrs. Willard C. Wolff, Wayland 277.

EMERSONS GO TO BRUSSELS

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Emerson, who formerly lived in the white house in Wayland next to the Unitarian Church, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Vinsonhaler, sailed recently on the United States for Europe. Mr. Emerson, who's connected with the State Department, expects to be stationed at Brussels for two years. Their daughter, Harriet Emerson, will go to school in Switzerland.

CUBS TO MEET THIRD WEDNESDAYS

Cub Pack Meetings for the Wayland Cub Scouts will be held monthly in the High School gymnasium, commencing Wednesday evening, November 19. The Pack, which has Richard W. Foster as Cub Master and R. Douglae Pillsbury, as assistant, is sponsred by the Wayland Junior Town House.

Parents are strongly urged by Cubmaster Foster to plan to turn out for these monthly sessions in which both boys and parents participate. The program is a home-centered one, and parents ers essential to its success.

Den Mothers who have volunteered their services include Mrs. John D. McKenzie, Mrs. Howard C. Weeke, Mrs. F. P. Walther, Mrs. C. Norman Collard, Mrs. Henry W. Plump, Mrs. Henry J. Smith, Mrs. David Turner, Mrs. Jackson K. Emery.

Members of the Pack Committee are David Turner, ohairman; Henry M. Doane, treasurer, Willis F. Johnson, Walter B. Parker, F. P. Wslther, and Philip P. Farina.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

Something about the Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals, as explained by Dunbar Holmes, Secretary:

It functions as a board of appeals under the Massachusetts statutes and tne Town zoning law.

The idea is that there should be a little "give" to the zoning laws.

The Wayland Board handles about 50 cases a year. Variances are asked on the ground of special topography, need or convenience. Some appeals are granted, most are not.

Most difficult cases are those involving gravel pits.

The Board's effort is to try to preserve both the looks and the eoonomic values of the Town.

Meetings are held in Town Hall as often as necessary. A person seeking a public hearing makes application in writing. Then abutters, Town officials and others concerned are notified. Seven days notice is given in a newspaper.

The Board takes a view of tne premises involved. Once the decision is made, it is written up, with reasons, and put on file in Town Hall as a public record. The applicant is notified by mail.

Enforcement of the decisions is up to the Building Inspector and the Seleotmen, who would seek an injunction in Superior Court, ordering the applicant either to do or not do whatever the Board had ruled. If the applicant disobeyed the court order, he would be liable for contempt.

No Wayland resident has ever been proceeded against by the Town in this way.

In reverse, the applicant dissatisfied with a Board of Appeals decision would appeal to the Middlesex Superior Court.

PARISHIONERS TO MAKE XMAS GIFTS

A unique Christmas gift sale will be held at the First Parish Church on Friday, December 5. Gifts which have been made and contributed especially for the occasion by members of the church will be on sale at reasonable prices for purchase by the public. All proceeds will go to the Bell and Organ Fund.

Typical of the gifts which parishioners will be busy making during November are: knitted goods, gift boxes, novelties, hand decorated china and utensils, bundled fire wood, photographs of town, preserves, jewelry and rejuvenated toys.

AUXILIARY POLICE HOLD FIRST MEETING

Civil defense objectives and the duties of Wayland auxiliary police in a war emergency were outlined to some 44 prospective auxiliaries at an evening meeting in the library last Oct. 16. The meeting was conducted by CD director W. R. Hulbert and Capt. D. E. Kennedy jr. and Lt. F. L. Heinrich of the Precinct 1 auxiliaries. A similar meeting is scheduled early in November for Precinct 2 auxiliary police under Capt. Charles H. Berkebile.

In the event of war, police auxiliaries must protect lives and property and control refugee traffic through town, the Precinct 1 group was told. They will train one night a month under professionals beginning in November. The meeting concluded with the Army film "The Atom Strikes" showing what atomic bombs did to Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

HOME PORT, - WAYLAND.

" From Wayland to the Sea " was the slogan of a Wayland couple who pioneered a canoe route this summer from Pelham Island to Plum Island.

Paddling an out-size aluminum canoe, Mr & Mrs John B Gregory, of Concord Rd, followed the course of Thoresu along the Sudbury River to Lowell. In the Wayland marshes on the first day they checked off more than 50% of the 85 species of birde they spotted during the 7-day trip. And that took them through Plum Is. & Topsfield bird sanctuaries, too.

The filth in the Merrimac River, below Lowell, however, drove the hardy canoers ashore. A commandeered truck sped them past four portages, including the Lawrence Fall. When the devastating July 27 tornado hit, they were midstream among marshlands. Fighting white caps to shore, they found slight protection from hailstones under the only 2 trees in sight. Two miles beyond they later observed that all the trees along the river bank had been up-rooted.

And was the steward of the yacht-club at the seaport of Newburyport surprised when they docked? He entered them in his log as the first cenoe to tie up to his pier. And, of course, they were the very first in recent times ever to reach the ocean by water from Wayland!

The Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals has denied a permit to John E. & D. Henriette Nelson for authority to display and sell monuments.

PROBLEMS OF FLOODLIGHTS

Howard C. Phillips of Cochituate Motors has a lighting problem, and so does the Town.

Mr. Phillips sponsors the Cochituate Motors softball team, 1952 Massachusetts champions, always up with the best.

The problem is money.

In 1951 Mr. Phillips made a deal with the town. He put up floodlights, good ones, on the Cochituate playground, at a cost of $6,000.

The idea was that voluntary contributions, from collections taken up at night softball games, would pay for the lights. When they were paid for, the lights would be turned over to the town.

But when the dish was passed at softball games, spectators either turned their heads aside delicately or put in nickels. At one game this Summer, the attendance was around 1000 and the take was $4. Because the playground is a public park, no regular admission could be charged.

So. Mr. Phillips offered to sell the lights to the Park Department for $3,000. Only $500 of the original cost has been paid off.

By this Summer the Way-Co Red Sox of the Little League were concerned. They played several games under the lights and planned to play many more in 1953. Plans were also being made for a Pony team, made up of boys 13 to 15, to play games under lights next summer.

Mr. Phillips says he's willing to give up the softball team, or move it away, but he wants to do everything possible to encourage the Little League and a Pony Team.

His contract with the town provides that if he should sell the lights, the Park Department should have first option to buy them.

Frank S. Tarr of the Park Department says he thinks the lights would be a great asset for a recreational program. Teams and organizations wanting to use the lights should pay an adequate rental, unless they are groups sponsored by the Park Department. On the other hand, he wonders how the townepeople would feel about paying the $3000.

So there's the problem---whether the town should have a gorgeous gadget for the Little League, a Pony team and perhaps other activities, or forget it.

PAUL REVERE BELL TO RING AGAIN

The Paul Revere bell in the steeple of the First Parish Church will ring again by hand. For two years it has only struck the hours because of weakness in the frame holding it. Then this Fall during his vacation, Brownie Parker engineered a new frame with the help of Charlie Campbell.

NO PARKING AT FIRES

A new Massachusetts law forbids one to park within 800 feet of a fire. The law was passed to keep ourious spectators from getting in the way of fire apparatus and ambulances. Violaters may be fined up to $100.

WILCOX HEADS BUDGET COMMITTEE

Appointed to the Budget Committee of the Wayland Community Chest for the year 1952-3 are Walter H. Wilcox, Chairman, Mrs. Archibald Cox and F. Stetson Eddy Jr. The committee meets each fall to review the budgets of the six Wayland agencies which receive Chest funds.

HIGHWAY WORK

The Town Highway Department started reconstructing 2021 feet of Oak street, near the Natick line. The installation of 800 feet of drainage on Edgewood road was finished in October.

Lieut. Ernest H. Damon Jr., son of the Wayland Chief of Police, is stationed at Baltimore, where he divides his time between a new Air Force clinic and the John Hopkins laboratories. Damon is an M. D.

TO LEVEL HILL

The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted a permit to Ralph E. McMillen of Stonebridge Road to remove earth for sale in leveling a hill at the corner of Old Connecticut Path and Massassoit Path.

NEW FLAG?

The Kiwanians suggest the Town might buy a new flag for Wayland Center. They say the present one is torn to shreds.

RED CROSS WORKERS NEEDED

The Wayland Red Cross canteen group has issued a call for reinforcements. Those interested in joining the group are urged to call Anne Brownell, Way. 4, who stated, "Our ranks have diminished through the years, but we are still active in local and veteran hospitals."

SUDBURY RIVER IS HIGH

The Sudbury River, which bears on its greenish bosom the sewage effluent of Framingham and Natick, has been more fragrant than usual lately, local citizens report.

One of these days Framingham and Natick are going to be connected with the Metropolitan sewer system, but that day isn't yet. In the meantime, the two towns are supposed to flush the river with fresh water at suitable intervals. Wayland people say this hasn't been done recently.

Now don't emit a grievous sigh
Because Red Feather Day draws nigh.
If you can donate one day'a pay,
You'll make it a Red Letter day!

This Typical American Family Tells You Why They Wish To Know You - and Have You Know Them

"Right up above is a picture of my wife. Lu, our daughter, Gail, our son, Michael .... and of me, Carl Sheridan, your Republican candidate for Congress.

"You might describe us as an average American family. We are proud of our duplex home in the town of Framingham where I was born and attended public schools and where I now work. My wife likes to cook and is darn good at it, but she will confess to you housewives that she's mighty thankful for such helpful things as her automatic washer, the gas range, electric refrigerator and a vacuum cleaner that's been her friend for eight years. She's interested in her family, her home and her flower garden.

"Gail is in the fifth grade at public school--likes chocolate malts, dungarees and sweaters, Gene Autry and anyone else who owns a horse.

"Michael, grade eight, hasn't decided yet whether to be a professional football player, a member of the Red Sox, or a lawyer like me.

"Yes, I'm a lawyer--a member of the firm of Sheridan and Randall. But I do like to boast that I got my law degree the hard way--going to Suffolk Law School nights, while working in the factory of the Teleohron Company daytimes.

"I've practiced law since 1936 in Framingham, and in addition to my regular law work I have served as Town Counsel for Hopkinton and Sudbury, director and general counsel for the Framingham Trust Company and trustee of Framingham Union Hospital.

"Public service always interested me and I've been active in it since 1938. That year I was appointed to the Finance Committee in Framingham, later served as chairman for three years. I was elected Moderator of my town in 1948 and am proud that the people have re-elected me each year since then.

"I have been active in the Massachusetts legislature, three terms as representative, then one term on the Governor's Council. And now my friends have encouraged me in my conviction that I can be of even greater service by serving as Congressman from the Fourth District.

"That, briefly, is the story of my career up to now, and I know you will want to ask what I believe in--what I will try to do for you in Washington as your Congressman. Here briefly are the things which I think are important to all of us today, the things in which I believe:

"I believe that we should clean out the Communists in government; send the corruptionists on the way; stop wasteful spending; work for world peace by strengthening the United Nations; give labor and industry much needed protection in my district.

"I believe that the government in Washington has made gross and costly errors in meeting the Russian threat. That the Russians intend to do everything possible to overthrow the American government has been evident ever since American boys were placed on the firing lines in the mismanaged Korean conflict.

"These are all things in which General Eisenhower believes and to which he has pledged himself. If Ike is to do the best possible job for all of us as our President, he has to have help. He has to have a Congress that will support him. I would like to help give him that support. I would like to serve you in Congress."

Carl A Sheridan

FOR MEN ONLY

Let's consider the L Street Brownies of South Boston and see if we can profit by their example.

The Brownies are rugged men who go swimming all Winter and play handball on the beach, attired in strings and G strings. They think nothing of hopping into the water when the temperature is at zero. They are hard, tanned and healthy and they all live to be 115 years old.

In Wayland, of course, we don't have any salt water, but we do have lots of zero and we do have a beach. Here are assets of which advantage should be taken.

There are groups and committees in town for everything else, from civics to reading books with big words. Why not for healthful sport, even in cold weather?

This would be an inexpensive form of recreation. First cost, for togs, would be slight. Then there'd have to be a dressing room, which could be built of snow blocks, igloo fashion. For heat, there could be a small fire, burning old engine oil, in the middle of the igloo.

Somebody, of course, would have to chop the holes in the ice, but this shouldn't be too difficult. A committee could attend to it, with the chairman, naturally, doing the work. He could start chopping ice the week after Labor Day and it wouldn't get far ahead of him, if he kept at it every day until May 30.

From the standpoint of health, the results should be amazing. Large stomachs would vanish, goose pimples would go away, sun tans would burgeon and eyes would be bright with the light of vitality.

Besides, doctors make nothing of pneumonia nowadays. A shot of penicillin, three days in bed and pouf! A fellow would be ready to dive in again.

This part of the world is so short of natural resources that ingenious people have to make the most of those available. Just because an idea is new is no sign it's bad. We have climate and a beach 12 months a year and we use them only three months. That's uneconomic.

What could be gayer, say on Christmas Eve, than to rush down to the beach, duck into the invigorating ice water and then enjoy a brisk rubdown by the jolly crankcase oil fire before returning home to resume the festivities of the season.

Skiing is for sissies. Skiers wear clothes. Winter swimmers get right back to Nature, with no fooling around. Often there is sunshine in Winter, too. Sun in January is just as good as it is in July, and it doesn't burn, either.

Snow isn't really as cold as it looks. In fact, they say it has to warm up to snow. A fellow wouldn't mind the small amount of snow which would fall on him between dressing room and high water mark. It would make the plunge easier, in fact.

Of course, all this is just a suggestion. The Way-Co Physical Culture Society will have to work out the details.

Membership in the Cochituate Brownies would probably reach the hundreds. It's hard, in fact, to think of any activity with more appeal for the man who's tired of paying premiums on his insurance.

And why should the big city have anything Wayland doesn't? --D. B. W.

SOUTHPAW OUT * RIGHTHANDED DENTIST IN

Wayland, or maybe it should be Cochituate, is going to have the first dentist in at least the modern history of the town, and as it happens, he's right handed. He's Dr. Howard R. Libby, and he's scheduled to take over his office in the remodelled building at 3 Main street, Cochituate, around Nov. 1.

The first dentist who looked at the office was right handed. Then he thought he wouldn't have it. The next one who came along was, of all things, a southpaw, and he wanted some of the fixtures reversed. He wanted to pull to the other field. However, he decided not to stay, after all, and Dr. Libby, who pitches from the right side, is going to move in.

IKE Vs. ADLAI AT WAYLAND H. S.

A mock election, sponsored by the Wayland League of Women Voters, is to be held by High School students on Nov. 3 at the school. Headmaster Maxwell Griffin is cooperating and Miss Maude Merrithew's class is printing the ballots.

Miss Esther Raoosin is putting out information supplied by the League. Booths will be set up and it will be as much like a regular election as possible.

The League will also have station wagons, containing information and literature, parked in both precincts during the week before election.

HELP! SERVICEMEN'S ADDRESSES NEEDED

The Crier prints herewith the names of all Wayland and Cochituate men in military service, thanks to the cooperation of Mr. G. M. Blomgren of the draft board.

And here's a proposition:

The Kiwanis Club offers to mail a copy of the Town Crier to each local boy in service, for free, and the Crier offers to provide the papers also for free. But there's one small catch.

There is no list of service addresses in town. The only way one can be compiled is to have parents, relatives or friends help out.

And here's an appeal:

Will all who have the service adoresses of Wayland and Cochituate boys please send them to W. B. Ryder of the Kiwanis Club, at Box 453, Wayland, so that this project can get going?

ASK YOURSELF THESE QUESTIONS

Which candidate has already proved his stature by shouldering responsibilities of global extent?

When a man has bungled his job, do you let him pick his successor?

Which candidate can gain us the allies we must have if we are to avoid war -- the midwestern governor or the man who has persuaded the nations of Europe to unite for the first time in history?

Which candidate has the knowledge and experience to eliminate the waste in our defense program?

Which candidate can tackle "the mess in Washington" free of any obligation to those responsible for the mess?

SCHOOL SITE COMMITTEE MEETS

The committee on elementary school building eitee, authorized by the epecial Town Meeting in October, held ite first meeting at the High School on Nov. 11.

Dr. Rexford S. Souder, Superintendent of Schools, ehowed charts, baeed on ectual present enrolment in the schools, a censue of children of pre-school age, and new building permits, to indicate the probable future growth of the echool population.

Ae of now, there are 12 elementary echool rooms in Cochituate and eight in the Center School. That'e 20. An overflow of fifth and sixth grade pupils is being taken care of in the new High School addition.

The projection shows that by 1954, by the time a new elementary echool could be built, 33 elementary rooms will be needed. That'e 13 more than Cochituate and Wayland Center now have. In a ehort time, although not next year, the extra roome in the High School building will be needed by the Junior High School.

Dr. Souder saye the school syetem can get through thie year comfortably. Next year can be managed. By 1954, however, the figuree show that there will have to be more epace.

Dr. Souder'e opinion ie that the moet efficient unit ie a school of 12 or perhaps 13 roome. A school of 13 rooms, or even of 12, would be ell right for 1954. But the figuree ehow that eight more classrooms would be needed by 1957.

Conaideratione before the committee were the geographical location of pupile' homes, the problem of bus transportation, eafety for walking children, future needs, and, of course, the matter of expenee.

Membere of the committee are George V. Deverell, Mre. John A. Brownell, Harvey C. Newton, Mre. J. Gordon Baldwin, Lewis W. Avard, Thayer Rudd, Mre. John Simoni, William A. Loker and Donald B. Willard.

28 QUESTION MARK PICTURES

Twenty-eight of the chest x-ray pictures mede of Wayland and Cochituate residents in October have come back with question marks on them, says Benjamin Beale of the Board of Health.

"This does not mean," he points out, "that the persons concerned must have tuberculosis. It may mean that the pictures were defective. Nobody on the Board knows, at this time, whether a single case has been discovered."

The pictures taken in October were miniatures. All the doubtful ones will be taken again, in full size. If they show anything wrong, the person, his doctor and the town will be notified.

COMMUNITY CHORUS CONCERT DEC. 14

The annual performance of Handel's Messiah by the Community Chorus will be held on Sunday, December 14 at 4 p.m. in the High School auditorium. The concert is open to the public and no admission is charged. A 35-piece orchestra will accompany the chorus, conducted by Chester Williams.

NEXT SQUARE DANCE DEC. 12

The next in the series of square dances at the Cochituate School gymnasium will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 12. The public is invited, and Dick Best is the caller. The series is scheduled for the second Friday of each month.

CHRISTMAS SING AT LIBRARY

A family Christmas carol sing will be held on the steps of the Wayland Public Library on Sunday, December 21 at 7 p.m. The public is cordially invited to join in. Sponsored by the Friends of the Library, coffee, hot chocolate and doughnuts will be served afterwards.

Chairman of the Friends, Frank E. Hanson, has also announced that his group will shortly supply the library with albums of recorded classical music. The records will be loaned out on the same basis as books. A record-player with headsets are included in the plans which a committee of Friends headed by Addison L. Sandford hope to carry out before Christmas.

AUXILIARY POLICE MEET

An outline of the limits of police authority and its relation to civil authority will be given to the auxiliary police of both ends of town on Thursday evening at 8 p.m., Dec. 4, in the Town Hall. Part of the civil defense training program, the meeting will be the first instructional period for Wayland's auxiliary police groups. Instructing at the first meeting will be Roger P. Stokey, Town Counsel.

Previous organizational meetings in both precincts had attendances totalling over 75. Some 200 invitations have been sent out for the Dec. 4 meeting.

Wayland has two auxiliary police pistol teams participating in the current New England Police Revolver League match. This year has seen an increased interest in the shooting program which is conducted in the Town Hall basement pistol range every Thursday night.

RED FEATHER REPORT

Wayland and Cochituate were well on their way to meeting their Red Feather quotas at press time. Richard Foster, Wayland campaign chairman, announced that $6045, or 93%, of the $6500 quota had been collected. In Cochituate, Theodore R. Magoun, chairman reported contributions approaching the three-quarter mark.

The generous contributions of new residents was one of the principal factors this year in the campaign's success. On November 22, Wayland ranked fourth out of the 48 communities in percentage of quota met. Both Chairmen Foster and Magoun thanked the several hundred volunteers who gave their services.

RECEPTION FOR FATHER CARTY

Fifty women of St. Ann's Guild held a reception for Rev. William J. Carty, who came to Wayland to be pastor of St. Ann's Church after the tragic death of Rev. James E. Fahey in the rectory fire of Sept. 25.

Another tragedy in the parish was the death of Rev. George P. McColgan, who had been pastor since 1949. Fr. McColgan died Nov. 16 in Charlestown.

Fr. Carty is to live in the house next to the old postoffice in Wayland Center until the rectory can be rebuilt.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN ON

The annual sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals is now in full swing. Seals have been mailed to all residents of Town, and checks may be sent direct to Mrs. Rexford Moss, treasurer. Mrs. Carlisle D. Scotland, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Stanley N. Marshall, has announced that 316 new cases of tuberculosis were admitted last year to the Middlesex County Sanatorium.

HEALTH CENTER TO BE BUILT

The Parmenter Health Center ia going to be built within a year, the trustees have announced, and it is going to be a unique institution.

The eite, already picked, is a four-acre tract on the east side of Cochituate Road, near School Street.

The building will be comparatively small, probably of one story, of a style to conform to the general architecture of other buildings in town. Its exact dimensions, layout and equipment have not yet been decided. The architect is Theodore Steffian of Boston.

This health center will not be a hospital, although it is planned to have a first-aid room. It will chiefly be devoted to preventive medicine with emphasis on serving children. There may be a dental program.

Use of the Center will be restricted, at least at first, to Wayland residents. Somebody not a doctor will be in residence at all times. There will be somebody on hand to answer the telephone and give directions and advice if, perhaps, a resident has a medical emergency in the middle of the night and can't reach a doctor right away.

Other communities have health centers, but the authorities say there is nothing just like this one anywhere. This is somewhat experimental, and doctors are taking much interest in it.

It comes to the town from the late Jonathan Maynard Parmenter, who died in 1921.

In 1948 the Middlesex Probate Court ruled that the Parmenter fund could be used for the building and maintenance of a Health Center, instead of a hospital.

On March 17, 1949, the Parmenter Health Center was formally incorporated as a non-profit organization. The officers and trustees:

Carlisle D. Scotland, president; Emily W. Blair, treasurer; Caroline L. Whiteside, clerk, and J. Sidney Stone and George G. Bogren, trustees, all of Wayland, and Ernest F. Tillson and Waldo Noyes, trustees for the Harvard Trust Compsny.

The bank still holds the money, now said to be more than $500,000, and is charged with the actual construction of the Health Center building. After the building is completed, the Wayland trustees will be in charge, subject to five legal-size pages of restrictions laid down by the court.

How much the building will cost isn't known yet, because the plans haven't been completed.

The professional advisor for the project is Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky of Beth Israel Hospital, one of the country's most distinguished physicians.

THE MAN WHO GAVE THE MONEY

Jonathan Maynard Parmenter never smoked or drank. He worked hard and went to bed at 9 o'clock. He went to the First Parish Church on Sundays. He read books and newspapers and once belonged to a Shakespeare Club. He never married. He wore chin whiskers.

He was noted for his thrift.

"Never spent a cent," say some who knew him.

But there was nothing ungenerous about him. When he died at the age of 89, in 1921, he left this town gifts amounting to $500,000 or so.

Wayland never had another such benefactor. Few other New England towns have had such, either.

He was a descendsnt of the very earliest settlers of Sudbury and Wayland. He was born in the house on Concord Road now occupied by Town Counsel Roger Stokey. He had a younger brother, Henry, and a sister, Louisa.

Henry and Maynard kept cows and raised corn and onions. They owned acres of land along Bow Road and towsrds Old Sudbury Road, and more down along Plain Road.

His chief interest, said one who knew him well, was cows. "He'd talk cows half the night." He used to take his herd over the roads to Pack Monadnock each Summer for grazing, and bring them back in the Fall. As late as 1918 he made the journey himself, and in 1920 he followed the drive as far as Stow.

As a farmer, he was prosperous and successful. But he didn't make his fortune in farming.

Back in the 1880s some friends in town persuaded him to invest in Southern textile mills, when Southern textiles were new. The returns were enormous, and his later investments also prospered.

"He never could believe he had money," ssys one who remembers him. "He never talked about it."

When his will was filed in Middlesex Probate Court, it was found that his estate was $1,275,000.

Much of this went to personal bequests. But here's a list of some of the things he did for Wayland:

Left $10,000 to buy books for the Wayland Library.

Left $10,000 to Radcliffe College for scholarships for Wayland girls.

Left $7,000 to the Unitarian Church. (He had previously given the church the present parsonage, as a memorial to his brother, Henry.)

Bought the old Wayland Inn, which used to stand on Cochituate Road opposite the lawyer's house in the Center, and had it torn down, so there would always be a grassy area in the Center. He gave the land to the town.

And that was Maynard Parmenter, the frugal farmer who turned out to be the most open-hsnded man in town.

FIRST PARISH CHRISTMAS SALE

Christmas gifts to suit all tastes will be on sale at the First Parish Church from 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturdsy, December 6. In addition to home-made products and crafts, there will be Christmas wrappings, cards, decorations and toys. Persons wishing to donate gifts should leave them at the church by Fri., Dec. 5.

BIG MOMENTS IN A SMALL TOWN'S HISTORY

Year 1. Creation. Leftover mud thrown into Sudbury River marshes.

Later. Dinosaurs won't stay in Wayland. Mosquitoes.

Later still. Indiane ditto. Same reason.

1726. Assessors in trouble. Property owners say valuations are too high.

1776. Declaration of lndependence. Cries from Wayland and Cochituate, "What about US?"

1790. Four newcomers in town. Hooked into serving on civic committees four days after arrival.

1800. Churoh flourishes. Sin not doing so badly, either.

1801. First Democrat appears in town. Stoned.

1802. Citizen takee swim in Lake Cochituate. Likes it.

1810. Two more Democrate appear. Kindly neighbors give them collected speeches of Robert A. Taft to straighten out their minds.

1845. Mexican War. No Mexicans in Wayland or Cochituate. No trouble.

1875. Telephone invented. First operator eays, "No, I'm not allowed to tell you where's the fire."

1890. Six Democrats in town. Ignored.

1896. First real eetate boom. Five new houses go up.

1900. First automobile passes along State Road. Doesn't stop until it runs off bridge into river.

1952. Mosquitoes aboliehed.

1952. Eieenhower elected. Democrats bleed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

On the weekend before election, a number of Wayland citizens received a letter from William J. Kittredge, Chairman of the Committee for election of P. Joseph Murphy, challenging the notation "No Reply" after Mr. Murphy's name on the page which the League of Women Voters of Wayland sponsered in the October Town Crier for anewers to candidates' questionnaires. Mr. Kittredge etated that Mr. Murphy never received a questionnaire so could not answer.

On August 23, 1952, the League sent Mr. Murphy and all other candidates a questionnaire. No reply was received from Mr. Murphy. After the primariee, Mr. Murphy was sent a letter asking him to speak at the League's Candidates Meeting on Oct. 21. No reply was received. Another letter was sent, requesting an immediate answer. No reply was received. However, Mr. Murphy did appear at the meeting and was given his share of time to speak. For economy reasons these letters were not sent by registered mail and it is possible they were never received. However, when Mr. Murphy ran for election two years ago, he was sent a questionnaire by registered mail. No reply was received.

On November 4, 1952, the League wrote Mr. Kittredge asking for a clarification of his statements and again, on November 11, 1952, wrote to Mr. Kittredge, by regietered mail, requesting a prompt reply. To date, no reply has been received.

It is the purpose of the League of Women Voters to obtain information from all candidates and to make this information available to the voters. The League regrets that it was not possible in this case.

Peggy Bruce, Preeident, League of Women Voters of Wayland

DEAD MAN'S CURVE AGAIN

Dead Man's Curve will positively be straightened out, says the Massachusetts Department of Public Works.

Just how it will be done hasn't been decided yet, but, as they used to say of entranced young couples, it looks like a sure thing in the Spring.

Representative Howard S. Russell has been talking with engineers in the Department, pointing out the dangers of the place and the number of accidents which have occurred there.

Rep. Russell has also filed a bill in the Legislature, calling for construction of the long proposed bypass of Route 20 around Wayland Center. His bill calls for reconstruction and relocation of Route 20 from the end of the Weston bypass all the way to a point in Sudbury.

Presumably, this bypass would leave the present State rd. East at Dead Man's Curve, leaving Wayland Center to the north, and cut across the Sudbury River marshes into Sudbury.

Some opposition to the project is reported from Sudbury, but apparently only to the precise spot where, it is supposed, the bypass would rejoin the present road.

The Department of Public Works says that only preliminary studies of this project have been made.

The effect of such a construction, presumably, would be to take through traffic out of Wayland Center, just as the Weston bypass has taken the traffic out of Weston Center.

Last month a big trailer truck loaded with frozen French fried potatoes went over the edge at this curve, in the night. The driver was rescued from his burning cab just in time and, according to rumor, all the French fried potatoes were liberated by passersby and others. Even before the fence was repaired another vehicle hit it, but got away without going over.

PREVIEW OF TOWN MEETING BUSINESS

The school site, a Water Department proposal for a new well and pump, and petitions to change zoning classifications will be among the most interesting items of business of the March Town Meeting, the Finance Committee has announced.

The Town Meeting warrant was closed on Dec. 15.

The Water Department wants a new well on the Schofield property, off Old Connecticut Path West, plus a new pump and a new pump house. This installation would be near the present well.

The Water Department also has articles in the warrant for extending the 12-inch water main from Old Connecticut Path along Maiden Lane to Pequot Lane.

One Zoning article calls for changing an area near the intersection of Stone Bridge rd and Old Connecticut Path from a residential area to a business area. It comes as a petition from property owners.

A similar article calls for changing a district at East Plain st, School st and Commonwealth rd East to a business area.

CUBS-KIWANIS COMBINE ON TREE

The first lighted Christmas tree to grace Wayland's green in many a year was the result of a four-way joint effort. The Kiwanis Club of Wayland gave the tree, Edward A. Veno mada the stand, Packmaster Richard W. Foster gave the lights, and the Cubs decorated it.

EDISON COMPANY FINALLY WINS

The five-year battle to keep the Boston Edison Company from running its high-tension line through Wayland has been "definitely lost," says Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey.

The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts handed down its decision last month.

Mr. Stokey says the line will consist of single towers, four feet by four feet at the base, 95 feet high. It will come across country from Framingham, cutting Stonebridge rd between Old Connecticut Path and Riverview, joining the railroad line at South Sudbury.

From South Sudbury the line will follow the railroad tracks, on one side or the other, through Wayland and Weston.

RED FEATHER DRIVES GO OVER THE TOP

The Cochituate and Wayland Red Feather drives went over the top with a vengeanca and wound up in third and fourth places among the metropolitan cities and towns. Cochituate took in 107% of its quota, or $1605; Wayland 108%, or $7020.

Both Chairmen Theodore R. Magoun and Richard W. Foster again expressed appreciation for the generous cooperation of the contributors and the large staff of volunteer workers.

ROUTE 30 TO BE DOUBLE-BARRELLED

The reconstruction of Route 30, from Norumbega to Framingham, has been scheduled and bids for it may be let by next Summer, the State Department of Public Works says.

The new Route 30 will be a double-barrelled limited access road, like Route 128. The section will be eight miles long, ending on the Worcester Turnpike.

Just where it will go through Cochituate has not been determined. The engineers will determine that after studying airplane photographs.

167 NEW HOUSES PLANNED IN 1952

Applications for cesspool permits for the year, up to Dec. 15, numbered 276, of which 167 were granted, according to Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health. He thinks this probably represents the greatest building activity in the town's history.

Forty-two requests were denied because they were for building sites on low land. Many requests were still pending.

Cesspool permits have been required for the past three years. In 1952 there were the most applications ever. Every cesspool permit represents a house in the future - not necessarily a completed dwelling.

Indications are, says Mr. Fair, that even more houses will be built in 1953.

Assuming an average of four persons to a family, 167 new houses would represent a population increase of 668.

TOWN APPOINTMENTS TO BURCHILL AND BENJAMIN

Appointments to fill two vacant Town offices have been announced by John W. Leavitt, chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

Richard H. Burchill, of Fairfield rd, has been appointed to the Finance Committee, replacing John F. Yeager whose term has expired.

B. Allen Benjamin, of Concord rd, has been appointed Assessor, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Archibald Cox last summer.

COMMITTEE PICKS 15-ACRE SCHOOL SITE

The School Site Committee has agreed unanimously to recommend that the town acquire a 15-acre tract of field and woods near the corner of Maiden Lane and Old Connecticut Path West as a location for a new elementary school.

This decision was reached after half a dozen meetings of the committee, including two inspections of the property.

The school development would be accompanied by the building of a short stretch of new road, from the end of Pequot Lane in Happy Hollow to Maiden Lane, and by the rebuilding of Maiden Lane for about 800 feet in from Old Connecticut Path. These new road links would shorten considerably the present automobile distance from this section of Old Connecticut Path to Cochituate.

At the same time, the Water Department proposes to run a 12-inch water main along this new road. The result of this would be to increase greatly the pressure in both Cochituate and Waylsnd Center.

The school site selected is bounded for 700 feet on its north side by the Weston Aqueduct. It is a quadilateral, with two projections, one to Maiden Lane, with a 250 foot frontage, and another to Old Connecticut Path, with a 300-foot frontage. In its main dimensions, the tract is approximately 600 by 550 by 675 feet.

If the site is approved by the town at the meeting in March, and if subsequent steps in the building program are approved at a special town meeting to be held later, work on the new school should start next September and the job should be done by September, 1954.

What the school authorties have in mind is a 12-room, one-story building, to cost, at a guess or estimate, between $500,000 and $600,000. Of this cost, 40 per cent would be paid by the state.

This site has already been approved by the State School Building Assistance Commission.

Eight acres of the site would be taken from the property of Theodore L. Parker, who lives at the corner of Maiden Lane and Old Connecticut Path. This land is mostly a rolling field. Less than one acre would be taken from the Wayland Real Estate Company. This lot is wooded. It adjoins the Parker field.

The rest of the site, more than five acres, consists of land belonging to George L. Nolan. This is all wooded except for a tract of field along Old Connecticut Path, adjoining the aqueduct on the south side.

Negotiations with these property owners were begun, under the authority given to the committee.

Measurements given here are approximate, based on maps. By Town Meeting time, surveyors' measurements will be available.

The land on which the actual school building would be placed is 20 feet or more above the level of Maiden Lane and Old Connecticut Path. The Board of Health has been consulted about it.

LONG FIRE TRUCK POSES PROBLEM

The two new fire engines ordered by the town were expected to arrive in January or February, and the truck scheduled to be housed at the Wayland station posed a problem.

It's going to be too long to swing out of the station and down the driveway to the street. For months the fire department has been trying to negotiate with the Boston and Maine Railroad for use of a five-foot strip of land along the tracks, but nothing has happened.

When the new truck gets in there and the alarm sounds, some are willing to bet, the fire department will use that strip of land anyway, unless there's a locomotive on it.

Your response to our appeal for $1.00 subscriptions was gratifying. You also showed concern for all the news items we didn't have room to run. So this month we are giving you a 6-page paper.

Even so, it won't pay for itself. We still need a $1.00 for the next nine issues from those who haven't subscribed this year.

PEQUOT INN WAS PURCHASED BY GROUP OF CITIZENS

Further research by the editorial staff concerning the contributions made by Jonathan Maynard Parmenter reveals that the Crier erred in attributing to him the purchase and razing of the old Wayland Inn in Wayland Center.

The building, known as the Pequot Inn, was a favorite hostelry for city-dwellers in the Summer months. With the coming of Prohibition in the early 'Twenties, the management decided to close up, although Wayland itself prior to Prohibition had been a "dry" town under the local option law.

At this time it was purchased by Walter Henderson, Edmund H. Sears and J. Sidney Stone. It was offered to the Town for offices and meetings, but was never much utilized. Around 1925, Mr. Stone had it torn down. The land was then donated to the Town with the idea that it might be used for a site for a much-needed new Town Hall. At that time arrangements were also made to allow the State to widen the road if necessary.

LINNEHAN RECEIVES SIX-YEAR AWARD

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Questions Cell Story

To the Editor:

In regards to the Wayland men getting off the Toonerville trolley and being put in the dungeon cell in the Town Hall. I am one of the oldest citizens of Wayland and I never remember of any one being put in the cell. Most of them came on the Steam train, but all did not get off in Wayland. Some got off at Tower Hill.

An Irate Citizen

More on Cell

To the Editor:

Thank you for publishing my little story recalling "the good old days" when transportation beyond the Town limits was confined to the trains, the trolleys and the thoroughbred mare. Yes, we had bicycles, and also we walked. People did not hurry especially, except to catch the 8 o'clock train in the morning.

The report on the dungeon cell in the Town Hall has brought forth much questioning and comment, so let's clarify the time and circumstances - the place is known - surrounding the story. (This sounds like a political campaign.)

The time was around 1905, easy to recall, for it was when we younger brothers and sisters acquired new bicycles. New-fields-to-conquer was our goal, so we set out to investigate the cell in the Town Hall, which we had heard rare tales of from older brothers and sisters. The first trip gave us all the chills and horrors which we had expected. We used to drop in now and then just to confirm how many cobwebs there were.

One hot summer Monday morning, we were a bit bored, so dropped in to take a look. Wow! There was a man we all knew. We were scared to death, then felt terrible pangs of mortification, having interrupted the sobering pangs of one of our townsfolk.

It was nearly ten years later that I first rode home on the midnight train. It was something. Opera goers returning home all in their best regalia, looking very stiff and formal. Many less formal ones, dozing or noisily sleeping, and a few big eyed kids, like me. The conductors were very considerate. They would always wake a feller up a station ahead of his stop, and when necessary escort him to the platform.

I have no regrets for the passing of "the good old days" and it's fun to have lived through the changes that come to a small town.

Emily W. Blair.

SCOUT-O-RAMA TO BE STAGED JAN. 31

A six-town Scout-O-Rama will be held in the Wayland High School auditorium from 3 to 9 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 31. All divisions of scouting in Cochituate and Wayland, including Cubs, Scouts and Explorers, will play host to troops from other towns in the Mohawk District of the Algonquin Council. These towns are Sudbury, Maynard, Hudson and Stowe. In all, 550 boys will participate.

Each troop will have a booth in which a live demonstration will be conducted of some kind of project related to the theme of transportation. Several skits on the same subject will be given on the stage by different troops. Walter Smith, scoutmaster for Cochituate Boy Scouts, is chairman of the Scout-O-Rama committee.

WAYLAND BOY SCOUTS

Advancement awards were present to Wayland Boy Scouts at a Court of Honor and Points Night in Wayland High School on Nov. 20. The list:

In selecting this site, the committee started by studying charts showing the location of the school population, the pre-school population and present housing developments.

The school population, it was found, was thickest in Cochituate, in an area within a mile or so of the present Cochituate School.

The next most populous area, it was found, was a district bounded roughly by Mansion Inn, Old Connecitcut Path West, the Five Paths, Cochituate rd down to Fiske Corner, and Dudley Pond. The growth here has come in the past two or three years, largely from the Happy Hollow development, the building of Old Farm rd and Davelin rd, and new building along Old Connecitcut Path and Stone Bridge rd.

The site chosen seemed to the committee to be about the only piece of suitable land centrally located in this area. The committee estimates that two-thirds of the pupils in this school would live within walking distance. The location is on the east side of Old Connecitcut Path because most of the pupils live on that side, and it would eliminate the street crossing hazard for many. A sidewalk along the east side of the Path would be built.

The comparatively large size of the site was recommended by the committee because of the indications that in a few years all the available land in the neighborhood will be built upon, and that recreational areas will be needed, as well as ample parking space.

All the details connected with this site will be explained at meetings of leaders of civic organizations and other interested persons, to be held in January and February.

Harvey C. Newton of the School Committee is chairman of the site committee and Dr. Rexford S. Souder, school superintendent, is secretary.

CALL IT "HAPPY HOLLOW SCHOOL"?

The proposed new elementary school might be called the Happy Hollow School, it has been suggested.

The original Happy Hollow, according to oldtimers, was on Stone Bridge rd., not far from the corner of Old Connecticut Path. One version of the story ia that there was an ancient tavern there, and that the place was called Happy Hollow on account of the euphoria prevailing among the tavern patrons.

Recently, however, the name Happy Hollow rd has been applied to a street running off Cochituate rd into what is generally known as the Happy Hollow development. This new and more dignified Happy Hollow adjoins the site of the proposed school.

In any case, it is suggested, "Happy Hollow" has a nice, mellow, pleasant sort of sound. Like Sleepy Hollow, which also had a legend.

WESTON SOLVES SCHOOL PROBLEM

Weston voters, at a special town meeting in December, voted to build a 20-room, $1,100,000 elementary school. Weston's problem of school growth is something like Wayland's. Weston people decided to provide for several years' future growth by building one big school in a central location and transporting pupils to it by bus. It will put more than $3 on the tax rate.

OAK STREET REBUILT

The Chapter 90 work on Oak st has been completed for the Winter, Highway Superintendent Albert Potvin says.

Two dangerous humps have been graded down, 1300 feet of drainage pipe have been installed end the road has been resurfaced.

Betterment work on streets in the Edgewood rd section has begun. As weather permits, trees will be removed this Winter and preliminary steps will be taken towards installing drainage and widening, grading and surfacing the streets. This work was authorized at the lest regular Town Meeting and at the last special Town Meeting.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT AGAIN IN MARCH

The dump committee, the report of which was voted down at the special Town Meeting in October, will bring in another recommendation in March, says chairman Benjamin Beale.

The assignment of the committee was to find a future dump for Precinct 2. Committee members say the present Cochituate dump, on the same lot as the Highway Department garege, is good for five years more, perhaps 15. The idea was to look ehead.

Chairmen Beale of this committee says the Precinct 1 dump is no problem. It's on the Sudbury side of the river, away from town. There is an endless area of swamp which is improved rather than damaged by being filled.

The committee consists of Mr. Beale, Joseph H. Decatur, Gerald Henderson, George V. Deverell, Frank S. Tarr, Robert Robinson, George G. Bogren, Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside and Edwin W. Marston.

POLITICS GOT INTO CHRISTMAS

Excerpts from Christmas card sent far and wide by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bruce of Plain rd:

"Santa cracks solid South. . .We predict some changes---in a General kind of way. . .The New Year will start with a Gay Old Party. Pink elephants are back. Ceilings may come down. ."

It was labelled "a paid political divertissment."

LEWIS S. RUSSELL Jr., of State rd, has been assigned to Btry A of the 34th FA Bn at Ft Dix, N.J. He is a graduate of Wayland High School and Harvard College.

1640 SHOWS "BANK DICK"

W.C. Fields' famous movie, "The Bank Dick," will be shown on Friday evening, Jan. 23, in the vestry of the First Parish Church at the monthly meeting of the 1640 Club. A supper will precede the movie, tickets for which are $1.00 per couple.

AMERICAN LEGION

Work on renovating the kitchen in Legion Hall has about been completed. Plans are now being made to redecorate the hall later in the year. A drive for new members will be made early this year.

LIEUT. MARCANTONIO WOUNDED

Lieut. Richard C. Marcantonio of Riverview Circle was seriously wounded on the night of Oct. 25 when his jeep hit a land mine on Triangle Hill, Korea. He was brought back to Fort Devens early in December and thence transferred to Murphy General Hospital, Waltham, for further treatment.

Another Wayland boy wounded was William P. Cahill, of Cochituate, a Marine scout, pfc. He recovered and went back into the line.

TROOP 57 - BROWNIES

A doll house complete with furnishings was made by Troop 57 and presented just before Christmas to the Wayland Junior Town House for use by the kindergarten and pre-school classes.

CHARLIE BARBERA IN THE NAVY

Charlie Barbera, who used to go to the Center School and Wayland Junior High, is in the Navy and likes it. He's the nephew of Tony Barbera of Sandy Burr.

J.WARREN OLMSTED, of Concord rd, has been elected a vice-president of the First National Bank of Boston. Associated with the bank since 1941, he has been an assistent vice-president, and an officer in the credit-loan division since 1946.

TRIBUTE TO FRANK PAINE

Leonard M. Fowle, yachting editor of the Boston Globe, wrote a tribute to the late Frank C. Paine of Cochituate Road, Wayland, who died recently. Some phrases from Mr. Fowle:

"Few men have made greater contributions to American yachting than Frank Cabot Paine. . .

" Had Frank Paine never designed any yacht except Yankee, this fame would be secure. . . . In the two decades of his ascendancy, he was always ranked among America's top ten skippers. His sportsmanship and helmsmanship were in the highest traditions of the sport and his designing genius secured Frank Paine a niche in the hall of fame alongside George Steers, Edward and Starling Burgess, and Nathaniel Herreshof".

HEALTH CENTER MEETING

Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky of Beth Israel Hospital and trustees of the Parmenter Health Center met with doctors serving the local area on Dec. 2 at the Cochituate School to discuss and explain plans for the new Center. It was mostly a question and answer period.

NEED HISTORICAL SOCIETY?

It has been suggested that Wayland should have an Historical Society, to preserve the story of the town.

Wayland was settled in 1638 and it has had plenty of history, but the records are scanty.

LEADERS FOR EXTENSION COURSES NEEDED

Two local leaders are needed to instruct Middlesex County Extension Service classes in clothing. Commencing late in January, the courses will be "Make a Dress," or beginners sewing, and "Make a Coat or Suit," a course for advanced sewers. Persons interested in learning how to instruct these classes should contact Mrs. F. P. Walther, Way. 534-3.

These courses are typical of those offered by the Extension Service. The slipcover class has been postponed until March.

RED TAPE ALONG A STATE ROAD

A local resident, living on a State road, recently built himself a driveway. To make approach to it easier, he wanted to get rid of a piece of curbstone, 22 feet long by 18 inches deep by 6 inches wide. The curb belonged to the Commonwealth.

First he hailed a man in a State truck. "Call X," said the man. He called X. "Try between 9 and 10 on Wednesday," said the pleasant voice in the Public Works Department.

On Wednesday the man wasn't there. Everybody was so sorry. Next Wednesday he missed him again. He called two and three times each week. Finally he reached the character, who said it was all right, but he'd have to make a written application. He wrote an application.

In due course, back came a letter giving permission. Along with the letter came detailed directions for digging up a piece of curbstone, plus a note saying, "Don't do it until you've communicated with Y." So he finally reached Y, and the permission was confirmed.

It took from nine to ten weeks and from $3 to $4 in telephone calls to get permission to move the piece of rock. After the permission came, it took one man less than five hours to dig up the curbstone and fix the road neatly.

RIVERVIEW NOTES By Anna Dugan

Carol Beck, dsughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beck of Waltham, was married on Nov. 2 at the Martha Mary Chapel, Sudbury, to Louis Marcantonio Jr. of Riverview.

The bride wore an ice blue chantilly lace gown over satin. The maid of honor, Beverly Beck, sister of the bride, wore ice pink satin.

Best man was George Marcantonio, a brother of the groom. Another brother is Lieut Richard C. Marcantonio, recently reported wounded in Korea, and another is Thomas, of the Wayland High School football team.

A reception was held at the bride's home in Waltham and the newlyweds left for Miami, where they will live.

A CHRISTMAS PARTY for children up to the age of 13 was held at the Riverview clubhouse on Sunday, Dec. 21.

Riverview Boy Scouts held a penny sale on Nov. 7 to raise money for equipment. In this sale, the principal penny for Robert Penney, scoutmaster.

A SHOWER was held for Miss Patricia McLellan of Riverview Cirole at the Riverview clubhouse on Dec. 9. She's engaged.

CUBS RECEIVE BADGES

Thirty-one Wayland Cub Scouts received various forms of recognition at the November and December pack meetings.

Donald W. Light Jr. and Stephen DeForest won their Lion badges. Donald Light's award was with five arrow points, one of the highest achievements possible.

Two boys, Ernest M. Cherry Jr. and Neal McMillan, were awarded their Bear badges, and David Rowan and William H. Bowden Jr. their Wolf badges.

Also Gordon H. Bassett Jr., Lanny Finlay, Stephen C. Heilman, Lee Hill, John D. McKenzie, Peter Gray, Erick Kather, William H. Sumner Jr., Jeffrie C. Weeks, Robert A. Brown, Clement McIver and William Shannon.

Pack meetings are held the fourth Tuesday of each month under the leadership of Richard W. Foster, packmaster. The various dens last month made gifts and did up packages for children in hospitals and children of needy families. They sold over 200 Christmas wreaths to replenish the Pack treasury.

RALPH STEWART PLANTS TREES

Ralph Stewart has just completed a land conservation program for the improvement of his meadowland on Old Sudbury Road. All work was performed under contract with the Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, which recommended a field drainage system and a small pond for irrigation purposes.

The program called for a diversion ditch crossing the south field to join another ditch running along the southern boundary of the land and emptying into the irrigation pond. A narrow gutter along the north side of the road between the two fields is connected to the diversion ditch by pipe underneath the road to give adequate drainage to the planting area which comprises 12 acres of extremely fertile agricultural land.

While the irrigation pond is only one-third its contemplated area, it is planned to increase its size after it has been determined what effect, if any, the rise and fall of the Sudbury River might have on its water level.

Prior to the inauguration of this program Stewart had laid out between 7000 and 7500 trees, 2000 of which had to be replanted last spring due to the heavy rains only to be followed by the drought of last July and August which resulted in a tree mortality of 5 to 10%. The meadowland soil however, appears to be ideally suited for nursery stock as many of the trees grew from 12 to 16 inches during the Summer, in spite of adverse conditions.

This upland soil is of a light brown color practically free from sand while the soil in the marshes is much darker and considerably more fibrous. Although the marsh soil has a higher acid content due to the fact it is under water a great portion of the year, Stewart believes that this material could be mixed with lime, phosphate and other ingredients for a potting soil such as is used by greenhouses, florists and those interested in indoor horticulture.

This is the first program of this sort initiated by the Department of Agriculture Field Conservation Service in Wayland and Stewart feels a great deal of credit should be given them for their assistance to the nurseryman and farmer.

WHAT THOSE X-RAYS SHOWED

Final report of the Wayland-Cochituate X-ray program of last October, as given by the Board of Health:

Pulmonary tuberculosis: One letter sent to physician.

Tuberculosis suspected: Three letters sent to physicians.

Non-tuberculous pulmonary disease: Three letters.

Cardiovascular: Eight letters.

Other conditions: Three letters.

"Letters sent" cases do not include those known before.

The number of persons X-rayed was 1,813, considered to be 63.5 per cent of the eligible population.

WAYLAND ASSESSORS UPHELD

A Wayland oitizen whose property was valued at $15,000 by the assessors took the matter to the Appellate Tax Board. He thought the valuation should be $14,500. The Board upheld the Wayland assessors. Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey appeared for the town.

FAITH DAME GOES TO WASHINGTON

Miss Faith R. Dame, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Dame of 39 Wallace rd, left on Dec. 26 to take a Government job in Washington. She was graduated from Wayland High in 1944 and has been working in the office of the Roxbury Carpet Co., Saxonville, for seven years. At the Christmas party at the mill her associates gave her a portable radio which she took with her to Washington.

INVENTS PROPELLER DRIVEN BIKE

Jimmy Merikangas, of Stonebridge Road, Grade 9 in the High School, invented a propeller-driven bicycle which worked the other day, but he gave it up.

He installsd a small motor on his bike, and on the carrier he arranged an automobile radiator fan. It made the bike go, on level ground. However, it sort of shook loose, and it seemed like a danger, so he dismantled it.

NO SAND TRUCKS ON WEST PLAIN STREET

Judge Frank Smith of Middlesex Superior Court last month upheld the validity of a town traffic rule forbidding trucks of more than two tons to use West Plain st.

The New England Sand and Gravel Company of Framingham wanted to be allowed to use West Plain st with its trucks, and challenged the town rule forbidding such traffic. Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey appeared for the town.

Although sand and gravel trucks may not use the street, the rule does not apply to big trucks making deliveries.

FINANCE COMMITTEE ON THE JOB

In a New England town, the Finance Committee is the advisory body which goes over all proposed Town ex penditures for the Selectmen. In Wayland, the members serve for three years, at the appointment of the Selectmen.

Members of the Wayland Finance Committee are unpeid. For many months past they have been going over the Town buget, trying to figure out which items should be recommended to the Selectmen and which should be deferred or advised against.

In legal fact, they sey, the Finance Committee speaks only for the Selectmen. In pratise, the Finance Committee is the body which has studied the budget in detail, and its members generally take an active part in Town Meeting, advocating or opposing particular expenditures.

Most often, in Town Meeting, the Committee's sdvice is tsken. Sometimes it isn't. Whichever way it comes out, it is always recognized that the Finence Committee has done a grest deal of devoted snd expert community service.

VALUATION UP $1,000,000, ESTIMATED

An estimate from Town Hall is that the taxable valuation of the Town of Wayland increased by olose to $1,000,000 in the calendar year 1952.

On Jan. 1, 1951, the record shows, the valuation was $8,068,970. One year later it was $9,043,265, an inorease of $974,295.

The Assessors have until April 1 to complete the figures for 1952. However, on the basis of returns and estimates, the 1952 increase should be greater than that of 1951.

These increases, it is pointed out, have a moderating influenoe on the impact of the expenditures which the town's growth seems to make necessary. The expenses increase, undeniably, but as more property is developed there are more taxpayers, and the bite is that much softened.

TOWN BILLS IN LEGISLATURE

Hearing on the bill to reconstruct Route 20, to bypass the Town from Dead Man's Curve to Sudbury, will be held before the Committee on Highways and Motor Vehicles en Feb. 3.

A hearing was held on Jan. 20, before the Committee on Towns, on a petition of the Wayland Selectmen to use perk land for school purposes. This petition involved a 60-foot strip of land across the swamp from Pelham Island rd to the High Scheol property. Water pipe and a highway are beimg put across this land, for better fire protection and convenience.

BILL AGAINST THE POWER LINE

Rep. Howard S. Russell has filed another bill in the Legislature to compel the Edison Company to run its power line through the Town underground. Hearings on it hed not been scheduled, as of recently.

This bill appeared to be a last resort. The Edison Company had won a legel fight, over a period of years, and seemed to have permission to run its line from Framingham to Waltham down the line of the railroad track.

MRS. FRANK C. GRIEVES, of 10 Amey rd, was the heroine of the fire and explosion at the Prest-O-Lite plant on Concord ave, Cambridge, Dec. 26. Mrs. Grieves, secretary for the plant, turned in the alarm, set the sprinkler system going, but had to leave before she could complete the dialing to notify police.

FEB. 10 LAST REGISTRATION DAY

Last dsy for registering to vote at the Town election will be Tuesday, Feb. 10, when prospective voters may be enrolled at Legion Hall, Cochituate, from 12 noon until 10 p.m.

On Feb. 10, snybody in Town may register, whichever precinct he lives in, provided he has been in Town six months and in Massachusetts one year.

CANDIDATES' NIGHT FEB. 25

The League of Women Voters of Wayland will hold its annual Candidates' Night on Wednesday, Feb. 25 in the cafeteria of the Cochituate School.

This will be the fourth such meeting of the Wayland League. It gives everybody a chance to see and hear the candidates before the Town election.

Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, president of the Wayland League, will preside. Each candidate will be given three minutes in which to speak, and the clock will be held on him - politely of course. Letters asking candidates to attend will be sent by registered mail.

In addition, articles in the Town warrant will be discussed. Members of the Finance Committee will be invited to attend, and representatives of the School Site Committee and the School Building Committee will be asked to speak on the school situation.

TO GIVE "OVER TWENTY-ONE"

Wayland people will have prominent parts in "Over Twenty-One", the comedy by Ruth Gordon which the Vokes Players will present at the Playhouse on Fridays and Saturdays, March 6, 7, 13, and 14.

Actors will be Shirley Lewis, Milton Bevington, Jack Hyland, Charles Gaston Smith Jr., Dorothy Grannis, Rudolph and Peggy Bruce, John Bandelin and Hilda Harris, all of Wayland, and Harriet and Ivan Bruce of Framingham.

Directors will be Jack Ladensack and Marjorie Rudd.

Tickets, at $1.50 apiece, may be obtained by calling Mrs. Louis B. Jones, Wayland 23.

NO PARKING NOTICE

Town authorities have asked motorists not to park all night on highways and residential streets during the snowy season, because such parking makes plowing much more difficult.

There is a rule on the books giving the town the right to tow away such parked cars. The rule has never been used and nobody wants to use it. Instead, cooperation is requested.

People living in the Wayland end of town are asked particularly to obey the no-parking signs at the Wayland Postoffice.

MR. RUSSELL ON COMMITTEES

Rep. Howard S. Russell, starting his third term and fifth year in the Legislature, was appointed to the Committees on Conservation and State Administration, his choices.

WAYLAND COUNTRY CLUB TO BE 18 HOLES

A new nine is being added to the nine-hols Wayland Country Club on Old Sudbury rd. and Philip P. Farina of the club expects the new fairways will be ready for play by Spring of '54.

The nine holes have already been cleared out in the woodland behind and Northwest of the present fourth green. The area will be harrowed, limed, fertilized and seeded this Spring. Care over two growing seasons--Spring and Fall--is required for good turf, according to Mr. Farina.

CONTEST FOR ROAD COMMISSIONER

At least one contest for the Town Election on March 2 had developed prior to the Crier's going to press. Ronald S. Campbell, of 11 Mitchell st, present Road Commissioner who is up for re-election, will run against Robert M. Carson, of Haywood rd.

Mr. Campbell, a native of Wayland, is associated with the Robinson Farm Machinery Co., of Natick. He has served three years as Road Commissioner, six years on the Board of Welfare, and two terms on the Finance Committee. He is a World War I veteran and a charter member of Post 133, American Legion.

Mr. Carson, who is making his first venture into politics, is a sales engineer with the firm of Anderson Engineering Co., of Cambridge, manufacturers of heavy automotive equipment. During the war he was a motor machinist in the Submarine Service of the Navy. He is a member of the Massachusetts Highway Assn., Worcester Highway Superintendents Assn., N. E. Road Builders Assn., and the Kiwanis Club of Waylsnd.

We have both enjoyed the Crier very much in 1952 and want to congratulate you and the whole gang who have been making a real newspaper of the Town House's former effort. It seems to be growing up with or faster even than the Town. Good luck and continued progress in 1953.

To the Editor:

Perhaps you can tell me whether and under what circumstances it is proper to address a Wayland woman by her first name.

This is a matter of some importance in a community pleasantly informal, yet one in which women are as conspicuous for dignity as for charm.

Where does one draw the line? When is a Wayland woman Mrs., when is she Katie or Maisie, and when, Heaven forbid, should she be addressed as Toots?

I hope you can enlighten me on this subject, because there are a number of Wayland women to whom I'd like to speak.

Urges Fund Raising be Centralized

To the Editor:

Two of the greatest problems of life in a small community are being solicited for money and being asked to solicit it. Throughout the year we are all continually being approached to contribute to various causes. Few of us know about their relative merits and needs. None of us plan our giving for the year so as to spread our contributions wisely. In addition, the multiplicity of drives results in duplication of effort and time in organizing and soliciting and inadequate coverage and results.

A solution of these problems might be the formation of a "community council" to conduct one drive every year for all causes and organizations which merit general public support except those which are already covered by the Community Chest. The donors could either earmark their gifts for certain charities or make them unrestricted. The Council would allocate the undesignated donations after through study.

Individual organizations would not be prevented from running their own drives, nor would they be excluded from receiving support from the Council, provided they disclose the amounts of their Wayland collections and merit additional support. However, if the plan gained public support it probably would not be worth while for individual organizations to sponsor campaigns.

In the organization of a community council, the Greater Boston Community Fund should not be included, because it already solicits for over 300 agencies and is well organized for broad coverage. If the two were combined, most people would think of it simply as a continuation of the Community Fund drive and would give little more than they do now. Consequently, the council would not raise sufficient funds to supply the larger independent organizations with as much as they now raise in their own drives. For instance, the Red Cross alone now collects in Wayland more than half as much as the Community Fund. A decrease in charitable giving is not one of the objectives of the plan. The purpose is rather to increase giving through broader coverage and better run campaigns, while at the same time conserving manpower and assuring more efficient use of the money contributed by reducing expenses and by distributing it as wisely as possible.

All of the land needed for the proposed new elementary school in the Happy Hollow section may be bought for $750 an acre, it was revealed at a meeting of representatives of civic organizations at the High School on Jan. 6, and options have been obtained from the owners of the land.

The total area involved, a survey shows, is 14.674 acres. The three owners are Theodore L. Parker and George L. Nolan, both of Old Connecticut Path, and the Wayland Real Estate Company.

More than 60 persons were present at the meeting. These included representatives of almost all the larger organizations in town. All members of the committee spoke on various phases of the school situation, and there were questions from the floor.

School Committee member Harvey C. Newton, chairman of the School Site Committee, presided. When he asked for a show of hands, after the talking was done, not all signified agreement with the site proposed, but the only person to dissent actively was Gregory Cooper.

Mr. Cooper said the committee had worked hard and was to be commended for its efforts, but was all wrong in its conclusion.

The meeting was enlivened by a brief exchange of views between J. Sidney Stone, and Robert M. Morgan of the Finance Committee.

When the figure of $750 was mentioned, Mr. Stone said it was his idea the price of Wayland land was more like $100 or $200 an acre.

Some time later, however, Mr.Stone remarked, "The price is all right."

"I thought you said the price was too high," said Mr. Morgan.

"Land's always high when you want to buy it," retorted Mr. Stone. There was laughter, and that ended the discussion of price. Total cost of the land, by rough arithmetic, will be a bit more than $11,000.

Although the Commonwealth will pay something like 40 per cent of the cost of the new building, the town has to bear all the cost of the land.

Among those present:

J. Sidney Stone, Library; Frederick S. Whiteside, Finance Committee, and Mrs. Whiteside; Mildred F. Wood, Lena C. McGann and John F. McGann, Dudley Pond Improvement Association; Ronald H. Wood, Boy Scouts; Katharine Hodges, Planning Board; Dorothy Ide, Congregational Church.

Carolyn W. Powning, president, Wayland Woman's Club; William L. Shannon and Eugene K. Rumpel, Holy Name Society; Marion J. Rumpel, St. Ann's Church Guild; Margaret E. Bruce,president, League of Women Voters; Karin H. C. Weeks,Junior Town House; Helen G. Walther, Wayland Woman's Club;

Mary DeForest, Women's Alliance,Unitarian Church; Rev. George A. Hodgkins, Congregational Church; Frank Kelley and William V. Rooney, Oak Section Association; Grace Courchine, Mother's Club; Rose C. Ward, president, Mother's Club; Dorothy E. Smith, St.Zepherin's Women's Club;

Catherine Marston, Catholic Women's Club; John J. Leonard, St.Zepherin's Holy Name Society; Earl L. Hopkins and Edward N. Perry, American Legion; Shirley Arnold and John W. Arnold, Cochituate P. T. A.; Grace S. Irwin, P.T.A. and Community Methodist Church; Edward A. Veno,president, Kiwanis Club;

Robert M. Morgan, Finance Committee; Lee T. Johnson and David B. Turner, Wayland P.T.A.; Gregory Cooper, school architect; Frank A.Smith, vice president, Kiwanis Club; Pearl L. McEwan, Congregational Church; Myrtle E. Osmond, Quarter Century Club, Congregational Church; Norman G. Fair, Board of Health; John R. Yeager; Virginia D. Wadsworth, Wayland Garden Club; Carol Foster, League of Women Voters; Allen H. Morgan and Mervin R. Parsons, Unitarian Laymen's League; Dorothy L. Deane, Mother's club, and Russell E. Deane; Dr. Katherine S. Andrews and Benjamin Beale, Board of Health; and Ruth Page Sweet.

SCHOOL BUILDING SCHEDULE

1. At the March Town Meeting, the question of buying the site for approximately $12,000 ($ 11,000-plus, plus cost of surveying and legal fees) will come up.

2. If this is voted, an architect will be selected to prepare complete plans and put them in the hands of the School Building Committee by June 1.

3. The drawings would be put out to contractors for bids.

4. Between June 15 and 25 final bids should be in. One would be accepted as the basis for Town Meeting action.

5. The Selectmen would be asked to call a special Town Meeting for the latter part of June.

6. At this Town Meeting, the Town would be asked to appropriate a sum between $500,000, and $600,000, based on the actual bid. Of the actual cost of the building, the State would reimburse the Town approximately 40 per cent. Thus, if the building cost were $600,000, the State would pay $240,000 and the actual cost to the Town would be $360,000.

7. If the Town appropriated the money, the contract would be let and work would begin, with the completion date September, 1954.

SCHOOLROOMS TO BE NEEDED

Estimates of future Wayland elementary school needs based on present enrolment, the census of pre-school children and building permits are as follows:

	Pupils	Classrooms
1952	730	27
1953	839	31
1954	888	33
1955	936	35
1956	1,008	37

SCHOOL BUILDING COMMITTEE

One of the articles in the Town Meeting warrant will call for the reactivation of the School Building Committee (not the same as the School Site Committee.), so it could have authority to build a new school. The Building Committee, as at present constituted, was responsible for building the recent addition to the Junior-Senior High School.

QUINN'S BARN BURNS

The big barn on the premises of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Quinn on Bow rd went up in flames, at 10:15 on the morning of Dec. 27. The Wayland Fire Department came in good season, but there was nothing anybody could do. Cause is unknown.

BUILDING PERMITS

George F. Wheeler, River rd; Crowe & Moulton, Pequot rd; Herbert Brooks, Oxbow rd; James Barry, Parkland Drive.

CPL. PAUL J. BERGIN, son of Mrs. Alice M. Bergin, of Cochituate, arrived home from Korea on Thanksgiving Day. He served with the 35th Infantry Regiment on Heartbreak Ridge for 11 months and spent his last month guarding prisoners-of-war on Koji Is. He is one of five brothers who have served in the armed forces.

ALL-STAR VARIETY SHOW ON FEB. 23

Well-known radio, stage and TV names will furnish the entertainment for the third annual All Star Variety Show sponsored by the parishioners of St. Zepherin's Church on Monday, evening Feb. 23. The show, for which William A. Loker will be master of ceremonies, will be held in the Cochituate School auditorium.

As in the past two shows, the program will consist of a full evening's entertainment by outstanding professional entertainers who are currently appearing at leading theaters and night clubs and on radio and TV programs.

All seats are reserved and should be purchased at once by calling any of the following: Mrs. Thomas F. Linnehan, Way. 22-2; Daniel J. Foley, Way. 211; Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Natick 2718-W2; and St. Zepherin's Rectory, Natick 220.

WAYLAND P. T. A. CIRCULATES QUESTIONAIRE

Vital information to be used in developing a new method of reporting pupil progress to parents is now being collected by the Wayland P.T.A. A questionaire has been distributed by President Thayer Rudd to all parents with children in the first six grades asking their opinion about various reporting and grading methods. The whole problem is the subject for discussion at the P.T.A. meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 4.

Primary concern of the P.T.A. committee now studing various techniques is to what extent written reports or personal conferences should supplement the traditional report card.

The content of the report card is also thoroughly gone into. Should the pupils achievement be compared to national norms, to the rest of his class, or to his own individual capacity as determined by scholastic aptitude tests?

Parents are also asked to choose what type of rating system they prefer."How do you think progress in academic subjects can best be reported; Percentage rating; A,B,C,D,F; Above average, Average, Below average; Satisfactory, Unsatisfactory; or Written comment?"

MRS. ABBOTT APPOINTED

Mrs. Foster Abbott was appointed a representative to the School Advisory Committee by the trustees of the Junior Town House Association at their Winter meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside on Jan. 19. Frederick Walther, chairman, presided.

RIVERVIEW, ONCE A CARDBOARD VILLAGE, NOW A FLOURISHING COMMUNITY -- HARD WORK AND PERSISTENCE DID IT

One of the best success stories in Wayland is that of the Riverview Circle community once known as Cardboard Village.

It's a story of a group of people, struck by the depression of the 1930s, who have come a long, long way by cooperative efforts.

The story begins 30 years ago, when a land company sold camp sites in the 100 acres or so of the region off Stonebridge road, near the stone bridge over the Sudbury River. In those days the river was clean, full of bass and pickerel, and 200 persons would go swimming near the bridge on a warm Summer Sunday.

There were no zoning rules or building regulations. People just built wood shanties for weekends and vacations. The roads were dirt ruts.

Then came the depression. Camp owners who lost homes and jobs came out to their camps to hold on until the storm passed.

There was no town water. The water of one well, analyzed by the State, turned out to be unfit even for washing. Roads were impossible in wet weather. The people had a good deal to put up with.

Then came war, when nobody could do anything.

Came six years ago, and a fire that wiped out three adjoining houses owned by three sisters. There was no water supply except the river. The houses were flattened.

About this time the people got busy. There were approximately 40 families in the area, including 70 to 80 voters and perhaps 200 residents. They formed the Riverview Terrace Improvement Association, and they incorporated it.

They got some paved streets, under the betterment act. The abutters pay half. Now the people have good roads.

Three or four years ago the Town of Wayland ran a water pipe down Stonebridge Road. Now the Riverview area has Town water and fire hydrants. Not only that, but it has a fire department of its own, an old Dodge truck with 500 feet of woods fire hose, and a community siren.

The women of the community can operate this fire department, and they've done it.Moreover, it's a piece of Town fire apparatus and it's available for service anywhere in Town.

Incidentally, Riverview has an unofficial Mayor. He's Tom O'Dea, 84. When there's a fire he goes out and directs traffic.

They got around to public improvements. Up on the hill was an acre or so of Town land, adjacent to Park Department land. The Riverview Association dug into its collective pocket and took out $1400. With this, and with much appreciated help from the Park Department and the Tree Department, they built a baseball field, filling in a wide ravine 50 feet deep and knocking down a couple of hills.

Then they built a meeting house for the Association. It's a neat, white structure with an oil burner in the basement, an all-year building for meetings, parties, whist and business. Moreover, it's a Town building, available for use by civic groups.

Most important, the members of the Association started putting the pressure on themselves and on each other. The houses got fixed up and they're being fixed up more and more. There are some new and modern homes in the area. The eyesores are being eliminated. There are gardens and television antennas. Something remains to be done, to be sure, but you wouldn't know the old place. It isn't Cardboard Village any more.

There's more. Steps are being taken to clean up the Sudbury River. Once that's done, Riverview will be a Summer resort once more, and houses which are just houses now will have Summer resort value. In fact, the Riverview residents are already complaining about the valuations which the sharp-eyed assessors have put on their improved property.

This improvement was not due to any one person, of course. The Riverview community turns out with paint brush, ax, shovel, saw, mop and broom when there's a job to be done.

But there are a few names to be mentioned. Edward Dente and William Dugan were early presidents of the Association. Today's president is William J. Smith, known as Jim. (His son is known as Jim Jim.) Jim, a plumber in private life, is the fellow who goes around quarterbacking the community. Money to be raised, a job to be done, Jim's the man.

Keeper of vital statistics in the community is Anna Dugan. She knows who's who. And here's the list of officers of the Association:

SCOUTING NOTES FROM COCHITUATE

Mr. Arthur W. Holmes, Explorer Leader, announces a change in the Explorer Post meetings as of the first of this year. They are now held on the 1st and 3rd Monday evenings, 8:00-9:00p.m. at the Cochituate School on Main Street.

Cubbing advancement in December, at the Christmas Party Pack Meeting, included the following: Under Wolf: Paul A. Baker, Silver arrow; Glen A. Dusseault, Gold arrow; George L. Harris, Jr., Silver arrow; Maynard B. Hilton, Jr., Gold arrow; Donald Hillier, Wolf certificate; Edward E. LeBlanc, Gold arrow; Robert J. Lewis, Wolf certificate; Roy A. MacDonald, Silver arrow; and Dwight Perodeau, Wolf certificate and Gold arrow. Under Bear: Thomas W. Bowles, Jr., Silver arrow; Stanley S. Lacka, Bear certificate; Bernard J. Nolan, Jr., Bear certificate and Gold arrow; John Perodeau, Bear certificate; and Russell E. Shipp, Bear certificate. Under Lion: Walter A. Cheslak, Jr., Silver arrow. Richard Ray received, under Lion, a Gold arrow and three Silver arrows while also receiving his Webelos badge and Graduation certificate. Scoutmaster Walter E. Smith was present to welcome Ray into Troop 1, Cochituate.

WAYLAND HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

When the old gymnasium was first altered to become a library-cafeteria, students and teachers found an attractive room equipped with tables, chairs, and tiers of shelves, - all empty. When the small collection of books was transferred, it was practically lost.

With a new appropriation by the Town changes have come. Behind the librarian's desk are the four sets of new reference books - encyclopedia, topical, scientific, social, and geographic. On the shelves to the right are volumes dealing with history, government, the social sciences. Farther along are books of mathematics, science, economics, travel, home-making, transportation, agriculture. Then there is a section devoted to literature, anthologies, collections of helpful dictionaries.

Members of the Library Service Club preside at the desk, assisting to finding information, checking books, and circulating papers and magazines. Chief among these are two, Susan Dusseault and Marilyn Harnett, who have been especially generous with time for accessioning and filing.

BRAVE MEN JOIN WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Mr. Frederick Walther recently becsme the first man in town to become an associate member of the Wayland League of Women Voters. It cost $3 and he put it up. He was closely followed in membership by such bold characters as John Brownell and Rudolph Bruce.

These associate memberships are new. They don't commit man to anything. They entitle him to receive League litaterature and to attend meetings, but not to vote.

January unit meetings were held at the homes of Mrs. Winford Naylor, Mrs. John Baldwin, Mrs. Walter Marchand, Mrs. Frederick Perry, Mrs. Philip Lane, Mrs. H. Raynend Zayotti and Mrs. Robert Schuette.

February meetings were scheduled for the homes of Mrs. John Brownell, Mrs. J. Warren Olmsted, Mrs. William Owens and Mrs. William Cheney.

Mrs. George Emery, publications chairman, has resigned. Her place has been taken by Mrs. Norman Collard. Mrs. Edward Blanchard will do public relations in place of Mrs. Collard. The place of Mrs. Arthur Grannis on the financial campaign committee has been taken by Mrs. Victor H. Carr, and Mrs. Donald B. Willard has replaced Mrs. John Leavitt, resigned, on the nominating committee.

EMERY W. IRWIN JR has advanced to Life Scout in the Explorers.

BOYS' BASEBALL IN TOWN MEETING

Two items under the Park Department appropriation, one for $1000 for Little League and Pony League baseball, and another for $3000, for purchase of the floodlights at Cochituate, were expected to come up for discussion at Town Meeting

The case for both these appropriations was put before the Finance Committee in January. The Committee, considering all the many items in the budget, had not made up its mind about these two.

Last Summer, the Park Department put out about $400 for Little League expenses. Private citizens put up some more. The public money went for caps, head guards, balls and bats and other equipment. One hundred and 20 boys, aged from 8 through 12, signed up in eight teams, later reduced to six, which played during June, July and August.

In addition, there was an A-Squad team, the Wayco Red Sox, composed of the stars of the league, which played four games under the lights at Cochituate against teams from Natick, Framingham and Waltham. Wayland won two, lost two.

The proposition this year is to continue the Little League and to have in addition a Pony League, made up of four teams of boys from their 13th to their 16th birthdays. Probably a Town team would be picked from the stars of this league, too, to play games against similar teams from out of town.

The problem of the lights, an unusual one, comes up in connection with the boys' baseball.

The lights were put up a couple of years ago by Howard C. Phillips of Cochituate Motors, who sponsored softball teams which were famous all over the East. He put the lights on the field at Cochituate, a public playground. The deal was that if he should ever want to sell the lights, the Park Department should have the first chance to buy them.

Another part of the deal was that, because the field was Park Department land, no admission could be charged to games, nor could the field be closed.

Softball games were played Tuesday and Thursday evenings last Summer. The quality of play held up, but the voluntary contributions made by spectators did not. One night when there were more than 1000 spectators at a game, the collection was around $4.

At last reports, Mr. Phillips had decided not to sponsor a softball team in 1953. He has offered the lights, which he says cost him more than $6,000, to the Town for $3,000.

These lights come into the boys' baseball situation largely because so many Wayland fathers work out of Town. In Summer daylight, Little League games can be played at 6 p.m. Few parents could attend, last Summer, although the number increased as the season wore on.

But the Way-Co Red Sox, uniformed, playing under lights, drew 1,000 or more a game and put on a fine show. Their games began at 8 p.m.

With the lights, it is said, the baseball program could be much more effective. Where few could see games in daylight, many could see them at night. The lights would be used several nights a week, with every Little League and Pony League team getting a chance to perform under them at least once. And last season's experience showed that the chance to play under lights added enormously to the boys' interest in the program.

BASEBALL NIGHT, FEB. 21

Colored movies of the World Series will be shown at a Baseball Night to be held at the High School on Saturday, Feb. 21. There will also be an interesting speaker to talk on sports. The Little League and Pony League baseball programs for next Summer in Wayland will be explained. All boys and girls and their parents are welcome. Program begins at 7:30 p.m. and will be over by 9:30.

NEWFANGLED AUDUBON LOVE CALL BRINGS VARIED RESULTS; DRAWS EAGLE IN NO. WAYLAND, ROC'S EGG ON OAK ST.

A constant reader, knowing that this paper takes a firm stand in favor of flying feathered creatures, has sent in an Audubon bird call.

Thie device looks like a little whistle. Actually, it's a red wooden barrel which revolvee around a pewter post, making a squeaking noise. It eaye in the directions that, with a little practice, one can imitate many bird notes with it.

This bird call, by the way, ie not to be confueed with the Indian love oall, which is only for Indians.

Anyway, this bird call nas been tried out by a number of persons, at various looations, with uneven results.

Ueed on Pelham Island rd, it attracted a mealy-mouthed fantail, which flew about frantically and perished of frustration (by suicide in the river) when it discovered the fraud.

Tried in North Wayland, it drew an eagle. (A small boy drew the picture in the snow, using the bird call as a pencil.)

One fellow squeaked away with it for half an hour and nothing happened.

"Audubon better off with a bucket of bird seed," he said.

On the grounds of a new house near Oak st the bird call suddenly pointed directly downward, like a divining rod. A shovel was called for and sure enough, four feet down was a roc'e egg, in a better state of preservation than the Truman Administration.

Over at the beach on Lake Cochituate, the bird call drew a four-pound bass, a waterlogged boat, three Boy Scouts and complaints from the Park Department.

At the millpond in Wayland, it attracted a cloud of contemptible oluefins. The admirable redfin, a much finer type of bird, ignores whistles from strangers.

An innocent child sounded the call outside the School Committee's office, and in 15 minutes there were seven architects, 18 contractors and 29 bulldozer operators on the premiees. They thought the noise was a signal another schoolhouse was going up.

But really, results were inconclusive. Winter is a bad season. In Spring, the bird call should attract flocks of ratty pinfeathers, greater goldbreeks, left shoepinches and even some attic peepers. Until Spring, the bird call will remain in the ice box, hard by the Sunday chicken. If the chicken bursts into song, it's a darned good bird call.

Constant Reader, thanks.---D. B. W.

FOUR-H NEWS OF COCHITUATE

Forty-eight boys and girls, contestants in the Talent Show held in November, and members, were guests at a party held by the 4-H Town Committee on Jan. 10 at Legion Hall, Cochituate.

Prize winners included Carolyn LeDrew, Judy Parker, Richard Morris, Allan Arnold, Beverly Holmes, Jane Taylor and John MacKeen.

Eighteen 4-H boys attended a joint meeting at the Community Methodist Church, Saturday morning, Jan. 10. George Erickson, County Club agent, showed colored slides of the County Fair at Groton and of Camp Middleton in Ashby.

Mr. Erickson presented these awards:

Elmer Bigwood, 10-year pin; Carl Taylor, garden project; Emory Irwin, garden project and two-year certificate; Carol Deverell, poultry project and two-year certificate; David White, garden project and first year pin, and Richard Irwin, garden project.

The 4-H program in Cochituate includes five clubs engaged in various projects for later exhibit in town and county shows and the Summer fairs.

Mr. Elmer Bigwood leads the Agricultural Club, consisting of seven boys and one girl, working on garden and poultry projects. This club attended the Boston Poultry Show, Jan. 24.

Mrs. Grace Irwin has a cooking club with 10 girls, following the 4-H cooking project. Miss Louise Taylor has a sewing club with four members. Mrs. Shirley Arnold has an Arts and Crafts Club with 10 girls, who have already made many articles which will be exhibited.

Mr. John Arnold has clubs for woodworking and conservation. There are 12 members in each. Men scheduled to address the conservation group are Robert Bowen, Rep. Howard Russell, Carl Lydiard and Fern Taylor.

The Cochituate 4-H Town Committee: Chairman, Elmer Bigwood; Mr. and Mrs. William Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Fern Taylor, Miss Louise Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold, and George Erickson, County Agent, Concord.

BASKETBALL TEAM OFF TO GOOD START

The Wayland High School basketball team is off to a flying start with three wins and one loss. The victories have been over Millis, Dover and Medfield, with the only game lost to Norfolk Agricultural School. Wayland has scored more than 60 points in each game and has given evidence of ever-increasing scoring power. Summaries of the games up to press time follow:

Wayland--Millis, score 63-50. Wayland led all the way in a fairly close contest. Arthur Ahlman with 19 and Dom Anzivino with 16 points were leading scorers. Harris for Millis scored 15 points and played a fine all-around game. The Junior Varsity was victorious 31-23 with David Lamont leading the score with 12 points.

The Wayland quintet trounced the Medfield five to the tune of 61-39. Scorers for Wayland were Arthur Ahlman with 18 points, Tom Marcantonio with 14 points, Fred Tassinari and Jack Davis each with 9 points, Dom Anzivino 8, and Eddie Osmond 3. Longtine, Danny Curley, and Roger Elliott contributed to the all-around play. The Junior Varsity won their game 40 to 25.

The Wayland five lost their third start to Norfolk Agricultural High School 67-80. Jack Davis and Dom Anzivino scored 21 points apiece, the other scorers were Arthur Ahlman with 11, Fred Tassinari with 8, Tom Marcantonio with 4, and Tom Lontine with 2. Wayland won the Junior Varsity game 33-26.

Wayland in a re-schedule game due to the snow storm, bounced back into the winning column to beat Dover 66-60. The High Scorer was Arthur Ahlman with 23 points, next was Tom Marcantonio with 16, Dom Anzivino with 13, Fred Tassinari and Jack Davis both with 6, and Tom Longtine with 2. The Junior Varsity won their fourth straight game, 50-24. The remaining games on the '53 schedule are:

Tues., Feb. 3, Dover Home; Fri., Feb. 6, Medfield Home; Tues. Feb. 10, Norfolk Home; Fri., Feb. 13, Westwood Home; Tues., Feb. 17, Sudbury Away; Fri., Feb. 20, Weston Home; Tuesday games ere played at 3:15 in the afternoon.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

A huge coasting party was held for children of the Sunday School and their parents on Jan. 18 behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Hodgkinson, of Fox Meadow Lane. A bonfire kept the more sedentary warm, and hot chocolate was served.

SEVEN MEMBERS of the Wayside Fellowship of the First Parish Church attended the Mid-Winter Conference of the American Unitarian Youth at Fairhaven from December 29 through December 31. Betsy Tanger, Ann Worthington, Mary Willard, Dan Kennedy, Charles Goodell, Peter Walther and Paul Zayotti attended. The speaker was Dr. William Rice of Wellesley.

HEALTH CENTER TO BE BUILT SOON

Trustees of the Jonathen M. Parmenter Heelth Center have announced that they expect to act on bids for their new building early in March, and that the Center should be built this summer.

Architect Theodore Steffien was putting the finishing touches on the plans last month. The building, it wes seid, will be fairly smell. The idea was not to put so much money into construction thet there would be less left for operetion.

It will be a one-story building, conteining a small apertment, an euditorium to seat perhaps 75 persons, a clinic, dressing rooms, exemination rooms, a dental clinic, e small x-rey room, e smell laboratory and a small first aid room.

Cost of the building would not be known until the bids were in.

Two members of what is to be an advisory committee have been appointed. They are Thaddeus Nichols, for publicity, and Mrs. John Brownell, for volunteer workers.

On Jan. 30, in the Welfare Department office, the trustees held a conference with verious representatives of the Town. Dr. Charles F. Wilinksy, advisor of the Center, was present, with his secretary, Dr. Sidney Liswood. Normen G. Fair and Benjamin Beale of the Board of Health were present, as were Mrs. Helen Tufts end Miss Edith Thayer of the Welfare Department. Also present were Ronald H. Wood, Dr. James Fournier, school dentist; Mrs. Mary MacNeil, school nurse; Dr. David R. Corey end Dr. Rexford S. Souder of the School Department.

Other meetings with local citizens will be held, it was said, as the Trustees mean to consult frequently with representatives of the community.

N.E. GRAVEL CARRIES STREET BAN TO HIGHEST COURT

Wayland is still continuing its fight to keep gravsl trucks of the New England Sand and Gravel Co. off its side streets. About two years ego while Route 128 wes under construction, the trucks bringing gravel out of the pit on Old Connecticut Path in Saxonville got into the bed habit of sneeking down residential side streets instead of sticking to the through ways like Routes 126 and 27. School st, East Plain, West Plain, Oak, and Old Connecticut Path from Five Paths to Route 20 constantly rumbled to their noiss and pedestiens end children and automobile trsffic were frequently endengered.

In Melden when this kind of thing came to e head severel years ago, the City Fathers tried to bsn trsffic of ell through trucks over 2 tons from all streets. But it didn't stick in the courts. Consequently the Waylend Board of Selectmen made reguletions similer to those in Brookline and Newton and which had been upheld: No trucks over two tons on narrow residentiel side streets when other wider through routes are evalleble. And the ban wes placed on the streets nsmed above, except for trucks making deliveries. But New England Gravel took the case to the Middlesex Superior Court, requesting the regulation, as it applied to West Plain st, be declared invalid. The Court in December, upheld the Town Regulation. The case has now been appealed to the Supreme Judicial Court.

M & B ADDS NEW BUS

The Middlesex end Boston has added e new bus to the Fiske Corner line runing into Natick. At the suggestion of Selectmen John W. Leavitt, a trip has been put on leaving Fiske Corner at 7:10 s.m. each morning. It was explained by John H. Walsh, president of the trensit firm, that the trip would be continued only if petronage warranted it.

HIGH SCHOOL P. T. A. REORGANIZED

Mr. T. Gibson Smith of Bow rd was elected president of the Wayland Junior-Senior High Parent Teacher Association at a reorganization meeting held in the High School Library on Monday evening, Feb. 9. Attendance was around 80.

An important part of the business of the meeting was the decision to set up four committees to study various phases of the school's work.

These committees were to study:

1. The experience of graduates of Wayland High, to see how they have done in college and other institutions of higher learning.

2. Various aspects of the mental, physical and moral welfare of students at the school. (This committee was voted after discussion of smoking on the school grounds, fast jalopy driving, vandalism and discipline.)

3. The advisability of dividing classes by ability rather than by the alphabet, and of providing speoial classes for retarded students.

4. The curriculum, to determine what the students need for scholarships and further education.

Headmaster W. Maxwell Griffin of the school suggested the formstion of the study groups, and also suggested that the groups give reports to the whole membership at regularly scheduled meetings.

The slate of officers was picked by a nominating committee headed by Mrs. Marjorie Robinson, including Mr. Rudolph Bruce, Mr. Edward F. Thorburn and Headmaster Griffin. The secretary was directed to cast one ballot for the officers ehosen. Besides Mr. Smith, they were:

First Vice President, Mr. Stephen J. Burke; Second Vice President, Mrs. Donald W. Light: Secretary, Mrs. Ernest Cherry; Treasurer, Mr. John P. Hyland; Co-Chairmen of Reception Committee, Mrs. Stanley N. Marshall and Mrs. George Shepard; Co-Chairman of Membership Committee, Mrs. Russell Deane and Mrs. Leslie Reed, and Chairman of the Refreshment Committee, Mrs. Russell Kerr.

Rev. Raymond G. Manker agreed to be temporary chairman of the P. T. A. committee on the general welfare of Junior-Senior High School students. Serving with him are T. Gibson Smith, Grace Duggan, Frances Cherry and T. W. Fabisak.

A constitution was adopted, containing the provision that dues should be 50 cents a year. It was voted to affiliate with the National and State Associations of Parents and Teachers.

J. Kenneth Emery presented the Associ-ation with a suggestion box, so labelled, and said he hoped it would be used at every meeting.

Miss Jean T. Nelson of the school faculty said there was a need for a helping hand for needy and deserving students. Several suggestions were made for raising money for the scholarship fund.

Mr. Harvey C. Newton gave a talk on the proposed new elementary school. At the end of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Russell Kerr and Mrs. John Tanger.

SUDBURY MARSHLAND PURCHASED

Rep. Howard S. Russell seys the Department of Conservation is acquiring around 450 aores of land in the "gulf area" along Pantry Brook in Sudbury, for a wild life region. "Contolled shooting" will be allowed. The marsh land is being bought with $30,000 from duck stemp money. It's a smell part of the contemplated Sudbury Velley development plan.

EIGHT NEW FIRE BOXES IN OPERATION

Eight additional fire alarm boxes were placed in operation last month. Fire Chief Clifton Haynes, in making the announcement, emohasized that fire boxes are the quickest wey to summon fire apparatus.

When one is pulled, trucks are dispatched at once from Wayland and Cochituate, while Natick and Weston Fire Departments are alerted.

If the fire is a large one, the box may be pulled again, and with no recall blow having been sounded, Weston sends equipment, and Natick covers in Cochituate. The new boxes ere:

No. 613 Corner Glen rd & Plain rd
No. 621 Corner Clay Pit Hill rd & Plain rd
No. 63 Corner Draper rd & Plain rd
No. 64 Corner Bennett rd & State rd East
No. 642 Corner Spring Hill rd & State rd East
No. 66 Corner Rich Valley rd & State rd East
No. 664 Junction Old Connecticut Path & State rd East
No. 671 State rd West near Railroad Crossing

NEW SIGNS UNDERSTATE WAYLAND'S AGE

The new signs erected by the Commonweelth at the Wayland Town line on Routes 20 end 30 stete thet Wayland was incorporated in 1835. That's true enough. But in a recent letter to the Commissioner of Public Works, Town Selectman John W. Lsavitt points out that this particuler date doesn't give a very good picture of Wayland's true age.

Actually Wayland wes founded in 1635, incorporated as East Sudbury in 1780, end then incorporated as Weyland in 1835. Selectmen Leevitt has suggested to the Commissioner thet the 1635 founding dete be added on future signs.

D. P. I. A. HEARS ABOUT TOWN AFFAIRS

Some notes on Town affairs, picked up et the 16th enmuel before-Town-Meeting of the Dudley Pond Improvement Associetion, held in the clubhouse on Feb. 15. President Roneld H. Wood of the Association presides, along with secretery Grace Yuell.

Rep. Howerd S. Russell on Legislative action affecting the Town:

The bill permitting the School Department to take over Park Department land off Pelham Islend rd has been passed and signed by the Governor. Thet's the new road giving access to the back of the High School, across the swamp and the brook.

The Department of Conservation plans to enlarge the recreation area on the south side of Route 30 on Lake Cochituate, west of Cochituate. On the left are more perking places, 50 fireplaces, a wading pool for children, more shelters. The Commonwealth has bought more land here and will start to spend $50,000 on it in the Spring.

Norman Fair says there has been a steady increase in the number of tuberculosis ceses in Town. At one time, he says, seven local persons were in hospitals with TB, more than in the whole Town of Wellesley, which has four times Wayland's population.

Selectman William A. Loker says the bad corner at Mansion Inn is definitely going to be improved this Spring. Money has been allocated and plens made. There'll be an island at the intersection of West Plain st and Old Connecticut Peth. Town job, $200.

Also from Mr. Deverell: By State lew, the Town is responsible for all the expenses of premature babies, up to the time when they weigh 5½ pounds, if the parents aren't able to pay the bills, in whole or in part.

But Norman Fair of the Board of Health, a little later, says there were 14 premature babies in Town in 1952, and that the bills, which might heve run to $4500 or $5500, were all paid by the perents.

EARLY TARGET PRACTICE SAVES LIFE

Sharp-shooting at the age of 2 has twice saved the life of a Wayland boy and other members of his regiment.

When William P. Cahill Jr., was that age he used to visit his grandfather, Mr. George Sherman, of Mathews ave, Cochituate. Down in the basement Mr. Sherman would set up a rifle on a chopping bleek and let little Billy squeeze the trigger.

As a member of the "Sewereide squad" he led fellow Marines on Bunker Rill on a patrol and ran into a nest of Reds. Six bullets hit him, but he turned his machine gun on them and got six of them. Wounded on the right side, he was hospitalized, but refused to come home to the States. He received the Purple Reart and the Bronze Star.

After returning to the front at Snipers Ridge, he was reconnoitering with another solder ahead of his outfit. They saw two figures moving. Cahill shouted, "Who's there?" Where upon they were fired on. Not being able to aim his rifle, he fired his 45 from the hip position and brought down two more Reds.

Ris family says Bill is anxious for letters from home. His address: A.S.N. 1229296, H & S Sec. 3rd Bn., 1 Marine Reg., 1st Marine Division, F.M. F., %FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

PUPIL REPORTING SYSTEM TO BE FURTHER DISCUSSED

Further discussion of the best method of reporting pupil progress will be the subject of a committee meeting on Monday, March 9 of the special PTA committee and the staff of the Wayland Center School.

Following the well attended Center School PTA meeting. last month, the committee, headed by Mrs. J. Warren Olmsted, will now attempt to formulate with the staff a reporting policy which will then be submitted to the parents for more comments.

Primary concern is to develop a sample report card which could be read by both child and parent. Supplementary information for the parent alone might be covered less frequently by a written report. Both would be closely integrated with a schedule of personal teacher-parent conferences. These would be especially useful in reporting those aspects of growth which appear to need additional interpretation.

The committee and the staff will also work out what subjects or areas should be graded and which be left ungraded: Also, what set of symbols can best be used for grading and how they can be defined so that there will be significant continuity in the reporting of progress from year to year.

Members of the Wayland Center School PTA committee include Thayer Rudd, Mrs. George I. Emery, Mrs. Walter B. Parker, Mrs. A. R. Gierash, Mrs. Eugene K. Rumpel, James A. McLaughlin, Mrs. Edward Hebditch, and Mrs. Edward Patterson, and Miss Jean T. Nelson.

MRS. AMASA HOWE and her daughter, Kata Howe, of Old Connecticut Path, were guests of honor at the Third Annual Amaea Howe Award Dinner of the Boston Press Club at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston on Feb. 16. They were in the newsreele shown the following night on WBZ-TV.

MEET - THE - NEIGHBORS NIGHT

Residents of the Happy Hollow section planned a get-acquainted party at Robin Hood's Ten Acres for the night of Feb. 26. Mrs. Bruce Kingsbury and Mrs. George Douglas were co-chairmen, and 60 persons or more were expected.

It seems people in this new development get tired of pecking at passersby and saying to each other, "Who's that?" They thought they'd find out, on the good principle that you can't talk about the neighbors with any satisfaction unless you know who they are.

WAYLAND HIGH ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Wayland High Athletic Association announces it will hold its annual banquet in April for the various High School teams, and it wants to enlist new members and acquaint townspeople with what it's doing. It meets on the first and third Wednesdays of each month at the High School, at 8 o'clock, and membership is open to all residents.

Forty to 50 persons have been coming to meetings, but the doo r is wide open to everybody.

NEW FIRE STATION READY

The new Cochituate fire station was due to be ready for use by March 1, said Chief Clifton Haynes, and the new pumpers were due to arrive and be tested in March. The new station, he said, will hold, at first, two pumpers and a service truck.

The additions to the fire station building, to house the Welfare Department and the Library branch, were taking shape also.

GIRL SCOUTS WIN DANCING BADGES

Fifteen Girl Scouts of Troop 46, Marjorie Robinson and Hilda Harris leaders, won their dancing badges at a party they held in the High School cafeteria.

BRITISH VIEW TOWN MEETING

Two English economists and students of government were echeduled to observe a typical New England Town Meeting in action in Wayland March 4. Dr. Peter John O. Self, who is now conducting research at Littauar Center at Harvard, has been making a study of the growth and planning of American cities. Ha is on the faculty of the University of London. His wife is a research analyst and writer for the "London Economist."

DAMAGE TO LAINCZ HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Laincz of 4 Matthews Drive, Cochituate, and their two children, were driven from their homs by a fire which burned out the inside of their living room, destroyed clothes and broke glass in windowe. Fire Chief Clifton Haynes said damage was $500 to $600 to the building, plus the damage to personal belongings.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN, MARCH 8

Sunday, March 8, is the day set for the start of the local Red Cross fund campaign. The drive will last a month.

Robert G. Paine, Bow rd, is in charge of the Wayland end and Mrs. Oswald H. Whitney, 26 West Commonwealth rd, is chairman of the Cochituate committee. Mrs. Whitney says she has many volunteer solicitors already, but could use some more. Her number is Natick 1722-M.

TOWN HOUSE STARTS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Wayland Junior Town House will conduct its annual membership drive this month with the circulation of a letter from the president of the Association, Dunbar Holmes.

Outstanding contribution of the Town House to the community last year was the gift of $350 to assist the School and Park Departments in running the summer recreational program for Cochituate and Wayland children. The Town House for many years has sponsored the Scouting groups in Wayland, conducted nursery and kindergarten classes, and assisted in furnishing certain music instruction to the Wayland schools.

More recently the Town House started the monthly square dance series in Cochituate. It was also responsible for the launching of the Wayland Town Crier.

CHANGES IN TOWN BALLOT LISTED

Last minute filing of nomination papers with the Town Clerk resulted in several changes in candidates running for office in the Town Election March 2 not previously reported. The final listings of these particular offices and candidates as they appeared on the ballot were:

SCHOOL COMMITTEE (1)
William A. Waldron,

PLANNING BOARD (1 for each term)
1-year term: Mary N. Baldwin
2-year term: Frederick G. Perry Jr.
3-year term: George F. Bowers Jr.

LITTLE LEAGUERS GET TROPHIES

Trophies for their participation in Wayland's first Little League were given to 16 members of the Way-Co Red Sox at a Baseball Night held in Wayland High School on Feb. 21.

These 16 were members of the all stars, the squad which represented Wayland in games with teams from out of town. They had a 2-2 record against teams from Waltham, Framingham and Natick.

The speaker of the evening was Bob Holbrook, Boston Globe, sports writer. Colored movies of the 1952 World Series were shown and there was a discussion of plans for the 1953 Little League and Pony League. Robert C. Whelchel, director of the Way-Co Baseball Committee, presided.

ANOTHER SQUARE DANCE ON FRIDAY THE 13th

More than 100 square dance enthusiasts crowded the Cochituate School gymnasium to "join hands and circle round" last month to strains of Dick and Beth Best's calling and music. Next dance in the series is Friday, March 13. Admission is only $1.50 per couple.

ST. ANN'S PARTY MARCH 17

A Parish Reunion to raise money for the new rectory will be held by the parishioners of St. Ann's Church on Tuesday evening, March 17, at the High School. The party will start at 8 p.m. in the auditorium with entertainment, followed by dancing. Bridge and whist will be played in the library-cafeteria during the evening.

Chairman George E. Owens Jr., says the affair is the first of several scheduled to raise funds for a new rectory building which will be located next to the church on State rd East.

Other members of the committee are Vincent J. Heavey, tickets; William L. Shannon, entertainment; Miss Marie Curley, advertising; Thomas F. Linnehan, bridge and whist; Mrs. Helen O'Connell and Mrs. Agnes Decatur, refreshments.

GIRL SCOUT COOKIE SALE

Girl Scouts and Brownies, each one with cookies in her hand and a smile on her face--it is promised--will ring every doorbell in Cochituate between March 7 and March 31.

It's the 1953 cookie sale of the Natick Girl Scout Association, to raise money to develop Camp Nacochwa. Chairman is Mrs. John Simoni of Cochituate, deputy commissioner of the Association. Eighty-three girls will participate.

Troop 40, Mrs. Edgar Knowlton, Main st; Troops 48 and 49, Mrs. Anthony Schmeltz, 56 West Plain st; Troop 53, Mrs. John Ferguson, 9 West Commonwealth rd; Troop 59, Mrs. J. R. Columbe, Sycamore rd, and Troop 34, Mrs. George Johnson, 133 Sunset rd.

In Wayland, Girl Scouts and Brownies will sell cookies every afternoon in the law office on the Center triangle. No door-to-door sale in Wayland. Mrs. Richard W. Foster has offered her home on Glezen Lane as cookie depot for Wayland.

GRAB FOR JUNE DATES IS ON!

The annual grab for choice June dates is on. No, not the kind you take out, but the kind where you hope to take in. Two Saturdays have already gone with the wind.

The First Parish Church has announced Saturday, June 6 as the date of its outdoor Fair, Mr. and Mrs. George K. Lewis are in charge.

The Wayland Junior Town House's annual Square Dance and Strawberry Festival is scheduled for Saturday evening, June 13. Mrs. Kenneth T. Larkin, who has been managing the successful square dance series at the Cochituate School, is again the chairman.

METHODIST CHURCH

Several special observances are planned for Holy Week at the Methodist Church, it has been announced by Rev. George C. Gutekunst.

On Palm Sunday evening, March 29, there will be a special showing at 7:30 p.m. of the Cathedral film entitled, "I beheld His Glory." It will be open to the public.

As Dean of the Natick Council of Churches Union Lenten Institute, Rev. Gutekunst will also preside over a series of programs on Sundays during Lent from 5 to 7:30 p.m. The series, running from March 8 to March 22, includes classes on the Bible, Missions and the Middle East conducted by a member of the Wellesley College faculty. Refreshments are served, followed by a worship service and talk and discussion led by a guest speaker. Those interested should phone Rev. Gutekunst at Natick 1892.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

A family party and box supper for the Sunday school members and their parents will be held in the church on Sunday, March 8 at 5 p.m.

ED VENO IN NEW VENTURE

Edward A. Veno, of State Road West, is opening a real estate office in conjunction with his present building business, and is going to night school to learn more about real estate. He means to have a complete service, including mortgages and insurance.

Mr. Veno is president of the Wayland Kiwanis Club and a member of the Greater Boston Builders Association and the Boston Real Estate Board.

QUARTER CENTURY CLUB TO HOLD STYLE TALK

Maud Preston, stylist and lecturer, is going to put on a show from which men will be barred, as part of an entertainment to be staged at Wayland High School on Friday, March 6 by the Quarter Century Club of the Trinitarian Congregational Church.

During her lecture Miss Preston models the garments she talks about.

The party begins with a smorgasbord supper at 6:30 p.m. While the women are watching the style show, at 8:30 p.m., the men will watch colored films of Norway, to be shown by State Senator Philip G. Bowker.

A feature of the evening will be an art show. Pictures of period costumes made by High School pupils, grades 7 through 12, will be judged by Joseph Hodgson, director of education of the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln.

Committees:

Smorgasbord: Mrs. Frank Smith, chairman, with Mrs. Victor Benson, Mrs. Kenneth Emery, Mrs. Herbert Falgren, Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Sheldon Kennedy.

Tickets: Mrs. Samuel Cutler, chairman, with Mrs. Roger Mills, Mrs. Sheldon Kennedy, Mrs. Milton Butler and Mrs. Clarence Ames.

Advertising and Art Contest: Mrs. George Shepard, chairman, with Mrs. Charles Wheelock, Mrs. Ashton Lloyd, Mrs. Neil MacLeod, Mrs. Robert Hardin and Mrs. Howard Harrington.

WHICHWAYICHUATE ?

Members of the Kiwanis Club, alert to the name problem in a Town which has two heads, have offered a couple of suggestions. One is "North Cochituate", for Wayland, and another is "Wayichuate", for the whole Town.

COCHITUATE MOTORS REPRESENTED ON COAST

Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Kimball have been on the West Coast recently. Mr. Phillips and Mr. Kimball were attending the National Auto Dealers convention in San Francisco.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Favors a Council for Educational Purposes

To the Editor:

Mr. Dunbar Holmes' letter in your February issue, suggesting that several fund drives be consolidated under one group, is far from a new idea to many of us. We have been sufficiently interested to have conferences with representatives of several organizations which solicit contributions. Close analysis and study of cities and towns where such a program has been tried has shown that it is not successful thus far.

Some of the difficulty arises from the fact that some agencies are established for research, some for giving continuous service and treatment to individuals, some for expansion programs and some for emergency situations. Locally we are not in a position to determine which groups can consolidate. This has to be determined on a national, statewide or metropolitan basis.

This subject has been of great interest to me, having been actively partaking in social work for many years.

There is a group of us in Wayland, who have felt for a long time that there is a lack of understanding of the purposes and functions of the activities for which funds are solicited. A Community Council consisting of a representative from each organization, would create better understanding, prevent duplication and would pave the way toward better distribution of the funds solicited.

Emily W. Blair,
Plain Road

Heart Fund Might Join with Similar Agencies

To the Editor:

As suggested, I am submitting the views of the Massachusetts Heart Association as well as personal views regarding Mr. Holmes' propoeal that the fund raising campaign be centralized.

Following are quotations from the Heart Association: "The Heart Fund was organized to raise money to fight heart disease through scientific research, education and community services. There is no ceiling on the amount of money needed to carry on research because innumerable, hopeful lines are waiting to be explored as soon as funds are available...However, the Heart Fund welcomes consideration of a joint campaign with other health agencies dedicated to the attack on specific diseases. Such a campaign would preserve the right of the individual to designate his voluntary gift to the agency of his choice."

If the Heart Fund reaches its goal in Wayland it will be largely due to the one and two dollar contributors. Many of these people are financially unprepared to make at one time their total donations to the various causes in which they are interested, nor do I believe they would pledge. If they pledge beyond their ability to pay, that in itself would prove troublesome and embarrassing.

My opinion differs from that of Mr. Holmes in that I do not feel that fund raising campaigns are a great problem. Soliciting money, and being solicited for money, is the normal adult responsibility of all persons imbued with social consciousness.

I feel that Wayland people are very well informed as to the needs and merits of the various causes seeking their support, and I feel that I have been personally privileged to have had so many pleasant contacts during the current Heart Campaign.

Ruth B. Potter, Chairman
Wayland Heart Committee

TO THE EDITOR:

Why doesn't Wayland have a Homicide Squad? Why can't we have a Crime Laboratory like those on television? We might have a homicide any time. Hurry!

Red Cross has Special Problem

To the Editor:

In answer to Dunbar Holmes and his proposed "community council". It sounds like heaven! In speaking for the Red Cross, however, another exception would have to be made. It has been tried in various plans and combinations already, in Detroit, for example, and all goes well until money becomes short and the local "council" or group tries to dictate the Red Cross quota. Red Cross is a National, really international, organization, with Wayland's percentage of the national responsibility worked out carefully in Washington accord to the national need.

I wonder how many people who gave to the Red Cross last year realize that they made a contribution towards the deposit of $100,000 to the credit of the Netherlands Red Cross immediately after disaster struck Holland? In other words, Red Cross is not a Social Agency and has no responsibility towards civilians, except in time of trouble, so therefore should be kept in a special catagory.

Still, the Board is as open minded and friendly a little group of past, present, future and alltime solicitors as you can find in Wayland, so keep us posted, Dunny, and I'm sure they would always be willing to be in on further discussions more officially.

Bird Notes

To the Editor:

Thanks so much for sending us the February copy of the Wayland Town Crier, with the account of the Audubon bird call in it. I have had many a chuckle over it and will have more as I reread it. I am sure that the rest of our staff will have just as much fun from it. I thought it was very well done.

Disagrees with School Site Selected

To the Editor:

Your splendid publication had an excellent report on the hearing given by the Elementary School Investigating Committee to heads of civic organizations. I wish to explain my feelings more fully on this matter.

First,Wayland is an especially good community. It is conveniently located; it is comparatively wealthy (let us keep it that way); the citizens are hard working and intelligent. The Elementary School Investigating Committee well exemplifies this latter because their work was so thorough and their report so clearly presented. My personal thanks go to them all.

However, I do not agree with their conclusions, because Wayland is divided into four sections by the Concord-Natick County Road and the Weston-Sudbury State Road. Our existing two elementary school buildings are both located in the Southwest quarter of the Town, and I cannot agree with the recommendation of the Committee to put a third elementary building in this section.

The other three sections of the Town have grown (though not quite so rapidly), and they have a tremendous potential future growth, while the Southwest quarter of the Town is nearly full. I feel that building three elementary schoolbuildings in this section is bound to embarrass School Departments in future years.

I hope that the suggested site will be purchased, but that it will be used for recreation and park purposes and not as a school site. I believe that the proposed building should be in the Mainstone Farm area and that it should be planned for future expansion. A fourth Elementary Building will soon be needed in the North half of the Town.

TOWN MEETIN', THE ONLY FIGHT CROWD THAT DOESN'T EAT PEANUTS; PAYOFF FOR BABY SITTERS
THE MODERATOR IS ARMED

It's the only fight crowd that doesn't eat peanuts.

It's kept in order by just one armed man, called the Moderator. They give him a club. And in this Town, at least, he hasn't hit anybody with it since 1638.

It represents foolproof government. Some of the arguments put forth are dillias, even as in Washington, D.C., but the Town's business goes serenely on.

It's a great big jury, with all its members considering the same sets of facts. And more often than not, it reaches a unanimous verdict on a given issue, like any jury.

It's a great big watchdog committee, with a thousand eyes and ears, and it misses little. There's the blood-chilling story of the rogue who tried to make a living cheating the Town, and how he starved to death...

It's a group whose elected servants get paid, if at all, less than the legal minimum wage, yet accept the situation as normal.

It's a gathering dominated by the Finance Committee, composed of iron-visaged, beetle-browed frowners, who have studied into the matter and found that the Town can't afford to live.

These financial fellows have their way except once in a while, as when some women persuade the Meeting that mosquitoes should be abolished.

It's the payoff for baby sitters. Years ago, when woman were staggering along with only equal rights, before they got the vote, mothers stayed home and tended their own children. Now Town Meeting is coeducational in a big way, and some couples spend $4 for the privilege of staying out late enough to vote on Article 19.

It's a wonderful social occasion. In the horse-and-buggy time, it was the day when people first got out to see each other, after a hard Wayland Winter. And it's still a wonderful occasion, in a different sort of way. All the guests arrive on time and stay sober all evening.

It's magic. Five hundred men and women go to Meeting one night out of 365, and lo! the Town runs for a year.

Ah, Town Meeting! They know it not in Musoovy, in Egypt, in Pakistan or even in Washington, and sometimes it seems they've forgotten it on Beacon Hill. But in Wayland and a thousand other towns in New England it flourishes. It works. It gets the business done, it protects the people and it shuts up the chronic kickers.

If they didn't like it, why didn't they get up and say so?---D. B. W.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN DEPT.

Wayland's contemplating a new school of her own. Her March 4 town meeting warrant asked for $12,000 to buy 15 acres at $7.50 an acre west of Cochituate rd.-Boston Herald-Travelar, Feb. 13, 1953.

SWEENEY-KOHLER

Miss Dorothy L. Kohler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kohler of 100 West Plain st, was married in St. Zepherin's Church on Feb. 15 to Paul M. Sweeney of the Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Sweeney of Sycamore rd.

Mrs. Sweaney was graduated in 1950 from Wayland High School, where she was a cheer leader, a member of the National Honor Society and a participant in many student activities. Mr. Sweenay was graduated from Wayland High in 1949. The couple left for the South. Mr. Sweeney is stationed at Waco, Texas, where he and Mrs. Sweeney have an apartment.

THREE WAYLAND AUTOMOBILES DAMAGED

Automobles of three Wayland prasons ware involvad in a multiple accident on Old Connecticut Path West during tha snowstorm of Feb. 12.

Two parsons were injured. They were Mrs. Sigrid H. Gustavson, 43, of Waltham, and Phyllis Holme, 32, of Lexington. They ware treatad for lacarations and abrasions.

It all began whan William C. Boyd of Old Connecticut, on his way to Townsend, where ha is a high school teachar, got a flat tire near the antrance of the driveway to tha Paina estate. He laft tha vehicla whila he went for help.

Then along came tha car operated by Mrs. Gustavson, headad towards Framingham. Headed towards Wayland at tha same momant was Dr. Uho Merikangas of Stonebridga rd, tha two automoblas collided, with damaga to both. Dr. Merikangas was not hurt.

Dr. Charlotte A. Stewart of Wayland was called to attend to the two injurad women. She parked near Boyd's car.

Then along came a trailer truck of Gregg & Son, Inc., of Framingham. It slid in the snow and smacked the rear of Dr. Stewart's car, which was drivan ahead into Boyd's machine. The trunk cover of the doctor's car was sprung so badly it hung open, and a haad light of Boyd's car was knocked out.

SHOOTING IN THE OLD TOWN HALL

Whether or not there was ever a dungaon in the basement of Wayland Town Hall, there's an honest shooting gallery thera now, in which local marksmen knock off scores rivalling these made by the famous Mounties.

Tha range was put up in 1943 by local citizens. The present organization is known as the Wa yland Auxiliary Police Pistol Team, which is a member of the New England Police Revolver League.

There are around 400 teams in this league, in groups of 15 or so, and the Wayland gunmen are usually up high in the matches, which are run by mail. People like the Mounties and the Connecticut State Police hava teams in this league, and they often do better than Wayland.

Dr. J. P. Bill af Wayland is executive secretary of the league.

On tha floor of the basement, according to these marksmen, is a spot perhaps eight feet by eight feet, which looks as though it might once have been the floor of a cell. But there's no cell there now, and it would be a bad place for it. On avery Thursday night, when the shooting starts, the din of .22s, .38s and even .45s would keep any prisoner wide awake.

"OVER 21" STARS FRAMINGHAM COUPLE

"Over Twenty One" which opens Friday, March 6 at the Vokes Theatre, is starring, as the editor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bruce, of Framingham, who did an outstanding job in the same characterizations when the Framingham Civic League presented this play five years ago. Mr. Bruce was co producer and scenic designer for the Village Hall summer play group, in which Mrs. Bruce was also very active. During the last war she toured the West Coast in the Army Air Force Show, and more recently has also been a leading actress for the Civic League. The show will also be given Saturday, March 7 and Friday & Saturday, March 13 and 14.

Jack Hyland, of Wayland, is also making his Vokes debut, cast as the publisher boss. Peggy and Rudy Bruce (no relation) are taking hilarious supporting roles, as are Shirley Lewis, Carol Powning, Hilda Harris, Milton Bevington, Charles Gaston Smith Jr., and John Bandelin.

Directing "Over Twenty One" is Jack Laden sack, of Weston, who is being assisted by Marjorie Rudd, of Wayland.

Ben Howard is again Production Manager with assistance from Bill Bertelsen, Dick White, Charles Howell, Horace Gray and Edward White. Business Manager is Helen Light, assisted in publicity by Rudy Bruce. Properties are being handled by Isabel Doane and Dot Grannis, with a committee made up of Virginia Hyland, Margaret Flanagan, Marguerite Greenlie, Dot Bowden and Marjorie Robinson. Assisting Miss Luce with the scenery is Joyce Bertelsen. Frank Stites and Homer MacDonald are the electricians. Make up chairman Carter Bottjer and her assistant, Carol Stites, have ah able corps consisting of Betsey Bevington, Joan Havener, Buff Paine, Jane Hodginson and Fee Shepard. Charles Howell is stage manager and Kinty Morss, wardrobe. Alice Morgan is the prompter.

"Over Twenty One", written by Ruth Gordon, was a Broadway hit in 1943. It recounts the the trials of a top-flight newspaper editor, in an Army officer's candidate school.

Seats may be reserved by calling Mrs. Louis B. Jones, Wayland 23.

COCHITUATE 4-H PROGRAM

The 4-H Town Committee has set April 11 as the date for the annual 4-H Town Exhibition, to be held at the Community Methodist Church in Cochituate. Parents are asked to save the date. Mr. Elmer Bigwood, Town chairman, will name the various committees and arrange the exhibitions and demonetrations. All local 4-H boys and girls will take part.

MR. BEAL WON'T PAY THOSE LOCAL TOLL CHARGES

Ivan E. Beal of 8 East Plain st, Cochituate, has refused to pay the telephone company for calls to Wayland.

His opinion is that it is all wrong for the company to charge 10 cents, plus 2 cents tax, for calls between the two ends of this one Town. Therefore, since October and November of 1952, he has Paid his regular phone bill, but has refused to pay the toll charges for calls from his home, which is in the Natick exchange, to the Wayland exchange.

As of now, it appears, the telephone company is not going to do anything about this act of defiance.

Mr. Robert Crowley, manager of the Natick exchange, says that since Mr. Beal has communicated with the Public Utilities Commission on this subject, the company will do nothing until it has heard from the Commission.

As reported in the Crier some months ago, the telephone company proposed to include Sudbury, Wayland, Natick, Weston and Waltham in one toll-free district, with dial phones, at an increases cost of from 50 cents to $1 per month per subscriber. Before it does so, the company proposes to poll all its subscribers, to see how they feel about it.

The target date for this change, Mr. Crowley says, is April, 1954.

Mr. Beal says, "If they're going to make this change, why don't they make it now?'

To this, Mr. Crowley replies that there aren't enough trunk lines between Natick and Wayland to care for the increased business. He estimates that calls between the two ends of Wayland would increase by 300 percent, if the toll charge were removed.

Mr. Beal dated his letter to the President of the telephone company Jan. 6, 1953. and he sent copies to the Department of Public Utilities and to the Massachusetts Taxpayers Association.

He said in the letter:

"My enclosed check for current telephone bill does not include balance due of 20 cents.

"It is that item I would call to your attention.

"It is for two local toll calls from the Cochituate section of Wayland to Wayland.

"Although this charge is 100 percent legal it is equally unjust. I can not bring myself to pay it. There is also a federal tax on this local toll call which I neglected to deduct. I question the legality of a tax on a phone call completed within the borders of one's own town."

Mr. Crowley says the new telephone building in Natick, now under construction, is coming along well and that they hope to have the telephone business offices in new quarters by Summer. But the installation of the operational equipment will be a big job, and won't be done for quite a while.

PARMENTER HEALTH CENTER: Architect's drawing shows how the center, first of its kind in the state, will look when erected at the corner of School st and Cochituate rd. Along the front it will measure 123 feet. It will be 82 feet deep. In back will be an auditorium, 43 by 20 feet, large enough to seat 75. Architect is Edwin T. Steffian, Boston.

PICK ARCHITECTS FOR NEW SCHOOL

Following the unanimous Town Meeting vote to go ahead with the Happy Hollow school project, the School Building Committee engaged the Boston firm of Kilham, Hopkins, Greeley and Brodie, architects, to draw up plans for the new structure.

The Committee told the architect it wanted a building to accomodate a total enrolment of 350 pupils in 12 rooms, 32 pupils to a room, each classroom to have 900 feet of floor space.

There is also to be an all-purpose room, for lunch, assembly and gymnasium, big enough to provide lunch-hour room for 360 pupils in three seatings. There will also be a standard kitchen big enough to provide 300 hot lunches daily. (Some pupils bring their lunches.)

The building will be built so that a six-room addition can be made later, if desired.

Outside, there will be a separate play area for first and second grade pupils. There will also be a baseball field, big enough so that adults can use it. The play areas in general will be designed for community as well as school use.

The Committee, as of March, had changed its mind about the procedure to be followed. The first idea was to have estimated costs ready for a special Town Meeting in June.

Second thought was to take more time with the plans and have a definite bid from a contractor ready in September.

Reasons for this change of mind were three:

1. That it would be better to take more time with the planning of the building.
2. That from September, 1953, to September, 1954, would be time enough for building.
3. That a better price might be expected in September than in June.

The procedure will be for the architects to check over the site for its possibilities and then have a number of conferences with the Building Committee. Out of these conferences will come a decision as to just what the building should be. After this decision, the architects will draw detailed specifications which will be presented to contractors for bids. These bids would be opened before a special Town Meeting to be called in September.

D.P. U. HEARING ON PHONE CHARGES

Ivan E. Beal, who declared war last month on the telephone company's Wayland-Cochituate toll charges, has sent a petition to the Department of Public Utilities, which has promised a public hearing on the matter.

In the petition, Mr. Beal asked that the company abolish the extra charge now and give service up to the capacity of its present lines. The company means to abolish the charge anyway, about a year from now.

The petition, says Mr. Beal, was signed by three dozen residents, and would have been signed by a great many more if he had had time to circulate it further.

His reply from the D.P.U., dated March 13, says the petition has been referred to the Commission's Telephone Division for investigation, and that a public hearing on it will be held at the earliest date possible.

DOGS may now apply for dog tags for 1953 at the Town Clerk's office. They should be accompanied by an owner.

ONE LAST THING YOU CAN DO!

Wayland's last chance to prevent the erection of overhead high-tension line poles through the center of Town is at hand. House Bill 1612 forcing this line to be placed underground will probably be debated on the floor of the House of Representatives this month.

Your own representative, Howard Russell, filed this bill. Don't write him. But do ask your friends who live in other cities and towns in the state to write their Representatives and Senators to vote for this bill. This is our last recourse.

ANOTHER ARTS AND CRAFT PROGRAM

The arts and crafts program at the High School, which was attended by 346 different children last Summer, will be conducted again this year with Mrs. Lillian Jones again in charge.

Last year the project was financed by allotments of $450 from the Junior Town House Association, $300 from the Park Department, substantial help from the School Department and $700 from 25-cents-a-day tuition from the pupils.

This year there is no $300 for the project from the Park Department, and the Town House has set aside $750 instead of $450. If there are many more children in the project, as seems likely considering the growth of the Town and the popularity of last year's program, a small registration fee may have to be charged to stretch the funds.

The money paid by the children goes for lunches and for handicraft materials. Last year's project ended with $8 left over. Children of grades one through six attended.

The program will begin June 29 and run through July 24, with morning sessions only, five days a week.

TOWN ELECTIONS RESULTS

Election results for those Town offices for which there was a contest on March 4 are shown below. Those starred were elected.

TOTAL VOTE	557	429	986

The total vote of roughly 1000 was 400 under the total vote cast in the 1952 Town election. This was one of the few elections in which a larger vote was cast in Precinct 1 than in Precinct 2.

WAYLAND CROWDS EDISON HEARING

Waylandians, 100 strong, carried their fight against the Edison Company to the halls of the State House on March 9. The case against the overhead power line was powerfully put by 15 local residents, but no one afterwards had any illusions as to the up-hillness of the battle being waged.

The occasion for last month's engagement was a hearing before the Committee on Power and Light of the Massachusetts Legislature. The hearing concerned House Bill No. 1612 forbidding construction of a high-tension overhead line between Framingham and Waltham and forcing it to be run underground. The committee consisted of nine Senators and Representatives sitting in judgment in a semi-circle.

Standing before them, Representative Howard S. Russell, who had filed the bill, pleaded the case for the Town. Here are a few highlights of the session:

Howard Russell emphasized that a precedent for placing power lines underground had already been set years ago when a single cable had been buried through Woburn, Winchester, and Medford. (Later in the day the Edison executive present admitted that he lived in Winchester!) The difference in cost between overhead and underground lines is about $625,000. Yet this estimate calls for two underground cables when only one is necessary. The difference in the annual carrying charges, when spread out over the entire Metropolitan area, would be only 15¢ per year per customer...Edison has never claimed it would result in increased rates...

The underground route would go under state highways, thus avoiding real estate taxes. Both overhead and underground lines would be assessed for personal property tax.

Rep. William Longworth, of Methuen, was not at all impressed by Rep. David Williams' argument that high tension towers were hideous and ruined the neighborhood. Longworth said that they erected a line right through his backyard and he hadn't given a damn. The crowd groaned. Rep. Williams said that was a matter of taste, and added that it was obviously up to the Representative if he wanted a sewer line dug through his front lawn. The crowd laughed and applauded. Sen. Raymond J. Lord, acting chairman, rapped for order, and cried "No demonstrations!"

Selectman John W. Leavitt described how the first that Town officials knew of the line was when townsfolk reported surveyors poking through their woods. The Chief of Police investigated, and the surveyors reluctantly told him who they were.

The beauties of Wayland were extolled by Selectman William A. Loker and Park Commissoner Frank S. Tarr. Senator Michael A. Flanagan pointed out that everyone agreed that the poles would mar the beauty of a community. But the point was that if this bill were to pass, other communities would press for similar legislation, and the ultimate cost of placing all lines underground would be prohibitive.

Paintings and photographs of the Town's beauty spots were distributed by John A. Brownell. The committee seemed impressed with the story about the Garden Club and the Woman's Club painting the railroad ststion red. Brownell said that Edison rates were the second highest in the country.

An interesting tid-bit in J. Sidney Stone's testimony was the purported salary of Thomas Joyce, Edison's legislative agent. Mr. Stone said it was $85,000, (gasps from the crowd.)

KIWANIANS TO HELP CLEAR WOODS

Nine Wayland Kiwanians have promised to spend the afternoon of April 25 clearing woods at Girl Scout Camp Nacochway on West Plain st, under the direction of Carl Lydiard and men from the Department of Conservation.

Girl Scouts will prepare lunch. The afternoon will close with a tree-planting ceremony. (Arbor Day falls on April 24.)

CHORUS CONCERT IS MAY 3

The Community Chorus will give its annual Spring concert, which is free to the public, on Sunday, May 3 at 4 p.m. in the Weston Town House. Chester Williams will direct the chorus of 80 voices in Randall Thompson's "The Peaceable Kingdom," and J. S. Bach's "Jesu, Meine Freude."

GONE WITH THE TOONERVILLE TROLLEY

Gone with the buffalo and the Toonerville Trolley is the Boston and Worcester bus which used to run from Framingham to Wayland Center. The last run left the Center for Framingham soon after 6 p.m. on Saturday, March 14.

This line started operating in Jenuary, 1947, running from Saxonville down Old Connecticut Path and Cochituate rd. At first there was a bus every two hours each way, until 10 p.m. Later this was reduced to three round trips a day. It was a great convenience to a number of persons, but too often the bus ran empty.

For the record, let it be put down that it never ran off the track at Sandy Burr, nor dropped any passengers to be locked up in dungeons.

FIRE SWEEPS WOODRIDGE AREA

Fire ewept more than four acree of meadowland and woods owned by the Wayland Real Estate Co. and W. B. Parker in the Woodridge area on March 11. Apparently ceueed by burning papere, the fire was blown by a brisk southeaet breeze up a sharp wooded incline along Shaw Drive. Mrs. Edward K. White, Shaw dr, sounded the alarm, which was answered by trucks from Wayland and Cochituate in five minutes under Aest. Chief Homer L. MacDonald.

WANTS OLD NEW ENGLAND SAYINGS

A unique collection of old New England phrases, sayings and idioms is being gathered by William L. Stoddard of Wayland for publication as a book or otherwise. By digging into old tomes, talking with old--and some young--people all over New England, and by carrying on a heavy correspondence, this Wayland author has unearthed a lot of eayings that we all know but have half forgotten, as well ae some choice forgotten onee that he thinke ought to get into wide circulation.

Naturally he is not giving away his ammunition, but here are a couple of samples: "Mean enough to eteal acorne from a blind hog." Another: "It's none of my bread and cheese"--not my D--- bueiness, in short.

He is puzzling over the famous "independent as a hog on ice"--as to its origin, that is; and allows he is stumped both on the origin and the epelling of "ien't worth a Hannah Cook." Explanatione of each of these depend on whether you come from the Cape, Saugus or even Wayland. Town Crier readers who can throw light on these phrases or recollect others will be welcomed in person at the Stoddard home on Cochituate rd, first house directly back of the First Church, or by telephone, Wayland 541-3.

THOSE TWO FIRE ENGINES ARRIVE

Wayland Fire Department's two new pumpers, descibed by Chief Clifton Haynes as "the best," arrived at the new Cochituate station on Saturday, March 14, and one of them answered its first call, unofficially, on Monday, March 16.

The call was for a small grass fire near the Rod and Gun Club, off Stone Bridge rd. The instructor from the Mack Company was on hand, showing the firemen how the new equipment worked, so he took the piece to the fire, which was extinguished in short order.

These two engines are identical. Each is 25 feet long. They can pump 750 gallons of water a minute each, and each carries 1200 feet of 2½-inch hose and 1½-inch hose.

Each also has a 300-gallon water tank plus a Rockwood "around-the-pump"foam generator, giving 3000 gallons of foam for oil fires. Each truck carries a 30-foot extension ladder, a roof ladder and other equipment.

Saturday, March 21, was the date set for three-hour tests of the new pumpers at Lake Cochituate.

These trucks are the first new equipment of their kind acquired by the Town since 1940, when a chassis was bought and the firemen themselves built up the fire fighting truck now stationed at Wayland.

The 500-gallon pumper at Cochituate was bought in 1935 and the 350-gallon pumper at Wayland was acquired in 1934. The Town's other piece of apparatus, a 400-gallon American LaFrance pumper, was bought in 1925.

Contracts for these new pumpers were given last June. The money allotted for the two was $35,000, and the actual price was a few hundreds dollars less than that.

The new Cochituate fire station was so nearly finished that the contractor allowed the Department to put the new trucks in it.

The old Cochituate station on Harrison st, says Chief Haynes, has been in use since 1879. It was built to accomodate hand-drawn ap paratus. What the Town will decide to do with the old building he doesn't know, he says, but he thinks it will be torn down and the land disposed of.

TOWN NOTES

The bill for spending $600,000 to fix up Sudbury River has been favorably reported out of Committee. (Incidentally, that river drops only two feet in 22 miles.) The bill is supported by the various Boards of Selectmen in the Valley and by the Department of Public Works and the Department of Health. What will happen to the bill isn't known yet, of course.

George V. Deverell of the Finance Committee reveals that Howard Russell gets an annual salary of $10 for serving as Moderator, and that he always turns back $8 of it. Uncle Sam gets the other $2 as tax.

Thayer Rudd of the Planning Board says the Town of Wayland can have an ultimate population, with present zoning regulations, 17,000. In 1952, he adds, Wayland was fifth Town in Massachusetts in rate of growth, and seems likely to be about in the same position in 1953.

BOOK REVIEW

"Official Reports", Town of Wayland, for 173d municipal year. Published by Murphy & Snyder, Inc., Maynard.

Most interesting piece of work. A copy should be in every home. Full of solid information. Concisely written. The citizen's friend.

GIVE SLIP COVER COURSE

Three free classes in Slip Cover Construction will be given by the Middlesex County Extension Service on Wednesdays, April 8, 15, and 29 at 9:30 a.m. in the Wayland Library.

Miss Ann Forjan, home demonstration agent, will be in charge. Slip covers will be made at home between classes. A list of materials required is available from Mrs. F. P. Walther, Jr., Way. 534-3.

THE R. DOUGLAS PILLSBURY family, Old Connecticut Path, has moved to Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands. Two cars went by boat, and the family flew from New York to St. Thomas on March 21.

TOWN MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

The school building articles were voted unanimously. No argument, even.

Attendance was good, but there were plenty of empty seats. Many left early.

The Water Department articles went through. It was explained that the new well, new pumps and new pipes should prevent water famines like the one of last Summer.

Mosquito control was lost, after debate What turned out to be majority opinion held that Wayland can't wipe out Mosquitoes all alone.

The Town voted to buy the lights on Cochituate Field for boy's baseball. Bright spot of the discussion of this subject was the statement by former Town Counsel J. Sidney Stone: "To hell with the expense. Give the cat a mackerel."

The proposal to rezone a portion of Old Connecticut Path for business was passed over. The article to rezone a section of Commonwealth rd was voted down.

The Town voted to put a safety island at the intersection of West Plain st and Old Connecticut Path. $200.

Archibald Cox, former chairman of the National Wage Stabilization Board, looked relieved when the Finance Committee assured him that they did not intend that the proposed salary and wage plan should necessarily be tied in with a cost of living index.

The refusal of the meeting to approve rezoning of a residential to a business area was criticized by Leonard Anzivino, Commonwealth Road East. He said business in Wayland was being discouraged by this attitude. Also the Town was losing good sources of real estate tax revenue.

Mr. Peter John O. Self, of the London School of Economics, and authority in government, found the meeting "very interesting." Mr. Self was disappointed that so much time was spent debating trivia like mosquitoes and lights. "But that is characteristic of any large deliberative body," he added.

Membership of the Finance Committee will be increased from five to seven.

FELLOWSHIP SPONSORS CONCERT

Wayland members of the Pilgrim Fellowship, encompassing all Congregational Churches in the area, are preparing for a concert to be given by two top Latvian artists in the Framingham auditorium on Sunday, April 12 at 8 p.m. The performance, featuring Zenija Berzkalns, soprano, and Anstol Berzkalns, piano, is being sponsored by the Middlesex Menden Association of Congregational Pilgrim Fellowships. Tickets may be procured from Audrey Ide, John Yetton, or Janet Shepard.

FATHER AND SON COMMUNION

More than 100 persons attended the Father and Son Communion Breakfast of the Holy Name Society at St. Zepherin's on Sunday, March 8. A delicious meal, cooked and served by the Catholic Women's Club of that church, preceded a talk, "A Pilgrimage to the Holy Land", by William T. Fidler of the Holy Name Church, West Roxbury. While a G.I. in Iran during the last war, Mr. Fidler spent a week's leave in the Holy Land.

METHODIST CHURCH

Members of the church will participate in the Union Good Friday service at 2 p.m. at the Natick Congregational Church. The service is conducted by the Natick Congregational Churches including those in Wayland.

New members will be taken into the church and a Holy Communion service held on Thursday evening, April 2. On Easter Sunday morning, April 5, the annual sunrise service will be held at 6 a.m. Rev. George A. Hodgkins, of the Trinitarian-Congregational Church, will be the speaker.

NEW RECTORY FOR ST. ANN'S

The old rectory of St. Ann's Church on State rd West, the building in which the late Rev. James E. Fahey lost his life, has been sold to Edward A. Veno and is being rebuilt, says Rev. William J. Carty. The new rectory, he says, will be built this Spring on the other side of the street, next to the church.

The St. Ann's parish reunion party, held in the High School on March 17, was reported a great success. George E. Owens Jr. was chairman of the committee.

SPRING FASHION SHOW, APRIL 9

The Catholic Women's Club of St. Zepherin's Church will sponsor and present a Spring Fashion Show in the auditorium of the Cochituate School on Thursday, April 9.

Eleven models will show new styles from a Shoppers World store. Non-professional models will be Edna Breyeer, Loretta McGonigle, Marianne Martuscelli, Frances Mailhoit, Lucille Fultz, Phyllis Brew, Camille Fox and Eleanor Taylor. Usherettes will be Mary Jarvis, Renee Rohlfing and Kay Matzelovitch. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for high schoolers.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

A busy calendar is scheduled for April. On Thursday April 2, the AUY will conduct a supper and program for the Parish. Both Junior and Senior Choirs, directed by Mrs. Malcolm K. White, will participate in the special Easter service at which new members will be taken in.

On Thursday, April 9 a special meeting of the Parish will be held in the vestry. The annual meeting will take place, Monday, April 27. Over 120 attended the supper and program put on by the Church School on March 8.

Following quickly on the heels of the Layman's League, which washed the walls, the Women's Alliance has now completed painting the interior of the vestry.

The Alliance will serve its annual May breakfast on Friday, May 1, commencing at 7:30.

COCHITUATE SQUARE DANCE APRIL 10

The regular monthly Cochituate square dance will be held as usual on the second Friday of the month, April 10. Dick Best, the caller, announces that there will be a special session for learners at 8 p.m., with the dance starting at 8:30 p.m.

CANCER STRIKES ONE OUT OF FIVE

That is the message of the American Society as it commences its annual drive for funds in Wayland this month. David B. Turner, chaiman, points out that research in this field is a long-range project. Last year more than $4,000,000 was allocated by the Society to research.

BIG HOLDUP IN LOCAL CHURCH

A local resident attending a local church the other Sunday was the first worshipper the man with the collection plate came to.

He fumbled in his coat, his vest and his trousers, holding up the proceedings. But the fellow with the plate outwaited him and finally collected a dollar.

The explanation was that the fumbler had three $10 bills about his person and didn't want to slip such heavy lettuce into the plate by mistake.

Mr. Joyce later denied this. Also said Stone: "We in Wayland think we're as good as Winchester. Weston thinksit's better!"

Others taking the stand were Everett Ballou, Edwin A. Bolling, W.R.Hulbert, Edward M. Bennett, Rev. Raymond G. Manker, and Robert M. Morgan.

In the afternoon session Manley Ives, of Edison stated they definitely had committed themselves to buying $1,000,000 worth of steel. Later he admitted that if the Town would pay the difference, These "commitments" could be forgotten, Edison has signed a contract with the Boston and Maine, and erection of poles has started in Sherborn.

The article unanimously approved at the Town Meeting urging passage of House Bill 1612 was read by Town Clerk Leila Sears.

BIG SCOUT DINNER AT COCHITUATE

Two hundred and twelve persons ate roast beef in the Cochituate School on Feb. 26 at the Blue and Gold dinner of Cub Pack 1, Cochituate. Pack Committee Chairman Theodore R. Magoun was toastmaster.

The caterer was Mr. Charles Blanchard of Haven Lane. Waitresses were Tracy Hill, Beverly Holmes, Georgina Pellicelli, Beverly Simpson and Agnes and Judy Smith, all of Troop 48, Girl Scouts. The girls were fulfilling part of the requirement for the hostess badge. They were directed by their leader, Mrs. George C. Lewis.

Guests of honor were den mothers of Pack 1: Mrs. Pauline W. Baker, Mrs. Yvonne Carboneau, Mrs. Helen M. Dusseault, Mrs. Alice Hobbs, Mrs. Mary LeBlanc, Mrs. Elsie B. Linney, Mrs. Madeline R. Lizotte, Mrs. Catherine Potter, Mrs. Genevieve D. Shipp, Mrs. Dorothy E. Smith, Mrs. Viola Witzell and Mrs. Mildred Wood.

At the head table were Scout Executive Howard Solomon, Council Chairman George W. Fullick, Cubmaster Ronald H. Wood, Troop 1 Scoutmaster Walter E. Smith, Fr. John O'Neil of St. Zepherin's Church and Henry Drugan of Pack 34, Milford . Rev. George C. Gutekunst of the Methodist Church in Cochituate spoke, and awards for merit were given to a large number of boys.

GIRL SCOUTS SELL LOTS OF COOKIES

On the basis of incomplete returns, it appeared last month that the Girl Scouts of Wayland and Cochituate had sold enough cookies to soak up most of the spare change in Town.

Mrs. John J. Simoni, first deputy commissioner of Natick Council, gives these interim figures, as of midnight, March 14:

For Cochituate, $624.50 cash on hand, representing door-to-door sales of 1,561 boxes of Girl Scout cookies. This sum represented 63 per cent of the money due.

For Wayland, $112.35 had been turned in, representing 280 boxes of cookies and 41 per cent of the money outstanding. Part of the Wayland money represented door-to-door sales and part cookies sold at the law office in the Center.

Cochituate captain was Mrs. Alfred Swift. Cochituate neighborhood chairmen were Mrs. William VanderClute, Mrs. Edgar Knowlton, Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Anthony Schmeltz, Mrs. John Columbus, Mrs. C. R. Columbe and Mrs. George Johnson.

TROOP 28 BROWNIES

Eleven 3rd Grade Brownies of Troop 28 sent out invitations and staged a tea for their mothers recently at the home of Mrs. Richard W. Foster. Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Winford C. Naylor are leaders. Members of the troop are Sara Gledhill, Ruth Naylor, Leslie Foster, Martha Bomengen, Phyllis Cox, Therese Thomas, Susan Campbell, Hope Hammond, Anne Kearsley and Geraldine Walsh.

OMISSIONS FROM TOWN REPORT DEPLORED: PERLIE'S BIRTH, MINK POPULATION, SINNERS AND SEEDS

Even in the wonderful Town Report this year there were some omissions. Here's what was left out:

The life story of Perlie Miller, only Wayland-born boy ever to make the F.B.I. list of Ten Most Wanted Men.

The list of unreconstructed Democrats who still wish Adlai had been elected.

A hot rod cenaue.

The names of the 200 mink listed by the Assessors.

The weight, in tons, of sunflower seeds fed to birds by local residents during the Winter.

The number of adolescent boys needing haircuts and shaves.

Accounts of who said what to whom about whom at local parties. Also, the number of local persons who prefer kitchen drinking to the parlor kind.

A coat record of the Town Hall dungeons.

Denial of the rumor that people living in Cochituate, the South end of Town, say "You-all".

The number of sinners who stayed home from church.

The increase in the number (5) of out-of-towners who can pronounce Cochituate, and spell it (2).

The news that it was a pretty warm Winter in this Town, which is generally colder than the North side of a polar bear's nose.

The number of 9-year old girls who put their mothers' lipstick on. Also the number of mothers (small) who don't use the stuff.

What General MacArthur thought about the Town when he drove through it.

What a few hundred local residents thought about it when they received their tax bills.

What the Indians would have thought of the Kiwanis Club. What the Kiwanis Club would have thought of the Indians.

The number of domestic arguments over what, specifically, to name new babies, whose general name, in this lucky Town, is Legion.

A final settlement of that little matter of the trolley cars at the Sandy Burr curve. Did they always jump the track or didn't they?

And a recipe for dry martinis that won't cause the guests to attempt the Hindoo rope trick.--- D. B. W.

BASEBALL MANAGERS WANTED

Robert C. Whelchel, director of the Way-Co Baseball Committee, is looking for men who have had some experience with baseball and boys to serve as managers, co managers, coaches or umpires for the Little League and Pony League this summer.

There will be eight Little League teams and six Pony League teams. Some managers are already signed up, but more are needed, especially in Wayland. It would be best, says Mr. Whelchel, to have two adults per team.

A teams from both leagues will be picked so that they can begin playing out-of-town teams soon after July 1. Each A-team will play eight or 10 games, ending the season just before Labor Day. The two leagues will end their schedules by Aug. 15. Play will be suspended during the week of July 19, when Boy Scouts go to camp.

Men who would like to help out with the baseball program may get in touch with Mr. Whelchel at Natick 2700, or with Parmelee C. Hill at Wayland 268-12.

VOKES ANNOUNCE SEASON'S FINAL PRODUCTION

"Morning's at Seven" by Paul Osborn will be the final production of the Vokes Players this season. The production, now in rehearsal under Mercedes "Chic" Bassett, will be staged on May 15, 16, 22 and 23.

PERLIE MILLER WAS BORN HERE, ALL RIGHT

Perlie Miller, who was captured by the F.B.I. last month the day after his name was put on the list of the Ten Most Wanted Men, seems to have been born in Wayland, as reported, but he only lived here, as a baby, for a few months.

Town Clerk Leila Sears found his birth certificate. He was born on March 29, 1921, in a house on Old Sudbury rd. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Miller.

The house, as nearly as older residents of the Town can remember, was the one now owned and occupied by Ralph Stewart. This property was owned, in 1921, by the late William S. Lovell, who didn't live on it himself but hired farm couples to take charge.

Recollections, now grown faint, seem to indicate that Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Miller were one of perhaps several farm couples who lived on the place. Nobody remembers where they came from or where they went. Apparently they only stayed a few months, or perhaps a year or two.

It seems they were young. There was a sister of one of them, named Gladys, then an attractive girl of college age, perhaps teaching or in training to be a teacher. But the Millers' connection with the other people in Town seems to have been limited to the distribution of eggs or other farm produce. They seem to have made no intimate acquaintances.

In the news service stories Miller was described as "Wayland-born." But little or nothing was told of his Wayland background, probably because there wasn't much. So far as is known, he has no relatives in Town.

Informed of the interesting distinction enjoyed by his home, Mr. Stewart said he was thinking of putting up a plaque.

CHARLES H. KELSEY JR., Old Connecticut Path, has been assigned to Btty. A, 34th F.A. Bn., of the 9th Infantry Div., Fort Dix, N.J.

NEEDS HELP WITH CRIBBAGE PROBLEM

John F. McGann of Old Connecticut Path wants help in solving a cribbage problem.

He has been asked to run a "Cribbage Night" at the Dudley Pond Improvement Association clubhouse some evening in April, and he'd like some advice as to how to go about it. Should the players compete as individuals, or as teams of two or four? And should there be just one night of play,or should there be a longer tournament?

Mr. McGann says he's stuck, even though he has been a cribbage player since 1929. He also has a collection of oribbage boards he has acquired in the past five years. One board was made from an elephant's tusk and another from the bone of an ox. He's collecting more.

TOWN HOUSE WANTS NEW MEMBERS

In connection with the annual membership campaign of the Wayland Junior Town House Association, Chairman Frederick Walther of the Association's Board of Trustees says:

"Membership in the Town House is open to all residents of the Town, and we would like to have more members from Cochituate.

"When the Town House was established, it's true, it emphasized Wayland activities. But it has come to serve both ends of Town increasingly, and we think this trend should be continued. With the aid of more members from Cochituate, we should be able to serve the whole community better."

Annual dues are $3, and there's nothing to do except send money to Wayland Junior Town House, Wayland. No membership committee. There's one annual meeting, in the Fall.

TRY A CRIER CLASSIFIED

Crier Classified Ads carry a punch! Phone calls through the Wayland and Cochituate exchanges soar the day after the CRIER hits 2000 homes! Everyone is trying to grab off those bargains.

Look 'em over this month: a bicycle, a stove, a refrigerator and a typewriter. Then rush to that phone.

And next month, put one in yourself. Only 3¢ a word. Just tape coin of the realm, rounded up to the nearest 5¢, on the same sheet with ad and mail to Wayland Town Crier.

TO THE EDITOR

As Chairman of the Wayland Heart Committee, I have been privilaged to contact several hundred people, either personally or by letter, during the month of February.

The response from both precincts of our town has been so generous and heart-warming that I am personally delighted at this evidence of good will toward a very worthy cause. The committee is most encouraged and already hopeful of reaching our goal.

All contributors will receive the Spring and Fall edit ions of the Heart Report. Due to the labor and expense involved it is impossible to send individual thanks in all cases. I am therefore indebted to the Crier for the opportunity of saying to all donors and workers: For all who may benefit through your generosity, I send you grateful thanks!

Sincerely,
Ruth B. Potter.

WHERE THE ROAD WILL GO, IF, MAYBE AND PERHAPS:

Although the Turnpike Authority will not provide maps for newspapers on toll road routes, a number of Wayland residents have seen the blueprints. This map is based on what information is available. It was prepared for the Crier by Herbert R. Fisher Jr. of Rice Spring Lane, an architect, from material furnished him. It may be wasted effort, because the road may not go through Wayland at all. It may be wrong because the Authority may change its route if it does go through Wayland. But as of the end of April, it shows the "study line" as closely as it is known.

Incidentally, this is probably the first map ever published to show a proposed toll road route in any detail. Maps released to the Boston papers early in April by the Authority were rough approximations.

EVERYBODY'S TALKING ABOUT THE TOLL ROAD

The topic of conversation in Town is the Big If, the proposed toll road.

If it goes north of the Worcester Turnpike, it will cut Wayland right in two.

If it goes south of the pike, all will be well.

But the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority wouldn't say where it was going to put the road.

It has blueprints showing the road coming in from the West through the swamp, crossing the loops of the Sudbury River and cutting across Old Connecticut Path by a bridge at Pine Ridge rd.

D.P.I.A. in the Middle

The Dudley Pond Improvement Association clubhouse seems to be right in the middle of it. Frank Lavin's cafe, near the corner of Stonebridge rd, seems to be clear.

From Pine Ridge rd the superduper road runs beside the high pressure aqueduct for a distance, cutting a 300-foot swath through the little lanes back of Indian rd and Maiden Lane.

At Cochituate rd, according to the plan, there will be an interchange, or access. It will take up lots of room.

Only Access for Miles

Local residents living in the path of the Big If were disturbed. So were those living nearby, because they didn't relish the idea of the constant noise of the road.

Others regretted the possible erection of a physical barrier between the Center and Cochituate. Many persons of good will, in both ends of Town, have been trying to bridge the gap.

Philip H. Kitfield, chief engineer of the Turnpike Authority, says the road will be fenced all the way, except at the access point. The Cochituate rd access will be the only one in Wayland or Weston.

Cuts Woodridge and Mainstone

The proposed route misses the site of the Happy Hollow school by a little, but not much.

It cuts through the undeveloped end of Woodridge, through Mainstone Farm and across Rice rd south of the big curve, thence northeastward through the woods into a region of big estates in Weston.

People in Weston don't like it.

People on the south side of the Worcester Turnpike, particularly in Brookline, don't like it, either.

The publicity man for the Turnpike Authority says the Authority won't make up its mind which route it will choose for perhaps a couple of months.

The Authority will not furnish maps of proposed routes to newspapers.

Only "Study Lines"

The publicity man says the routes already on the blueprints may be shifted by several hundred feet in any direction.

He insists that all the Authority has so far are "study lines". Just ifs and maybes, he says.

Representative Howard S. Russell, in his news letter, says he voted against the project in the beginning, on the ground that it gave too much power to the Authority.

Mrs. Stephen Hodges and Mrs. Gordon Baldwin of the Planning Board went into the Authority office to look at the blueprint. They offered some suggestions.

Allen R. Finley, former member of the School Committee, has studied the plans. His comment is, "The implications to the Town are quite profound."

"Nice Visit"

Richard Rice of Pequot rd, who hasn't been in Town long enough to get into the telephone book, saw the plans and figured that he was right in the middle of the road.

"We moved in in January," he says. "It has been a nice visit."

A number of new houses seem to be right in the "study line", as well as a number of old ones.

Published reports indicate that property owners in the path of this form of progress may

THE TELEPHONE COMPANY'S PROPOSITION

Mr. J. Robert Crowley, manager of the Natick Office of the telephone company, announced the mailing of letters to all Wayland and Cochituate telephone subscribers, asking them to send back cards telling whether they were in favor of a proposed change in service.

Under the new arrangement, the toll charge for calls between the two ends of Town would be eliminated.

Instead, there would be a flat increase in everybody's telephone bill and inclusion of Natick, Sudbury, Weston, Wayland and Waltham in one zone. There would be no toll charges for calls among these communities.

The rate increases would be:

Private line, $1. Two-party line, .75 cents. Four or eight-party line, 50 cents.

Private business line, $5.50. Rural business line, $1.25.

The 15 per cent Federal tax would be proportionally higher.

There would be no overtime charges, as there are at present on long-winded calls between Wayland and Cochituate.

Mr. Crowley explains that there are 878 phones in the Wayland exchange, 8673 in Natick, 18,966 in Waltham.(including Weston), and 814 in Sudbury.

Where a Wayland subscriber now has 878 numbers he can call without an extra charge. Cochituate subscribers, now lost in the Natick section of the phone book, would also be able to call 29,331 numbers without charge.

This business of paying tolls on calls between Wayland and Cochituate has been costing the taxpayers money for years, because a good deal of municipal business has to be transacted by telephone.

Mr. Crowley says he hopes everybody will return the card which goes with his letter, because the company would like to have a perfect expression of the subscribers' views.

He explains that this new system can't go into effect for a year, because present facilities are inadequate. A new telephone building is being put up in Natick and it won't be finished for a while.

TYPHOID FEVER CASE REPORTED

A case of typhoid fever in Town was reported to the Board of Health last month. Mr. Norman G. Fair of the Board said the victim was a 10-year-old boy, living near Dudley Pond. He was recovering. The source of the contagion was not known.

POWER LINE WINS - WHAT TAX ON IT ?

After a five-year battle, the Town finally lost its fight to keep the Boston Edison Company from running its high tension line down the Boston and Maine railroad tracks.

The final vote was on a bill in the House to compel the company to put its power line underground. Representative Howard S. Russell says the vote was 47 to 29 against, with many members abstaining.

The company lobbied all over the Commonwealth, says Mr. Russell, who also learned that the Edison Company paid the Boston and Maine $225,000 for an easement, or permission to run its tall towers down the tracks.

Next question before the Town was what would be a fair valuation for this expensive equipment. Mr. Russell says it is listed as personal property of the Edison Company, and that it is taxable by the Town.

It was believed by many that the physical cost of the equipment would be no fair measure of its value, because the company obviously thought much of it or it wouldn't have fought so hard to defeat the will of the community. The Assessors have the matter under consideration. Some say that a fair evaluation of this piece of property might help the Town financially.

MAY 25 WILL BE THE DAY TO GIVE BLOOD

Monday, May 25, will be Bloodmobile Day, when the apparatus will be set up in the First Parish Church, Wayland, for donors from Cochituate, Wayland and Sudbury.

Mrs. Arthur L. Kimball, chairman of the program committee for the Town, says 189 donors will be needed to meet the quota for the three communities.

The blood collected will be split three ways by the Red Cross. Some will go to the military, some to civilian use and some will be processed into gamma globulin, the stuff they use in fighting polio.

Members of Mrs. Kimball's committee will call up local people to make appointments. The hours will be 1 to 7 p.m.

PICKEREL PICKLED

Something this Spring killed the fish in Dudley Pond, reports Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health. What it was, nobody pretends to know, unless it was rain-swollen overflow from cesspools along the shores. Pickerel by the bushel were cast up along the banks, says Mr. Fair. Some of them were 27 and 28 inches.

PRACTICE ALERT ON MAY 14

A civil defense practice alert will be held in Wayland at 11 a.m. on Thursday, May 14, Civil Defense Director W. R. Hulbert announces.

This is what is supposed to happen: a series of short blasts on the fire whistles, for a period of three minutes. Motorists are supposed to stop their vehicles, but do not have to leave them. Only persons on the streets should be police officers and civil defense observers. School children will be marched to designated shelter areas. The all-clear, at 11:08, will be 5-5 on the fire whistles, repeated three times at two-minute intervals.

Wayland is one of 56 towns and cities in the "Worcester area" to take part in the test.

RUSSELL JAMES APPOINTED RED FEATHER CHIEF

Russell Lowell James, of Bow rd, has been appointed chairman of the 1953 Red Feather Campaign for Wayland. Mr. James, formerly of Wellesley, attended Dartmouth College and Boston University, and is now a pharmaceutical manufacturer's representative for E. R. Squibbs & Sons.

Announcement has also been made of election of officers and Board of Directors of the Wayland Community Chest which is the disbursing agent for United Community Services in Wayland.

Richard W. Foster was elected president, Russell L. James vice president, and Mrs. John G. Adden secretary and treasurer. Members of the Board of Directors elected were George I. Emery, Mrs. John B. Gregory, Hugh Colliton, Nathaniel Cannistraro, J. Warren Olmsted, Charles Y. Wadsworth, Walter H. Wilcox, F. Stetson Eddy Jr., Theodore R. Magoun, George G. Bogran, and Henry G. Pearson.

WAYLAND WOMEN WARDENS

Wayland women are being recruited and organized into a civil defense warden group in recognition of the fact that most men are out of Town during the day and that women would have to take charge in case of any daytime emergency. The committee of four in charge consists of Neva Jones, Alina Davis Hulbert, Mrs. Harold Taylor and Mrs. Benjamin Beale.

One of the first jobs of the group will be to seek the cooperation of the community in the test alert of May 14. Another will be to conduct a blood-typing program tentatively scheduled for June 30. Last Summer more than 460 persons were blood-typed.

CESSPOOL PERMITS granted in Town up to the end of April numbered 42, as compared with 80 or 90 given at this time last year.

P.T.A. SCHOLARSHIP FUND NEEDS FATTENING

A program featuring Wayland High School musical talent was scheduled for April 30 at the school auditorium, for the benefit of the P. T. A. Scholarship Fund. Each year, this fund is used to help some of the Wayland boys and girls going to advanced schools.

Tickets were 50 cents apiece, but the committee will accept any sum any time, with gratitude. Contributions should be addressed to P. T. A. Scholarship Committee, High School, Wayland.

THE FIREMEN DON'T LIKE FALSE ALARMS

Three false alarms of fire were turned in one night last month, and Chief Clifton Haynes points out that the penalty for that sort of thing is a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than six months.

These boxes were 471, Cochituate rd and School st, 31, East Plain st, and 12, Pemberton rd.

The cost to the Town of each false alarm may be $30 or more, depending on the number of firemen who are able to respond. In addition, there is the danger of injury to firemen on rapidly-moving apparatus, and the danger of accidents involving other vehicles.

Obviously, the firemen think, somebody in an automoble drove around pulling the boxes. They don't like it.

RED CROSS QUOTA BEATEN BY $1000

The Wayland quota for the Red Cross fund campaign ending March 31 was $3200. The total collected was $4261, plus a little yet to come in.

SCOUTING NOTES FROM COCHITUATE

The monthly Board of Review for Troop I and Post I of Cochituate have announced that the following boys are qualified for advancement as shown: 2nd Class: Frederick Profit, Guerney Profit, Edward Hildebrandt, Walter Cheslak, Jr., and Richard Brawer;

1st Class: James MacKenzie, Bruce Dusseault, and Fraderick Barg;

Angling Merit Badge: James MacKenzie; First Aid Merit Badge: Frederick Berg.

Cubs of Pack 1, Cochituate, turned out in force for the March Pack Meeting which featured the theme of "Mardi Gras". Following the festivities, awards of the month were presented by Cubmaster Wood. Under Wolf: Robert L. Byron, Certificate; Glen A. Dusseault, Silver Arrow; Robert J. Kent, Jr., Gold Arrow; and Stanley F. Siok, Silver Arrow. Under Bear: Maynard B. Hilton, Jr., Certificate; Richard W. Hobbs, Silver Arrow; Peter Flint, Certificate; Melvin C. Grindrod, Certificate; and John Perodeau, Gold Arrow. Under Lion: Rodney Parker, Gold Arrow.

ENGINE 5, one of the new pumpers, has been assigned to the new Fire Station at Cochituate, and Engine 4, the other one, has been assigned to Wayland. This is the arrangement originally planned.

Regular meetings of the Dudley Pond Improvement Association are held the first and third Sundays of the month at the DPIA Clubhouse at 8 PM.

AMERICAN LEGION MINSTREL SHOW

The American Legion of Cochituate put on a minstrel show, "On Stage, America", at Cochituate and Wayland, with part of the proceeds earmarked for boys' baseball.

Director was Doris Albert. Among the headliners in the cast were Joe Carroll, Mal Leach, Walter O'Connell, William McArthur, Gus Blomgren, Bob Moran, Horace Knack, George Stockbridge, Roy Impey, Ralph Letner and George Jones.

Ken Ringer was chairman of the committee.

DAMAGE, A THREAT, FALSE ALARM

This is what happened in Wayland Center late on Friday night, April 17, on the word of Chief of Police Ernest H. Damon and others:

A number of persons--the Chief says they were Wayland boys--broke over a section of the white fence outside the home of George Vinsonhaler. on the State rd.

A piece of the stone retaining wall outside the home of Dr. Charlotte A. Stewart, next door, was broken down. She happened to switch on an outside light. She thinks that kept the boys from destroying her sign.

The traffic post on the state rd, nearly opposite the end of Winthrop rd, was bent over.

Efforts were made to break into the Wayland Motors plant, or to get at an automobile outside.

Austin J. MacDonald of Pelham Island rd, nearby, heard the noise and came out, turning on his porch light.

He started after the boys. He thought there were six or more in the automoble. The driver started to go up Pelham Island rd.

Somebody from the vehicle called out, "You come any further and you'll get it,"

Six empty beer cans were thrown from the automoble at the MacDonald porch. The car took off up the road, so rapidly that one former occupant was left behind. He went off up the new road to the high school and vanished in the darkness.

Mr. MacDonald called the Chief. This was 11:45 p.m.

Presently the automoble came back. On account of the high water, Pelham Island rd was impassable. The car went between Wayland Motors and the filling station next door and disappeared in the direction of Sudbury.

Around 12:30 a. m. there was a false alarm of fire. The firemen could't determine exactly what box it was. The door of Box 53, opposite the Center School on Cochituate rd, was open. But the alarm was all mixed up. It might have been Box 52, at the corner of Cochituate rd and the State rd, which was undamaged.

Donald Ide of Winthrop rd, near the school, said that some boys, unidentified, were around his house, late at night.

At the time of the false alarm, another person saw a car come out from behind the Center School, go down Winthrop rd and out of sight.

WAYLAND RED FEATHER SERVICES GET $3000

Wayland Red Feather services will receive $2,955 toward their operating costs from funds raised by last fall's Metropolitan Boston Red Feather Campaign.

Wayland Junior Town House will receive $1,000; Hospital Aid,$500: Wayland district of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children,$500: Hannah Williams Playground Association, $400: Wayland Girl Scouts $255. Cochituate Girl Scouts have been awarded $300 through the Wayland Chest.

In addition the 232 Boy Scouts in Wayland benefit from the $3,500 appropriated by Red Feather to the Algonquin Council of Boy Scouts.

Wayland Red Feather services allotments were decided by a local Community Chest committee in cooperation with the Central Budgeting Committee of United Community Services. Serving on the local Community Chest budget committee are: Walter H. Wilcox,chairman, Mrs. Archibald Cox, and F. Stetson Eddy, Jr.

Not all the service given to the people of Wayland through Red Feather is represented by the $2,955 allotted to local services. While 647 people in town use these local services, an additional 934 use those Red Feather agencies which serve the whole metropolitan area.

One million dollars, moreover, has been allocated to the 25 Metropolitan Boston Red Feather hospitals from Red Feather Campaign funds. Last year 45% Wayland people were among those served by these hospitals.

160 FIRST GRADERS DUE TO REPORT

Dr. Rexford S. Souder announces that May 19, at the Center, and May 21, at Cochituate, will be the dates for registration and physical exsmination of the 160 first-graders scheduled to enter the Wayland school system in September.

Those whose names begin with the letters from A to M are asked to come at 9 o'clock (like the scholar in the Mother Goose rhyme) and those with letters from N to W to come at 10:30 a.m.

Each child is supposed to bring a birth certificate and a vaccination certificate.

Maturity tests, says Dr. Souder, will be given these children in the Summer, by appointment. The idea is that it's better to get the boys and girls registered now than it would be in the Fall.

Dr. Souder says 43 are being graduated from Wayland High this year. Next year there will be 80 in the ninth grade, which will be divided into three groups for the first time.

Last year there were 141 first-graders, as against the 160 or more expected for the 1953-1954 year. Beginning in September, 28 elementary school classrooms will be in use: 12 in Cochituate, 9 at the Center and 7 in the High School addition.

ADULT WOODWORKING CLASS PLANNED FOR NEXT FALL

Have you ever wished for the opportunity to try your hand at all the fancy power tools and other intriguing gadgets to be found in a modern woodworking shop such as are available at the Wayland High School?

As a man, has your conscience been troubling you that you don't know how to make that corner cupboard or special record cabinet friend wife has been sighing about for years?

As a woman, have you been secretly hankering to learn more about the fine art of carpentry so that at long last you may become truly "independent of mankind"?

Well, whatever your woodworking yen may be, you will get a real kick out of joining a new Woodworking Class for Adults,planned to start early next Fall (evenings, of course) at the Wayland High Shop under the direction of the High School Industrial Arts Department.

At the most costs will be only nominal and don't worry about any present lack of skill. The class will be so conducted that brazen neophites as well as experienced amateurs will receive all the individual attention they may require.

For further details call Fritz or Helen Walther, Wayland 534-3. But we suggest that you do it soon. We've an idea there won't be room for latecomers in next Fall's Adult Woodworking Class at the High School Shop.

Yes, ladies, the project is definitely a Co-ed one!

THEY'RE HURRYING THE SCHOOL PLANS

Architects are making good progress on the plans for the new Happy Hollow School, says Dr. Rexford S. Souder, Superintendent of Schools, and the School Building Committee should have a tentative design in hand within a few weeks.

The building will probably be located on the high ground, a long way back from Old Connecticut Path.

The architects went to work first on the contours, to establish the level on which they are to build, because the Water Department wants to put its new pipes through the permises and wants to know how deep to bury them.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

The Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals has taken the following actions in recent meetings: Granted a permit to Bernice Celorier to alter s single-family house at 1 Stanton ave for two-family occupancy. Granted a permit to Wayland Real Estate Co. to remove loam for sale in connection with extension of Woodridge rd.

HAVE YOUR DOG IMMUNIZED

Clinics for immunization of dogs against rabies will be held at the Wayland and Cochituate fire stations on THURSDAY and FRIDAY, MAY 21 and 22, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The charge will be 50 cents. This treatment, an inoculation, should be repeated each year.

The dog should be brought on a leash.

The times, again:

VOKES PRESENT COMEDY MAY 15

"Morning's at Seven," a delightful three-aot comedy by Paul Osborn, will be presented at Wayland's Vokes Theater on May 15, 16, 22 and 23 at 8:30 P.M. Tickets are now on sale at $1.50 each and should be ordered now to avoid disappointment.

Neva Jones is chairman of the ticket committee, assisted by Dot Grannis, Aline Hulburt, Elsie Ladensack, Louise and Dan Kennedy and Harriet Bruce.

The versatile and veteran cast includes Louise Kennedy, Carol Stites, Edith Cooper, Nancy Tanger, Marjorie Blanchard, Bob Paine, Bob Pfeiffer, Fran Fisher, all of Wayland; snd Robert Darling of South Action.

Talented Mercedes C. Bassett of Weston is directing this Spring production. Catherine "Twinkie" Luce has already completed one of the most elaborate sets in Vokes history.

Arthur E. Grannis, Jr., is production manger, assisted by Bill Bertelsen, Maurice Williams, Francis Devlin and John Bandelin. Business and publicity manger is Rudy Bruce, assisted by Virginia Hyland. Prompter is Olive Adden. Head usher is Bill Hodgkinson. Buff Paine and Ann Pfeiffer are handling properties. Frank Stites and John Bandelin are the electricians and the attractive advertising art has been drawn Elizabeth Kerr. The play committee consists of Philip Bassett, Peggy Bruce, Toni Morgan and Bob Paine.

PLANS FOR STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL UNDER WAY

Wayland's annual square dance on the green and Strawberry Festival is taking place Saturday evening, June 13, and committees are already being organized to take care of the many details.

As in past years Charlie Baldwin, one of New England's best known callers, will call the dance to the music of his six piece orchestra. The location: the High School playing field. The sponsor and beneficiary: Wayland Junior Town House.

Committee chairmen include: Mrs. Francis H. Stites,food;Mrs. Donald Bruster,publicity; Mrs. Allen H. Morgan,tickets;Mrs. John B. Gregory,decorations; John Quinn,grounds; Mrs. Arthur E.Grannis Jr.,finances;George I.Emery, food solicitation.

COCHITUATE SQUARE DANCE FINALE

The last in the series of square dances in the Cochituate School auditorium will be held on Friday evening, May 8. Dick Best of Wayland has been the caller for this series. Beginners are welcome, and individual tickets may be purchased at the door.

NOBODY KNOWS CRIBBAGE ANY MORE

Either the Town Crier or the townspeople fell down last month, because John F. McGann of Old Connecticut Path, who had a piece in the paper asking for advice on how to run a cribbage tournament, didn't get a single communication.

He's working by mail on a sports writer in Michigan, who may have the information.

It was not all loss, however. Newcomers to Town, possessed of two sure-enough 1880-model cribbage boards, passed them to him to put in his collection.

KIWANIS ONE YEAR OLD

The Kiwanis Club of Wayland is already a year old, a bouncing baby with nearly 50 members. Edward F. Thorburn is chairman of the committee planning the birthday celebration, set for May 6.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MRS. BLAIR WRITES AGAIN

To the Editor:

Driving across the Sudbury meadows tha other day, it came to me that they are slways diffarent and beautiful, no matter how many hundrads of timas they are sean. And I remembared particularly the flood of 1936, whan melting snow and rain fillad the river and it spilled over the town.

Pelham Island was in truth an island, for the road was complataly submerged from State Road to tha other side of the bridga. School children and commuters were farriad across to the Center. The water coverad tha intersection of the State Road and Cochituata Road. Motorists who triad to drive through found thamselvas stalled.

Cellars in the cantar of Town were flooded. Men in hip boots would go down cellar to tend furnaces, to find floating trunks, firewood, empty paint cans and everything alse. Tha fear was that the water would risa so high it would put out tha fires, leaving familias chilled and damp. At Riverviaw Circle, it was raportad, families had to laava thair homes.

It was strange to stand at Russall's Crossing and watch the train approaching across a great lake. Sandbags were stacked high against the fence along tha State Road, to keap it open.

Old Sudbury Road was impassabla beyond the Wayland Golf Club. Standing on the greens, looking at tha vast expanse of water to right and left, a feeling of awe and fright would coma over one. But tha eye would catch sight of the top of the four-arch bridga, firm against this flood as it had stood against nobody remembers how many others, and its stranth would give assurance that soon all would be wall.

Emily W. Blair.

To the Editor:

I thought maybe you would like to hear what my son John, says from overseas. All the boys around him wait their turn to read the Crier, although they don't know anyone mentioned in it. They find it very interesting.

I would like to see more news about the boys in service that would be one way of knowing where they are, and what they are doing. Thanks again.

"Hannah Cook"

To the Editor:

I forget things, but I think I remember reading about "Hannah Cook, the character in whom Mr. Stoddard is interested.

A ses captain, short handed, took on sny men he could get. Not sailors, they were called hsnds. They did any sort of work on the ship, even cooking. You can imagine what their cooking was like. Hence the saying, "No more good than a hand-cook."

This finally became, on land, "Doesn't amount to Hannah Cook."

I'm not sure about it, of course, but that's how I remember the story, and it seems reasonable.

APRIL SNOW, LOTS OF RAIN

After a mild Winter and a warm and early Spring, Wayland was hit with a four to five-inch snowfall on the night of April 13. Driving conditions ware the worst of the year for some hours, especially for those forahanded motorists who had slready removed their snow tires.

Visibility was extremaly low during tha storm, with wet wind-driven flakes plastering windshields.

No damage seemed to hava been done to early flowers and plants. The snow melted within a day or so, and immediately afterwards the forsythia bloomed as though nothing had happened.

Heavy rains through the early part of April raised all the brooks in Town, and the Sudbury River looked like an inland sea. Pelham Island rd was blocked by high water at Heard's Pond.

Some tree limbs were brokan in the April 13 storm, but no serious damage was reported. Telephone service, interrupted in many placas, was restored within a couple of days.

Although the water was high, there was nothing like the flood of 1936.

TOLL ROAD FOULS UP HEALTH CENTER

Plans to proceed swiftly with the construction of the Parmenter Health Center got fouled up last month, mostly on account of the threat that the proposed toll road might wipe out the site already bought for the new building.

The local trustees, of whom Carlisle D. Scotland is chairman, called a meeting of the whole Town for Wednesday evening, April 22, at the High School. Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky, the eminent medical man who is advisor to the trustees, was to speak on "Your Health Center".

The trustees sent out 1800 invitation cards Counting the trustees and the architect, a good 30 persons showed up.

On top of that, the speaker didn't show up. The ceuse of the mixup was not immediately determined.

A meeting was held anyway, with explsnation from the trustees and questions from the audience

And after that, it was disclosed that the decision on whether to award the contract for building rests not with the Wayland trustees, but with the Harvard Trust Company, which is to hold the purse strings until after the building is built and ready for operation.

So the Harvard Trust Company would have to decide whether to take a chance on building e structure which might have to be demolished before it was finished, and the bank trustees were not going to meet until after the Crier's deadline. So this is an unfinished story.

But Ernest F. Tillson of the Harvard Trust Compsny spoke on the Center, as did Mr. Scotland, Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside and Mrs. Pierpoint Bleir of the trustees.

Here are some of the pieces of information:

Surveys showed that a hospital was not feesible in Town. That's why the fund wasn't spent.

Some years ago the Harvard Trust Company, as trustee, went to the court and tried to straighten the matter out. As a result of this action, it was allowed to give $10,000 to the Emerson Hospital in Concord, $20,000 to the Waltham Hospital, $20,000 to the Union Hospital in Framingham and $30,000 to the Leonard Morse Hospital in Natick..

The provision in esch of these gifts was that Wayland residents treated in these hospitals should receive the same terms as residents of the towns in which the hospitals are located.

This means, it was explained, that a Wayland resident getting a bill from, say, the Waltham Hospital, would find on it a deduction of some dollars, with the notation, "Resident of Wayland".

The Newton Wellesley Hospital wouldn't agree to this provision and didn't get sny money.

The idea is that all Wayland school children should get their physical examinations at the Center instead of at school. Transportation would be provided. Each child would get a 20 minute examination, instead of a seven minute one now available.

There would be a dental clinic, with

get a better deal than they would if this were a straight State teking. The Authority is a private corporation, even though it is empowered by the Commonwealth to take land by eminent domain. There is a legal limit to what the Commonwealth may pay for property it takes, but none in the case of the Authority.

Benefit to Commuters?

In practice, it was seid, the Authority would negotiate with property owners, who would have recourse to the courts if dissatisfied with the price offered. In such case, the land would be taken anyway. The court would only rule on the compensation to be paid.

Some thought the access at Cochituate rd would be a convenience to townspeople going to Boston. It seemed it might reduce commuting time by almost half. But nobody knew what the toll would be.

"Whet Becomes of People?"

Engineers were seen on Old Connecticut Path, Cochituate rd and Rice rd, peeking through transits and driving stakes. Asked by some citizens what they were doing, they clammed up like clams. One explanstion advanced was that they were marking levels of ground for the possible benefit of toll road builders.

Another thought was that location of the access in Town might result in a great increase of traffic on Route 27, with the possible necessity of a great widening of that highway.

Children asked, "What becomes of people who lose their homes?"

Maybe it won't happen. Big If.

HOW THEY'LL DECIDE ON THE ROAD

The publicity man for the Turnpike Authority says the final choice of route will depend on the cost of land taking, the cost of construction and the probable volume of traffic. He insists that the route south of the Worcester Turnpike is receiving equal consideration, and that nothing is settled.

TOLL BOOTH IN THE GARAGE?

According to one story, a toll booth for the new highway would be located right in the garage of George V. Deverell of the Finance Committee. This might be convenient, except that, the same story goes, the access road runs right through his house.

HOUSE AND STREET CASUALTY LIST, PERHAPS

Notes on streets affected by the proposed toll road:

Pine Ridge rd would be re-located.

Hiawatha rd and Cedarcrest rd would be almost wiped out. Algonquin rd, apparently, would be untouched. Maiden Lane would be bridged.

Several new houses on Pequot rd would go. Depending on the size of the clover leaves at the access point, other houses would also go.

No houses in Woodridge would be affected directly, except by noise. Same for Mainstone and Rice rd. Presumably Rice rd would be bridged.

The part of Pequot rd now under construction would apparently be blocked off.

All of this, of course, is subject to change without notice.

ANTI-TOLL ROAD COMMITTEE

Residents of Happy Hollow and others formed a committee recently to resist the toll road. They circulated a petition, signed by many, asking the Authority at least to relocate its road.

Among those on the committee are Arthur Kimball, Keith Smith, Gordon Baldwin, Arthur Brown and Howard Weeks.

Mr. Smith has been told that the road would be high in the air at the point where it crosses Cochituate rd, and that it would not return to grade until after it had passed beyond Old Connecticut Path.

DOG TRAVELS 9000 MILES TO REACH HOME

"Sandy," a German police dog belonging to John R. O'Connell Jr., Cochituate rd, has run up the most mileage of any dog in Town. John O'Connell, one of the three O'Connell brothers who own Post Road Liquors on State rd East, first met Sandy in a suburb of Tokyo. John was then a First Lieutenant in the 31st Field Artillery of the 7th Division on five-day leave from Korea. Sandy was a pup in a kennel advertised as a "Dog College." He cost 38,000 yen.

In order to bring him back unnoticed by plane to Korea, the puppy was introduced into a duffle bag. Once at the Korean front, he became John's "right hand dog," following him everywhere.

But when John's year was up, the problem was how to get him back into Japan, which forbids the entry of dogs. Sandy was now reaching full doghood, and it took a couple of knockout drops to quiet him before he could be contained in the same duffle bag. At the dock, a few of John's friends crowded close around the duffle, dog, and doughboy as they clambered up the gangplank, much like a movie script.

Back in Japan, Sandy was declared, given his immunization shots like any other GI, and when sailing time came, trotted officially and openly up the gangplank. On the last lap, across the continent, he travelled via American Express in a crate. Total: 9000 miles to reach Wayland.

SON BORN TO BERT FITCHES

A son, Dennis Stanley, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Berton J. Fitch, or Herford rd, North Wayland, on March 21. The boy weighed 7 pounds. Bert Fitch is proprietor of Fitch's Sunoco Station on State Road West.

WORLD PEACE HINGES ON WORLD TRADE

The League of Women Voters of Wayland would like to call to your attention the following excerpt from a Year-End statement to the Press made by Mr. J.G. Shennan, president of the Elgin National Watch Company.

Because of recent interest stimulated by the "Trade-Not-Aid" slogan and the necessity for renewal of the Reciprocal Trade Treaty when it comes before Congress this June, the League feels that this opinion by a man who is not only a leader of industry but a leader of an industry which for years has been fighting for higher tariffs is important as a sample of enlightened business thinking. Mr. Shennan, while believing that some exceptions in tariff barriers should be made in the case of an essential defense industry, had this to say regarding the decision not to increase the tariffs on foreign-made watch movements:

"..we are aware that the decision reflects a widespread belief that a reduction of tariff barriers will further the interests of world peace. However much it may distress him personally, no responsible American can deny the general wisdom of such a policy: the only alternative to expanded world trade is the suicidal continuation of huge American handouts in a futile attempt to bolster the economy of distressed nations. Neither is there any denying that indiscriminate tariff reductions will cause serious economic dislocations for the many American industries affected by this policy.

"Our plight, and what we are doing about it, perhaps provides a perfect case history of a U.S. industry which has been caught up in the international trade problem and which has resolved boldly to extricate itself..

"In Elgin's case we have determined first that, as patriotic citizens, we will continue producing precision military equipment to the best of our ability with existing manufacturing facilities. But we also owe an obligation to the thousands of people who own our business and to the other thousands who depend on us for their livelihood. For that reason, we are expanding our research, manufacturing and sales activities into products other than American-make watches, in the belief that diversification provides our only real source of economic security.

"Considered in terms of how an imperiled industry can protect itself, this means a firm rejection of the classic idea that cheap foreign competition inevitably destroys a domestic industry and causes wholesale unemployment. We are substituting for that concept the principle of industrial evolution; we are hedging against foreign competition by diversifying, so that we can create new sources of income and new jobs to replace the old when needed...

"We have appreciated for years that our tariff position was not popular, just as we have known that diversification would probably be our ultimate solution."

Reprinted by permission of Mr. J.G. Shennan, space paid for by the League of Women Voters of Wayland in the public interest.

Members of the Trinitarian Congregational Church held a highly successful food sale on April 24. On the committee were Mrs. Waldo Russell, Mrs. Charles Cole, Mrs. Raymond Carr, Mrs. Frank McKenna and Mrs. J. Fred Wheeler.

Christian Science Lecture

Mrs. Claire Rauthe of London, England, has accepted an invitation to give a public lecture here on Tuesday evening, May 12 at 8 p.m. on the Bible and Christian Science, according to announcement received from the Christian Science Society, Weston.

Speaking at the Town House, Weston, on the subject "Christian Science, Its Healing Message of Regeneration" she will discuss the healing method set forth in the Scriptures, and the present-day use of it in Christian Science, according to the announcement. The lecture is open to the public without charge.

Mrs. Rauthe is known widely to audiences in Europe and the United States as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Of Swedish origin, she lived in Riga, formerly the capital of Latvia, for many years. Later she lived in Sweden, moving subsequently to London, where she has been in the public practice of Christian Science healing since the early 1920's

MORE THAN $3100 PROFIT FROM COOKIES

Cochituate and Wayland Girl Scouts and Brownies sold 3,141 boxes of cookies, 2,397 in Cochituate and 744 in Wayland, in the March cookie sale, and as a result of the success of the deal a new, large, H-shaped dock is to be built this Spring at Camp Nacochwa, on Lake Cochituate off West Plain st.

Wayland and Cochituate are part of the Natick Girl Scout Association. Including Natick, 19,956 boxes of cookies were sold, with a total take of $7,982.40 and a profit of more than $3100, only part of which will be used for the new dock.

The dock will provide much better swimming facilities for the girls this Summer.

Girls who earned certificates for selling 41 or more boxes:

Wayland, Troop 28: Priscilla Yetton, Barbara Magnason.

Much advance mailing had to be done in advance of the sale. Girls who helped during the February school vacation: Sandra Simoni, 15¾ hours; Judith Simoni, 10 hours; Claire Witzell, 8 hours; Joan Lizotte, 5½ hours, and Ann Kane, 5½ hours. Other help was given by Senior Scouts Frances Kane and Marilyn Harnett and by Mrs. Theodore Magoun of Eden rd.

Says Mrs. John J. Simoni, cookie sale chairman:

"The cookie sale chairman acknowledges with thanks the valuable help of these girls and the diligent work during the sale of the captain and neighborhood chairmen. The cooperation of these individuals, and the willingness to buy our cookies exhibited by the townspeople, helped our Girl Scout and Brownie cookie salesmen make the sale the great success it was."

WASH CARS FOR BUILDING FUND

Young people of the Trinitarian Congregational Church made more than $30 for the church building fund by washing automobiles on April 23 and 24. They did 28 or 29 cars in two days, and the service was so popular they had to turn away customers. George W. Shepard, proprietor of Shepard's Mobilgas Station, seems to have been the author of the novel idea.

TEA AT QUARTER CENTURY CLUB

The Quarter Century Club of the Trinitarian Congregational Church is holding a tea and book review by Mrs. Marion T. Rudkin in the vestry of the First Parish Church on Wednesday, May 6 at 2:30 p.m. The ticket committee includes Mrs. Herbert R. Fallgren, Mrs. Milton Butler, and Mrs. Ashton Lloyd, president..

4-H CLUBS HAVE FINE EXHIBIT

More than 40 4-H boys and girls held their Town exhibit at the Community Methodist Church on April 11. Director was Mr. Elmer Bigwood of Commonwealth rd East, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold of West Plain st, Mrs. Brace Irwin of Center st, Miss Louise Taylor of Edgewood rd and Mrs. Helen Taylor of Edgewood rd.

Conservation Club awards for excellence were presented to Kenneth Wood, Richard Irwin, Emory Irwin, William Morris, George Shipp, Robert Brown, Alfred Witzell and Stanley Marshall. Adult advisors to this group included John Phyllis, School st; George Bogren, West Plain st; Carl Lydiard, East Plain st; William Morris, Woodland rd, and John Donald, Willow Lane.

Miriam Vlass and Edith MacArthur of the Cooking Club were given blue ribbons for their home-made cookies. Louise and Jane Taylor won blue ribbons for their Clothing Club exhibits.

Blue ribbons also went to Gloria Parker, Priscilla Harrington, Beverly Parker, Beverly Holmes, Johanna McCann, Olive Frazer, Susan Ferguson, Carolyn LeDrew and Judy Arnold, for their exhibits of arts and crafts.

"MESSIAH" TO BE GIVEN IN CONCORD

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented by the Concord Chorus and assisting artists in the Concord Armory on Tuesday, May 19 at 8:15 p.m. Soloists are Eleanor Davis, mezzo-soprano; Wesley Copplestone, tenor; and Albert Basso, bass. The chorus, directed by Nancy Loring, will be accompanied in several numbers by the Concord Orchestra, whose conductor is George Brown. Tickets at $1.25 may be reserved by calling Wayland 573-2.

"LET ME ALONE WEEK" PROPOSED: NO MEETINGS, NO SOLICITING, NO CAMPAIGNS, AND NO WEEDING!

They give us Fire Prevention Week, Bundles for Chicago Week, Keep Smiling Week, Mau Mau Relief Week, Apple Week, Swat Mosquitoes Week. . . . .

A prominent local citizen proposes Let Me Alone Week.

Let us have a week when nobody calls up to ask one to serve on a committee, to join a club, to enter a contest, to go to a party, to pour tea or rum, to run for office, to do e civic duty. . . .

Let us have a week in which we even leave the birds alone. Let them bill, coo, nest, eat worms and sing without having human busybodies put the peek on them.

Let us leave the Town government and its duly elected agents alone. They must be competent or we wouldn't have picked them. And if they want to be inefficient for a week, let it go.

Let us leave the garden alone. Let the weeds grow, the woodchucks gnaw, the cutworms cut. Let the hoe collect rust and the lawn-mower gather cobwebs.

Let us even ignore the Edison Company.

Let man retire to the woods for meditation, or to the bosom of the lake for solitary communion with the infinite.

Let woman hide in her room, reading True Confessions and stuffing her cute mouth with chocolates, if she pleasee.

Let no husband ask how come supper is so lete. Let no wife remark that other men get the rubbish to the dump on Sunday.

Let the children skip their homework. No metter what they say, in a thousand years it will make small difference. Let them watch the worst TV programs and listen to soap operas. Let them go dirty behind the ears.

Let the schocl teachers alone. If they are seen smoking cigarettes or sniffing marijuana on the public highway, turn away. Whose children have they been putting up with all year?

Let us even, if possible, leave work alone. Let us stop making money. Dross, is ell it is.

Let us lie on the grass in the sun. Let us remember Antaeus of the fable, whose strength was doubled every time he was thrown to earth. Let us leave the world alone for a space, and let it leave us alone.

And let us come back after a week with renewed energy and spirits. Who will be chairman of the committee to bring back the open trolley car?---D. B. W.

good exemination of all Wayland children.

Some services would be free. For some, there might be a nominal charge, perhaps 50 cents. Point is undecided,

There would be a first aid room, but no hospital beds.

There might be a clinic for the older people in Town, perhaps with routine checkups every six months.

Said Mr. Scotland: "We can't let the Center cost the Town anything. We will have to plan this so it will be self supporting."

Reasons the Parmenter hospital fund grew from $200,000 to around $700,000, as reported by Ernest F. Tillson of the Harverd Trust Company: Time, compound interest and careful investing.

JOHN NELSON, Fuller road, known to all as Pep, was 80 years old on April 24. He's still raising plants and flowers.

COLT EMERGES FROM CELLAR

Will's Boy, Bill and Libby Hammond's bottle fed Morgan colt, was successfully raised from his cellar box stall on April 4. He had lived in the Hammond's cellar since a few days after his birth in October. The Hammond's mare died the day after the colt's birth and Dr. McGee, veterinary, prescribed cellar warmth and formula feedings beginning at two hour intervals. The colt was weaned about the time the Hammond's baby son arrived in January.

By April 4 it looked as if the weather would be warm enough to put the colt in the barn. He had grown to about the size of a tall Shetland pony. Although a lead rope was hitched to a truck to keep him coming the right direction, Bill Hammond says he just walked out like a dog and that he got used to being up and out very quickly, but still likes people better than horses.

JOHN CAREY BREWER

John Cerey Brewer, 44, of 5 Lodge rd, was killed by automobiles late on Sunday night, April 19, as he was walking home in the rain from Sunnyside along North Main st., Natick. Police said at least two cars must have struck him.

He leaves his wife and two sons, Robert C. Brewer, 13, and Richard A. Brewer, 12. Both boys go to the Wayland schools.

Funeral services were held from the Gibbs Funerel Home, with a mass at St. Zepherin's Church, on Wednesday, April 22. Burial was in St. Zepherin's Cemetery.

Mr. Brewer, born in Philadelphia, was a sheet metal worker at Raytheon. The family lived in Newton Lower Falls until they moved to Wayland five months ago.

LET'S NUTHATCH ANY BUM EGGS

The Audubon Sociaty has sent a list of Spring birds visiting this ragion, and has included in the list the name of tha Pied-billed grabe.

Many, no doubt, will ba reluctant to believe there is nay such bird as the Pied-billed grabe. The Yellow-bellied sapsucker may ba accepted, although reluctantly.

And if local residents can take tha Society's word for the axistance of thasa strange feathered creaturas, perhaps the Society will balieve that Downy Wayland Adolescants and Uxorious Cheek Peckers hava been seen this Spring.

BIG WHEELS OF W.H.S.'13 TO HAVE REUNION

One of the most interesting reunions ever is going to be held in Wayland on High School Graduation Day, Thursday, June 11.

Cornelius J. Maguire, now of the School Committee, is arranging a gathering of the Wayland High School Class of 1913, which for its size has made a pretty big mark in the world.

There were just 12 in that class. They went to school upstairs in what is now the Center School. The chemistry laboratory was in what's now the unused attic.

Their graduation was held in the old Town Hall, with horses and buggies parked outside. There might have been one or two automobiles. The trolley tracks were outside. In fact, the Cochituate students commuted to school on the street cars, which ran once an hour to the Center.

All 12 are still alive. Some of the men have been brilliantly successful. All of the girls are married. One of them is the mother of seven sons, all in Uncle Sam's armed forces.

The president of the Class of 1913, Robert L. Moore, was the organizer and is now the treasurer of the Sheraton Corporation, biggest international hotel chain there is. It includes such properties as the Sheraton Plaza in Boston and the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec.

Another outstanding boy was Malcolm E. Morrell. For more than 25 years he has been athletic director at Bowdoin College. The Bowdoin Club of Boston threw a dinner in his honor last December, where many handsome things were said about his abilities and his character.

Mr. Moore is going to present the diplomas to the class of 1953 at the graduation exercises. Afterwards, probably at some restaurant in or near Wayland, there'll be the reunion dinner. Connie Maguire hopes all 12 will be present.

Here's the list:

Connie Maguire. Went to Cornell. Took a degree in aeronautics. Combat pilot in World War 1. Studied structural engineering at Northeastern. Construction superintendent, estimating engineer, adjuster, realty appraiser, real estate developer, member of Wayland School Committee.

Esther H. Damon. Back at those graduation exercises in 1913 she presented the class gift---what it was has been forgotten---and the gift was accepted for the school by RoyWentworth Moffett, class of 1914. They say now that he thought the giver went with the gift, because they were married not long afterwards. They have a son who's a senior at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy and a married daughter. They live at 21 Olcott st, Watertown.

Alfred E. Davieau now lives at Valhalla rd, Montville, N.J. He went to Lowell Textile School. In World War 1 he was a silk expert, concerned

TOWN TAX RATE $56,- UP $2

The Wayland tax rate for 1953 will be $56, the assessors have annouunced. This is an increase of $2 over last year's rate, and is the highest in the Town's history.

Natick's rate will be $53.40, up $2.20, and Sudbury's will be $64, up from $57.

The law says the tax bills must be sent out on or before June 14.

TO ABOLISH TOWN TOLL CHARGES

Wayland, Sudbury, Natick and Framingham subscribers have all voted by postcard in favor of a new rate arrangement, the telephone company says. It will go into effect about next April.

A feature of this deal is that it abolishes the toll charge for calls between Wayland and Cochituate. Flat rates will go up somewhat. More details will be available in a few weeks.

HEALTH CENTER HELD UP

The Parmenter Health Center project is at a standstill for the time being, says Carlisle D. Scotland of the trustees. The trouble is the toll road. The trustees don't see any sense in putting up a building which may have to be destroyed in a year or two.

In the meantime, while the trustees wait to find out what they can do, the Parmenter Fund will presumably continue to grow, as it has for more than 30 years.

ARTS PROGRAM STARTS JUNE 29

Two hundred children had already enrolled at press time in the arts and crafts program which will be conducted at the Wayland High School from Friday, June 29 to Friday, July 24.

Mrs. Lillian Jones, director, announces that the 1st and 2nd Grade children's program will be located in the gymnasium, while children in the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades will meet in the cafeteria. A bus schedule will be set up to bring children to the High School from Cochituate.

Sponsors of these morning sessions are the School and Park Departments, and the Wayland Junior Town House, which is contributing $750 this year for salaries and other expenses.

Among the subjects to be taught this aummer to these potential craftsmen are woodworking leather work, feltwork, shell jewelry, tin cannery, gimp, plaster of paris, metal modelling, clay and potholder weaving.

Ralph Pearson will supervise the shop, while Miss Anne Hale and Mrs. Ellen Kendricks will keep the 1st and 2nd graders under control. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Eva Gately will direct the upper grades with the help of two dozen volunteer helpers from the Junior and senior high schools.

TOLL ROAD SITUATION STILL BAD, BUT BETTER

The toll road situation, says Representative Howard S. Russell in his news letter, "is distinctly more hopeful", but townspeople were still in the dark as to what was going to happen.

Governor Christian A. Herter stepped into the situation. Turnpike Authority Chairman William F. Callahan agreed that the toll road route should be approved by the present Public Works Commissioner. And the Governor said that if the route did not meet his personal approval, he would appoint a committee of five to hold public hearings on the matter.

As Mr. Russell puts it:

"This toll road business is gradually assuming a more reasonable shape. The public uproar has had the effect of blunting the determination of the Turnpike Authority to crash through the road without regard to what damage is done."

Nevertheless, and despite all denials, the best dope is that the Wayland route is the one Mr. Callahan has decided upon. His decision, of course, is now to be open to review and to discussion.

Another report, from the grapevine, is that the protests have had the effect of postponing construction of the road for a year.

However, it seemed that the Town was still faced with a problem. The idea of the Authority, as generally reported, was that the big trucks should pay for the road. And the truck terminals are on the north side of Boston. Besides that, the costs of land damages, large enough on the northern route, are still not as large as they would be on the southern route.

"It has to be the northern route," says Mr. Callahan, according to a report which may be accepted.

Another idea to be considered is the general belief that the road is going to be built, somewhere, regardless of protests. People in towns and cities unaffected by land takings are going to think that the road represents progress,

There remained, however, the fact that people not directly affected by land takings were likely to be unsympathetic with the feelings of residents of towns like Wayland.

This put it up to the Town to put itself in some position other than one of pure obstructioniam. To be sure, the first Turnpike route mentioned would start from Readville, not bothering Wayland at all, and one idea was that this route could be urged.

Another possibility was that Town authorities might be able to think up better routes through the Town than the one now laid out, thus softening the blow as much as possible. It was suggested, for example, that many more underpasses might be provided for, to make possible more north and south streets in the future.

But the whole thing still hung in the air. The best development of the month was that there was to be a showdown, and that people affected were to be given a chance to voice their opinions and they are not going to be too much concerned about the complaints of persons in small towns who are going to be hurt.

The Wayland Planning Board has had the growth of the Town, and its control and improvement, under consideration for a long time. It was never consulted by the Turnpike Authority.

Some thought that, under the new arrangement provided by the Governor, Town authorities would be able to reason with the Turnpike Authority, to make suggestions which would be listened to, to ease the blow.

SEND TOLL ROAD PROTEST TO STATE HOUSE

The Wayland Anti Toll Road Committee, meeting at Town Hall on May 24, voted to send a resolution to the Governor, the Turnpike Authority and key State officials, asking that the toll road be built along the Readville route, as originally planned.

It was also voted to send a letter to the Governor, applauding his stand on the entire issue.

The resolution, drafted by Frank Kilburn, noted that the road through Wayland would lessen the value of the new school site, would be a noise nuisance, would destroy valuable property and would be another slice through a Town already cut by aqueducts, pipe line, railroad, highways and a power line.

A report was given by Chairman Frank S. Tarr on the 11 Town Committee which met at Needham. Those present, besides Tarr and Kilburn were James Cazanas, William Loker, J. Warren Olmsted, Donald B. Willard, Roger P. Stokey, Ronald Wood, Howard C. Weeks, Keith Smith and Thayer Rudd.

BORROW $20,000 AT 2%

The Town has borrowed $20,000 at 2 per cent, considered a favorable rate of interest, for the construction of wells off Old Connecticut Path. This work was voted at Town Meeting.

HORN LOSES WIND IN RAID TEST

The air raid test in Wayland on May 14 was a success, says Civilian Defense Director W. R. Hulbert, except that the air horn on top of Town Hall ran out of wind before the red alert was fully sounded.

The signal was to be a succession of 92 quick blasts in three minutes. The air ran out somewhere in the 70s, and silence fell. However, a dozen auxiliary police in Town, with arm bands and badges, went out and stopped traffic for a few minutes. School children were led to designated places of shelter and seated with their backs against the wall for five minutes.

The Cochituate signal sounded all right. The Wayland horn has been adjusted so that it will blow only 46 blasts in three minutes in future, to save air.

The signal was sounded at 10:59 a.m. and the all clear at 11:08 a.m. The all clear did not sound in Wayland, because the horn was still out of air, but it did go off in Cochituate.

After the all clear, a fire truck from Wayland raced over to the parking space behind Shoppers World in Framingham, where a task force of 12 pieces of apparatus from 12 communities was to be dispatched to Worcester, which had been theoretically bombed. The Wayland truck and one from Natick arrived at the rendezvous simultaneously, ahead of all the others, then went home again.

A number of changes in the procedure are under consideration, says Mr. Hulbert.

RED CROSS SWIM CLASSES AGAIN THIS YEAR

Wayland kids will churn the waters of Lake Cochituate with Australian crawls and backstrokes again this summer when the Red Cross swimming classes commence late in June. Alfred H. Gledhill, Sherman Bridge rd, chairman of the program, says that Gilbert Stevens, West Plain st, has arrived from a winter of swimming instruction at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and is all ready to plunge in. Swimming classes will be scheduled very much as they were last year.

BLOOD TYPING DATE POSPONED

The blood typing program originally scheduled for June 30, has been postponed to the first week in September, Civil Defense reports.

So far only 450 out of nearly 5000 residents have been typed. Each one tested will receive a convenient, wallet size, blood-type identification card, always to be carried in the person. It might save life in case of serious accident or major disaster.

PARATYPHOID B

Dr. Katherine M. Andrews of the Board of Health says the two cases of typhoid fever reported in Town last month were of the variety known as paratyphoid B. Both patients were recovering.

"There are a number of varieties of typhoid," says Dr. Andrews. "From the public health standpoint, paratyphoid B is as much for concern as any other kind. It is not, however, as dangerous to the patient as other kinds."

TWO ACCIDENTS occurred at Dead Man's Curve last month, Chief Ernest H. Damon reports. One automobile smacked the blinker and another hit the fence. People from out of Town.

KIWANIS SETS UP POLIO COMMITTEE

Donald W. Neelon has been made chairman of a Kiwanis Club committee to investigate the possibilities of doing something in Wayland about the gamma globulin treatment for polio. The question is whether the club can help in giving out information or how local children may be benefitted by this treatment.

The committee was organized after the club members, at a regular meeting, heard a talk on gamma globulin by Thomas Stotler of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

TRUCK ACCIDENT; FREE BANANAS

Bananas were enjoyed one day last month by various unidentified persons when a truck loaded with them hit a tree at the Wayland-Sudbury line on Route 20, the road of good eating. A few months ago a truck loaded with frozen French fried potatoes went over the bank at Dead Man's Curve and was cleaned out by other unidentified persons.

The French fried truck, incidently, paid a visit recently to Bolton's Texaco station, near the curve. The driver stopped in to show James J. Bolton Jr., proprietor, how well his truck had been fixed up.

LIBRARY FRIENDS ELECT

Mr. George K. Lewis, Jr, Concord rd was elected chairman of the Friends of the Wayland Library at a meeting held May 20 in the Wayland Library, attended by nearly 100 persons. Carl de Suze of WBZ spoke.

Other officers chosen were Mrs. Ralph Field, vice-chairman; Mrs. Edgar DeForest, secretary; Mrs. Robert J. Pfeiffer, treasurer; and Mrs. B. Allen Benjamin, Willis Ryder, Elmer Bigwood, Frank Hanson, Miss Ruth Scannell, and Mrs. Donald B. Willard, directors.

Mr. deSuze showed movies of WBZ personnel, including Steve Burke of Nob Hill, Wayland.

Members of the nominating committee were Mrs. John Busser, B. Allen Benjamin and Robert W. Schuette.

CARSON NEW SCOUTMASTER

Robert M. Carson is to be the new Scoutmaster of Troop 1, Wayland. He will be supported by Assistant Scoutmasters Robert Charnock, James Sullivan, Larry Langley, and George Kearsley. The Troop Committee has been reorganized with Nevin Kather as Chairman, Donald Tarbell, Secretary-Treasurer, Willis Johnson, Advancement, and Earnest Walston, Camping and Activities.

D.L. Bartholomew, Rev. Raymond Manker, and Carl Emery will serve with Willis Johnson on the Advancement sub-committee. Oliver Riggs Lewis Avard, and Al Morgan will work with Earnest Walston on the Camping and Activities sub-committee.

Scouters of Wayland wish to express their sincere appreciation to departing member Donald Light for his fine work as Chairman of the Troop Committee.

TRAILERS ASKED TO LEAVE

Three families living in trailers in Town have been given until July 1 to move out, says Selectman John W. Leavitt. There's a Town ordinance against trailer living.

TOWER HILL GETS A TOWER

Tower Hill Station was one of the first spots picked by the Edison Company last month et which to lay foundations for the 90 foot towers to be built along the Boston and Maine right of way. At Plain and Glen roads large excavations were started into which concrete will be poured. A road is also being built along the tracks so that construction equipment can be moved in.

THREE TOWNS DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEMS

At the requeet of Lincoln and Sudbury committees, the Wayland School Committee on May 18 participated in a joint discussion of the three towns' common educational problems and future requirements.

Among the subjects discussed was the possibility of a regional senior high school providing balanced college preparatory, business and vocational education programs.

According to Chairman Harvey C. Newton, the Wayland Committee felt that this possibility merited study and that the advantages and disadvantages to Wayland of a regional senior high school should be carefully determined. The Committee will probably recommend at the next opportunity presented by a Town Meeting that a special committee be established to examine the matter.

AUXILIARY POLICE ASSIGNED POSTS

At meetings held in Precincts One and Two last month, Wayland's auxiliary police were assigned to the traffic control points and guard posts throughout town which they will man in civil defense emergencies. Pledged to protect persons and property in Wayland, nearly 100 men are already signed up and actively engaged in training as auxiliary police.

Precinct One auxiliaries headed by Capt. Daniel F. Kennedy Jr. have been divided into five squads and a headquarters unit. Four of the squads will be responsible for security in four different geographical sections of the first precinct and the fifth-a riot squad-will be stationed at auxiliary police headquarters in the Town Hall basement.

Cochituate auxiliaries with Capt. Charles Berkebile in charge hve been formed into seven squads. The second precinct has been divided into2geographical sectors and three squads have been assigned to each to maintain security. The seventh unit-also designated a riot squad-will be held in reserve at headquarters which is in Precinct Two civil defense control center in the American Legion Hall.

RUSH SEATING CLASS PROPOSED

A repeat on the rush seating and chair caning claes this summer may be possible if enough people evince interest. Those who want to learn this easily acquired skill or need a little inspiration to finish the unfinished, should call Mrs. John Dunning, Wayland 312 or Mrs. Lewis Avard, Wayland 250.

TEST ALERT, CIVIL DEFENSE PERSONNEL ONLY

There will be a test alert one night during the second week of June to test the ability of Civil Defense personel to mobilize quickly and effectively, says W.R. Hulbert, Wayland Civil Defense director. It will also give an opportunity to test the alarm whistle which has been adjusted to prevent its running out of air again during the red alert.

The red alert (A SERIES OF SHORT BLASTS FOR THREE MINUTES) will sound between 8 and 10 p.m., June 11th. The all clear (two blasts same as Fire Department recall but repeated three times at two-minute intervals) will sound 3 to 5 minutes later. At the sound of the ALL CLEAR all auxiliary police will go to their posts and Civil Defense Report Center personnel will report for duty. The general public will not participate and no traffic will be stopped.

GREENHORNS ARE LAUNCHED

"Greenhorns" is the title that has been given Wayland's newest organization, the 4 H Garden Club of Wayland. Apparently all but one of the founders is new to 4 H work. The club has been organized by Mrs. Arden R. Gierasch and meets each Thursday night. Members are currently working hard in their gardens hoping to exhibit produce at the county fair.

Recently elected officers are: Sandra Bolan, president; Robert Yorke, Vice president and treasurer; Martha Tashjian, secretary.

CHIEF DAMON LAID UP

Chief of Police Ernest H. Damon was ill last month, and his son, Capt. Ernest H. Damon Jr. of the Medical Corps of the Air Force came home to visit him. His place in the Town cruiser was taken by Irving L. Dame Jr.

JOHN DWIGHT MORTON SR.

John Dwight Morton Sr, 52, vice president of the Carpenter-Morton paint company of Boston, of Old Connecticut Path East, died May 3 at a Boston Hospital.

He was graduated from Roxbury Latin School in 1918 and from Princeton in 1922. He was president of the Weston Golf Club and a former vestryman of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Weston.

He leaves his wife, the former Dorothy F. Shurtleff; two sons, John Jr. and Jeremy R. Morton, both of Wayland, and a daughter, Mrs. Richard Bannister of New York City.

Services were held at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Weston.

DANCING ON GREEN JUNE 13

Saturday evening, June 13, Waylandians will be furiouely ewinging their partnere on the Wayland High School playing field at the annual Strawberry Festival and Square Dance of the Wayland Junior Town Houee. Rain or shine, the show will etart at 8 p.m. either inside or out. Tickets are 75¢ and are obtainable from the Ticket Committee Chairman, Mre. Allen Morgan, Wayland 235-3.

Charlie Baldwin's catchy calling and his eix-piece band are expected ae usual to keep the large crowd of 700 on their toes all evening. Interludee will be provided to give the footsore a chance to purchase ice cream and strawberry sauce at the Strawberry Bar. Mrs. Kenneth T. Larkin is General Chairman.

REPUBLICANS ELECT ELA

The newly elected officers of the Republican Town Committee of Wayland are Roger E. Ela, chairman, Mrs. Hugh F. Colliton, Jr., and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteeide, vice-chairmen, and Mre. Louis B. Jones, secretary. At a meeting on May 19th an outing was planned for Town Committee members and organization workers, to be held at the Roger Ela's on the evening of June 17 from six to nine o'clock. Mre. Arthur Kimball is chairman of the affair, and officials of the Party, state and local, will be invited guests.

Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett of Wayland, State Republican Committee member from the Middlesex-Norfolk District, and 20 members of the Wayland Town Committee attended the recent District meeting in Framingham.

REV. HODGKINS RECEIVES DEGREE

Rev. George A. Hodgkins of the Trinitarian Congregational Church received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Andover Newton Theological School on May 18.

GIRL SCOUTS OBSERVED ARBOR DAY

Arbor Day was observed by more than 60 Girl Scouts and 10 adult leaders at Camp Nacochwa, on Lake Cochituate, with landscaping and tree-planting directed by Mr. Carl Lydiard, State Park Superintendent, and seven Kiwanians.

After a lunch cooked by the girls, Mr. Lydiard cut down some dead and useless trees. Mr. Fern Taylor sent over a man with a brush-chipper, a loud and wonderful machine which chews brush into mulch, and the girls fed this machine.

Then the girls set out some hemlocks for a hedge, and Mr. Lydiard spoke a little piece about conservation.

Kiwanis Club members taking part were John Simoni, Joseph G. Hallenbrook, N. Lawrence Ekdahl, George W. Shepard, Clayton Morrill, Edward A. Veno and Frank A. Smith.

MARTHA MORGAN, of Old Sudbury rd, has been elected business and advertising manager of WRMC, student broadcasting station for Middlebury College, Vt.

JOAN FANNON was Queen of the May procession held by St. Zepherin's Church on May 17. Her attendants were Joan and Jane Cahill, twins, and the crown bearer was Lawrence Smith.

ROLLIE WELCH, 42 West Plain st, one of Wayland High School's greats in athltics, has been inducted into the Army at Ft. Dix N.J.

ALEXANDER CAPPS, owner of Capps Super Market on Route 20, Wayland, contributed toward the purchase of bicycles given as prizes at the Weston Pet and Hobby Show on May 16.

THE SUDBURY RIVER - NOT WHAT IT SHOULD BE

Some information on the Sudbury River, from two Commonwealth of Massechusetts publications: Report of the Sudbury Valley Commission, March, 1950, and Speoial Report of the Department of Public Works. . . Reletive to Controlling the High and Low Water Levels of the Sudbury end Concord Rivers, 1951.

The Massachusetts Depertment of Public Health olassifies rivers in this way:

A. Weter is fit for humans to drink.
B. Water is fit for humens to swim in.
C. Water is fit for fish and fishing.
D. River for carrying off waste.
E. Nuisance river.

The Sudbury is a D river.

Major sources of pollution in the river are the treated sewege effluent of Framingham and Netick and the industrial waste of the cerpet mill at Saxonville. It is believed thet the sewage effluent, within e yeer or so, will be diverted to the South Metropoliten Sewer.

In dry seasons, there is more sewage effluent than water in the river. When the sewage is diverted, however, enough clean water can be put into the river from the Sudbury reaervoirs and Lake Cochituete to keep up the water level. The level of Lake Cochituete would be lowered only 1.35 feet.

Nobody can tell for sure, but the prevelence of duckweed, "Lemna minor", which hes covered the river at intervals since 1936, mey be due to pollution.

Between Saxonville and Concord, the Sudbury River drops only about two feet. Its current is imperceptible, it is said, over this stretch of 19 miles.

There are six principal verieties of noxious mosquitoes in the river. Some of them can travel as muob es 15 miles. The Report seys the only way to control the Velley mosquitoes effectively is to set up a method of organizing and financing basic stream and meadow improvementa, at e cost of 35 cents per thousend on the tax rates. The population within renge of Sudbury end Concord River mosquitoes was estimeted, es of Jan. 1, 1950, at 1,752,000. Even part of Boston is within range of these mosquitoes.

The engineers have drawn up plans for a $600,000 projeot which would lower the weter level approximately six inches at the Route 20 bridge in Wayland and would cut down by months the duration of annuel flooda on the marshes, thus releesing more land for farming and recreational use.

Back in 1898, long stretches of the Sudbury were dredged, to improve the flow of water. Since that time, however, the bers heve silted up again.

The real bottleneck is said to be the shallow place called the Fordwey in Billerica, under a bridge. Blasting and dredging here, it is felt, might help the upper river.

Minsral resources of the River seem limited to fuller's earth and peat. Much of the low land is fertile.

The marshes are a great place for muskret trapping. All marshes, with a totel aree of 2900 acres, are said to have a potentiel revenue in furs of $46,000 a yeer.

The experts think the River could be mede clean enough for swimming and that the Valley could become a great recreationel area, with fish ponds, boating, picnic sitea, increesed wild life, better gardening end better residential sites. In fact, they say the Velley may become either e great asset to the Commonweelth, or a great menace.

These two Reporta, one of 142 pages and the other of 42 pages, are in the Wayland Librery. They ere filled with solid information.

IF AIR RAID THREATENS - TUNE TO 640 OR 1240

Your radio will be your most reliable source of information during an actual alert or following enemy attack and civil defense officials have announced that during any real emergencies, there will be only two official frequencies on the air-640 and 1240. Should enemy attack be imminent or actually occur, remember to dial to either 640 or 1240 beceuse all TV and FM stations will immediately go off the air and all other broadcasting stations will abandon their regularly assigned frequencies for the duration of the emergency.

Called the Conelrad Plan, this two-frequency syatem of emergency operation has been adopted for the antire nation. Conelrad (control of electromagnetic radiation) was devised to prevent navigational aid to the enemy. With broadcasting stations vacating their regular frequencies and shifting to 640 or 1240 Kc during an alert or attack, enemy planes would not have the advantage of centering on a station's regular frequency in order to shape a course toward a specific target.

According to the Conelrad Plan, all information programs during an emergency will originate at the State Civil Defense Control Center. The programs, broadcast by two key stations, will be relayed by all others on either of the emergency frequencies.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Response to last month's notice in the Crier has been grand. The number of dog licenses issued between April 15 and May 15 has better than doubled the figure published then.

However, the 317 tags issued as of May 15 are still not half of the 725 hoped for. Keep them coming, and we'll soon be caught up.

Send $2 for male or spayed female; $5 for female, with the following information: Dog's name, breed, color, age and owner's name and address..

Leila Sears, Town Clark.

THE WATER DEPARTMENT

Some notes on the Wayland Water Department, from Farn A. Taylor of the Commissionars:

For drinking, Wayland water is as good as any obtainable. It does have minerals in it and it's hard. It's better drinking water than Boston's.

The Happy Hollow well consists of a pipe two feet in diameter, 45 feet deep, packed in gravel. The water comes to within six feet of the surface. When the pump takes water from it at the rate of 650 gallons a minute, the level drops two feet, then pops back when the pump stops.

"Water available surplus" simply means the money the Water Department has to work with. The Water Department is a separate entity in the Town organization, supported by charges and not by taxes. It takes nothing from the tax budget and gives nothing to it.

As of now, the Water Department has about $72,000 on hand. Aside from routine expenditures or emergency costs, however, it can only spend what the Town authorizes. Right now, it's trying to save up enough money to build a new standpipe.

For fire fighting, the pressure in downtown Wayland is 104 pounds, in Cochituate 80 pounds. It's less on higher ground. Boston's pressure averages 60 pounds.

The Water Department is run as a business. It has to be self supporting. It can raise or lower rates without a vote of the Town.

Present rates, per year:

For a kitchen sink, $6; bathtub, $4; bathroom fixture, $6; shower outside a tub, $4 (inside tub doesn't count); hose connection, either inside or outside the house, $6; live stock, $1.60 a head.

Some households have meters. The metered rate is 25 cents per 100 cubic feet. Wholesale rate, metered, is 15 cents per 100 cubic feet. Swimming pools have to be metered, at the wholesale rate.

Everybody who signs up for water service promises to run the hose or sprinkler only four hours a day. In ordinary weather, however, the Department doesn't care how much water is used, within the pumping capacity. But in dry times, as last Summer, the rule has to be enforced.

The average lawn sprinkler uses five gallons a minute. At 12 hours a day, that could be 3000 gallons a day. And if everybody used a sprinkler in a dry season, that could amount to four times the present capacity.

Jonathan Maynard Parmenter gave $300,000 for the Baldwin's Pond pumping station and the Wayland water system.

The Cochituate water system was installed nearly 75 years ago. Some of its early pipes were of wood. Wayland and Cochituate systems weren't tied together until the 1930s.

The pond back of the home of the Frederick Whitesides on Rice rd is still part of the Town water system, although it's unused. Hornpout fishing in it is said to be good and is permitted, as long as nobody makes a disturbance.

In Winter, domestic use is only 400,000 gallons a day. Last Summer, outdoor use ran the consumption up to 2,000,000 gallons a day. When the ban went on, it dropped to 600,000 a day.

With the new wall and pump, the daily capacity of the system should be 2,500,000 gallons.

PLANS FOR THE NEW HAPPY HOLLOW SCHOOL are being made according to schedule, says Superintendent of Schools Rexford S. Souder. The proximity of the proposed toll road isn't making any difference.

MUSIC FESTIVAL AT COCHITUATE SCHOOL

The Spring Music Festival played to an overflow audience May 7, at the Cochituate School. More than 650 parents, relatives and friends crowded into the auditorium to give ear to a spirited program presented by grades one to six.

The fifth grades of the Cochituate and Center Schools combined as a chorus. The sixth grade of the Center School was represented by its glee club. The balance of the program was performed by Cochituate School children.

MARSHALL'S APOTHECARY TO OPEN SOON

On or before June 11 Marshall's Apothecary will open its doors in the old Post Office building on Cochituate Road in Wayland Center. Alton L. F. Marshall Jr., who has been associated with the New England College of Pharmacy as Professor of Pharmacy for seven years, is the owner and a registered pharmacist. He received a B. S. and M. D. in pharmacy at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, and has been a registered pharmacist since 1940.

Mr. Marshall's father is also an alumnus of the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and owns the Lexington Street Drug Store in Waltham. Mr. Marshall's wife is a graduate of Boston University and at one time served as secretary to the dean of the N. E. College of Pharmacy.

The new store will be equipped to handle all prescriptions and there will be a registered pharmacist on duty at all times. In addition there will be fountain service, greeting cards, photo finishing and the other services usually found in drug stores. The store will be air-conditioned.

BIRDS which have been seen recently are the old bathatch, the chickleflicker and the downy crumb-bum.

CONGOS TO CELEBRATE 125TH BIRTHDAY

The 125th anniversary of the Trinitarian Congregational Church, an echo of the great religious split attendant on the rise of Unitarianism in New England, will be celebrated at the church on June 21.

In pioneer days, in Wayland, there was a congregation led by Edmond Brown, whose first salary as pastor was four pounds a year. The first church was built in 1640 on a little square which may still be traced in the North Cemetery, on Old Sudbury rd.

Through Colonial days and for a time after, church and municipality were practically one. The change came after 1800.

At that period came the revolt, by some, against the old-time religion. The new thought was a departure from the strict orthodoxy of early days. The conservatives, if that's the word for them, held to the faith of the Puritans and the Pilgrims.

In Wayland, according to Alfred Wayland Cutting, whose little book, "Old-time Wayland", published in 1926, is in the Wayland Library, the theological fur began to fly soon after 1800. Then there was a seven-year fight as to where to locate a new church building, settled when the present First Parish Church was erected on its present site.

For a time there was peace, but the differences of opinion were not settled. Rev. John B. Wight, the minister, joined the new liberal movement. A majority of his parishioners agreed with him, but not all. Mr. Cutting writes:

"My great-grandmother, Mrs. William Roby, coming out of church one Sunday morning with Miss Sophia Cutting, my great-aunt, said to her, 'If that is the kind of doctrine we have got to listen to, it is high time we had a church where the Christian religion is preached.' That she was a woman to be reckoned with can be seen from the fact that, left a widow at thirty-five with seven children, she ran her farm herself successfully, brought up her seven children in the fear and admonition of the Lord, and lived a useful and respected life of ninety-six years."

So the radicals, a majority, stayed to become Unitarians, and the conservatives, a minority, left to form what they were careful to call the "Evangelical Trinitarian Church."

Eighteen persons formed the new church, in May, 1828. There were 15 women and three men. Their names:

William Johnson, Edward Rice, Ira Draper, Esther Johnson, Nancy Rice, Ruth Willis, Susan Roby, Susan Grout, Eunice Rutter, Sophia Moore, Betsey Allen, Elizabeth Shurtliff, Martha Jones, Eliza Newell, Martha Carter, Fanny Rutter, Sophia Cutting and Abigail Russell.

The first church of the new congregation was built in 1835, on the site of the present one. Its timbers were brought on wagons from Ashburnham, 40 miles away, and its total cost was a little more than $3000, all paid within four days after the dedication.

The church throve from the beginning and, under Rev. George A. Hodgkins, is still growing.

The first building burned in 1922. The present structure, designed by architect Edwin B. Goodell of Concord rd, a Unitarian, for free, was erected in 1928.

As Mr. Cutting says in his book, "The great theological question ..... was never settled." But the First Parish Church and the Trinitarian Congregational Church hold joint services not infrequently nowadays, and whatever acrimony there may have been in 1828 has long since evaporated.

Plain Road Wayland

R. N. Elwell, Prop.

HOW TO GET EVEN WITH THE TOLL ROAD

At a recent meeting of minds, among dimwits, a scheme was hatched for profitable revenge upon a society which seemed determined to run a toll road through Wayland.

Details may need to be worked out, but they can be left to the wisdom of the Town authorities, the Kiwanis Club and the Tired Mothers.

In brief, the idea is that if they're going to give us a great big superhighway, we'll get even by cutting all the existing Town roads down to bicycle paths.

The beauty of this is that a town with roads only, say, five feet wide, is going to be considered quainter than wooden shoes, and will thus become a tourist center. Unable to penetrate its fascinating byways by automobile, the visitors will come on foot, awheel and on horseback. They'll refuse to stay out.

And here's what the Town does.

It boobytraps the place from end to end and from side to side with tourist attractions. It cooks up such items as the Grand Canyon of the Sudbury, the First Elm Tree, the Great Circle Course at Riverview, the X where the trolley went off the track in '07. If necessary, a replica of the sewers of Paris can be dug.

All these points of interest are marked by appropriate signs, of course, along the quaint lanes.

These lanes should be something, too. Space on the sides could be planted to primrosss, so that in lighter moments both visitors and residents could stray down primrose paths. No other town has such an attraction.

And the prices. Every hundred yards there could be a picnic spot, maybe with a lemonade or beer stand. (There's no law against riding a bicycle while loaded.) And lunch bars. Suggested price list:

Parking cycle 30 minutes, $1. Parking horse ditto, $2. Resting feet, 50 cents. Ham sandwich, $1.50. Lemonade (thimblefull) 85 cents. Beer (cup) $1.

Bathing in Lake Cochituate, $10 for 15 minutes. Hot dogs, $1 without bread. Foot powder, 50 cents per shake of the can. Fixing bicycle tire, $5. Repairing shoes, $12.50 .

The people would pour in and us local robbers would wring 'em out. Everybody in Town would get rich, and thus the toll road would prove to be the well known blessing in disguise. And it would certainly show the Turnpike Authority where to get off.

The only drawback would be the horrible sight of Wayland men riding bicycles in shorts, with their knees sticking out.----D. B. W.

OPEN LETTER TO READERS

To the many persons who send news to the Crier, thanks, and a suggestion or two:

If communications can be typewritten, it helps. Legibility. But if anybody has a piece of news, please send it any old way.

Full names help. The standard rule is first name, middle initial, last name.

The Crier wants all the news of all local organizations and their activities, and the names of persons involved. Let nobody think his club, campaign, church or enterprise is uninteresting.

The Crier also wants to thank the many who have sent in their dollars recently, and especially those who have sent two dollars, for last year and this year. But please send news, too, of all kinds. The more news, the more that dollar is worth.

ADMITTED during 1952 to the Framingnam Union Hospital were 120 people from Wayland, representing 729 hospital days.

PLANS FOR CONGREGATIONAL PARISH HOUSE

Members of the Trinitarian Congregational Church held a meeting on May 25 to discuss plans for the campaign to raise money to build a new parish house adjoining the church. The campaign was to begin early in June and close June 21, and it was hoped construction would begin in early summer.

The church has recently acquired about three-quarters of an acre of land adjoining the church on the north side, and the plan is to build the parish house on it.

ST. ZEPHERIN'S MAY FESTIVAL

Lithuanian dances in the native tradition by 16 Lithuanian displaced persons stole the show at the annual May Festival of St. Zepherin's Parish. The party was held at the Mansion Inn on May 18 and was organized by members of the parish, the Holy Name Society and the Catholic Women's Club. A local dancer who also took the spotlight was Francis Hartin.

3-STOP DINNER

Members of the St. Zepherin's Catholic Women's Club staged a three-stop progressive dinner on May 13. Sixty strong, they ate their first course at the home of Mrs. Mary Hammond on Pemberton st. The main course was in the Church hall, and dessert was served by Mrs. Mary Jarvis in North Natick. An orchid was presented to the oldest member present, Mrs. J.J. Sullivan, of Pleasant st.

FIRST PARISH ELECTS

At the annual meeting of the First Parish Church in Wayland, Roger P. Stokey was elected moderator, Mrs. George Dickey, clerk, and Maurice W. Williams, treasurer. Mervin R. Parsons was elected to a three year term on the parish committee, and Mrs. John Quinn to a one year term.

SELECTMAN GERALD HENDERSON, who has been ill, is back attending to his Town duties.

WAYLAND CIVIL WAR HISTORY TURNS UP

Lesson in Wayland history, for the benefit of all of us who have come lately:

After the Civil War, the Town's memorial to all the local men who had served in the armed forces was a book, telling the story of what each man had done.

A copy of the book, published in 1871 and now rare, has turned up in the possession of John E. Nelson of Cochituate.

The title of the book is simply "Memorial".

It lists 72 Wayland men and boys. Most were farmers or shoemakers. They served in all the great battles. Some were prisoners in Andersonville. One or two deserted. All but three, who were drafted, were volunteers.

Twelve died, mostly of disease.

John Mellen was killed in the forgotten battle of Bisland, Louisiana, shot through the heart on April 13, 1863. Sumner Aron Davis was killed at Gettysburg. James Alvin Rice died of a wound, Nov. 23, 1864. Alpheus Bigelow Wellington died in battle, May 12, 1864. Edward Isaac Loker died April 10, 1864, in Andersonville prison.

Those who died of disease were Benjamin Corliss, George Taylor Dickey, William Dexter Draper, William Thomas Harlow, Elias Whitfield Farmer, Hiram Leonard Thurston and James Dexter Loker.

The committee in charge of publication of the 452-page book were Edmund H. Sears, Lafayette Dudley and James S. Draper.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

The Zoning Board of Appeals has granted a permit to Calvin Hollowell to build on lot having less than required frontage. The Board denied a permit to Albert E. Fleher Jr. to build on lot on Central st.

Parker H. Groton was given authority to enclose a porch.

The Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals has granted a permit to Sophia W. Sears for authority to use the Little Law Office at Wayland as insurance and real estate office.

CONGO FAIR SET FOR SEPT. 26

Summer is almost upon us, but parishioners of the Trinitarian Congregational Church are already in the midst of plans for their annual fall fair. In charge are Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Surgenor, assisted by a steering committee including Howard Weeks, Nevin Kather and Donald Bruster.

The fair will open with a dance Friday evening, September 25. On Saturday, the 26th, booths will open and the auction will begin. A regular country dinner will be served from 4:30 to 7:00.

WHY DON'T THEY WRITE UP OUR CLUB?

Maybe you've asked that question when you've failed to see stories about your own club, church, or organization in the Crier. The answer is that there are only two of us to try to keep track of the Town's 57 different organizations. We have to rely on the organizations themselves to send in the material, and, alas, a great many of them don't.

Also many organizations don't decide on the date of a coming event until after the Crier deadline, the 20th of the month, has paased. That means that if you don't decide on the date for a next month affair until after the 20th of the present month, it will never get in the Crier. 'Nuff said.

with parachutes. He is now superintendent of laboratories for the United States Conditioning and Testing Company, with which he has been associated for 34 years. He married Hazel Kenney of Patterson, N.J., and they have a son, Edward, and a grandson, Edward Jr. They own a farm, on which they plan to enjoy a ripe old age.

Hazel Burke Magorty gave the salutatory and essay 40 years ago. She married Frederick Swanson, no longer living, and she has two daughters, Hazel Mae and Helen. She lives in New Bedford.

Malcolm E. Morrell, now of Main st, Brunswick, Maine. With his brothers, he grew up on a farm which stood on the site of the house now occupied by Robert M. Morgan of the Town Finance Committee, on Sudbury rd. He went to Bowdoin, where he was a noted athlete, and after graduation he taught school in Augusta for a year. He was a lieutenant in the 82d Infantry Division in World War 1. He married Edna Briggs of Houlton, Me., and has two sons, Malcolm E Morrell Jr, of the United States Army, and John Morrell, a lieutenant in the Marine Corps. For more than 25 years he has been athletic director at Bowdoin. Under his direction, Bowdoin athletic teams have much more than held their own in competition. More than that, Malcolm Morrell has won a vast reputation as a man of character in the field of college athletics. His great nephew, Kenney Morrell, was on the A squad of the Little League in Wayland last Summer.

Winifred M. Fay, now Mrs. Stanley Eldridge of Woods Hole. She has two sons, both service men. One is a graduate of Brown University, now teaching. At this moment she is using crutches on account of a broken ankle, which is mending rapidly.

Mary E. Lyons. She married Francis E. Doran and lives at 14 Winslow rd., East Natick. She's executive secretary of the Natick Red Cross Chapter. Has three sons, all of whom have served in the armed forces. Francis is a graduate of Boston College, is now a senior at law school. Robert is an electrical contractor in Natick and Richard is in the accounting division of the Ford Motor Company. Richard and Robert are married. She wrote words and music for the class song of 1913. (It begins "Dear old Wayland High..."and ends "To dear old Wayland High.")

Emma Louise Ford, now Mrs. Clarence E. Emery, lives at 27 Desmond av., Bronxville 8, N.Y., and has three sons---Fordham Law, Amherst and Marquette. One spent two years on Okinawa, one is in the TV business.

Gertrude S. Richardson, now Mrs. Alton Schleicher of 121 Winter st., Hyannis. She says, "Have enjoyed beautiful Cape Cod the past 23 years".

Harriet Edna H. Richardson, now Mrs. Joseph MacKay of 30 Colbergh av., Roslindale. She has seven sons, all members of the armed services.

Robert L. Moore, president of '13. Big wheel in the Sheraton Corporation. Lives in Concord. Short in stature. Hot rod kid of 1913. Used to whoop up and down the State Road in a Metz with bucket seats. Probably hit 35 miles an hour. Lived on the farm which is now the J. Sidney Stone residence. With the Harvard Ambulance Unit in France in World War 1, later combat pilot in that war. Graduated from Harvard. Became a tycoon, no less.

Hilda M. Reeves. She married Frank LaForest Collins of Rowley, who received his medical degree from Bowdoin in 1915.

At those graduation exercises of 40 years ago, Hazel Burke Magorty gave the salutatory and essay. Emma Louise Ford gave the class history. Hilda Mary Reeves gave an essay on domestic science. Connie Maguire read an essay on the development of the gas engine. Harriet Edna Richardson gave the class prophecy. Mary Evangeline Lyons played a piano solo. Esther Damon gave the class gift to Roy Wentworth Moffett, who accepted it and her. Robert Lowell Moore delivered the valedictory.

The class motto was Nihil Sine Labore, which means, approximately, Nothing without work.

GIRL CHEERLEADERS FOR BOYS' BASEBALL

Twenty-five men and a corps of girl cheerleaders from the sixth grade held a session in the High School cafeteria on the evening of May 13 to work on the boys' baseball program for the Summer, and everything seemed to be under control.

It looked as though this year's program should be well managed, with plenty of umpires and plenty of adult managers for the eight Little League teams and the six Pony League outfits.

Phillip Award, John T. Hyland, Robert F. Gladu, John F. Regan, Donald K. Tarbell, William L. Shannon, Herbert A. Dicks, Larry Cook, Aiden Gierasch, Henning Rydberg, F.L.Bartholomew, Alfred H. Gledhill, James E. Garvey, Bradford Whitney, John Simoni, Robert Page Jr., Fred Lehman, Jack Arnold, Donald B. Willard, Francis Hartin, William Heckelsmiller, Parmelee C. Hill, William Morris, and Thomas F. Heslin.

Other men who have said they'd help in the program, as manager or umpires, are Francis Fisher, Bob Pfeiffer, Ross Hubbard, Bob Paine, Bob Connolly, Dave Walsh, Nick Statton, Richard Sandwell and John F. McGann. (This list is probably incomplete.)

Plans were discussed for registration of players. Practise was due to start June 1, with the first games on June 15.

Ladies present at the meeting were Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Heckelsmiller and Mrs. Morris.

The girl cheerleaders rehearsed their stuff and it was voted good. They mean to fix up some uniforms for themselves, and the idea is that they'll enliven the games against out of town teams under the lights at Cochituate.

STEPHEN GREENE PAINTINGS AT DECORDOVA

The paintings of Stephen Greene, nationally known artist, will continue to be exhibited at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln through June 21.

Friday evening, June 5, is the date of the Mad Hatters Ball. Prizes will be awarded for the most original headdress.

THE HARVARD CLUB OF CONCORD now admits members from Wayland. This town has everything, including Harvard graduates.

BIG CROWD HONORS MRS. DRAPER

Nearly 400 persons, old and young, crowded in and around the High School Library on the night of June 16 to do honor to Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, much-loved teacher who retired this year after 32 years in the Center School and the Junior High School.

It was all kept a secret from Mrs. Draper until the afternoon of the 16th, when a well meant letter got by the guard and let her know that a party was scheduled.

Even though she had been warned, she wasn't prepared for the size and enthusiasm of the crowd which greeted her as she was escorted inside the building.

Mrs. J. Warren Olmsted and other members of the committee escorted Mrs. Draper to a seat facing everybody.

First presentation, by Bobby Brown and Sandra Simoni of the eighth grade, was a corsage. Then a copy of the Junior High paper, with this dedication:

"We, the staff of the Junior Hi-Lights, dedicate our first 'year book' to Mrs. Draper; with appreciation of her efforts as teacher and friend as she prepared us for high school; for her gracious leadership through our school years. In studies and guidance, MRS. DRAPER WAS TOPS!"

"I thought the eighth grade was a very good class to graduate with," said Mrs. Draper.

Then Miss Jean T. Nelson of the High School staff, who was active on the committee, told how the friends of Mrs. Draper stole her mailing list and wrote to old friends and students as far away as California, Georgia and Florida, and read some of the warm replies which she had received. She read a telegram from Charles F. Moore, formerly of the Wayland School Committee, and his family, and other messages.

Mrs. Draper rose and said:

"I don't deserve this. I had a job that I loved. I'm not leaving it because I wanted to. The years caught up with me. I don't know when they did. I'm going to be around, I'm going to miss those eighth graders."

Mrs. Walter E. Harrington then gave Mrs. Draper another bouquet. This one consisted of artificial tea roses, dripping with colored streamers to which were attached, tightly rolled up, 250 new $1 bills.

Mrs. Olmsted announced that Mrs. Draper would continue to be around, "to be an active influence in the community".

TOLL ROAD STILL A THREAT - APPARENTLY

Although some grapevine reports were that Wayland was out of danger, as far as the toll road is concerned, the best dope, as of June 17 was that Wayland was still very much in the middle.

On June 15 there was a meeting in the office of Gov. Christian A. Herter at which were present the Governor, the Commissioner of Public Works, the three members of the Turnpike Authority and the sub-committee representing 11 towns, including Wayland. Chairman of the sub-committee is Mayor Theodore Lockwood of Newton. Wayland has no member on the sub-committee, but the news comes back.

Chairman William F. Callahan of the Turnpike Authority said three routes, unspecified, were still under consideration. These were not named, but they seemed to be three ways to get into Metropolitan Boston from, say, Route 128. The Readville route seemed to be not under consideration.

Callahan said the final route would be announced within two to three weeks. (As this was June 15, his announcement could have been out by this time.)

Some mention had been made in public that the road might be an elevated structure, over existing railroads. But it appeared that there was no intention to follow railroads except near Boston. They said they would not go through Framingham over the railroad, for example.

After the route had been announced, Callahan said, communities affected would be consulted for possible "local deviations". That is, maybe the Authority would consent to move the road a few hundred feet one way or another.

There is nothing official about this, and perhaps it is out of date by this time. But that's the way it looked.

Gov. Herter, it was said, did not commit himself at the sub-committee meeting.

TORNADO RELIEF CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions for tornado relief may be made through the American Red Cross Wayland Chapter. Checks should be mailed to Willard B. Dik, Plain rd, or Miss Dorothea Gallagher, Main st, Cochituate.

CALLING ELMWOOD 8! CALLING OLYMPIC 3!

Telephone numbers which have been in local families since Alexander Graham Bell last combed his whiskers are scheduled to disappear on April 3, 1954, when all present Wayland numbers will become "Elmwood 8" and all Cochituate numbers will become "Olympic 3".

As the telephone company's office in Natick explains it, these names don't mean anything. It's just that the first three letters of the exchange name have to match up with numbers, and there aren't so many combinations of letters which will do the trick.

Every Wayland and Cochituate number will have four digits, it is said. Thus, a typical number will be "Elmwood 8-1234" or "Olympic 3-4321". This is to be ready for the coming system of toll-call dialing. "Olympic 3" will replace all Natick numbers.

Before the change-over, they say, a man will visit every present subscriber and install the dial phone. But the actual change, to be made on a midnight, will involve only throwing a few switches. There'll be no delays in service.

There'll be a new telephone book out in August, the man says, and another next Spring, When the new numbers go in.

Wayland and Cochituate will continue to be in separate exchanges, but there will be no charge for calls between Elmwood and Olympic.

Sudbury exchange, the man thinks, will be "Hilltop".

This conversion will mean the end of the twirling crank in Wayland, and will put a stop to the jokes made by city slickers visiting this Town.

The crank apparatus, the man says, will be taken out for salvage or for use on "private lines" systems operated on big estates. Nobody will even be allowed to keep his telephone crank as a souvenir.

ANNOUNCE BEACH RULES

A contribution of at least $2 per season from each family using the Lake Cochituate beach has been urged by the Board of Park Commissioners. This will help pay the cost of added facilities and supervision. All swimmers must wear the identification wrist ring for the 1953 season at all times.

Individual members of a family living in Town during the Summer, when sponsored by a resident family, may register and use the beach for $5. Guests may register for 50¢ per day, of which 25¢ will be refunded if the rubber ring is returned.

For the first time residents of neighboring towns may use the beach upon payment of a seasonal fee of $25. The beach will open at 10 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. daily.

ASK APPROVAL FOR 110 HOUSE LOTS

Preliminary applications for two big new housing developments have been made to the Planning Board.

One is for a track of 18½ acres next to the Mansion Inn, between Dudley Pond and Old Connecticut Path, on land which used to be Snow's day camp. This would include 42 house lots.

The other is for 68 lots in 60 acres in the vicinity of Draper rd and Glezen lane.

If all these lots were built on, there would be 110 more houses, perhaps containing enough children to fill up seven or eight more school rooms.

GIRLS WIN PRIZES AT W.H.S. GRADUATION

Forty-three boys and girls were graduated from Wayland High School in the class of 1953 at exercises held in the school auditorium on Thursday evening, June 11.

Girls won eleven out of twelve of the awards and scholarships announced by Headmaster William M. Griffin.

The good citizenship award sponsored by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution went to Judith Ellen Cook.

The Charles H. Alward Social Studies Award, sponsored by the Charles H. Alward American Legion Post No. 133 Women's Auxiliary, went to Frances Ruth Kane.

The Bausch and Lomb Science Award went to Margaret Joan Campbell, who also won the $200 scholarship of the Wayland Woman's Club and a journalism award as editor of the school paper.

The business scholarship key, sponsored by Becker Junior College, was won by Shirley Ann Hakanson.

The Wayland Junior-Senior High School Parent-Teacher Association had three scholarships. Two, of $250 each, were won by Raymond Francis Humphrey and Frances Ruth Kane. The other, of $100, was won by Linda Martin Robinson.

The $100 scholarship of the Cochituate Mothers' Club was won by Betty Claire Bragg.

Georgia Mae Dearborn and Frances Kane also won awards as associate editors of the school paper.

Five hundred persons were in the auditorium when the graduates made their impressive entrance march, to the tune of Pomp and Circumstance. The boys wore maroon caps and gowns, the girls white.

Rev. Otis F. Kelly gave the invocation and Raymond Humphrey, president of the class, the address of welcome. In a symposium on brotherhood, the speakers were Joan Campbell, Linda Robinson, David Potter, Robert Varey and Georgia Mae Dearborn. The class poem, the joint work of Shirley Hakanson, Betty Bragg and Frances Kane, was read by Shirley Hakanson.

Raymond Humphrey presented the class gift, a sum of money, to Headmaster William M. Griffin. Diplomas were presented by Robert L. Moore, president of the class of 1913. The benediction was given by Rev. George A. Hodgkins.

The Girls' Glee Club sang two numbers and Mary Reid gave a solo, "I'll See You Again". John Davis and John Yetton were soloists in the mixed chorus, which gave three numbers. The class song was written by Judith Cook and Margaret O'Brien.

Towards the end of the exercises the fire whistle sounded, but it turned out to be a false alarm.

Officers of the class are Raymond Humphrey, president; Warren White, vice-president; Alma

BANG, BANG, BANG, GOES the PILEDRIVER

Work on the Edison power line along the railroad track has been going full blast.

In mid-June a pile driver was pounding away next to the Wayland railroad station, thus making a bum out of the writer who once described Wayland as "a rural village of much charm and restfulness."

In fact, Wayland residents couldn't have been much less pleased if the Edison company had been building a gallows.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY BEING FORMED

Plans were being made last month for the formation of a Wayland Historical Society, something the Town has never had. Mrs. Pierpoint Blair got the idea while going over the Lydia Maria Child material in the Wayland Library, and the Trustees of the Library supported the project at once.

A letter was being sent to more than 60 residents who, it was thought, might be interested. Any who did not receive letters but thought they might like to join would be welcomed. They'd call Mrs. Blair or the Wayland Library.

Mrs. Newton Harris, who owns the old Lydia Child house, said she'd be glad to sell it to the Society for a headquarters.

GARDEN WATERING CURTAILED

Use of garden hose for watering purposed has been restricted to the hours from 8 a.m. to 12 noon.

Following a protracted dry spell, the Water Board announced that the ban would be in effect until further notice, and might last all Summer. By restricting garden watering to the morning hours, it will be possible to maintain a reserve for protection in case of fire.

BILL RYDER AND ALLEN MORGAN OPEN OFFICE

Wayland welcomes another new business firm this month. Allen H. Morgan and Willis B. Ryder have formed a partnership and will open a real estate and insurance office in the little law office building on the green at Wayland Center.

Visitors to the office, which opens early in July, will find one of the rooms completely redecorated, papered and furnished in colonial style.

Both men are natives of Wayland and have been conducting their respective businesses here for several years. Bill Ryder will handle real estate transactions, and Allen Morgan will sell all types of insurance, including auto, life, and fire insurance.

LAKE COCHITUATE SWIM SCHEDULE

Lake Cochituate water schedule, furnished by Gibby Stevens, Red Cross swimming instructor:

Boating: first class, 10 to 10:30 a.m. Only six to a class. Second class, also limited to six, 10:30 to 11 a.m.

Life saving, 11 to 12 noon.

Other classes are in the afternoon, because the water is warmer and to avoid conflict with the arts and crafts program. The hours:

Little beginners, 1 to 1:20 p.m.
Beginners, first class, 1:30 to 2.
Beginners, second class, 2 to 2:30.
Intermediate, first class, 2:30 to 3.
Intermediate, second class, 3 to 3:30.
Swimmers, 3:30 to 4.
Special instruction, 4 to 5.

CHIEF OF POLICE ERNEST H. DAMON did a stretch in St. Elizabeth's Hospital last month and was reported much better for it.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS VOLUNTEER

Twenty-three high school students will serve as volunteers to assist the arts and crafts program this summer. Mrs. Lillian Jones, director, has announced that the following Juniors and Seniors have signed up to help.

Sandra Simoni, Bob Brown, Dotty Bosenberg Henry Christie, Dick Irwin, Stanley Marshall, Kenneth Wood, Stearie Weaver, Alfred Witzell, George Thorpe, Beverly Holmes, Gloria Parker.

Also Willis Johnson, Carol Magnusson, Gayle Bowles, Preston Lundy, David Hatch, Joan Walston, Joan Duggan, Dorothy Thompson, Agnes Smith, Mary Turner and Pat Wilkinson.

Classes started June 29 and will sontinue week-daily through July 24.

WOMEN AIR RAID WARDENS ORGANIZED

A force of 100 women air raid wardens is being organized in Wayland, says Civilivan Defense Director W. R. Hulbert. Present leaders and organizers are Mrs. Aline Davis Hulbert, Mrs. Neva Jones, Mrs. Francis E. Hanson, Mrs. Benjamin Beale and Mrs. Harold Taylor.

The job of these women will be to check on all the houses in Town, to see who could house or feed refugees, and to take general charge in case of any disaster.

At the test alert on June 11, 23 women wardens turned out. After the all clear, they went to headquarters, were sworn in and were shown a film on civil defense and communications.

SUMMER BASEBALL GETS GOING

Summer baseball opened its regular sohedule on June 15 with eight Little League teams, four Pony League outfits and 30 or 40 8- and 9-year-olds in a Farm League.

The idea of a Pony League at Riverview was abandoned for laok of material. Three teams were oentered at Cochituate and one at Wayland. Little League games are soheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays at 6 p.m., Pony League for Tuesday and Thursday at 6 p.m.

All Star teams are to be picked and games under lights with out-of-town opponents are to start later this month.

Francis J. Hartin is director of the Little League, and Nioh Statton of the Pony League, replacing Bill Heckelsmiller.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I have lived in Wayland for three months now and no one has asked me to be on a committee. Should I see my dentist?

Worried.

To the Editor:

On August 2 there will be a goat show of the Middlesex County Milk Goat Breeders Association on Hollis st, Framingham, Route 126 at Butterfield's Grove. It's an open show of ell classes and bucks. Registration at 11 a.m., judging by Bob Harris of New York at 12.

Roslyn S. Schoenfield.

AL THE BAKER AT REUNION

Al Taylor, favorably known to hundreds of Cochituate and Wayland residents as Al the Baker, attended a reunion of the Milford High School Class of 1936 at Robin Hood's Ten Acres on June 11.

He was voted the boy who had changed most. He used to be shy.

REPUBLICAN TOWN COMMITTEE HAS PICNIC

On Wednesday, June 17, the Wayland Republican Town Committee was host at a picnic held at Roger Ela's, to around 100 Wayland and Cochituate residents who had worked with them during the past year.

Invited as honored guests were several of the candidates who these people had worked hard to elect. Said local and state officials were not called upon to make any speeches, but just visited with local republicans to the accompaniment of a baseball game and accordian music originally provided professionally and later on by Dolly Jones of Bow rd.

Among those present were: Atty Genl and Mrs. George Fingold, State Treas and Mrs. Roy C. Papalia, Republican State Comm chairman and Mrs. Elmer Nelson, Commissioner of Public Safety Otis Whitney, Governor's Council member and Mrs. David Williams, State Senator Charles Olsen, Rep. and Mrs. Howard Russell, State Comm member Addison Armstrong, State Comm member Mrs. Thomas Gannett and Mr. Gannett, Sudbury Repub. Town Comm Chairman and Mrs. Alfred Bonazzoli;

Mrs. Arthur L. Kimball was chairman of the picnic committee which included Mrs. Arthur Grannis, Mrs. Ralph Field, Mrs. Hilda Emerton, Homer MacDonald, Arthur Schofield, Frank Carter, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ela.

SQUARE DANCE DRAWS CROWDS AND BAGPIPES

Young and old, bundled in coats and sweaters, crowded on to the High School playing field June 13 to keep warm by vigorous square dancing. Robert G. Paine Jr., treasurer of the Wayland Junior Town House which sponsored the dance, announced that about $600 had been raised which will be used during the coming year for various Town House activities in Cochituate and Wayland. Mrs. Allen H. Morgan reported that ticket sales totalled 800.

An international flavor was added to the intermission by the appearance from the marshes of a bag-piper in full dress Scotch regalia, kilts and all. He was Richard W. Douglas, nephew of Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis Jr., a director of the Town House. He sported a Douglas plaid, which he purchased along with the bagpipes and lessons in Scotland. A swarm of children followed him around the field. Some parents present hoped that Piper Douglas might emulate another more famous piper and lead them all off to the Sudbury River.

Donations of services and food were generously made by the following:

Taylor and Cox, tree surgeons, anti-mosquito spraying; Frank S. Tarr, Park Dept., lights; Fritz Walther, printing;

Red Coach Grill, Robin Hood's Ten Acres, Higgins Ice Cream, Red Coach Farm Market, Lee's Farm Market, Lauren York, Capp's Supermarket, Collins Market, Lobster Haven furnished ice cream, strawberries and hotdogs.

Post Road Liquors and Atlantic Service Station supplied cold drinks, and First National Store made a cash donation. George I. Emery and Willis B. Ryder headed the committee.

TORNADO MISSES, BY LUCK

Refuse thrown up by the tornado of June 9 landed in Wayland, but no damage was done and there was only a small rainfall and a slight thunder shower. Apparently there was no merit in this escape, but lots of luck. The storm petered out within 10 miles of the Town's borders.

Bits of insulation, shingles, roofing paper, tattered branches, plywood and even a cancelled check fell in Town, but no damage was reported.

A number of Cochituate boys went to Worcester with a Natick National Guard outfit and stayed several days.

The service truck of the Fire Department went to Shrewsbury several nights to provide lights for the devasted area. Volunteers who had gone with the truck, as of June 17, were Parker Groton, Francis Martin, Ralph Rogers, Philip Gladu, Richerd Gladu, Robert Wells, James Garvey, Frank Lindbohm, John Sullivan, Alfred Damon, Jr. and Frank Carter.

Local churches took up collections of mattresses and bedding and sent the stuff to the disaster region.

HONOR SOCIETY MEMBERS

Members of the Francis Wayland Chapter of the National Honor Society (Scholarship, Leadership, Service, Character):

CONGOS RAISE $30,000 FOR PARISH HOUSE

In a one-month fund raising campaign, the Trinitarian-Congregational Church received contributions and pledges of more than $30,000. Rev. George A. Hodgkine says building of a new parish house will begin this Summer.

The church now has 160 members, a net gain of 30 in the past two years. Recently it has acquired the "Morgan" property, 90 by 300 feet, on the North side of the church, where the new building is to be located.

The minimum goal of the campaign is $30,000, with $45,000 the top target. The drive began May 17 and was conducted blitzkrieg style. Returns were first announced at a supper of 45 workers June 20 and made official at the 125th anniversary of the church on June 21.

Chairman of the committee is Henry J.Smith. Some of the other workers: Douglas Surgenor, advance gifts; Gordon Baldwin, Donald Bruster, Robert Hardin, Lee Johnson, Randy Kruger, Edward Williams, team captains.

Mrs. R. Edward Campbell, Mrs. Kenneth Emery, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. George Shepard, Mrs. Henry J. Smith, Mrs. Lawrence Ward, Mrs. J. Fred Wheeler, dinner committee.

COCHITUATE MAN ON TRUCE TEAM

Russell L. Bigelow, of 2 Ride rd, son of Mrs. Florence P. Bigelow, became a member of the American truce team in Korea in May, and in June his engagement to Georgia Mae Dearborn of Ashland, a member of the 1953 class at Wayland High School, was announced. In the photo he is shown on the right, with a buddy, Morris Haudren, (left)

Mr. Bigelow was graduated from Wayland High in 1949. Before he enlisted in the Air Force on May 1, 1951, he was employed by Frederick E. Gibbs, Cochituate undertaker. He served at various posts in this country, attending the clerk-typist school at Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming, before leaving for Korea on Jan. 28 of this year.

On May 21 he wrote his mother that he had been put on the truce team, and that it would be his job to help to draw up the truce document.

He is attached to the 8th Maintenance Squadron, administrative personnel. His rank in May was Airman First Class, the next grade below staff sergeant. He enlisted for four years, until May, 1955.

Miss Dearborn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Dearborn, formerly of Lakeview rd, who moved to Ashland a year ago. So she could finish up at Wayland High, she stayed with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Young, also of Lakeview rd.

No wedding date has been set.

NURSERY SCHOOL AT D.P.I.A. NEXT YEAR

The nursery school seesions of the Wayland Junior Town House Association will be held in the Dudley Pond Improvement Association Building next year, it has been announced. The year will begin Sept. 23 and end June 4.

Hitherto both nursery school, for 4-year-olds, and kindergarten, 5-yeer-olds, have been held in Odd Fellows Hall, Wayland Center. The kindergerten will be held at Odd Fellows Hall as usual.

The split is made necessary by the increase in number of children of this age in Town. The figure is now around 300.

Notices were sent out to all parents thought to be interested. Those who may have been missed may call Mrs. Robert Paine, Wayland 255-2.

MR. AND MRS. W.T. SWEENEY, of Sycamore rd, have been visiting in San Francisco. They are the parents of Paul and Bill Sweeney, who are both in the service. Thank you for your post card, Sweeneys.

THE HANDBAG SHOULD GO!

Thie Town, a hotbed of ideas, mosquitoes, tornado drippings and pheasants, is as good a place as any in which to start a movement for the abolition of woman's handbag.

The trouble is that the handbag is creating a race of one-armed women. One hand is always tied up, carrying a sack containing a load of nameless (and worse, sometimes nameable) junk.

This practise cuts down by half woman's ability to carry bundles. And if woman doesn't carry home bundles, nobody will.

Somehow, this recalls to mind the story of the man who married a big girl.

"Big girls are better," he said. "They can do more work."

Man's reluctance to carry bundles isn't just laziness.

It's based on primeval psychology. Man wants both hands free to cope with enemies, to work, to sign checks, to stop runaway horses, to catch foul balls, to hitch up his pants. It's soundly based, too. Imagine what a figure Sir Walter Raleigh would have cut, had he been coming home from the supermarket with $16 worth of groceries in his arms, when he tried to take off his cloak so that babe wouldn't have to step in the puddle.

By the time he'd parked his bundles and wriggled out of his overcoat, that puddle would have been a dust storm and he'd have been just a bum in history, instead of a bum with a footnote. (Footnote: no pun intended.)

Man has learned the secret of traveling light. In fact, being the character he is, he often has occasion to leave places in a hurry. All he needs is a billfold, with the aid of which he can travel as far as Adlai Stevenson.

Woman could do the same, if she'd put her mind to it.

What does she need?

Money? The figures show she has 80 per cent of all there is.

Car keys? She leavee 'em in the car anyway.

Cosmetics? What for? She's only going to be away from home a few hours at the most.

Junk? This she can do without. If a small boy can get by without having frogs in his pockets, a woman can get by without carrying the size of Aunt Gertrude's girdle. Or the girdle, for that matter.

So away with the handbag. Let somebody invent a thin billfold, just for flat money, and let the tailors build one small, safe pocket in every woman's costume. That'll be all and that'll be enough.

Women needn't be afraid of bulges. It says in the song that there's nothing like the frame of a dame, and let 'em not worry. The more frame there is, the better.--- D. B. W.

DEAD MAN'S CURVE AGAIN

Dead Man's Curve is going to be fixed.

That's what they've been saying right along.

The latest, Rep. Howard S. Russell reports, is that Commissioner of Public Works John A. Volpe has assured him and State Senator Charles W. Olson that the curve is finally to be made safe.

Flashing lights and signs have been installed, but haven't seemed adequate. Consideration of a possible relocation of Route 20 through Town has been one reason the fixing hasn't been done long since.

DR. CAREL DYKHOORN, of Zeist, Holland, spoke to Mrs. Eva Gately's 4th Grade pupils at the Center School recently en route to Curacao, N. A., where he will practise dentistry.

THE CORONATION, THE DUKE, AND US

There was some criticism, it seems, of the Crier for failure to mention the Coronation in its June issue.

The fact is that relations between the British crown and the Town of Wayland have been rather distant on account of certain events of 1775 in which Wayland residents had a worthy part.

However, because a big league journal like the Crier dislikes to miss any hot deal, it prints herewith a photogreph of Vincent Thomas de Paul St. Clair Raleigh Rourke, a character actor of, as they say, stage, screen, radio and television.

Mr. Rourke, described by himself as the Duke of Rourke, is connected with Wayland by virtue of buying ice cream sodas for a number of local children at Tom Barr's store and at Ben Johnson's drug store. He and his wife are frequent visitors at the home of Dr. Charlotte A. Stewart on State rd East.

Mr. Rourke, or, The Duke, is shown here in an exclusive photograph. The camera caught him at the exact moment when he first learned that his services would not be needed at Westminster Abbey, either as first, second or third pursuivant, nor even as Black Rod. There is a certain something in his expression.

It may be objected that the connection between Weyland, the Duke of Rourke and the Crown of England is thin. However, it is the best we can do, in this community full of small d democrats and big R Republicans. We hope it will be sufficient to show that even in this little country town we are aware of earth-shaking ceremonies taking place beyond the seas.

1913 REUNION BIG SUCCESS

Ten of the 12 members of the Wayland High School class of 1913 showed up for their reunion dinner at Robin Hood's Ten Acres on the night of June 11, and they had a great time.

The two who couldn't make it were Malcolm E. Morrell, Bowdoin athletic director, who was in the midst of budget preparation, and Winifred M. Fey, now Mrs. Stanley Eldridge of Woods Hole, who has a broken ankle.

Some brought husbands and or wives and there were a couple of guests, so there were 16 at the table. They were Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Doran (Mary E. Lyons); Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacKay (Harriet Edna H. Richardson): Robert L. Moore, president of the class ; Cornelius J. Meguire, Miss Doris Currier, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Schleicher (Gertrude S. Richardson);

Mrs. Frederick Swenson (Hazel Burke Magorty); Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Davieau; Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Moffett (Esther H. Damon); Mrs. Frank LaForest Collins (Hilda M. Reeves), and Miss Mary Balcom.

AIR RAID WHISTLE TROUBLE FOUND

The whistle on Town Hall sort of ran out of wind again in the air raid alert held on Thursday evening, June 11, but it was discovered that the trouble was a cracked diephragm in one horn, and the fault is being correoted.

The exercise was not for the general public, and no vehicles were stopped. Civilian Defense Director W.R.Hulbert says 50 auxiliary police turned out, 25 in sech end of Town, within 10 minutes. The red alert was sounded at 7:30 p.m. and the all clear at 7:40, efter which the auxiliaries reported to their headquarters, the Legion Hall in Cochituate end the Town Hall basement in Weyland.

More than 65 auxiliary policemen have signed up, says Director Hulbert. Weyland Captain is Daniel E. Kennedy Jr and the Lieutenant is Frederick L. Heinrich. Cochituate Captain is Charles E. Berkebile, a retired Boston police sergeant. The office of Lieutenant in Cochituate was temporarily vacant.

People in North Wayland and in the Mansion Inn section said they couldn't heer the whistle. The matter was going to be teken up with the Selectmen and the Finance Committee, but Mr. Hulbert thought nothing would be done. In a real raid, it was seid, the signals in adjoining communities would be heard all over Wayland.

FRANCIS HARTIN TV DANCE CANDIDATE

Francis J. Hartin Jr. of Cochituate, well-known in Town as a tap dancer, was scheduled to appear on a talent show at the Park Sheraton in New York this month. It was for TV.

Francis has been studying at the Irene Hogan School of Dance Education at Wellesley. He won first prize at a 4-H talent show and second priace at the American Legion show this Spring. He danced at the May festival of St. Zepherin's Church. He's in the 5th Grade at the Cochituate School.

BIG EDGEWOOD ROAD JOB UNDER WAY

The big job of fixing up Edgewood rd and other streets near Lake Cochituate has been going on all Spring, Highway Surveyor Albert Potvin reports, and it should be done this year, at a cost of around $30,000.

The project involves widening and straightening narrow lanes, cutting down trees, laying water pipes and gas lines, putting in new telephone poles, providing drainage and surfacing 4000 feet of streets. When it's done, a good-sized section will look as though it had had its face lifted.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL SCORES

School baseball record, 1953. Wayland Senior High, won 4, lost 7. The scores, Wayland High first:

Sudbury,3-5; Maynard,1-2; Weston, 0-7; Ashland,0-4; Sudbury, 11-1; Middlesex, 1-7; Newton J.V., 1-2; Maynard, 7-5; Dover, 11-3; Dover 17-2; Weston, 1-2.

Junior High, won 3, lost 7. The scores, Wayland's first: Lincoln, 3-7; Maynard, 3-6; Concord, 1-2; Lincoln, 12-7; Acton, 7-14; Weston, 6-2; Maynerd, 5-2; Concord, 10-12; Acton, 4-8: Weston. 7-24. (last one wes bad.)

CRIER MADE A MISTAKE

In some unaccountable wey the Crier made a mistake last month. It reported that Rev. George A. Hodgkins received a Doctor of Divinity degree from Andover Newton Theological School. The fact is that it was a Bachelor of Divinity degree.

Mr. Hodgkins says he doesn't mind, that it was in fact a nice kind of mistake. However, to the meticuloue editors of this great peper all errors are regrettable.

MRS. DRAPER (Continued from page 1)

School Committee, told how Mrs. Draper was persuaded to become principal of the Center School at a difficult time, and how well she did the job. Then he read a sonnet in honor of Mrs. Draper, written by Mrs. Olmsted, and made a couple more presentations.

These were a sterling Chippendale cake plate, inscribed "To Mabel S. Draper, from Wayland school friends, 1921-1953", and lettered scrolls bearing the names of those who had contributed to the party.

That wound up the formal part of the celebration. Afterwards, Mrs. Draper greeted hundreds of former pupils, many of them now gray on top, and parents of many of her present and former students. The committee broke out with punch and cookies and there was a big social time.

(There were about as many automobiles in the parking lot---recently surfaced, bythe way-as at an ordinary Town Meeting.)

In all, there were three scrolls of parchment, lettered in Old English script with the sonnet and the names of friends. On one there were 280 names, on another 160, and more remained to be added. There would probably be 500, anyway.

Besides the $250 on the bouquet, many more money gifts were still coming in from all over the country, There were $70 more, just the next day.

Mrs. Proxy Smith passed around a book at the party, collecting the signatures of those present. There were hundreds.

Members of the committee, among many who helped, were Mrs. Olmsted, Miss Nelson, Mrs. Allan R. Finlay, Mrs. Walter E. Harrington, Effie Shepard, Phyllis Cox, Mrs. Florence Shohl. Mrs. Eva Gately and Dorothy Small.

As it was arranged, Mrs. Draper was to go out to dinner that night with Mrs. Howard S. Russell, who was to bring her back to the High School afterwards. It was all a secret, and it was a perfectly kept secret, practically not a child breathed a word, over a period of weeks. Then the letter got by, and gave Mrs. Draper enough warning to keep her from being overwhelmed when she was greeted by 25 or 30 flash-popping juvenile camera bugs and hundreds of hand-clapping people.

Among some of her friends at the party there was talk of running Mrs. Draper for public office. Maybe Mayor.

Mrs. Draper said she was pretty happy about the whole thing. She said she told the eighth graders next day, in school, that they didn't act like children at the party, they acted like grown-ups. But she knew, she said she told them, that of course they act like grown-ups.

DR. J. PENTEADO BILL

Dr. J. Penteado Bill of Old Sudbury rd, a resident of Wayland for 40 years and an authority on its history, died June 8 at his home. He was 69.

He was born at Waltham and was graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1914. He received his degree in public health in 1919. He taught in the public health schools of both Harvard and Boston University and had a Boston office at 270 Commonwalth av. He was widely known in Wayland.

He leaves his wife and two daughters, Dr. Audrey Bill and Mrs. Natalie Stoddard Jr., both of Wayland.

OAK STREET ALL FIXED

Recontruction of 2100 feet of Oak st was completed in June under Chapter 90, at a cost to the Town of $30,000. The job was spread out over two years. The grade was changed, to cut down a couple of ridges which were traffic hazards, and the surface was hot topped. It wasn't such a good street before, but now it's one of the best in Town.

EIGHTEEN TEACHERS LEAVE WAYLAND SCHOOLS

Eighteen persons left the teaching staff of the Wayland schools last month, for varying reasons. (One of the reasons, in a number of cases, was a happy one: several teachers are going to have babies.)

Mrs. Mabel S. Draper retired, after 32 years of outstanding service in the Center School and the Junior High.

James F. McLaughlin, principal of the Center School for three years, resigned.

Five are taking other teaching positions. Miss Barbara Short is going to Brookline, Miss Virginia Whitcomb to Weston, Arthur Arakelian to Belmont and Harold McCormick and Mrs. Anne Tinsler to Natick.

Others resigning are Mrs. Esther Racoosin, Harry Iovanelli, Mrs. Madeline J. Grant, Mrs. Margaret J. Hebditch, Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, Mrs. Alice Awad, Mrs. Mary Walsh Roche, Mrs. Mary E. McAvoy, Miss Shirley Robinson (going home to Texas), Mrs. Joan Millman and Mrs. Charlotte Modest.

New supervising principal of the Center School will be Mrs. Reta Hubler, now teaching the second grade in the Baldwin School of Brookline. She has an A.B. from Western Washington School of Education and an M.A. from Teachers College of Columbia. Her husband is a professor of education at Wheelock College in Boston, and she has had a wide experience in teaching in many places.

STONE THROWER'S NAMES WELL KNOWN

Eight Weyland and Cochituate boys got into the notebooks of the State Police on the night of June 15 as the result of an incident in which a farm boy was beaten up, a rock was thrown through a truck window and there was reckleee driving on Old Connecticut Path.

The young men involved are well known in both Wayland and Cochituate, and also to Chief Ernest H. Damon, the State Police and representatives of another State agency.

Whether action might be taken was not determined.

STRICTER ROAD REQUIREMENTS

As of June 8, the Wayland Planning Board has stiffened its requirements for developers.

Hereafter, the developer must build roads a grade better than those generally required under the betterment act. Hitherto the developer has been required to surface the new roads. Now they must have better surfaces.

In addition, the developer must put in fire alarm equipment if requested to do so by the Fire Engineers.

ST. ANN'S CHURCH

Rev. William J. Carty, rector of St. Ann's, received a real surprise following the service on May 25. Over 180 of his parishioners gathered in St. Ann's Hall and presented him with an 8-piece Sterling silver table set chest and a sizeable purse.

METHODIST CHURCH

Elmer W. Bigwood and Rev. Norman Brady, a student at the Boston University School of Theology, will conduct the services from July 12 to August 2 during the absence of Rev. George C. Gutekunst. Only July 7 the Youth Fellowship will sponsor an outdoor supper at 6:30 p.m. at the Brown home, 302 North Main st, North Natick.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

Summer services will be conducted during the month of July by Rev. Raymond G. Manker and during August by four members of the parish. Rev. Manker, who received a call from the Unitarian Church in Charleston, S.C., has decided to stay in Wayland.

A special musical service was given on June 14 by the First Parish Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Malcolm K. White, of Eden rd, assisted by Mrs. Frank H. Carter, organist, and Mrs. Walter B. Parker, violin.

Over 110 children and parents attended the Sunday School hayride and picnic at the Wright Farm on May 24. The food sale on June 6, held by the Women's Alliance, raised $80. Mrs. B. Allen Benjamin was in charge, assisted by Mrs. John W. Dunning, Mrs. Frenk H. Carter, Mrs. George F. Dickey, Mrs. F.P. Walther, and Mrs. Allen H. Morgan.

ST. ZEPHERIN'S CHURCH

Louis Tracy, head of the Rehabilitation Dept. of the State Dept. of Education, was the guest speaker at the Catholic Women's Club on June 10. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Lillian Silva and a committee. The club's second annual communion breakfast was held June 21. Fr. John Alexander of Jamaica, B.W.I., was speaker.

LADIES COOKING UP FOOD SALE

Cakes, pies, brownies, cookies and pickles are now uppermost in the minds of the Ladies Benevolent Association of the Congregational Church. They're not planning a long-range summer menu for a lonely husband, though. This time it's the food sale at the Congo Fair on Sept. 26. Mrs. Charles Wheeler and Mrs. Andrew Thomas are the planners.

In addition, the more horticulturally inclined members are preparing a plant sale. Bulbs, cut flowers and bouquets will also be sold under the direction of Mrs. Donald Ide.

PUBLICITY DIRECTORS NEEDED

Why not make sure your organization lines up its publicity director for next season now? This fortunate individual would be responsible for contacting our city editor every month with news of the organization's activities.

Experts in these matters consider this to be the best time of year to line up next year's unsuspecting workers. They glibly acquiesce believing next September to be a long way off. Little they know!

ARCHITECT'S CONCEPTION of the proposed parish house for the Trinitarian-Congregational Church. Elevation shows approximate location and style of addition for which $32,500 has just been raised.

Architect Arland Dirlam met with committee last week to discuss first set of plans. Present garage on this site is already up for sale.

RAISE $32,500 FOR NEW PARISH HOUSE

Tha final scora of the campaign run by the Trinitarian Congregational Church to raise money for a new parish house adjoining the church was more than $32,500, according to Rev. George A. Hodgkins.

After tha groundwork was done, the actual campaign lasted only a month. The soliciting was dona by membars of tha church, with profassional advice and direction.

A feature of the campaign was a number of church suppars put on by crews directed by Mrs. Edward Campbell. Another faature was that tha campaign endad succassfully on the 125th anniversary of tha establishment of the church.

VANDALS BREAK 72 WINDOWS

Seventy-two panes of glaas in the wing of the High Schoool were broken by vandals sometime before 10 p. m. on July 9. Some of the stones were so large that they broke toilet fixtures inside in the basement. Damage was estimated to ba $500. Immediately following this a false alarm at the Center School was pulled.

FALSE ALARM RINGERS IN COURT

Three Wayland youths have been summoned to appear before the Framingham District Court to answer charges involving the pulling of a false alarm on the night of July 5. At the time the alarm went off State police were parked at the corner in Wayland Center. Working with Police Chief Damon they rounded up the youths and questioned them.

CURRIER - MAGUIRE

Doris G. Currier, daughter of the late Frank J. and Bertha L. Currier of Natick, and Cornelius J. Maguire of Cochituate, member of the Wayland School Committee, were married by Rev. Otis F. Kelley at St. Zepherin's Church at an 8 a. m. nuptial mass on July 6.

Mrs. Maguire attended the Natick schools and Framingham Teachers College. She taught in Quincy for a time, and has taught the 5th grade in the Cochituate School for the past 18 years. She plans to teach for another year.

Mr. Maguire was born in Framingham and attended the Cochituate School and Wayland High School. He also studied at Northeastern University and at Cornell. He was a flyer in World War I. He is in business in Framingham and Cochituate.

Mr. and Mrs. Maguire extend an invitation to friends to visit them at their new home, 25 Maguire rd, Cochituate.

LIBRARY GETS $50 BECAUSE OF MRS. CHILD

A stranger came to Town a faw weeks ago to look up one of Wayland's most famous citizans, Lydia Maria Child, and was so hospitably received that she sent a check for $50 to the Wayland Library to show her appreciation.

The stranger was Mrs. Albert M. Baer of Newfield av, Stamford, Connecticut. She had been studying the life of Mrs. Child for three years, getting ready to write a book about her, when she came to Wayland to see where Mrs. Child lived.

That was in the house on Old Sudbury rd, near Baldwin's Pond. It's painted a dark brown now, and it's almost hidden from the street by thick shrubbery and trees.

Its present owner and occupant is Mrs. Newton Harris, who acquired it 11 years ago and has done an enormous amount of enlarging and beautifying.

So Mrs. Baer, the stranger, knocked on the door, not knowing what reception she'd get. And Mrs. Harris rolled out the red carpet. She gave her the guided tour of the house. Then she took her to the Library, where Mrs. John Busser broke out all the Child material for her. When lunch time came, Mrs. Harris brought over food, and Mrs. Frank Bentley of the library staff produced tea.

Finally, Mrs. Baer stayed overnight with Mrs. Harris, sleeping in the room believed to have been Mrs. Child's.

Mrs. Baer was so impressed by this Wayland hospitality that she wrote and asked the Library Trustees if it would be all right, then sent the check for the $50.

Old time residents of Wayland know who Lydia Child was, but for the benefit of others, here's a quick sketch.

She was born in Medford in 1802 and came to Wayland in 1852, staying hera until her death in 1880. She was a writer and a battler. She was a fiery abolitionist, one of the first. A local tradition is that she gave all her monay to the cause and as a result ownad only one dress, a black one, which she wore all the time.

She wrote novels, children's books, even

NEW FIRE STATION OPENS

The new Fire Station in Cochituate, corner of Main st and East Plain st, was put into operation on Wednesday July first.

At seven o'clock that evening the Weston Fire Department came to the Wayland High School ballfield for a joint drill with our two companies, so that each compeny might become familiar with each others operating methods for mutual aid.

Then, upon completing this drill, the men of the Wayland Fire Department adjourned to the Harrison st Fire House, where the men made a ceremony of farewell. The doors of the building were closed and locked to symbolize final abandonment. It was a stirring moment, for no-one among the present firemen could remember a time when the building had ever been locked.

The engines were then driven to the new station, where a social gathering, with refreshments, was enjoyed by all.

REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL UP FOR STUDY

The question of whether to eatabliah a regional high school for, probably, Wayland, Sudbury and Lincoln, is going to come up soon for active conaideration.

In Sudbury, on June 17, a Regional School Diatrict Planning Committee waa set up. Thia is the firat of five ateps necessary to creete the regional school district.

Lincoln, it is aaid, expecta to decide this fall on the creation of a similar committee.

In Wayland, it is understood, the question of whether to create a study committee may be put in an article in the warrant for the special Town Meeting.

Presumably the regional high achool would be built in North Wayland, the moat central locality.

The idea of regional achool diatricta in Maasachuaetta ia atill new. In aome places it haa been warmly debated. The subject is a big one.

In Sudbury, they pointed out that atate aid would be one-third larger for a regional high school than for the aeme building built for one town. (On the other hand, the regional achool would have to be much larger.)

There would be increaaed atate aid for operation of the regional achool. (In Wayland, thia would amount to about $8000 a year.)

Many studenta would have further to travel to school.

Lincoln haa no high school at present. Its boys and girls go to Walthem or Concord, or to privete schoola.

As of now, the population of the proposed school diatrict would be around 10,000 or 11,000, with rapid growth expected. A regional high achool big enough and good enough to serve such a community would be expenaive indeed. For that matter, a high school big enough to serve the needa of Wayland alone would alao be expensive.

A conaideration likely to come up involves locel pride and tradition. To aome, the Wayland-Sudbury-Lincoln Regional High School might not inspire the seme emotions as plain Wayland High School.

The Wayland School Committee, well aware of these conaiderationa, ia going alowly in the matter. The process of aetting up a regional achool district is a fairly long one, well covered by atate law. In the end, the votera of each town involved decide, by "Official bellot", whether they ahall join the district. A majority vote is required.

RENT CONTROLS EXPIRE

Rent contrals are axpiring in Wayland on July 31. Town Counsel Roger P. Stokay says that they automatically will go off at that time as provided in the Fedaral law, and can be re-instated by a vote of the Town Maeting. At the last election the Town voted, by a narrow margin, to retain controls until July 31.

CRIER TO GO ON SUBSCRIPTION BASIS

Commencing with the October issue, the TOWN CRIER is going on a paid subscription basis. This means that in order to receive the CRIER in the future you should mail in $1.00 for an annual subscription.

We're sorry to have to do this. We had hoped enough people would contribute a dollar to make it possible to continue sending it to the whole town free. But it just hasn't worked out that way. As far as we can tell approximately 97½ % of our circulation are "cover to cover" readers, but only 15% seem to remember to send in their dollars!

The support of this 15% plus our advertisers plus volunteer labor has made the Crier possible during the last two years. But we need to be on a little sounder financial footing to continue indefinitely as we plan to.

That's why we're now asking you to subscribe. The CRIER starts its third year of publication in October--but it will be on a paid subscription basis.

If you want to continue to receive it, please fill out, clip and mail in the coupon below.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I am very much indebted to the Town Crier for the wonderful story of my party.

Mabel S. Draper.

To the Editor:

In the July issue, page 2, column 3, line 10, you spelled Republicans with a small "r". That may have been all right a year ago, or even 20 years ago, but not today. Today the Republican Party deserves a place with the three R's and should be spelled with a big "R".

Ardent.

To tha Editor:

I want to thank all my kind friends for their kind patronage of Pat's barbershop during the past 15 years. It got to be too much for me and I sold it on June 1 to Sal Patty. I'm still in the taxi business. I came to Cochituate in 1938, just about the time of the hurricane.

Frank J. Cormier.

COCHITUATE 4-H NOTES

Jane Taylor, Edith MacArthur, Miriam Vlass, Judy Arnold, Gloria and Beverly Parker, Agnes Dusseault, Allan Arnold, Edward Sullivan and Dennis and Kenneth Gray stayed at Camp Middlesex, 4-H camp in Ashby.

Joan and Jane Cahill, twins, and Louise Taylor, served as counsellors at the same camp.

Many Cochituate families visited the camp each Friday night for the candlelight service and refreshments, as guests of the campers.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS, has denied a permit to George V. Anderson to make an addition on small lot at 62 Main St., Cochituate.

POEM LAUDS MABEL DRAPER

Upon the occasion of a testimonial party to Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, school teacher emeritus, on June 16, a sonnet by Mrs. J. Warren Olmsted was read. The verses honoring Mrs. Draper are printed herewith.

She has an understanding heart- a heart so fair
So calm we never even feel the hurry,
And no one whom she helps becomes aware
Of all the restless nights that she may worry.
The little child, whose problem looms so high,
She listens to with kind and full attention,
The older boy, whose mischief may seem sly
Beneath it all she finds his good intention.
The parents, worried lest the child should fail
Or be discouraged on his road to learning,
For them no question is too small,
No rock or stone not worth the overturning.
Our hearts repudiate the word 'retire',
For those whom she has known, she'll still inspire.

The teacher, who has struggled hard for days,
Who needs a bit of courage for the morrow,
The one who only needs a bit of praise,
Will lose this kindly leadership with sorrow.
The friend, who merely meets her in the hall..
May catch a glimpse of what her job entails,
On her it seems we never fail to call
Whene'er our own imagination fails.
Her room, whose door has never known a latch
To anyone who needs a helping hand,
The very walls her spirit seem to catch
And echo that they also understand.
She has an understanding heart-a heart of gold
She understands us all both young and old.

23 NEW SCHOOL TEACHERS

There'll be 23 new teachers in the Wayland school system in September, Superintendent Rexford S. Souder announces, with 12 new ones out of 17 in the Center School alone.

New High School teachers are Mrs. Mary Keenan, Lewis Oxford, Mrs. Clifford Hulbert and Mrs. Frances M. Flynn.

In the Center School, Mrs. Rita Hubler, principal; Mrs. Alice Hall, Miss Anne Concannon, Mrs. Donalene V. Brainard, Miss Arlene Pennell, Miss Anne Demorest, Miss Patricia Dalton, Miss Doris Robinson, William Frary and Leon Gould, with two more yet to be chosen.

Newcomers to Cochituate School will be Mrs. Elizabeth Gladu, Miss Nancy Chamberlain, Miss Justine Cavanaugh and Mrs. Harriet Michelson.

New special teachers will be Lester MacArthur, music; Miss Mildren Markell, girls' physical education, and Mrs. Mildred Kingsbury, elementary art.

BEACH MORE POPULAR THAN EVER

By the latest mid-July count, 4000 rings had been issued to those who wanted to use the Town beach at Lake Cochituate, and more were needed to satisfy the demand. More than $1000 had been contributed.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETING

Emily W. Blair was chosen chairman of a committee to nominate officers and to formulate general policy at a meeting held in the Wayland Library on June 24 to discuss formation of a Wayland Historical Society.

J. Sidney Stone, chairman of the Library Trustees, introduced Stacy B. Southworth of Braintree, president of the Bay State Historical League, who gave those present a brief sketch of what's involved in historical study.

It was brought out that although Wayland, founded under the name of Sudbury, is one of the oldest Towns in the Commonwealth, almost nothing has been done to save its historical relics and to preserve its story. It was suggested that one of the officers of the Society should be a custodian, to take charge of any historical materials which might be accumulated.

Those present were Emily W. Blair, Willard B. Dik, Susie K. Erwin, Helen C. Morgan, Warren D. Valentine, Theone H. Morgan, Hugh F. Colliton Jr., Margaret Bent Morrell, J. Sidney Stone, Emma S. Dickey, George F. Dickey, George K. Lewis and Donald B. Willard.

Any who might be interested in the Society were urged to get in touch with Mrs. Blair or the Library Trustees.

MISS RUTH SCANNELL, NEW LIBRARIAN

The new librarian in Wayland is Miss Ruth Scannell, who grew up in Milton, was graduated from Smith College and has done graduate work at the Univerity of California and at Leland Stanford University.

She began her duties on July 1, taking the place of Mrs. John Busser, who resigned. At present she is making her home in Canton.

Just before coming to the Wayland Library she was working with Houghton Mifflin Company as co-author of literature texts being prepared for publication.

"I have met with such cordiality," says Miss Scannell, "that I am looking forward to becoming better acquainted and better able to carry on the fine tradition of friendly cooperation that characterizes the service the Wayland Library is giving."

INDEPENDENT ARTISTS EXHIBIT AT DECORDOVA

The exhibit of the 1953 Travelling Section of the Boston Society of Independent Artists will continue at the deCordova Museum in Lincoln through August. The exhibition is comprised of 56 works, including sculpture, paintings and prints, and is selected from the 20th annual exhibition of the Independent Artists held at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston early this year.

Among the nationally known artists represented are David Berger, Gardner Cox, Lamar Dodd, Arthur K.D. Healy, Xavier Gonzales, Maud Morgan, Patrick Morgan, Harley Perkins, Arthur Polonsky and Karl Zerbe.

FIFTY-FIRST MEMBER of the Wayland Kiwanis Club was Paul Hooper, Wayland's new plumbing and heating man.

W.H.S. 1909 HAD 7 REUNIONS, NOT ONE

Members of the Wayland High School Class of 1909 wish to announce that they have heen having reunions for seven years, let alone once, like the class of 1913. And not only that, they include in their reunions their teachers, three out of four of whom are still alive.

There were nine in the class, of whom five are living. The High School then, where the picture shove was taken, was what's now the Center School.

This year the reunion was held in the town of Merrimac, at the home of Miss Louise Thscher, one of the teachers, and all survivors of class and faculty were present.

One memher of the class was William A. Loker, now chairman of the Wayland Board of Selectmen. He remembers that two other memhers, James O'Brien and Francis "Brownie" Ames, were two of the greatest athletes in the school's history. In 1908 and 1909, he says, Wayland High lost only one football game, while playing such teams as Natick, Needham, Wellesley, Hudson, Belmont, Marlhoro and Concord.

"Toke" was quarterback. In 1909, he recalls, a Marlhoro team came to Wayland for a practise game and got beaten 18 to 0.

O'Brien and Ames went to Massachusetts Stste College, where they played foothall and hasehall. Ames has died. O'Brien has been with the United Shoe Machinery Company in Beverly for 27 years.

Margaret Ward is now Mrs. Martin Kenney of Brighton. Lena Loker, a cousin of Toke, is now Mrs.Lena Kimball of Pepperell. Miss Gorman died in 1950, after living in Cochituate all her life.

Francis Dowey was a musician. Gladys Draper went to Kent's Hill School and later became a hostess on the President Line of steamships.

Toke Loker was in show business for 20 years hefore coming home to the Loker farm in Cochituate and hecoming a Selectman.

Next year the reunion will he held at the home of Mrs. Kimball in Pepperell.

Frank Y. Hess, principal in 1909, came to the reunion in 1952, hut died before the 1953 dinner. Other teachers still living are Ahhie Burns, Gladys Hersey and Louise Thacher. (In 1909, some of the teachers weren't much older than the students.)

GIRLS SCOUTS ON THE LOOKOUT FOR HELPERS

Mothers who hava girls of Girl Scout age are being urged to volunteer their services for tha 1953-54 program. Mrs. William S. Hodgkinson, whose telephone is 576-3, says that there will be ten troups. That will take planty of assistance from among the scout mothers.

THE CRIER has been rather weak in reporting engagementa and weddings. It would help if the parents of persons involved in suoh happy circumatances would let the Crier editors in on the aecrets, hy letter or telepbone.

SCHOOL TO REOPEN SEPT. 9

Wayland schools will reopen Sept. 9, the Wednesday after Lahor Day, and Supt. Souder asks parenta of new first graders, if they haven't alresdy done so, to register them hefore opening day. The schools will he open for this purpose.

Aptitude tests for pre-school children have heen given during the Summer. Parents who haven't had appointments yet may call Dr. Souder's office.

BOYS AND GIRLS CATCH FISH

Seventy-five boys and girls took part in the fishing derby run hy the Wayland Kiwanis Cluh at Baldwin's Pond on July 12. Peter Riggs took first prize for biggest catch and Peter Baker was second. Miss Susan Allen of Draper rd won a prize for heing the youngest girl to catch a fish. Susan is 3. Prizes were given hy the Cochituate Hardware Company, the Charles River Feed & Grain Store and the Kiwanis Club.

BETTY LOU WON $10

Betty Lou Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alhert H. Spencer of North Main st, Cochituate, received a citation recently as "The Fisher Girl of 1953" at the graduation exercises of Fisher Junior College, Beacon st, Boston. It won her $10.

Miss Spencer was graduated from Wayland High School in the class of 1950. After graduation from Fisher, she got a job as a private aecretarv at Raytheon and went right to work.

CHAPLAIN CHARLEY L. PEEPLES, Lt., U.S.N., formerly of Haven Lane, Cochituate, was reported ill with pneumonia recently in the U.S.Naval Hospital, St. Albans, Long Island, N.Y.

Wayland and Sudhury were separatad in 1780 hecause tha Sudhury River, in flood time, interfered with Town and church husiness. Not mosquitoes. Just that it was difficult to get back and forth.

FOREIGN STUDENTS VISIT WAYLAND

Foreigners from all over creation were entertained in Wayland over the weekends of June 27 and July 12, and will undouhtedly go home to spread the fame of this Town over the continents.

These men and women were scholarship students for the Summer at M.I.T. Their ages run from 28 to 35 or so. They were all graduates, many of them Ph.D's, in such suhjects as chemical engineering, electric engineering, architecture, mechanical engineering, physics, food technology, civil engineering, city planning, hiology and so on.

Through Mrs. Daniel E. Kennedy Jr., some of these graduate students hecame acquainted with Wayland in 1952. This year, more came out, as guests of Wayland people.

Home towns of these students were in Nigeria, Ireland, Denmark, Egypt, England, Spain, Japan, Italy, Finland, India, Australia, Turkey, Spanish Morocco, Germany, New Zealand, Pakistan, Brazil, Austria and Portugal.

Mr. and Mrs. George I. Emery took a chemist from Portugal and an architect from Germany to Shoppers World, in which they were much interested.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grannis had a Moslem, a Buddhist and a Christian to dinner. No trouhle.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Y. Wadsworth entertained Alfred Schmidt of Austria and Muhammad Aly Saleh of Egypt, a couple of chemical engineers.

Herr Schmidt, a Catholic, said he'd like to attend the First Parish Church, which they all did. Rev. Raymond G. Manker spoke on the teachings of Zoroaster. At the close of the service, the Egyptain told Mr. Manker he enjoyed it all.

Another Moslem, this one from Pakistan, visited the bome of Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Holmes. It turned out he bad never been inside a kitchen until he visited Wayland.

An Indian ssid the flavor of American cooked meat was unpleasant to his taate. Therewas no religious prejudice against it. It just tasted raw.

Hellmuth Dull and Chiyoe Yamanaka, electrical engineers from Germany and Japan, visited the Richard Fosters, and were taken canoeing on the Sudbury River. Neither had ever heen in a canoe before.

Two of the star visitors were Chukwura Okolo, a city planner from Nigeria, and Josephus Cbinwab, a physicist from Nigeria. Chukwura, known as Chuck, was hig and black, and wore a huge white rohe embroidered in hlue. Josephus, known as Josie, equelly black and imposing in size, put on a big grin and won the hearts of children who'd never seen a Negro before.

Tbe Wayland hranch of this hospitality deal got started in 1952, when Barbara Chadhourne, in charge of it, asked Mrs. Kennedy to help out. As a result, more than 25 students visited Wayland last Summer.

This year, there are 72 foreign students at M.I.T. under this scolarship arrangement, and half of them have visited Wayland. Another weekend, featuring a picnic, is tentatively scheduled for August.

Wayland people wbo have entertained these students are Mr. and Mrs. L. William Bertelsen, Mr. snd Mrs. George Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foster, Mr. snd Mrs. Arthur Grannis (now of South Sudbury), Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W.R.Hulbert, Mr. and Mrs. J.O.Post, Mr. and Mrs. John Tanger, Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Wadaworth, Mr. and Mrs. George Vinsonhaler, Mr. and Mrs. John Brownell, Mr. and Mrs. John Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Parker Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Winford C. Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. David Tragaser and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Whiting.

COMMITTEE FOR POLITE ROAD SIGNS NEEDED

Over in exclusive Weston the highweys ere lined with signs which reflect the decline of manners in this modern ege end suggest how Weylend can do better.

Some of those signe eren't even eensible. Take "No Garbage Allowed". Do they eet their lobster shells in Weston? Along Weylend roeds, perhaps, we should heve e few signs reading something like this:

"Eet Daintily. Leeve the Bones".

Another wonderful one: "Dump for Weston Residents Only."

Who would went to throw Weston residents on a dump? It would be pretty cruel, to lower them to such e spot from their eccustomed residences on streetspaved with gold;

Let's take some of those ebrupt, unfriendly admonitions, such es "No Pessing", "Danger", "Slow" end the rest, and see how we in this hospiteble Town can improve on them.

Let's try "Pass, Friend."

This would be more polite, and besides, it would so stertle a motorist that his foot would fall right off the gas.

And "Danger" doesn't scere anybody. How ebout "Deed Men's Curve Ahead. Sporty Course. Step on It"? Stengers would notice this.

"No Hunting in Weston" is rether stendoffish, too. In Weylend we live dangerously. Here, it's nothing for e merried Republican to be shot at by misteke for e red stag.

Let's have:

"Bleze Awey, Perdner. We Know How To Duck."

In Weston, they say "No Horsebeck Riding on the Grass Plot".

In Weylend, it is generelly recognized that grass is better for horsee' hooves then pevement. Let us merk the bridle paths with "Ride Thetaway and Don't Fell Off".

And we should elso heve signe carrying positive messeges of welcome. Such es:

"Buy e Weylend Houselot. Help Pey Wayland Texes."

"Stop and Have e Little Drink. No? Iced tee?"

"Heve you Reletives in Weyland? Drop in for a Week or Two."

"Tour Waylend. See the Sand and Gravel Mines."

"Picnic on the First Lawn You See."

These are only suggestions, of course, designed to take the curse off the harsh tone of existing highwey signs. As things are now, the traveler through most towns feels fortunate to get through without being arrested. Let us in this enlightened community be different.

In one respect, to be sure, we see eye-to-eye with the gilded burghers of Weston. We're egainst billboards. Billboard advertising competes with newspeper advertising and is therefore, as we well know, unesthetic.---D.B.W.

NIGHT BASEBALL GETS UNDER WAY

Night baseball games under the lights at Cochituate should be under way the week this issue of the Crier eppears. The proceedings were held up, it was reported, beceuse the purchese arrengements weren't completed.

OUTDOOR FIRES TABOO

Fire Chief Clifton Haynes issued a warning last month that outdoor fires of all kinds are forbidden during the present dry spell. That means incinerators and outdoor fireplaces, he says.

He adds that it's not his whim. It's the law, as laid down by the State Department of Conservation, governed by a "burning index."

The wire cages used by many as incinerators are not safe at all, he says.

ROBERT MARSHALL SCHOMPHE of 25 Cole rd is attending Huntington School this Summer, preparing for Northeastern University.

ANOTHER 1,000,000 GALLONS, NOT ENOUGH

More than 1,000,000 gallons of clear cold water comes bubbling out of the ground in the Town's new well near the Schofield farm on Old Connecticut Path, says Water Commissioner Fern A. Taylor, but the new supply won't be available in time to permit unrestricted use of water this Summer.

The new sections of 12-inch pipe arrived last month and were dumped beside Old Connecticut Path and Maiden Lane, for connection with existing pipes along Pequot Lane.

This is the deal voted at Town Meeting, to increase both the water supply and the pressure. At first, it was intended to run the new water main across the new Happy Hollow school property.

It was found, however, says Mr. Taylor, that there were so many obstacles in this way that it would be cheaper to go around. So, the pipe will go in the form of a big U, up Old Connecticut Path, across Maiden Lane, then back along Pequot Lane. In this way, the pipes will be under or beside highways all the way, not under school property.

New pumping equipment will be installed at the new well soon, says Mr. Taylor. He says the present system gives 2,000,000 gallons a day and the new well 1,000,000, thus giving Wayland 3,000,000 gallons a day.

The normal consumption, he says, is 600,000 to 700,000 gallons a day. However, if everybody used the hose without limit in dry times, the use might run up to 9,000,000 or 10,000,000 gallons.

That's why, he says, the use of the hose has to be curtailed.

In fact, the latest notice from the Water Commissioners said the Massachusetts Department of Public Health had declared that an emergency existed in the Wayland water supply, and that anybody violating the 8 a.m. to 12 noon hose hours would have his water shut off.

But in many parts of Town householders were better off than they were last Summer, when gardens and lawns dried up. The Weather Bureau's "scattered showers" scattered a certain amount of water on Wayland this season, and as of mid-July the situation wasn't as bad as it was in, say, Texas.

QUARTER CENTURY CALENDAR NOW OPEN

The Quarter Century Club of the Congregational Church will publish its annual Wayland Birthday Calendar again this year. Persons who wish their birthdays or anniversaries listed should send 25¢ to one of the following committee members: Mrs. L. Ashton Lloyd, Mrs. George W. Shepard, Mrs. Edward Osmond, all of Wayland.

The cover will be a local Wayland scene, and the calendar itself, which sells for 50¢, will make an excellent Christmas gift. Proceeds go to the building fund.

KIWANIANS report that more than $200 has been sent in for tornado relief. The Kiwanis Club was appointed by the Selectmen as the official tornado relief fund raising agency in Town.

WANT DUDLEY POND BEACH OPENED

A number of persons visited Town Hall on July 6 to protest against tbe closing of the Dudley Pond beaob off West Plain st, near the end of Edgewood rd, but tbe Town authorities presented these considerations to them:

The water is said to be clean enough. But a number of oesspools are located nearby.

The beach is unprotected by lifeguards.

Tbe parking space is small. Witb many cars parked in it, fire apparatus might have difficulty getting into the roads on either side of the pond.

44 NEW HOUSES SO FAR

Cesspool permits for new homes in Wayland for the first six months of 1953, up to July 1, numbered 44, says Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health.

To get the number of new school children this represents, the statistical boys say, multiply this 44 by two plus a big fraction of a child, making 100 children, or enough to fill three new school rooms.

JULY 4 TRAGEDY AT LAKE

A warning against bathing in unauthorized localities in Town was issued last month by Park Commissioner Frank S. Tarr as a result of the accidental drowning on July 4 of Virginia Hayward, 3½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayward of Brighton, who lost her life in Lake Cochituate on July 4.

The little girl, a visitor in Town, was with relatives near the foot of Lake rd, at a place called "the point", not far from the Town beach. She wandered away and fell in, and her body was recovered 10 feet from shore in water 15 feet deep.

Mr. Tarr points out that no lives have been lost at the municipal beach, which is well protected, and that it is the only safe place to bathe in Town.

In the July 4 tragedy, Box 17 was sounded and companies from both Cochituate and Wayland responded.

A Natick company moved into Cochituate to cover.

The child was given oxygen by the firemen, even though it was obvious it was too late. Chief Ernest H. Damon and police officer Irving L. Dame were called. Dr. Charlotte A. Stewart pronounced the little girl dead, and Medical Examiner Dr. J. Harry McCann of Framingham said it was an accidental drowning.

PATRICIA WADE WON A PRIZE

Patricia Wade of the 10th grade in the High School won a $10 prize in June for a painting entitled "Saturday Night Dance."

The occasion was a meeting of the Art Teachers Association of Massachusetts, 95 teachers from 60 schools gathered at Nantucket. Each teacher brought along three pictures done by pupils in her school and the Nantucket Association gave four $10 prizes for the four adjudged best.

HATCH FINDS PLOT HATCHED IN HAWAII

Wayland's most famous ballad and advertising copy writer (BBD&O) has sounded off again on Manhattan clam chowder, this time in Honolulu. Francis W. Hatch, of Old Sudbury rd, had this to say in a letter to the Globe, July 14:

To the Editor: Honolulu's staff of conversation is the recent trial and conviction of five Communists. Great credit is due both judge and jury.

But no one has dared to speak out against the world-spread of red clam chowder.

I spotted it in the Portland Station. I called attention to it in Nassau. And here it is infiltrating one of the most respected hostelries of Honolulu.

I cannot remain silent. To Arms.

Hawaii Threatened
by Red Menace

The Boston missionaries came
To spread the gospel with a will
Their churches stand, yet here, for shame
Manhattan chowder's on the sill!

Manhattan chowder, devoid of clam,
Vile communistic infiltration.
Rise young Hawaii, in your pram.
Arise and save your threatened nation.

No Polynesian welcome, here,
Awaits a Bridges or a Browder.
But real subversiveness lurks near,
Tomato in a bowl of chowder.

Staunch gospel-men from Beacon Hill
You wore the Bible as your armor.
Your preaching is remembered still,
But they've forgotten Fanny Farmer!

Francis W. Hatch

FATAL CRASH ON OLD CONN. PATH

Charles K. Hammond, 33, of 74 Florissant drive, Saxonville, was killed when his automoble crashed into a culvert on Old Connecticut Path near Meinstone Farm at 2:15 a.m. on June 24.

The accident was reported by Allen McConnell of Cochituate. Chief Ernest H. Damon went to the scene and Dr. Charlotte A. Stewart was called. The men was taken to Leonard Morse Hospital by ambulance, but was dead on arrival.

a cook book which ran through 20 editions. There's a copy in the Wayland Library. It's "The American Frugal Housewife, dedicated to those who are not ashamed of economy." It's interesting reading, even today.

Mrs. Child had a place in American letters a bit lower, perhaps, than that of the famous Concord writers. She was probably more famous as a controversial figure, although Wayland tradition is that she was by no means what we'd call a battle-ax. On the contrary, she is said to have been amiable, happy and altogether delightful in personality.

It's said that her house was a station on the underground railway. Mrs. Harris found what looked like an underground room, beneath an outbuilding, but it was filled with rubbish and she had a concrete floor put over it. Whether there was a hiding place for fugitive slaves can't be told for sure.

Mrs. Baer sent word that an article on Mrs. Child and Margaret Fuller will shortly appear in the New England Quarterly. She herself is working on a book about Mrs. Child and wants any information she can get about the Town as it was between 1852 and 1880, and about the people of that time that Mrs. Child knew.

Oddly, considering how much she wrote and the controversies she engaged in, Mrs. Child left just one piece which everybody knows today. She was the author of the Thanksgiving jingle which begins:

"Over the river and through the wood,
"To grandfather's house we go.
"The horse knows the way,
"To carry the sleigh,
"Through the deep and drifted snow.

"Grandfather's house", they say, was just across the Sudbury River (which was the "river" of the song) and not far away. In fact, it is alleged, it can be seen from Mrs. Child's old home when the leaves are off the trees.

Every school child learns this piece, but the critics seem to scorn it. It isn't in the standard collections of poems, even though it's probably the only bit of Thanksgiving literature known to everybody.

ARCHITECTS WORKING ON SCHOOL PLANS

Detailed plans and specificetions for the new Happy Hollow School are being prepared by the architects for the School Building Committee, and when they are ready to go out for bids, the Committee will ask the Selectmen to call a special Town Meeting. It was thought the meeting might be held in September.

The preliminary plans have already been approved by the State School Building Assistance Commission, which is expected to put up something like 40 per cent of the cost.

COCHITUATE FIREMEN report that a grass fire off West Plain st on July 3 was started, they believe, not by boys but by girls.

Unless the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority changes its mind again, this map, prepared by architect Herbert R. Fisher Jr. of Rice Spring Lane, shows where the toll road will go through the southern edge of Wayland. It cuts across Oak st, takes one house (the man says) and rubs out eight house lots on whet used to be the Edward T. Damon farm, before it goes over into North Natick.

NEW TOLL ROAD ROUTE MISSES WAYLAND, ALMOST

The threat of the toll road seemed to have been ended last month, when the Turnpike Authority announced a new route just barely skimming the South end of Town, taking one house.

Although the Boston papers announced an interchange somewhere in the vicinity of Weston-Wayland line, Chief Engineer Philip H. Kitfield of the Authority told the Crier no such site had been picked and that the matter hadn't been decided.

If there were such an interchange, he said, it would be over on the Weston side, well away from Cochituate and the settled parts of either community.

The detailed drawings in the Turnpike Authority office shows the road running along the Hultman Aqueduct through Weston, coming very close to Route 30 at one point. Then the road swings off through woods and low land.

It cuts Oak St. at a point 150 ft north of tbe Natick line. The right of way is 300 ft wide, bringing the North side of it 450 ft north of the Natick line on Oak St.

However, the road crosses at an angle, so that it is almost immediately acrosa the Natick line, in the farm and field region between Oak St and North Main St.

The Wayland homes which seem to be most affected are those of Donald E. Parker and William J. Henry, both at the foot of Haven Lane.

Mr. Henry visited the Turnpike Authority, where he was told that his house was wiped out. Mr. Parker's, next door to the north, was not to be touched by the road, he was told, but it would be within 25 feet of the North line of the right way. In fact, several houses in the Oak St section will be effected by the noise of the new highway.

While those nearest to the line of the new road were not happy about it, naturally, others felt that the change from the proposed route through the middle of Town was a godsend. "Greatest break the Town ever had," said William A. Loker, chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

What was proposed before wes a huge high dike clear across from Woodridge, to Old Connecticut Path at Pine Ridge Rd. This would heve cut the Town in two. The new route simply sideswipes Wayland, so to speak, doing much less damage.

Before this new route becomes official, however, public hearings will be held. It's possible, the Turnpike Authority keeps saying, that the route may be shifted 100 feet or so.

Over on the North Natick side, the road cuts North Main St. just about at the intersection of Pine St. It takes a few houses. Then it misses Hammond St and Oak Knoll Rd and cuts across Lake Cochituate a quarter of a mile south of Route 30. An interchange is planned for the vicinity of Shoppers World, and this would be the nearest interchange to Wayland if the Weston-Wayland line interchange were not built.

NEW SAFETY ISLAND

Work began last month on the installation of e safety island et the intersection of West Plain st and Old Connecticut Path, at the Mansion Inn. The island, perhaps 20 feet long by six feet wide, should serve to prevent collisions et e rather blind corner.

NEWFANGLED TELEPHONES IN TOWN

By this time, according to William J. Chicoine, manager of the Natick telephone district, practically all Cochituate telephones should have been replaced by dial instruments, which won't function as such until next April 3.

The work of replecing Cochituate telephones began in the first week of July, as part of the job of replacing all the Natick phones.

On Oct. 3, says Mr. Chicoine, the company will start replacing the Wayland instruments with dial phones.

The idea is to have modern machinery all installed by next April 3 (a target date, not a certainty), when the oldfashioned crank business will be replaced by a modern dial system.

On August 24, he said, they'd start assigning new dial numbers to Wayland. These numbers, however, would not be used until after the changeover.

Both Wayland and Cochituate subscribers, he said, will use their present numbers until April, when Wayland will become Elmwood and Natick will become Olympic. After April there will be no charge for calls between Elmwood and Olympic.

DOG CEMENTED IN BREEZEWAY

Members of the Wayland Kiwanis Club were told, a few weeks ago, about the fellow who cemented his dog into his breezeway. This on good authority, is what happened:

A resident of Glezen lane took off on Saturday for the week end, to be gone until Sunday night.

In his absence, the contractor's crew went ahead and built the cement part of the breezewey. They never noticed the dog.

By good luck, the resident came back Saturday night instead of Sunday.

He looked for the dog. No dog.

Finally he heard a yelping. The dog wes under the cement breezeway, which, fortunetely, was hollow, not solid.

The dog started to dig the minute he heerd the shovel, and dog and shovel met heppily under the bottom edge of the concrete. Saved.

HEALTH CENTER PROJECT ALIVE AGAIN

Building of the Parmenter Health Center, postponed when it seemed possible that the toll road would wipe out its site, will probably be undertaken as soon as the new toll road route is definitely settled, says Carlisle D. Scotland of the truatees.

NEW NIGHT POLICE OFFICER

Patrolman Edward Burke, newly appointed to the Wayland Police Department, took up his assignment as night officer on Aug. 2.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS TO SCHOOLS

All schools reopen Sept. 9. The staff will be on hand Sept. 8.

New teachers not previously reported will be Miss Alice Turner, from Boston University, in a fourth grade at the Center School, and Mrs. Madeline Harris, from the Nahant Schools, in a first grade at the Center.

The basement area and lobby of the Cochituate School have been painted. More chairs for reading circles have been acquired. The parking lot, which is also a play area for primary school children, has been finished off.

An up-to-dete fluorescent lighting system will be installed at the Center School. The outside of the building has been repainted, and the heating and ventileting system has been improved. These measures are part of a six-year plan for fixing up this building.

An intercommunication system hes been installed in the Cochituate School. The amplifier was provided by the Cochituate P. T. A. The intercom system at the High School has been modernized.

The High School Library has been improved by the addition of a counter for the distribution of books. And $1000 worth of new books were provided out of the budget.

Equipment for a chemistry laboratory has been instelled in the High School.

Because of the increased enrolment at the High School, the gymnasium will be divided in the middle by a net, so that two physical education classes can be held at once.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING DATE NOT SET

Indications were that the special Town Meeting to consider the eppropriation of money for building the new Happy Hollow school would be held perhaps very late in September or early in October, but no exact date had been set.

The architects, Kilham, Hopkins, Greeley and Brodie, of Boston, had the plans neerly completed. After their completion, bids would be let out to contractors. A figure from one of the bids would be taken as the appropriation figure.

Then the Selectmen, according to the established procedure, would be asked to call the special Town Meeting.

NEW WATER PIPES INSTALLED

The Water Department lest month installed the 12-inch weter pipes which, connected with the new well, should meterielly increese the Town's weter supply.

The pipe was joined to the system at the squeduct on Old Connecticut Path, went up the east side of the Path, went through Meiden Lene for several hundred feet end then cut ecross the fields elong the line of the Pequot Lene extension. The new Happy Hollow School will get its weter from this pipe.

BIG INSURANCE PAYOFF FOR WAYLAND ACCIDENT

The Wayland story of the $57,000 life insurance payment for a single premium payment of $30 is going to be sent to the entire sales organization of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company as an illustration of the uncertainties of this life, says George Vinsonhaler of State rd East, a vice president of the company.

The man who was killed was Charles K. Hammond of Cochituate Oaks, Framingham, whose car ran into a culvert on Old Connecticut Path, near Mainstone Farm, on June 24. He was 23. His partner in a newly-formed construction Company, Edward L. Long, 22, of Somerville, had taken out the insurance--what is called partnership insurance--only three months before.

A partnership, explains Mr. Vinsonhaler, is considered legally dissolved at the instant of death. It leaves, generally, a tangled situation, until the heirs of the deceased partner are compensated or the business is straightened out somehow.

In this case, the Boston papers report, the insurance money will go to take care of the young widow and the 2-year-old son of the late Mr. Hammond.

Incidentally, counsel for Mrs. Hammond are the firm of Bishop & Ahern of Medford, and Dick Bishop of this firm is an old Cochituate boy--not too old, at that.

CONGESTION AT THE WAYLAND POSTOFFICE

Selectman Gerald Henderson reports that because of " severe traffic conditions, Selectmen believe it may be necessary to make Pelham Island Road one-way from the Post Road to Cochituate Road, with no entrance from Cochituate Road.

QUARTER CENTURY CLUB TO MEET

Mrs. Marion T. Rudkin of Beverly, book reviewer, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Quarter Century Club of the Trinitarian Congregational Church in the vestry at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 22. Coffee and dessert will be served.

CHINESE PHEASANTS IN WAYLAND

Something about the pheasant, the foreign bird who is making himself at home in Wayland in ever increasing numbers:

He's a native of North China. The variety we know is called the ring-necked pheasant, and he was brought to Oregon in 1881, according to the Audubon Society. Thence several pairs were brought to the Massachusetts Commission on Fisheries and Game in 1894.

With a small appropriation, breeding pens were set up in Winchester. Ever since, pheasants have been released each year in Massachusetts. As of now, they say, something like 50,000 pheasants are bred and released each year in the Commonwealth, and many breed in freedom.

Twenty years after 1894 the Legislature had the pheasant investigated. It was charged that he was destroying crops. It was found that he was doing more good than harm, eating lots of garden pests.

In the beginning, some say, the pheasant was timid. Of late years, however, he seems bolder. Mother pheasants with broods of eight to 10 chicks have been seen on Wayland roadsides this year.

The male is brilliantly marked, with a crimson patch on each side of his head and a narrow white ring around his neck. He swaggers around on the ground, but he doesn't fly very well. He's more likely to be seen in a low glide of 100 feet or so.

The female is a bit smaller and much duller in color.

The pheasant has an extraordinarily long tail. In icy weather, says the Audubon Society, this tail sometimes freezes to the ground. To avoid this hazard, the pheasant sometimes roosts awkardly in a tree, although normally he feeds and roosts on the ground.

The male has been especially noisy this year. His cry, something like "kawrk" has been heard from wooded patches all over Town. He's no singer.

Shooting females pheasants is forbidden. Hunters, it is said, are becoming more careful to obey this rule.

Nobody knows how many pheesants there are in Massachusetts, let alone in Wayland. One guess is that there are several thousands of them in Town. This is said to be one of the areas in which they are most plentiful.

The male weighs perhaps a pound and a half. Breast of pheasant under glass is considered a great delicacy. Nobody has sung the praises of the neck.

This bird likes open woods and undergrowth. Multiflora roses privide good protection for him.

He's getting more numerous in Wayland. He has been seen and heard more in 1953 than in recent years.

Used joke: Hunters are rather careless around here in the open season, forgetting that there is sn h of a difference between a pheasant and a peasant.

BIG KIWANIS FIELD DAY, SEPT. 16

Everybody is invited to the Kiwanis Field Day to be held at the Wayland Golf Club on Wednesday, Sept. 16, all day, for the benefit of the underprivileged children's fund.

Phil Farina, manager of the club and a member of Weyland Kiwanis, has donated the use of the club facilities for the day, so that the entire greens fee of $1.50 per person will go into the fund. In fact, anybody who plays that day, Kiwanian or not, will be contributing to the fund.

There'll be a hole-in-one contest, a putting contest and a driving contest, with prizes and refreshments. The tournament, they say, will be set up under the Calloway system of handicapping.

ANCIENT DAMON FARM IS SOLD

Edward T. Damon Jr. of Commonwealth rd East, has sold 90 acres of the old farm, which is believed to have come as a grant from the English King in 1720, to Puritan Homes, which intends to build 118 new homes, in the $20,000 price range, on the property.

The Damons are selling the house, which also dates from the original grant, separately.

Originally, it is said, the grant included many hundreds of acres. Mr. Damon is the sixth or seventh in direct descent from the original holder of the land. The property has been operated as a farm from the date of the grant until this year. A few weeks ago all the cattle and farm equipment were sold at auction.

TWIN BUSSES NOT MTA'S

If you see two twin salmon pink buses in Town these days don't hail them as public carriers and expect them to stop and pick up you and your token. They simply constitute the private rolling stock of Arthur S. Eldredge, Draper rd, and Francis H. Stites, Bennett rd.

Actually they are imported German Volkswagen "Transporters." They are shorter than an orthodox American car, pack a tidy 24-hp motor on a shelf in the rear end and seat 11 easily.

"YOU SAY IT,BUT YOU WON'T DO IT."

Not so long ago there was a radio program featuring a Quarrelling married couple, the Bickersons. Mrs. Bickerson was always saying to her spouse, "You say it, but you won't do it."

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has kept saying it will fix Dead Man's Curve, but as of last month it hadn't done it.

A FEW SMART organizations in Town have already appointed Public Relations Directors to handle publicity for the coming season. Because all editors are congenitally lazy, these press agents will probably cop off more than their share of Crier news space,- unless of course other organizations do likewise.

COCHITUATE SCOUTS ATTEND CAMP

Cochituate Scouts of Troop 1 and Post 1 enjoyed a week of camping at Camp Resolute in Bolton ib July.

Leadership for the week included George ("Pop") Fullick, Arthur W. Holmes, Explorer Advisor, and Theodore R. Magoun, Neighborhood Commissioner. Mr. Holmss, W1RZF, operated a mobile amateur radio station at camp and through the cooperation of Mrs. Ruth Ferguson, W1SCS, of Natick, was able to keep the folks at home posted on their boys.

Attending camp from Troop 1 were: Tenderfoot Scouts John F. LeBlanc, David H. Ham, Kenneth E. Morrell, Robert J. Lizotte and John M. Warsky. Second class Scouts Peter C. Baker, Arthur L. Coe, Walter A. Cheslak, Jr., John R. Columbus, John M. Gebhardt, James E. Knowlton, Richard Leonhardt, Richard R. Morriss, Francis F. Noonan and John G. Simoni. First Class Scouts Fred H. Berg, Bruce A. Dussealt and Stanley N. Marshall, Jr. Star Scout Raymond F. Columbe.

Post 1 members present were: Second class Scout Kenneth C. Wood. First class Scout George P. Richardson. Star Scouts Charles H. Bennett, Richard K. Irwin, Arthur W. Holmes, Jr. Gerald A. Humphrey (who painted the new Cochituate Scouting Family plaque now on permanent display in the Mess Hall)and Alfred V. Witzell. Life Scouts Robert C. Brown and Emery W. Irwin.

In camp recreational activities, Cochituate took top honors, winning the softball championship (undefeated); and the water meet (highest score). Explorer Scouts enjoyed a dance Thursday evening with Girl Scouts of nearby Camp Virginia.

The highest honor and the hallmark of a good camper is election to the Order of the Arrow, a National Scout Society. Following Camp elections the eligible boys, Cochituate was proud to have Peter C. Baker (Troop 1), Charles H. Bennett and Richard K. Irwin (Post 1); and Leader Arthur W. Holmes (Explorer Advisor) called out at the impressive Saturday evening campfire ceremonies for induction to the Order. They will undergo the ordeal at a later date.

Camping was enlivened by visits from Troop Scoutmaster Walter E. Smith, Asst. Scoutmaster William E. Irwin, and Advancement Chairman for Mohawk District Elmer V. Bigwood on Monday evening; Asst. Scoutmaster John Columbus on Wednesday and Saturday; and many parents who attended Saturday evening's festivities.

Also at Camp Resolute this summer, although prior to the present week, was Second Class Scout Edward Hildebrandt.

A TIP from the bulldozer's mouth is that construction of the new toll road will start next May.

COCHITUATE MEN'S CLUB WILL DINE WELL

The Cochituate Men's Club, which is said to have spent last year in hibernation, comes back to life with a bang on Wednesday, Sept. 23, with a ladies' night and supper in the vestry of the Methodist Community Church in Cochituate. Rudolph F. King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, is to be the speaker.

There's a ticket committee, selling tickets at 99 cents apiece. The food will be superior and everybody is welcome. The main point is that the grub goes on the table at 6:30 p.m. sharp, and late comers are likely to be shut out. Toke Loker, who doubles as chairman of the Board of Selectmen, is head of the entertainment committee.

The professional entertainer will be The Great Paxton, memory marvel, who has appeared on Ed Sullivsn's TV programs.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Rev. George C. Gutekunst, Carlisle D. Scotland, George G. Bogren, Russell L. Briggs or Lyman Brown Jr.

MASSIE'S TRUCK DAMAGED

A truck owned by J. C. Massie, Wayland plumber, and operated by George P. Sims of Wellesley, was badly damaged on the afternoon of of July 31 when it hit a pole on Old Connecticut Path, near the entrance to George Nolan's driveway, Chief Damon reports.

The story the chief was told was that the Massie truck was going one way and a big truck loaded with granite curbstones waa going the other, and that in trying toavoid the big a truck Sims hit the pole.

PROBATION FOR FALSE ALARM RINGERS

Four local 18-year-olds, three from Wayland and one from Cochituate, were given two years probation when they appeared in Framingham District Court on July 25 and were found guilty of charges in connection with the sounding of a alarm in Wayland on July 5.

In addition, each agreed tp pay $75 to cover the expense caused the town.

ARTHUR ATWOOD SENDS REGARDS

Gregory Cooper reports that one night last month, as he was delivering lecture on "Modern Architecture and the Modern School" before the Rotary club at Monson, Mass., he met Arthur Atwood, who used to run what is now the T.F. Linnehan coal and oil business.

Mr. Atwood, he says, now retired, wants it told in Wayland that he is hale and hearty, as is Mrs. Atwood. In fact, says Mr. Cooper, Mr. Atwood looks even better than he used to when he presided at meetings of the "Morning Glory Club," a Wayland civic group of another day, devoted to the gentle art of bettering pairs of jacks.

R. BRUCE WINS A GOLD WATCH

Rudolph Bruce of Plain rd was presented with a solid gold watch upon retiring as presented of the Radio Executives Club of New England, Inc. He will continue as a director of the club. He has also been nominated as a director for the next two years of the Advertising Club of Boston.

CONGO FAIR ON SEPT. 25 AND 26

The Congo Fair is coming off on Friday and Saturday, September 25 and 26. Festivities start with a full scale dance and name-band on Friday evening from 8 to 12 in the High School auditorium. Door prizes, refreshments and informality are promised by the committee.

The next morning, Saturday, rain or shine, the grounds around the Congregational-Trinitarian Church will be jammed with tables and stalls loaded with all sorts of plants, gifts, food, books, and the infallible and popular rummage.

At 10 a.m. Charles F. Hale, professional auctioneer, will call the crowds for a big-time auction. The day will wind up with a harvest supper.

ON DUDLEY POND SWIMMING

Clarence I. Sterling Jr, deputy commissioner of environmental sanitation of the Department of Public Health of the Commonwealth, has sent to the Wayland Board of Health a letter concerning an examination made by the Department of the suitability for bathing of Dudley Pond.

Copies of the letter were sent to Senator Charles W. Olson, of this district, and to Joseph Carroll of Dudley Road, Wayland.

Excerpts from the letter:

"Dudley Pond was last examined as to its suitability for public bathing by this Department in 1948. In a communication dated July 30, 1948, addressed to the Dudley Pond Improvement Association, a copy of which was sent to your board, it was pointed out that many local sewage disposal works are located only a few feet from the high water level of the pond. The recent examination (1953) showed that numerous cesspools and septic tanks are located only a very short distance from the pond and it may be possible at times for partially treated sewage to leach into the pond. . ."

(The letter goes on to say that there are no bath houses, drinking water or toilet facilities at the pond at this time. It concedes that the samples of water taken showed that the water was fit for swimming, bacteriologically speaking.)

"The Department recommends," the letter concludes, "that bathing in Dudley Pond be not encouraged by your board until adequate drinking water, bath house and toilet facilities have been provided at the public beach for the use of the bathers and until the local means of disposal above referred to have been replaced with suitable subsurface works located at least 25 feet from the pond."

This letter bears upon a Summer controversy between certain citizens and the Board of Health as to the desirability of using Dudley Pond for bathing. The citizens didn't see why they shouldn't swim in the pond, and the Board of Health thought it would be much better if all local persons used the Lake Cochituste municipal beach, which is perfectly clean and has all the necessary services.

FIRE ON STANTON STREET

A garage on the premises of Roger Bulkeley, Stanton st., Cochituate, burned up on the afternoon of Aug. 6, causing the sounding of two alarms.

The building, not new, burned with a great deal of black smoke, which created and excitement in the neighborhood. However, the Cochituate company had things under control quickly, and a Natick company which responded was not used.

HAPPY HOLLOW SCHOOL DETAILS DISCLOSED

There'll be no going to the basement in this school. No basement. And it's so arranged that there'e an entrance to each of the departments, boys' and girls', from the outside, so that it will be more convenient when outside games are in progress.

The oldfashioned fixed chairs and desks are no more. Everything is movable.

The building has a flat roof, of steel, timber, tar and gravel.

It faces south, towards what will ba Pequot Lane. One wing, on the west, will hold the older children. The east wing, smaller, will house the beginners. Tha idea is to keep them separate. There are even separata play areas.

The front of the building is 227 feet long. The short wing is 96 feet long and the long wing is 222 feet. Each wing has approximately the width of two 30-foot school rooms plus a corridor.

At the front is an assembly room capable of holding 400 persons. Four steps above the assembly room is the lunchroom, big enough to seat 120. This deal is so arranged that the lunchroom area can become a deep stage for the assembly room. Seats and tables can be moved. The children will eat in three groups.

The wooded knoll back of the old Theodore L. Parker home on Old Connecticut Path will be cut down to provide fill to smooth off the area.

There'll ba one baseball diamond, softball size or Little League size, or maybe two.

There'll be a sink and a bubbler in each classroom. That old daal of getting permission to leave the room to get a drink won't work.

Each of the 12 classrooms will be just a bit less than 30 by 30 feet in size. Each room will be rated at a capacity of 30 pupils, from grades one through six, a total of 360. Two rooms for each grade.

Heating system: Burns a cheap oil, called Number 6 or Bunker C. This oil has to be warmed before it will burn. Therefore thera's a housshold size oil burner to warm thie oil before it hits the big burner, which creates steam heat.

The small burner can be used to make hot water for the school when it's too warm to turn on the big burner for heat.

In each classroom the outside air is sucked in by fans, to pass over steam coils into the room. Thence it is sucked out by fans in the opposite corner of the room. In the coat rooms, the air is sucked outside, away from wet coats and boots. The kitchen air is sucked outside, away from the kitchen.

Use of pre-fabricated shapes will save lots of money. There's still no idea of how much the school will cost.

All entrances will be covered, but thare will be no protruding porches. Everybody will come in under the roof befora he enters.

The outside classroom walls are of glass and glass brick. The light striking tha glass bricks is turned up, not down, so that it is diffused through the room. For darkness, there are overhead fluorescent lights.

Says Dr. Rexford S. Souder, superintendent of schools:

"It's a good school. It will work. If the Town had plenty of money it could be better. But it's a compromise between the ideal and what the Town's financial condition permits at the moment."

It beats the old Thomas School of its vicinity (built 1868) by many parasangs.

Membars of the School Building Committee, who will pass on the deal after a spacial Town Meeting makes a decision, are Allan R. Finlay, chairman; Cornelius J. Maguire, Harvey C. Newton, William A. Waldron, John F. Yeager, John A. Brownell, Frank S. Tarr, George V. Deverell and Dr. Rexford S. Souder.

WALTER O'CONNELL, only bachelor mamber of the Wayland Kiwanis Club, was scheduled to be married on Aug. 29 to Miss Lorraina Jackson at Worcester, according to Argus, Kiwanis correspondent.

MR. AND MRS. D. K. RIECK of Old Connecticut Path are the parents of a son, Douglas, born June 18 at Faulkner Hospital in Jamaica Plain. The Riecks have one other son, Stephen, 4.

JEAN F. CAUL, of Lake Shore drive, 's member of the research staff of Arthur D. Little, Inc., presented a report on consumer preference for bread sweeteners at a meeting of the Institute of Food Technologists in Boston in June.

Town of Wayland Health Regulations

The Board of Health of the Town of Wayland, in the County of Middlesex, by virtue of the authority contained in General Laws (Ter. Ed.) Chapter 111, Section 31, as amended by Chapter 285 of the Acts of 1937; Chapter 94, Section 146; Chapter 416 of the Acts of 1939; and any other power it thereto enabling, does hereby make and promulgate the following Health Regulations.

CHAPTER IX

Minimum Standards of Fitness for Human Habitation

The Board of Health of the Town of Wayland, in the County of Middlesex, by virtue of the authority contained in Chapter 111, Section 31, of the General Laws (Ter. Ed.) as amended. and as provided in Chapter 631 of the Acts of 1947, hereby makes, enacts and promulgates the following regulations establishing the minimum standards of fitness for human habitation. These regulations are grouped under each subject as follows:

Regulations bearing "A" designation relate to the first paragraph of Section 128 of the General Laws, as amended by Chapter 468 of the Acts of 1943 and Chapter 631 of the Acts of 1947. Regulations bearing "B" designation relate to the second paragraph of the said Section 128. Violation of any of the regulations designated "A" constitutes for finding that a dwelling place or its premises are unfit for human habitation and may become a cause of sickness or a nuisance. Failure to conform to two or more of the regulations designated "B" is sufficient reason for finding unfit for human habitation a building or any portion thereof, leased or rented and occupied as a dwelling place.

1. Definitions:

The following words used in these regulations shall have the following meanings:

"Dwelling place," building or structure for human habitation, including all units therein and the premises thereof.

"Premises," the building and the piece of land on which it stands.

"Dwelling unit," a room or series of connecting rooms for living purposes containing a complete kitchen or kitchenette.

"Light-housekeeping unit," a room or group of rooms used for living purposes, containing portable or other cooking and refrigeration facilities not installed in a separate kitchen room.

"Rooming unit," a rented room or group of rooms, containing no cooking facilities, used for living purposes by a separate family or group of persons living together or by a person living alone, within a structure or within a dwelling unit.

"Ordinary minimum winter conditions," fifteen (15) degrees Farenheit above the lowest temperature recorded for the locality concerned during the preceding ten-year period.

2. Occupancy:

A. The number of occupants of any dwelling unit shall be less than the number which would result in such overcrowding as to make the unit unfit and which might result in its being a cause of sickness or a nuisance. Violation of any of the following standards constitutes such overcrowding:

1. Dwelling units consisting of more than one room shall have a total area, exclusive of passageways, storage space, and bathrooms, of at least ninety (90) square feet per occupant up to and including four (4) persons and an additional sixty (60) square feet per additional occupant thereof. In computing the total floor area, only that portion of an attic room shall be counted which has a clear height of at least five (5) feet under a pitched roof or seven (7) feet under a flat roof. No room shall be used for sleeping purposes unless it contains fifty (50) square feet of floor area for each user.
2. A light - housekeeping dwelling unit or a rooming unit used for both living and sleeping purposes shall have not less than ninety (90) square feet of floor area per occupant unless a common living room of at least one hundred eighty (180) square feet with fifteen (15) square feet additional floor area for each such unit above the first ten is provided in the building. Where a common room is so provided, a one-room light, housekeeping dwelling or rooming unit shall have not less than eighty (80) square feet of floor area, and shall have not less than sixty (60) square feet of floor area per occupant.

3. Cleanliness:

A. Violation of any of the following standards constitutes uncleanliness which renders a dwelling unit unfit and which may cause it to become a source of sickness or a nuisance:

1. Garbage, rubbish, dirt, or other unsanitary matter shall not be allowed to accumulate in the rooms, halls, stairways, or in other parts and premises of a building used as a dwelling place.
2. Unless there are installed means of immediate garbage disposal, satisfactory to the Board of Health, tight - covered, metal garbage receptacles of sufficient capacity shall be provided by the occupant of each dwelling unit; in buildings of more than three dwelling units with common halls or exits, the owner shall provide and maintain in the year or near the door used by the garbage collectors, tight-covered metal receptacles of sufficient capacity for receiving and storing the garbage from the dwelling units pending collection or disposal. All garbage shall be placed in such means of disposal or receptacles by the occupants, and when it is the responsibility of the owner to provide receptacles as required above, he shall have it collected at least twice a week and put in proper storage at a point readily accessible for final collection or disposal.
3. Unless there are installed means of immediate disposal of rubbish, dirt or other unsanitary matter, which are satisfactory to the Board of Health, covered metal containers shall be provided and used as receptacles by the owner or occupant, respectively, as provided in the above paragraph regarding garbage.
4. Yards, courts, areaways, vent shafts and passageways shall be drained to prevent the accumulation of water.

B. In leased or rented structures occupied as dwelling places the owner and occupant respectively have the following responsibilities in keeping the premises clean and free from rubbish:

1. An occupant shall keep his dwelling unit, and the building and premises or portion thereof over which he has control, in a clean and sanitary condition.
2. An owner shall keep those portions of the building and premises for which no tenant is responsible in a clean and sanitary condition. He shall, subject to the satisfaction of the Board of Health, whitewash, paint or paper the common area of the building and the family dwelling units therein.

4. Dampness:

A. and B. Violation of any of the following standards constitutes a condition under which dampness may become a nuisance or be a source of sickness to the occupants or to the public, and renders a dwelling place unfit:

1. A structure used or intended to be used as a dwelling place, located in an area with a high ground water table or subject to chronic or repeated flooding or dampness, shall have the cellar, basement, or other foundations, walls or floor in contact with the ground waterproofed in a manner satisfactory to the Board of Health.
2. Any condition found by the Board of Health to be causing chronically or repeatedly damp floors, walls, or ceilings, in any interior space in a building used for dwelling purposes shall be remedied by the owner.

B. In leased or rented structures occupied as dwelling places the following means of preventing dampness shall be provided:

1. Cellars and basements shall have at least two screened outside windows for cross-ventilation.
2. Buildings having no basement or cellar, shall have a dry and cross-vented air space beneath the first floor of all parts thereof used for habitation, except in case of buildings having water and damp - proof floors laid on the ground level.

5. Vermin Infestation:

A. Vermin infestation either by insects or rodents, may be a source of sickness to the occupants or to the public or become a nuisance, and renders a dwelling place unfit for human habitation. Owners and tenants, respectively, have the following responsibilities in preventing or remedying infestations:

1. When vermin infestation either by insects or rodents is found in more than one dwelling unit within a building, the owner shall exterminate the vermin by methods approved by the Board of Health. When such an infestation is found in but one unit, the occupant shall exterminate all vermin by methods approved by the Board of Health.
2. The owner of a building containing one or more dwelling units, located in an area found by the Board of Health to be infested by rats, shall carry out such rat stoppage or other means of preventing or remedying such infestation of said building and its premises as may be required by the Board of Health.
3. From May Fifteenth to October Fifteenth, the openable portion of windows required under Section VI of these regulations shall be provided by the owner with screens which will effectively prevent the entrance of flies and mosquitoes, unless other means satisfactory to the Board of Health are furnished.

6. Cellar and Basement Living:

A. Violation of any of the following standards regarding light, ventilation, and prevention of dampness, makes a cellar or basement unfit for dwelling purposes and may result in its becoming a nuisance or being a source of sickenss to the occupants or to the public:

1. Rooms or other space in a basement, which is a story partly underground but having at least one-half of its height above the level of the curb or of the adjoining fifteen (15) foot width of ground, may be used for sleeping, cooking and eating, only upon the written permission of the Board of Health and provided the walls and floor thereof in contact with the earth have been damp-proofed in accordance with a method approved by the Board of Health; and provided that the windows thereoof are at least fifteen (15) feet from the nearest building or wall, and that the total window area thereof is no less than twelve (12) percent of the total floor area of such basement, and that said windows can be opened to the extent of not less than six (6) percent of such floor area, and are so distributed as to permit cross - ventilation within any dwelling unit or part thereof located therein.
2. No room or other space in a cellar which is a story having more than one half of its height below the adjoining ground level shall be used for sleeping, cooking or eating.

7. Light and Ventilation:

A. Violation of any of the following standards constitutes a condition under which insufficient light and ventilation render a room or other interior space unfit and may cause it to become a nuisance or to be a source of sickness to the occupants or to the public:

1. Every room or other interior space in a dwelling place, except toilets and bathrooms, pantries, and kitchenettes of less than fifty (50) square feet of floor area, and other than passageways and storage spaces, shall contain at least one window of not less than eight (8) square feet, opening directly to the outside air, upon a street, yard, court, or vent shaft not less than twenty-five (25) square feet in area and in no part less than four (4) feet wide. Any such windows shall be capable of opening to an extent of at least forty (40) percent of its area.
2. Any such room, defined in the above paragraph, with a depth from an exterior wall in excess of twelve (12) feet shall have a window or other glass area in its exterior walls or roof measuring not less than eight (8) percent of its total floor area; if such depth exceeds sixteen (16) feet, the window or glass areas shall measure not less than ten (10) percent of the said floor area. At least forty (40) percent of any such window or glass area shall be openable.
3. The window or glass area opening directly to the outside air as in VII A 1, of any bathroom, toilet or kitchenette of less than fifty (50) square feet of floor area shall measure at least 10 percent of its floor area, but not less than three (3) square feet, and the aggregate openable area shall be not less than fifty (50) percent thereof.
4. Every portion of any interior passageway or staircase common to two or more families in a building used for human habitation shall be illuminated naturally or artificially at all times with an illumination of at least three lumens per square foot (3-foot candles). Artificial lighting equipment shall be of a type approved by the Fire Department.

8. Good Repair and Serviceability:

B. In leased or rented structures occupied as dwelling places the owner shall keep the walls, roofs, ceilings, floors, stairs, doors, and windows in good repair and serviceability as defined in the following standards: The walls, roofs, ceilings, floors, stairs, doors, and windows shall be so maintained as to be capable of fulfilling their essential purposes of weather tightness and functional utility, and shall present no health hazards.

1. Weather-tightness:
   a. The roof, exterior walls, windows and doors and the areas around the frames thereof, shall be free of holes, breaks, or porus areas capable of admitting rain or wetness into the interior spaces of the building.
   b. Holes or breaks in inside wall and ceiling surfaces or separations between structural members such as at a joint between a floor and wall or between an exterior wall and a door or window frame, which freely admit wind or which are a source of heat loss and discomfort shall not be permitted.
2. Functional Utility:
   a. Inside walls and ceilings shall be free from holes and breaks through the structural material which would result in lack of privacy in dwelling units.
   b. Floors shall be capable of supporting occupants and essential furniture and equipment. In no case shall any part of a floor perceptibly shake or sag when stamped upon.
   c. Inside stairs and outside steps shall be capable of supporting the maximum number of users normal to their location. In no case shall such stairs or steps perceptibly shake, sag, or sway when used by two adults abreast. Such stairs and steps shall be neither so steep or narrow nor so lacking in normal head room that to the Board of Health inspector they are noticeably difficult to use. Normal head room for adults shall be provided.
   d. Windows and exterior doors of a building and interior entrance doors to separate dwelling units or to rooms containing sanitary facilities shall be found by the Board of Health inspector capable of serving their respective functions of lighting, ventilation, affording ingress and egress, and affording privacy.
3. Health Hazards:
   a. Ceilings, floors, stairs, steps and inside walls shall be free from rotting areas and such holes or breaks through the structural material and from such loose, bulging or hang structural surface material which could afford harborage for vermin, could cause users to fall or trip, or collapse or which would constitute a hazard. Stairs and steps shall have no irregularity of rise nor slope in tread, which might throw a user off balance. Stairs and steps shall be equipped with firm handrails on at least one side when there are more than three risers in succession, and any balcony, and a porch connected with such stairs or steps, shall be provided, on the open sides, with firm guard rails or other means of preventing users from falling off.

9. Water Supply, Sewage Disposal, and Related Equipment:

A. Violation of any of the following standards constitutes a major deficiency in sanitary facilities which may become a nuisance or be a cause of sickness to the occupants or to the public, and which makes a dwelling place unfit:

1. An adequate supply of water from a safe source shall be piped into each dwelling unit of buildings used for human habitation. Where houses are located in sparsely settled or rural areas and where water cannot be piped without excessive expense, the Board of Health may exempt such houses from the requirement that water shall be piped into the dwelling unit, provided a safe source is available.
2. Where piped water is available there shall be provided within each dwelling unit at least one sink with proper drain for washing dishes and clothes as well as for personal cleanliness.
3. Every building used for human habitation shall be provided with such number of water closets or sanitary privies as the Board of Health may require, but in no case less than one for each dwelling unit of more than two rooms, nor less than one for every two dwelling units of two rooms or less.
4. No water closet shall be installed or continued in use in the cellar of any building used as a dwelling place without a permit in writing from the Board of Health.
5. The water closet for each dwelling unit shall be accessible from within the building without passing through any part of any other dwelling unit; and such water closet shall be separated from any other room by walls of material and construction approved by the Board of Health, and shall be accessible from any bedroom within the unit without passing through any other room used for sleeping.
6. Every sink, tub, shower, toilet, or other plumbing fixture in a building used for habitation shall be provided with a proper and unobstructed drain which discharges into a sewerage system outside the building, and said fixtures and drains shall be maintained by the owner in a sanitary working condition at all times.
7. Where connection to a public sewer is not practicable, buildings shall be served by cesspools, septic tanks or other means of subsurface disposal of sewage, which shall be approved by the Board of Health and maintained by the owner so as to prevent overflow.
8. No privy shall be constructed or continued in use, except by written permit from the Board of Health. No privy shall be located less than twenty (20) feet from any building used for sleeping or eating, or from any lot line or street. No privy shall be a source of pollution of any water supply.
9. Water closets, tubs, sinks, and shower stalls, installed in a dwelling place, together with all fixtures thereof, shall be maintained in a watertight condition. The space underneath the seat and around the bowl of a water closet shall not be enclosed.

A. and B. In leased or rented structures occupied as dwelling places, the owner and tenant respectively have the following responsibilities:

1. Water closets and drains therefrom shall be maintained in working order by the owner. The fixtures shall have no structural cracks or breaks and shall be free of leakage or obstruction. The water closet shall have a smooth and washable seat in good repair.
2. A water closet shall be maintained clean by the occupant when it is within a dwelling unit; any water closet located elsewhere shall be maintained clean by the owner. The seat, fixtures and the floor around any water closet shall be kept free of accumulations of wastes.
3. The water closet shall be in a room or compartment, the door of which can be closed, and which is served with artificial lighting of at least three lumens per square foot. When serving more than one family the door shall be provided with a lock to afford privacy.

10. Heat-Generating Equipment:

B. In leased or rented structures occupied as dwelling places the following standards define the minimum adequacy and proper maintenance of heat-generating equipment:

1. There shall be an installed heater in more than one-fourth of the rooms of a dwelling unit. Where no heater is installed in a room, in addition to doors, there shall be, for circulation of air, an opening to a room with an installed heater. An installed heater is a radiator or register connected to a central furnace, a heating stove connected by rigid smoke-pipe to a chimney or other flue, a built-in or portable electric or built-in gas radiator, or a usable fireplace. A pipeless furnace or a flue-connected circulating heater may be considered adequate heating equipment for five (5) rooms or less in a dwelling unit located on two floors.
2. When two or more dwelling units are centrally heated, inability to maintain during the day a temperature in the living and working rooms of at least sixty-eight (68) degrees Farenheit at (18) inches from the floor when the outside temperature is fifty-five (55) degrees F. or less, but not below ordinary minimum winter conditions shall be considered evidence of inadequate or defective heat-generating equipment.
3. In the case of those rented units where the occupant furnishes his own heating equipment, the owner shall provide properly functioning flues or other connecting facilities necessary for the installation of adequate heat-generating facilities and the occupant shall make and maintain the required number of installations.
4. A building used for dwelling purposes shall be maintained by the owner in a weather-proof condition so as to be capable of being adequately heated at reasonable expense by such equipment.

Adopted March 6, 1950.

CHAPTER X

General

1. Whoever violates any of these rules and regulations shall forfeit a sum of not exceeding one hundred ($100) dollars except when otherwise provided by law or by these regulations.

Adopted Jan. 4, 1952.

WAYCO BASEBALL NOTES

The Dodgers, managed by Peter Baker of Pemberton rd, led the Little League at the end of the season. They lost only two games, to the Yankees and the Phillies. On this team were Kenneth Kane, Kenneth Houghton, Peter Hillebrandt, David Gladu, John Leonard, Thomas Flynn, Robert Sohofield, George and Russell Shipp, Ronald Hillier, Bruce Walderman and Thomas Leonard.

Competition was keen all season, and the behavior of the boys was perfect. Particularly praiseworthy were the Tigers, tailenders who won only one game out of 14, but turned out a full team for every game and never stopped trying. Some teams with bigger guns forfeited games because they couldn't field a full team. Eight teams started and eight finished.

The Pony League, boys 13 through 15, had a four-team league. Nick Statton, in charge of it, wouldn't say who won the pennant, because the White Sox, who won the most games, did a lot of trading and even used a Little Leaguer or two now and then.

Each team in the Little League played one regular game under the lights at Cochituate.

Managers and coaches of Cochituate Little League teams were Peter Baker, Alfred Johnson, William Morris, John Simoni and David Goodhue. Wayland managers and coaches were Parmelee C. Hill, Oliver Riggs, Bob Paine, William Shannon, Edward Kenny and Ross Hubbard. Others who helped out in Wayland from time to time were Fran Fisher, David Walsh, John Bianchetti and John Stevenson.

Wayland unpires were Robert Page, Don Tarbell, Aiden Gierash, John Gregory, Frederick W. Lehmann, Larry Cook, Herb Dicks and Joe Paradis.

The Way-Co Baseball Committee gives much credit for the success of the season to Robert Whelchel, director of the whole program; to Francis Martin and Nick Statton, directors of the two leagues, and to Steven McEnroy, most helpful groundskeeper.

Under the lights, the Little League All-Stars beat Sudbury, 7 to 1; Natick, 3 to 2, Westboro, 4 to 3, and Natick 9 to 1.

Roster of the Little League All-Stars: Catchers, John LeBlanc, Dave Gladu, John Simoni. Pitchers, Eddie Marsh, Dick Morris, Bob Page. First base, Steve Powers. Second base, George Andrews. Shortstop, Jerry Whelchel. Third base, John Leonard. Outfield, Jack Warsky, Ed Marston, Tommy Flynn, Larry Heckelsmiller, Kenny Morrell and Spencer Richardson.

The older All-Stars tied Natick, 10 to 10, then had a bad time with the Saxonville Independents, losing 1 to 14.

Roster of the Pony League All-Stars: Catchers, Dick Haynes, Neil Ballard, Paul Bradley. Pitchers, Donald Graves, John Thorburn, Paul Zayotti. First base, Wayne Sanderson, Nick Willard. Second base, Alfred Johnson, Bobby Brown, Rafe Stewart, Johnny Pettigrew. Shortstop, George Bradley. Third base, Fred Tassineri. Outfield, Tom Murray, Johnny Wilcox, Doug Hatfield, Bill Sanderson.

On Aug. 17, the stars of the three Wayland teams, Tigers, Indians and Yankees, played the coaches and umpires. The boys said they won. On Aug. 22, the fathers and sons of the same teams were scheduled to play each other.

Bob Gladu coached the White Sox of the Pony League. Tom Murray, one of the Wayland Park Commissioners, umpired the games under the lights with the out-of-town teams. Other Pony League managers were Jack Hyland, Phill Awad and Richard Flynn.

ROBERT VAREY TO COAST GUARD ACADEMY

Robert D. Varey, of Rice Road, Cochituate, who graduated last year from Wayland High School, has received an appointment to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.

NO ACTION ON BRIDGE OR BY-PASS

Reconstruction of the bridge and causeway over the Sudbury River on Old Sudbury rd will probably not be undertaken this year, Rep. Howard S. Russell reports. He also says it seems unlikely that Route 20, through Wayland, Weston and Sudbury, will be relocated and rebuilt in the near future.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS MISUNDERSTANDING

In last month's issue of the Crier it was proclaimed that a Wayland boy, so modest he wouldn't even mention it, had won a Massachusetts S. P. C. A. poster contest.

Well, so he did, but it turns out the M. S. P. C. A. arranges it so that there's a prize for practically every grade in the Commonwealth, and in some grades outside it, from Maine to Tennessee.

The contest is open to all grades from the fourth through High School, according to direct word from the home office in Boston. What last month's hero won was the fourth grade prize for Wayland, nothing to be scoffed at, to be sure, but not exactly what last month's Crier may have suggested.

Another winner of the five-pointed star was Joan Ann Babcock, eighth grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Babcock of Commonwealth rd West, who say she isn't so hot in some subjects but that she loves to draw and draws well.

REP. HOWARD S. RUSSELL reports that the session of the Legislature recently ended was a dignified one. "Whether the Bellevue bar suffered," he writes, "I cannot say, but overindulgence in liquor has been rare."

NEW MEMBERS of the Wayland League of Women Voters are Mrs. John Bandolin, Glezen Lane; Mrs. Robert S. Carlson, Moore rd, and Mrs. Ernest Wolston, Cochituate rd.

TOWN HOUSE PRE-SCHOOL OPENS

Pre-school classes at the Wayland Junior Town House composed of children from all of Wayland and Cochituate open on Wednesday, Sept. 23, Mrs. Robert G. Paine Jr., director of the school has announced. She will be assisted by Mrs. Seth F. Johnson, of Happy Hollow rd.

For the first time the nursery school class will be conducted at the Dudley Pond Improvement Association clubhouse on Old Connecticut Path. Mrs. Harriett Woodman is in charge, assisted by Mrs. Sheldon McEwan. At the time of going to press 22 children had registered with vacancies for three more.

Kindergarten classes will be under Mrs. Ethel M. Bamforth, Sherman Bridge rd, assisted by Mrs. William J. Hall, of Lakeshore drive. Thirty-five had registered by press time, with room for seven more. There are also still a few scholarships left, application for which may be made with Mrs. Allen H. Morgan, Wayland.

HOT HOT TOP TRUCK CATCHES FIRE

A truck loaded with hot top paving material, all hot, with the right rear tire flat and dragging and two men lying on the front fenders coaxing the motor, thumped its way up Old Connecticut Path on the morning of Aug. 12, until it stopped with a bang across the street from the home of Mrs. Theodore L. Parker.

After a bit the tire caught fire and the fire department was called. And after the fire was out, somehow they got the truck going again.

NINE ALARMS IN TWO DAYS

Nine alarms in two days, July 31 and Aug. 1, were sent in for small grass and brush fires in the area between West Plain st., Cochituate, and the lake. Fire Chief Clifton Haynes thought juveniles must be responsible.

Grass and brush fires were set in three places on the north side of West Plain st., on the afternoon of Aug. 12, giving the fire department a workout and causing Fire Chief Clifton Haynes to say, when told it was a nice day, "what's good about it?"

Wayland established the first public library in Massachusetts on August 7, 1850. The Wayland non-public library, however, was established in 1796. Records of some of its meetings and some lists of its books are in the Library.

BIGGEST FAMILY IN TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Regan of Cochituate had their 15th child last month, with Dr. David R. Corey of Cochituate officiating. Thirteen are living, all at home.

OF COCHITUATE

ON LIFE IN A LARGE AND HAPPY FAMILY

Says John F. Regan, of 16 Willard st, Cochituate, well-known contractor and father of 13 children, believed to be the biggest family in Town:

"Soms kids won't eat, but these will. They chomp all the time. . . They never touch water. They're in the milk from morning till night. . . I never drink liquor. I'm afraid I'll miss something. . . We have an eight-room house with nins bedrooms, it seems like.

"The overhead is about the same no matter how many. It dosen't cost any more to have a television set for 12 than it does for one. . . The big items are food and shoes.

"When we were married we planned to have six children. Now I look around and I can't tell which six. . . We don't have any of this efficiency expert stuff around the house. That father in 'Cheaper by the Dozen' died at 50. I'm going to be around today, tomorrow and the day after that.

"All the children are different. . . When we all go somewhere we take the truck. . . We sing around the house in the morning. Not every morning, because that's too much to expect, but often.

"Mary was born January 4, 1943. That week the dog had pups, the cat had kittens, and the ducks and chickens hatched out. It was a productive week. The boss said, 'Take two weeks off.'"

Mrs. Regan was born Mary Elizabeth Muolo in New Haven. She was the only daughter of the family and had seven brothers. Mr. Regan, born in Boston and brought up in Somerville, was an only child. They were married when he was 21 and she was 18. Mr. Regan believes in early marriage. "Next time, " he says, "I wouldn't wait so long."

ATLANTIC STATION MANAGED BY JOHN WALLER

John C. Waller has recently taken over the management of the Wayland Atlantic Service Station on Route 20 Many new features have been added, plus an old favorite with many Wayland residents, Ed Green, who was there as mechanic with Hartwell & Powers.

Jack Waller was formerly employed by the Atlantic Refining Co. He is a graduate of Colgate University, served in the Marines and is now a Captain in the Reserves. He and his wife live in Sharon and have three boys, ages 9, 5 and 3.

RUMMAGE BEING SOLICITED

Members of the First Parish Church Women's Alliance are urging parishioners this month to clean out their basements, attics and garages. Why? for purposes of housecleaning, of course, but also because they'd like the discarded items donated to the annual rummage sale on Saturday Oct. 3.

Persons with this double urge are asked to contact one of the following for instructions; Mrs. John B. Gregory, Mrs. Walter Wilcox or Mrs. B. Allen Benjamin.

CAR SMACKS OFFICE

A woman driver from Worcester, a young mother, ran into the lawyer's house on the Wayland green triangle on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9, knocking it two inches off its foundation and startling several years off the lives of Willis Ryder and Dick Hubbard.

This lawyers house, built in 1817, has been occupied recently by Willis Ryder and Allen H. Morgan, real estate and insurance. It's a real antique and they got a special dispensation from the Zoning Board of Appeals to enable them to use it.

On this Sunday afternoon Mr. Ryder and Mr. Hubbard had been chatting outdoors. Then they moved inside.

Shortly thersafter the atom bomb landed.

The young woman, accompanied by baby and husband, without a license and just learning to drive, came down Route 126 from the north and tried to turn into Pelham Island Road at the green.

She went up on the grass and whacked the corner of the house soundly, knocking down a cedar tree, knocking boards off the corner and pushing the whole small structure off its rocker.

THE LAW AND THE EDISON CO.

The Assessors of the Town of Wayland, it appears, will have nothing to say about the valuation to be placed for tax purposes upon the power line of the Boston Edison Company.

The valuation it seems, will be set by the Edison Company itself and Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation. An appeal will be possible to the Appellate Tax Board, but precedent suggests little would come of such an appeal.

Mr. Charles M. Mathews of the Wayland Assessors received recently from Commissioner Long a copy of a decision of the Supreme Judicial Court, dated May 4, 1953 in a case entitled "Assessors of Springfield vs. New England Telephone and Telegraph Company."

The point of the decision is that the assessors of Springfield, who had slapped their own assessment on the Telephone Company's property in the city, couldn't do it, and had to pay back the tax the City collected.

The decision says that the ruling goes back to 1915, when the Legislature found that various cities and towns were putting widely various valuations upon Telephone Company property. With the idea of making the valuations uniform, the assessing function was assigned to the Telephone Company itself and to the Commissioner.

In the Springfield case, the assessors went to the Appellate Tax Board, which ruled against them, and to the Supreme Judicial Court, which did likewise.

In Mr. Mathews opinion, this Telephone Company decision is bound to apply exactly to the Edison Company deal and to the gas pipe line across Wayland.

So Here's what happens:

The Edison Company, after a five-year battle against the often expressed wishes of Wayland, runs a disfiguring overhead power line right down through the center of Town. Then the Edison Company goes into a huddle with itself and with Mr. Long and says it only cost so much to build the power line. And the Wayland Assessors, apparently are unable to check the figures or to set a valuation sufficient to offset the depreciation of real estate in the vicinity of the power line. They have to accept the Edison Company's own valuation.

Mr. Mathews says the Assessors mean to write to Mr. Long a little later, after the line has been finished, and point out the facts of the situation to him. He thinks there will be no valuation until 1954, anyway.

As any observer can see, the construction job entails the building of a couple of miles of overhead line, with 90-foot steel towers, piles, pile drivers, trucks, scrapers, the building of a road beside the railroad tracks, wire, cable, labor.... a big deal, a construction job lasting many months. It would be interesting indeed if the valuation furnished to the Town were that of a three-bedroom house.

ALL THE TROUBLES WE DON'T HAVE

While the rest of the world is full of troubles, lees us stop and count eome of the ille Wayland hae not.

No M.T.A. A Wayland resident who wants to go somewhere can walk, ride and automobile or stay home. None of these alternativee ie too bad, and none coste 15 cents or maybe 20.

No oil wells. Oil wells are smelly. And even if oil were found here, it would be just our luck to find that the stock wae owned in Weeton.

No graeping for political power. In fact, it'e all anybody can do to keep the Town officee filled.

No military installations. Positively, the Muscovites will never drop their hydrogen bomb here except by mistake. If Pilot Ivan ever goes back to the Kremlin and announcee, "I feex Wayland", his Commissar will have him in the ealt mines of Siberia for 150 yeare or until he givee up, whichever comes firet, as in American legal language.

No social climbere. Too many treee. Nobody daree take the chance of being mietaken for a rheeus monkey.

No municipal corruption. By the time the Town gete through building echoole, there ien't enough left to tempt a starving pickpocket in short, no dough.

No dust bowl. Thie ien't Texas.

No movies. No beaste from 20,000 fathoms. Just e couple of mules, a few sheep, eome woodchucke, rabbite, squirrels, chipmunke and a deer or two. Very few skunks, reelly.

No toll road. (To speak of.)

No indians. They seem to have left without much argument. They never realized the time would come when people here would strike real estate.

No Congress. One buck will get you 1,000 that Wayland Town Meeting could get better results than the House of Repreeentativee in Washington.

No labor trouble. Practically everybody goes out of Town to disagree with work.

No Syngman Rhee. In fact, no Koreans at all. No Afghans, no Tibetane, no Turcomans, no refugeee from Tierra del Fuego. Just refugees from Greater Boston.

No waterfront racketeers. Too many mosquitoes.

No national debt. Wayland Republicans put Ike in Washington. Let him worry about it.

No riots. Too hard to get that many people together.

No water on the garden, except in the morning, thus seving the trouble of standing around in the evening, nozzle in hand, being eaten alive by ineects.

What other Town can make these claims?---D.B.W.

PETITION FOR PERMANENT FIRE DEPARTMENT

Roger E. Bulkeley of 5 Stanton St, Cochituate, whoee garage was deetroyed by fire laet month, hae been circulating a petition calling for a epecial Town meeting to act on the proposition of having a permanent Fire Department, with two men on duty at each of the two Town fire etatione all the time.

Fire Chief Clifton Haynee ien't upset about it.

He eaye it would be a great thing if the Town had a permanent Department, if it weren't for the expense involved.

He says this issue was bound to arise soon, because of the increase in the Town'e population and the increaee in the number of firee. He eays the main idea ie to have the Town protected againet fire ae well ae possible, and that the Town should decide how best to do it.

He thinks it would be a good idea to have a committee of responeible citizene appointed to look into the matter. However, he saye, it would take four men to put one full-time man on duty in each station. That ie, with eight-hour shifte and days off, it would take four men to make one. And the one man couldn't take the truck and whoop off to the fire. He'd have to etay and anewer the telephone. The volunteers would still have to go to the fire.

In Weston, he says, they have two firemen plue the Chief on duty all the time, but in one fire etation. Here, we have two etatione.

Another problem about to come up, he eays, is how to call the Wayland Fire Department after next April, after the dial telephone system is installed. As things are now a parson wishing to report a fire just picks up the phone and calls the operator, who takes over from there.

Mr. Bulkeley'e petition does not criticize the Fire Department. He says the firs at his place "was handled very well with the men available at the time of the emergency". But, he says the members of the Department have their own jobs and are not always available during the day.

Chief Haynee says there are 18 volunteer firemen in each end of Town. At night, he eaye, there is always a good response to an alarm of fire. But in the daytime, he saye, "we're sometimee lucky to get one man to drive the truck". The trouble, of couree, ie that so many local residente work out of Town.

Several ecore votere have signed the petition.

NARROW ESCAPE IN COCHITUATE SCHOOL

Two local boys, one 18 and the other 19, who had never been in trouble before, had a narrow escape from death one night last month, when they broke into the Cochituate School rather than go home and face their parents with beer on their breaths. They wound up with two years probation set by the Framingham District Court.

Their trouble came partly from a five-gallon can of disinfectant, which might have asphyxiated them. This, says Chief Ernest H. Damon, is what happened:

Six local boys went down to Waltham and bought six bottles of beer. Two of the boys drank nothing, which leaves an average of one and one-half quarts of beer for each of four.

Four of the six boys seem to have gone home quietly. But two didn't want to face their families. They went to the Cochituate School, broke glass and got in. Somehow they stumbled into a janitor's closet. And the door closed behind them and the lock snapped. The door couldn't be broken. It was of plywood, a couple of inches thick. So they went to work to break a hole through a wall of the closet. The tool they chose was a five-gallon can of disinfectant. They swung it to beat a hole through one side of the closet.

They broke the hole, far enough to discover that they had broken only into an airshaft. The stopper came off the can. Acrid fumes came out.

They turned to another wall and started to cut another hole. In the middle of the partition was wire, used to stiffen the plaster. They poked a hole through this, they said, with a broomstick. Finally they made a hole as big as a sandwich trey and crawled through into a classroom, one of them scratching himself badly about the face and hands. Thence they went outside and home.

Next morning the damage was discovered. Chief Damon called State police, who looked for fingerprints, which turned out not to be necessary. One of the boys had left behind him in the janitor's closet a jacket, containing a laundry mark.

The boys went to Framingham Court, where they were charged with a number of serious offenses. However, as investigation showed they were well behaved characters who simply happened to have had an unfortunate experience with the demon who lurks in bottles, they were finally put on probation. They also have to pay the $125 bill for damage to the closet and the school.

Chief Damon went down to Waltham and did some business. The person who sold the beer to the boys went to court.

LIBRARY TRUSTEES say they think the Cochituate branch can be moved into its new quarters in the new Cochituate Fire Station sometime this month.

NEW TELEPHONE BOOKS, THANK GOODNESS

The telephone company has distributed new books in Town, to take the place of the tattered volumes of a year ago. In the new book are the names of many new residents who weren't here in time to make the last who's who.

By one count, there are 729 names in Wayland in the new book, as against 680 in the old one. The Cochituate names are lost in the Natick section.

Next Spring there'll be another new book, the company promises, containing all those Elmwood numbers.

MORE THAN 300 GIRLS AT NACOCHWA

Mrs. Ruth B. Simoni reports on Girl Scout activities this Summer at Lake Cochituate:

More than 200 Brownies and 100 Intermediate Girl Scouts enjoyed outdoor life at Camp Nacochwa, West Plain st, Cochituate, during July. They were supervised and led in their program by 18 Senior Girl Scouts and more than 30 adult volunteers, including two directors, a registered nurse and trained swimming counselors.

The Brownie camp program was directed by Mrs. Francis Walsh of Lakeview rd, Cochituate, and the Girl Scout program by Mrs. Arleane Korntold of Natick.

The Brownie program, centering around the study of Indian lore, included a trip to the Indian museum at Harvard, Mass.

The Girl Scout program concentrated on the perfecting of camporaft skills, and also included arts and crafts work. All girls of both age groups were encouraged to improve their outdoor skills and helped to acquire new ones.

The Girl Scouts spent at least one night in each two weeks at the Camp, sleeping in tents and cooking and eating out of doors.

Every girl received expert swimming instruction every day.

Camp Nacochwa was purchased with the proceeds of cookie sales in several years, and represents much work by girls and adults in Natick, Cochituate and Wayland. The new dock, a great improvement, was bought with part of the 1953 cookie sale money.

Brownies camped on land leased to the Girl Scout Association by Miss Ethelyn Morrill.

The big job of setting up the camp and then taking it down again was done mostly by volunteer labor under the direction of Mr. Allan Ross of Natick, Camp Committee Chairman.

VOITURE NEEDS A LOCOMOTIVE

Newly-organized West Middlesex Voiture of the 40 & 8, with members in Wayland and many other towns in this region, needs a locomotive --a locomotive on a truck chassis, that is-- and has sent out appeals for contributions.

William H. Wight of Woodland rd., chemineau says a voiture of the 40 & 8 is just out of the parade without a locomotive.

TOWN GROWING - SIGNS SAY SO

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts has put up some misleading signs on highways leading into Wayland.

On the eastern side of Town, along Route 30, a little piece of Natick sticks in between Weston and Wayland. The new sign annexes this piece of Natick to Wayland, moving the Wayland line several hundred yards east.

And on the Framingham approach on Route 30 the same thing has happened. A little piece of Natick has been ignored.

Over on Route 20, to the west, where an odd-shaped arrangement used to show motorists going in an out of Sudbury and Wayland several times in a few yards, the Sudbury part has been ignored and Wayland again given credit for being bigger than it is.

NO LONGER SOFTBALL CHAMPS

Cochituate Motors softball team, once the scourge of New England on the diamond, went to the well once too often and lost its Massachusetts championship, 2 to 0 on August 16 at Bingham.

The team, sponsored by Howard Phillips, disbanded this year, but came together again on account of the appeal of the game. It played four practice games, losing them all, then took on the title defense.

There were 24 teams in the championship tournament, all of whom, according to Mr. Phillips, could classify themselves either as A or B. Cochituate Motors said it was an A team. The other 23 thereupon said they were B teams, and they fought it out to see who'd play Cochituate, which didn't have to play any elimination games at all.

Cochituate was pretty confident, especially since Rolly Whelchel was home from the Army to pitch, but the boys weren't really in shape to play big league ball and it went wrong.

Said Bob Whelchel, manager of the team; "We shoulda stood in Cochituate.

PEQUOT HOUSE at the corner of State Road East and Cochituate Road as it looked at the turn of the century. This famous hostelry, located in the Northeast corner at Wayland Center, used to be a terminus for winter sleigh rides as well as a favorite summer resort. House and barn were just behind present B. & W. bus house. They were built in 1771 and razed in 1925 when land was presented to the Town. Photo was furnished the CRIER by J. Sidney Stone.

APPOINTMENTS TO FINANCE COMMITTEE

The Selectment have announced the appointment of two new members of the Finance Committee, partly to fill a vacancy and partly on account of the vote of the March Town Meeting, by which the total membership was increased from five to seven.

New members are Lewis W. Avard of 9 White rd and Donald B. Willard of Old Connecticut Path. Present members are George V. Deverell, Robert M. Morgan, Charles Y. Wadsworth and Frederick S. Whiteside. One more member remained to be appointed.

PLANNING BOARD OF APPEALS CREATED

A new board, the Planning Board of Appeals, has been created, and its members are the same as those of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Regular members of both boards are George C. Bogren, Roger E. Ela and Dunbar Holmes. Associate members are Frank A. Larson, whose term runs until April 1, 1956, and Kimball C. Powning, whose term will expire April 1, 1955.

RED FEATHER SUNDAY IS OCTOBER 25

Sunday, October 25 is Red Feather Day. More than 100 volunteers will give up their day to making a house-to-house canvass of Wayland and Cochituate. According to Chairmen Russell L. James and Theodore R. Magoun more than 600 local families have benefitted this year from Red Feather agencies which receive their support from the money raised during this drive.

Typical of the type of services that these contributions will buy are: $5 will purchase batteries needed for a hearing aid for one deaf person for a month. $10 will pay for 100,000 units of penicillin for a child under treatment for rheumatic fever. $20 will buy one tank of oxygen or crutches for six children.

Persons who wish to volunteer to assist in soliciting should contact Mr. James at Bow rd, Way. 417-3, or Mr. Magoun, at Eden rd, Natick 3819-W.

Those assisting Mr. James in Wayland at the time the Crier went to press include: Advance Solicitation, Richard W. Foster; Administration Chairman, Mrs. John G. Adden; Public Relations Chairman, Edward P. Blanchard. Campaign Committee: Richard W. Foster, Mrs. Arthur Grannis Jr., Henry G. Pearson;

District Directors: Mrs. Edward J. O'Neill, Mrs. T. Gibson Smith, Mrs. Robert L. Spang, David Bernard, William H. Wightman, William S. Hodgkinson.

Those who are campaigning in Cochituate: Residential Chairman, George G. Bogren; Administrative Chairmen, Mrs. Stanley N. Marshall; Public Relations Chairman, Kenneth C. Ringer; Retail Division Chairman, Stanley N. Marshall; Captains: Mrs. John Simoni, Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, Miss Ena Tillson, Mrs. Hazel Taylor, Kenneth C. Ringer, Miss Marjorie Lareau, Mrs. Daniel J. Harmon, Mrs. George C. Lewis, Mrs. Frank P. Barbour, Jr., Arnold B. Bradley.

ARTICLE ON REGIONAL SCHOOL

The School Committee says it will submit an article for the warrant of the special Town Meeting to ask that a committee be appointed to study the pros and cons of a regional school and report back at some future time with a recommendation.

This would be a committee of 10 members: one from the School Committee, one from the Finance Committee, one from the Planning Board, one from the Board of Selectmen, if desired, three from the P. T. A. and three or four to be chosen by those first named.

The statutes provide a number of specified steps by which a regional school system is brought into being. At any point desired a Town can draw back, until a final vote on the last step is taken.

The idea of appointing this investigating committee is to see "whether Wayland shall stick a toe in the water."

The matter of the regional school comes up because of the growing enrolment in the Wayland schools. Those familiar with the situation say that within a few years there will have to be either a new Wayland High School, with the present building turned over for use as a Junior High School, or a regional high school, presumably with Sudbury and Lincoln.

Admittedly there are advantages and disadvantages to both solutions. In some towns the regional school system proposal has stirred controversies.

The proposition to be placed before the Town at this time is merely whether a committee shall be appointed to investigate. The committee's findings and recommendation would not commit the Town to anything.

Members of the School Committee are Harvey C. Newton, Cornelius J. Maguire and William A. Waldron.

TOWN HOUSE TO HEAR TALK ON REGIONAL SCHOOLS

How regional schools are organized in Massachusetts will be the topic-of-the-evening at the annual meeting of the Wayland Junior Town House on Tuesday, October 6 in Odd Fellows Hall. Members and the general public are invited.

Simeon J. Domas, a member of the staff of the State School Building Association, who specializes in school district organization, will describe the procedures followed to establish regional schools and will discuss their advantages and disadvantages. After the talk there will be question period and discussion. Purpose of the meeting is to familiarize the community with the history and development of regional schools prior to the Town Meeting in November, when a vote will be taken on appointing a committee to survey the problem.

A business meeting and election of officers will also be held and coffee will be served at 8 p.m. Dunbar Holmes, president of the Wayland Junior Town House Association, will preside.

NEW LIBRARY BRANCH TO OPEN

The Library Truetees were hopeful that the new branch library in the Cochituate Fire Station building could be opened some time around the middle of October.

The new room, much bigger and better than the old one, complete with new shelves, bookcases, furniture and other equipment, was about finished.

During the process of moving the books from the old library to the new, the Cochituate branch was to be closed for two weeks, from Sept. 26.

It was thought that there might be a general open house in the new building to observe the opening of the new quarters for the Fire Department, Police Department, Library and Welfare Department.

The plans call for having a hot topped drive all the way around the building, with new landscaping on the East Plain st side.

It was planned to have many new books added for the branch opening.

J. Sidney Stone is chairman of the Library Trustees, Hugh F. Colliton Jr is treasurer and other members are George Bogren, Mrs. Charles Morgan and Mrs. Robert Morgan. Arthur Dudley, another member, resigned a few months ago.

LOT SIZE INCREASE PROPOSED

An article calling for a 25 per cent increase in the size of new house lots in Wayland will be in the warrant for the coming special Town Meeting, says Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey.

At present, in various specified districts in Town, the minimum house lot sizes are 15,000, 22,500 and 30,000 square feet.

The article calls for increase to 20,000, 30,000 and 40,000 square feet. An acre is 43,560 square feet.

In addition, the minimum frontage of lots would be increased from 100, 125 and 150, as at present, to 120, 150 and 180 linear feet.

Two years ago, at a Town Meeting, the minimum lot size was increased from 10,000 to 15,000 square feet, with a 50 per cent increase also in other districts.

The proposed change, says Mr. Stokey, would not affect an existing lot belonging to an individual.

Furthermore, some time before Town Meeting the Planning Board would have to hold a hearing on the proposition.

COMMITTEE TO SURVEY TOWN SALARIES

The Selectmen have appointed a committee to classify and modify wages and salaries of all Town employees and report at the next annual Town Meeting.

ARTICLE FOR PERMANENT FIRE DEPARTMENT

At the request of a group which filed a petition with the Board of Selectmen, there will be an article in the warrant for the coming special Town Meeting to see whether the Town will vote to set up a permanent Fire Department.

The petition was filed as the result of a fire at Cochituate this summer.

Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey says the article will be broadly drawn, because it covers a large subject.

CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES, SAYS STOKEY

Roger P. Stokey, Wayland Town Counsel, told the Turnpike Authority there should be consequential damages for those property owners who will be bothered by the noise of the proposed toll road

He and Rep. Howard S. Russell spoke at the big meeting in East Cambridge on Sept. 17. A dozen persons from Wayland attended, along with a great number from Framingham, Natick, Weston, Newton and other towns affected.

Although only one or two houses in Wayland may be destroyed, said Mr. Stokey, 50 homes would be affected by noise. He said there would be depreciation of from $1000 to $5000 on these properties, and he estimated the total at $200,000.

Therefore, he said, there should be damages for the depreciation caused by the toll road.

Mr. Russell said he doubted whether sufficient study of the whole project had been made. He said the road wouldn't be so bad if the noise could be eliminated, and he said again that he voted against the whole project in the first place.

Mr. Stokey said he appeared as a representative of the Wayland Selectmen and the Wayland Planning Board.

One Wayland citizen who was present said he received no impression that the views of the opponents of the present route were going to be given much consideration by the Authority.

ARSON WAVE SUBSIDES

Whoever was setting brush fires in the West Plain st area wasn't setting them any more last month, and local authorities thought that particular problem was settled. The theory was that the offender was pretty young and that a visit from policemen had cooled him off.

BATHERS CONTRIBUTED $1192

Contributions totalling $1192 were made by people who used the bathing beach at Lake Cochituate this Summer. As there was no compulsion about it, and each gave only what he wished, several thousand identification rings were issued during the season.

The beach was closed after Labor Day and the equipment taken in.

WORCESTER THANKS WAYLAND

Civil Defense Director William R. Hulbert has recently received a letter of thanks from the City of Worcester for the Town's assistance after the tornado. At that time the Fire Department furnished its electric lighting plant and two men all night for several nights. The letter:

"The people of the City of Worcester wish to express their gratitude for the assistance rendered by your town in the recent disaster.

"The Civil Defense organizations in Region III as well as throughout the Commonwealth, put on an excellent demonstration of coordination and performance. It is gratifying to me, as a Civil Defense Director, to see the results of long planning and preparation show up to such advantage.

"Although we are deeply grateful, we hope that we never have to reciprocate."

SALVATION ARMY SEEKS TO TOP $1000

More than two dozen house-to-house canvassers have been out boosting Wayland's contribution to the Salvation Army over last year's $1000 mark. Directed by Robert L. Spang, Plain rd, the campaign was scheduled to wind up Oct. 1. Persons not contacted by solicitor may send contributions to Mr. Spang.

Among those soliciting are Mrs. David G. Bernard, Mrs. Charles Y. Wadsworth, Mrs. John A. Baldwin, Mrs. A. S. Eldridge, Mrs. Fred O. Billings, Mrs. Martin Edwards, Mrs. Samuel A. Cutler, Mrs. T. W. Fabisak, John B. Gregory, Frank C. Morman, Mrs. George A. Douglas Jr.

OBSERVE UNITED NATIONS DAY

United Nations Day, which is Saturday, Oct. 24, will have a three-day observance in Wayland.

On Friday, Oct. 23 the League of Women Voters will sponsor a special assembly at the High School. The speaker will be Dr. Jean Mayer, associate professor of nutrition at the School of Public Health, Harvard Medical School, and formerly with the U.N. Food and Agricultural organization.

A special program will be held by the Wayland Committee for the United Nations on the evening of Oct. 24 at the High School. It will commence at 8 p.m. and feature the native folk dances of a number of nationalities in their own costumes. Members of the High School will put on a short skit in connection with the United Nations, and the combined choirs of the five Wayland churches will sing appropriate selections.

On Sunday, observance of United Nations day and its significance will be held in the churches.

CONGO CHURCH ADDITION PLANS IN THE WORKS

Working drawings and specifications for the Congregational Church's new parish house are already in the hands of the architect, Arland A. Dirlam. The go-ahead signal was given at a meeting in the middle of September, and the plans should be in the hands of the contractors soon.

The new building will stand at right angles to the present church, thereby permitting the church itself to dominate the group. It is designed on a split level arrangement, taking advantage of the contour of the land. It will be of white clapboard and frame construction to match the main church which was designed by Edwin B. Goodell Jr., of Concord rd.

The interior arrangement calls for eight classrooms and one common assembly room for nursery and kindergarten. There will also be a church office, small chapel, church parlor, kitchen, and a spacious fellowship hall with stage for pageants and entertainments.

It is hoped that part of the building will be ready for occupancy before the end of the school year.

REGIONAL SCHOOL MEETING AT LINCOLN

Owen B. Kiernan, who used to be superintendent of schools for Wayland and Sudbury and is now chairman of the State Board of Education, was scheduled to speak on regional high schools at a meeting of the League of Women Voters of Lincoln on Sept. 24.

This meeting was of interest to Wayland people because the proposition in the air is to have Lincoln, Sudbury and Wayland in the regional high school district. There are reports that interest in the subject is particularly lively in Sudbury and Lincoln.

DRAINAGE DITCH DUG

About 300 feet of drainage ditch was being dug last month by the highway department from the Cochituate traffic light eastward along Commonwealth rd. towards Winter st., as part of a project to dry out the Winter st. region. It was a Chapter 90 job.

MISS ROBERTA BUCKINGHAM and her mother Mrs. Alberta Buckingham, both formerly of Wayland, have moved to 347 River st, Waltham. Miss Buckingham is associated with S. S. Piercs Co. and is on the CRIER staff.

WATER METERS BEING INSTALLED

Water meters are being installed in all new houses in Town, says Superintendent John Phylis of the Water Department, but it's a question whether anyone is better off finanoially with a meter or without.

A family of two, he says, gets away for less with a meter. A big family, he thinks, is probably better off with the regular flat rate.

Meters cost around $26 apiece. One reason for having them installed is to make people more careful about the use of hose in Summer. With no extra charge, a person might let the hose run for hours on one spot, thus wasting water. With a charge, presumably, one would go out and move the hose around, thus getting more good out of it.

The question of whether to have metered service all over Town has been debated in Town Meeting before, without decision.

At present the daily capacity of the system is 1,700,000 gallons a day. When the new pump at the new well off Old Connecticut Path goes into service, about Nov. 2, the capacity will be 2,700,000. However, says Mr. Phylis, even the increased capacity will not be enough to permit unlimited use of water for lawns and gerdens, and rationing or limitation will probebly be necessary every Summer for some time to come.

The new 12-inch main, he says, has been installed all the way from the well up Old Connecticut Path, through Maiden Lane and into Pequot Lane, past the site of the proposed Happy Hollow School. Installation of this bigger pipe will permit maintenance of a higher pressure throughout the Town system.

TRY THIS ONE IF YOU'RE SLEEPY

Weyland citizens ere making the most of tbe dying daye of the hend-crenk bumblebee phone service. Between now and April 3, when the service expires, every fecet of tbis personalized eervice will be exploited.

Recently a prominent local "committeeman," finding himself hounded by calls during the organizational days of mid-September, called the operator and asked her not to ring his number any more that evening. He was going to bed.

NATHANIEL HAMLEN, of Old Connecticut Path, has been eppointed cheirmen of the edvance division of the United Red Feether cempaign this Fall. He is a member of tbe Boerd of Park Commissioners, director and treasurer of the Wayland Real Estate Co., director end vice president of Allied Reeeerch and Service Corp., and a member of the corporetion of the Provident Institutions for Savings.

MR. AND MRS. J. K. EMERY left lest month on e nine-week business trip to Europe.

LT. GOV. SUMNER WHITTIER TO SPEAK OCT. 21

Lieutenant Governor Sumner Whitter will be the featured speaker at the October meeting of the Cochituate Men's Club. The date is Wednesday, October 21. Mr. Whittier will talk on current developments in the Commonwealth.

THE LAW IS STILL ON, ON WATER

Supt. John Phylis of the Water Department says the anti-hose rule will remain in effect until the weather puts an end to the temptation to water the grass all day long.

LINCOLN JUVENILES WASTE WAYLAND WATER

Three juvenile characters from the exclusive town of Lincoln came down into Wayland last month and opened fire hydrants, spilling at least 500,000 gallons of precious water all over Glezen lane, Lincoln rd, and other streets.

The three, one aged 16 and two 17, were captured by Chief Ernest H. Damon and taken to Framingham Court.

In the language of the law, the offense is "malicious injury to fire apparatus (hydrant)".

They opened three fire plugs one night, two another. Then they opened one in Rice rd, Cochituate. After the three were arrested, another hydrant was opened.

John Phylis of the Water Department says that 500,000 gallons is just about a normal day's consumption for the whole Town. As it happened, the standpipe was full each time. On one of the occasions, both Town pumps were going, putting out 1100 gallons a minute, and the flow was so great that water drained from the standpipe.

Cases of the boys were placed on file, after they had agreed to pay the Town of Wayland a $75 water bill.

BLOOD TYPING AGAIN

Teams from the medical division of the State Civilien Defense were scheduled to do blood typing in Wayland and Cochituate on Sept. 25. A year ago last August 450 persons in Town were blood-typed.

Ann Pfeiffer end Neva Jones were in charge of the project in Wayland.

WANT AUXILIARY FIREMEN

According to Civil Defense Director W. R. Hulbert, there is an urgent need for Auxiliary firemen in both ends of Town. Under the Civil Defense Act the Governor may order any part of Wayland's Fire Department anywhere in the State in time of a Civil Defense emergency, and a trained reserve of Auxiliary firemen would be essential to protect the Town. Men who work in or reasonably near Wayland or Cochituate are preferred although all are welcome to apply.

Persons interested in becoming Auxiliary firemen should contact Chief F. Clifton Haynes, Precinct 1, or Homer McDonald, Precinct 2.

DICK HOWARD IS SEALER

Richerd A. Howerd of Ridgefield rd has been eppointed Sealer of Weights end Measures, replacing William J. Smith of Riverview, who resigned.

MR. and MRS. CHARLES WHEELOCK returned lest month from a trip to Nova Scotia.

SCHOOLS RE-OPEN; THEY'RE FULL

Wayland schools reopened on Sept. 9 with the largest enrolment in the Town's history.

The count as of Sept. 14 made the total 1235, as against 1129 on Oct. 1, 1952. Supt. Rexford S. Souder says he expects 30 more pupils.

Some figures:

Cochituate School, 380 this year, as against 370 last year.

Center School, 442 as against 360.

High School, 413 as against 399.

Football squad, 47 boys, under Coach Ralph Salvati, one of the biggest turnouts ever. Co-captains, David Lamond and Victor Graves.

Six first grades for the first time, with 167 beginners. Five second grades, also for the first time.

And here's what the pre-school census shows. (This is the listing of children from the cradle up to 6 years.)

For 1953, 141. (Actually, it turns out there were 167. Dr. Souder says the actual figures seem to prove 15 per cent larger than the count For 1954, 153. For '55, 169. For '56, 135. For '57, 191. For '58, 147.

These figures indicate the number of 6-year-olds who will, presumably, enter the school system in the immediate future. Thus, the 1957 figure of 191 represents babies who are now one year old.

"We have used every bit of space in the schools," says Dr. Souder. In the High School building are seven elementary classes, three fifth grades and four sixths, besides all the Junior and Senior High classes. The library in the High School, which doubles as a lunch room, is also being used as a home room for High School seniors.

The worst crowding, says Dr. Souder, is in the two fourth grades at Cochituate, which have 36 and 38 pupils, and in the two third grades at Cochituate, with 31 and 37. In the Center School, two fourth grades of 26 pupils each meet in two rooms cut down by a partition to less than normal size.

Two years ago there were two rooms each of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. This year there are three of each.

On opening day there was a big rush in the High School cafeteria. "We had to buy more dishes and equipment," says Dr. Souder. "Lunch is now practically a continuous operation."

Last year there were six buses. Now there are seven. Wayland Motors has two and Oswald Garvey has five. The new one, used by Mr.Garvey, holds 58 passengers, the others 47. Nine bus loads of boys and girls come into the High School every morning.

NEW FIRST GRADE TEACHER

A new teacner in the first grade at the Center School this year is Dorothy Barberio, who taught at Martha's Vineyard last year. She took the place of Mrs. Ellen Kendrick, who resigned.

It was wrongly reported last month that another new first grade teacher at the Center would be Mrs. Madeline Harris. Mrs. Harris decided not to come to Wayland. In her place is Mrs. Charlotte Modeste, who taught the third grade last year, resigned, and then came back to fill the first grade vacancy.

FIRST MEETING of the Executive Committee of the High School P.T.A. was scheduled for Sept. 22 at the home of Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, president.

ABOUT SCHOOL REFERENCE BOOKS

An eyebrow or two in Town has been raised at the item in the school budget of $1910 for new books, particularly the $1000 for the High School Library.

Supt. of Schools Rexford S. Souder says this money is all going for reference books, cyclopedias, dictionaries, specialized volumes of many kinds. No fiction.

The schools buy three kinds of books, he said. One is the textbook, provided for every student in a class. Another is the group book, used by groups within a class. The new books are of the kind of which just one is provided.

"The reference books," he says, "enable us to do a better job of individualized instruction.

That is, suppose the pupil is assigned to look up Mexico (or something in chemistry). The textbook will have one chapter on the subject, perhaps, but there may be whole books on the reference shelf from which the student can find out much more.

The shelves in the High School Library, incidentally, have been mostly bare since they were put up.

The record shows an appropriation of $400 for books in 1948, $500 in '49, $650 in '50, $900 in '51 and $1100 in '52.

Of the 1952 appropriation for reference books, $500 was for the High School and $300 each for the two elementary schools. In the elementary schools there is no formal library, but the books are kept on reference shelves.

Educators think that appropriations for school libraries are negligible. In Massachusetts, in 1952, in towns the size of Wayland, the average amount allotted to the purchase of library books was 28 cents per pupil. In all Massachusetts communities, it was 31 cents. In Wayland in 1953, the amount appropriated was $1.50 per pupil.

OLD FIRE STATION STANDS EMPTY

What will happen to the old Cochituate fire station on Harrison av will be settled by some Town Meeting, according to Fire Chief Clifton Haynes.

He believes--he naturally doesn't remember--that the building was moved from somewhere else and put on this lot, of about 10,000 feet, in 1878. That date is right, anyway. In back of the fire station is the old Cochituate lock-up, still complete with iron bars on the windows.

Chief Haynes thinks the fire station should be torn down. It was so rickety the firemen were always afraid the truck would sink through the floor.

Meanwhile, the new Cochituate fire station is in use, with a big hot topped drive in front and back of the building. It has a nifty electric kitchen. As of last month, however, the firemen didn't know when the furniture for their day room would arrive. The room was equipped with tables and chairs not quite old enough to be antiques, brought from Harrison av.

RIVERVIEW NEWS

By Anna M. Dugan

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker of Riverview av and their six children left on Aug. 21 for Florida, where they will live.

Glenn Gersbach, one-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gersbach of Stonebridge rd, returned home from a five-day stay in Framingham Union Hospital on Sept. 10.

The Riverview Terrace Improvement Association held a field day at the playground on Labor Day. The heavy shower dampened nobody's spirits. Movies were shown in the clubhouse in the evening.

Betty Smith of Riverview Circle returned to Bridgewater Teachers College for her junior year on Sept. 13.

The Waltham Rod and Gun Club held its annual clambake on Sunday, Sept. 13, with 250 present.

The wedding of Miss Marjory Arsenault of Framingham and Richard Sandwell of Riverview Circle was scheduled for Sept. 26. Friends and relatives of the couple attended a bridal shower given on Sept. 13 at the home of Mrs. Richard Becker of Framingham.

FOR 315 YEARS the Town of Wayland has never had traffic tickets for offending motorists. But progress has caught up and the tags have already been printed. Chief Ernest H. Damon says he can't issue any tickets yet because there's nobody in his new office in the Cochituate Fire Station building to receive them. However, pretty soon. . . .

COMMUNITY METHODIST CHURCH

Community Methodist Church of Cochituate will participate in the Boston Area Spiritual Life Mission from Oct. 9 to 18.

The methods used to achieve this goal will include home visitation and evening services Oct. 11 to 18. The guest preacher will be the Rev. Howard Love of Westerly, Rhode Island of the New England Southern Conference.

The local church committee charged with responsibility of making arrangements for the Spiritual Life Mission in the Cochituate Church are: Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, Mr. George Bogren, Mrs. William Lewis, Miss Esther Nesbit, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest McKinley, Miss Audrey MacKeen, Mrs. Henry Wormley, Mrs. Robert Earl, and Rev. George Gutekunst.

An enthusiastic group of Junior High and Senior High young people held their opening meetings of the Fall season under the direction of their counsellors, Rev. Norman Brady and Rev. George Gutekunst. The youth held a workday, Sept. 19 to renovate the parish house basement into a youth room. Sept. 20 they went to Rolling Ridge Conference Center in North Andover for an afternoon of fellowship and an evening of worship. The Fall District rally will be held Oct. 10 in Leominster.

The Community Methodist Church Men's Club held a successful meeting September 23. Wives were guests at the meeting which was emceed by Toke Loker. The gathering ate and sang lustily; were astounded by the mind-expert entertainer; and were alerted to their responsibilities by the guest speaker, Mr. Rudolph King. October speaker for the Men's Club will be the honorable Sumner Whittier.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH

The Church School opens its doors to a record enrolment on Oct. 4. Classes from kindergarten up to high school age are being conducted in the church, vestry and parsonage under the direction of Mrs. John B. Gregory, superintendent, and a large staff of teachers.

On Sept. 12, more than a dozen male parishioners scaled the South wall of the parsonage and began administering a coat of paint. Others were assigned in pairs to paint the fence in front of the church and the bell cradle which was newly installed last Spring.

NOTES FROM THE TRINITARIAN CONGREGATIONAL

George Shepard is president of the Pilgrim Fellowship. Lenore Butler is vice-president and Janet Shepard secretary.

The new colonial baptismal font in the church is a gift from friends of the late Mrs. Gertrude Noyes, who was a deaconess of the church. It is a memorial.

Mrs. Herbert Fallgren gave the church a typewriter and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith contributed a reupbolstered antique chair.

A Couples Club meeting was scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 3.

Mr. J. Sidney Stone has offered to provide the interior fittings of the chapel in the new parish house as a memorial to his mother.

Plans for the new parish house call for a social hall for suppers and assemblies, a kitchen, a church parlor, a chapel, church school rooms and office space.

The church has a nursery service at Odd Fellows Hall, next door, so that parents may attend services. Mrs. Fred Christenson is in charge.

New superintendent of the Sunday School is J. Gordon Baldwin, who's to be assisted by Arthur Kimball.

BURKE-PALMER

Edward J. Burke, new night police officer in Town, was married at St. Zepherin's Church on Sunday, Sept. 13, to Rita Palmer of Maiden Lane. The couple left for a two weeks wedding trip.

MALCOLM IDE RECEIVES COMBAT BADGE

PFC Malcolm L. Ide Jr., son of Mrs. Donald K. Ide of Winthrop rd., was recently awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for excellent performance of duty while serving with the 7th Infantry Division in Korea.

Private First Class Ide, a member of the 31st Infantry Regiment's Company A, arrived in Korea in May after completing basic training at Fort Dix, N.J. He graduated from Boston University in 1952 and was a salesman for the Belltone Hearing Aid Company before entering the Army that September.

HOT ROD HERO DEFACES CEMETERY

Somebody, presumably a local yokel in a hot rod, drove into Lakeview Cemetery one night last month and cut ruts in the sod of a grass area.

The area is round, perhaps 50 yards across, and shaped like a bowl. Its sides drop perhaps eight or 10 feet. In the middle of the area is a little island covered with evergreens

Whoever it was drove down the side of the howl, circled the little island two or three times and drove out again. He cut ruts three or four inches deep in the soft turf.

It was reported to the police.

WAYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Mrs. Edwin B. Damon, Mrs. Kenneth E. Morrell, and Mrs. Pierpoint Blair submitted the slate of officers for the Wayland Historical Society to the Trustees of the Wayland Public Library at their meeting on September 10.

The Trustees accepted the committee's report, which included: President: Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen; 1st Vice-President: Mrs. Edmund H. Sears; 2nd Vice-President: George E. Bogren; Secretary: Mrs. Charles T. Morgan; Treasurer: Mrs. John A. Brownell; Custodian Mrs. Mabel S. Draper; Directors: Mrs. Kenneth E. Morrell, Mrs. Pierpoint Blair.

ST. ANN'S CHURCH

About 45 members of the St. Ann's Holy Name Society were scheduled to represent Wayland at the giant Holy Name rally held in Fenway Park on Sept. 27. On Sept. 17, the Society heard Matthew T. Gallahue speak on juvenile delinquency. He is a member of the Citizens Training Group, and affiliate of the Boston Juvenile Court. David Huston and Eugene Lovell were in charge of the meeting.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS NEEDED

Leaders to assist in the Girl Scout program this coming year are still needed. Early in October notices will be distributed through the schools as to the days and meeting places.

Mrs. William Hodgkinson is chairman and Natick Council representative. Mrs. Allan H. Turner is treasurer and Mrs. Frederich L. Heinrich secretary of the local organization.

Following is a partial list of leaders and assistant leaders who were signed up at the time the CRIER went to press:

Mrs. Raymond Zayotti, Mrs. Donald K. Tarbell, Mrs. Willis Johnson, Mrs. Lawrence Collins, Mrs. James Sullivan, Mrs. Lee Johnson, Mrs. Wilbur H. Bomengen, Mrs. D. L. Bartholomew, Mrs. Francis Walsh, Mrs. Francis L. Van Buskirk, Mrs. Roscoe Campbell, Mrs. Lyman Seley, Mrs. Ray W. Harris.

Those interested in assisting may call Mrs. Hodgkinson at Way. 576-3.

LORRAINE JACKSON-WALTER O'CONNELL

Walter N. O'Connell, Cochituate rd, was married to Lorraine Jackson, of Worcester, on Auguet 29 in Worcester. A reception, attended by Wayland relatives and friends, was held in the Hickory House. Leon Delane, of Nshant, was best man.

MORE WATCHERS WANTED ON CANDY HILL

More Wayland residents have been invited to join the ground observer corps and help man the observation post on Candy Hill, Sudbury.

Betty Damon, Dorothy Grannis, John Snow and Mrs. Florence M. Snow are on the list now. Other Wayland persons have served at various times in the past.

This post has been publicized, but even so, few Wayland persons know much about it.

Philip Way of Sudbury is supervisor, Mrs. Way is a chief observer and so is George Walker of Sudbury.

There is a shelter on the hill, with a telephone connected to a filter center. The idea is to check all planes passing over, not only to watch for possible enemies but to keep tabs on planes which may be in trouble.

The post was opened July 14, 1952, and has been in operation ever since. The ideal is to have it manned 24 hours a day, but so far it has been possible to keep it going only 12 to 14 hours. Most observers put in two-hour shifts. In winter, the shifts are one hour, because it's cold outside the shelter and the observer has to go out when he hears a plane.

Candy Hill is supposed to keep an eye out for all planes within eight miles in every direction.

Observers generally keep watch in pairs. They must take a loyalty oath and have normal eyesight, hearing and judgment of direction. They are covered by Government insurance, but so far nobody at Candy Hill has been hurt.

Only Sudbury and a few Wayland residents, so far, have worked on the post. "We'd like a Wayland day," says Mrs. Way, "with Wayland people taking over for a full day each week." Students are eligible, she says. In fact, 13-year-old boys know much more about airplanes than many adults.

The number is Sudbury 258.

AMAHL AND VISITORS IN CONCORD

A newly formed opera group will give its premiere on Saturday, Oct. 3 in Veterans Hall at 8:30 p.m. The opera: "Amahl and the Night Visitors," by Menotti. This is the season's first performance of anything anywhere. It is definitely a record.

COMING AND GOING

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Trefrey, Jr. have moved into a new house on Sylvan Way. They are from Newton. Mr. Trefry is in the real estate business.

From Detroit to Westway rd, have come Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Bellis, to the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sturgis, who have moved to Wellesley. Mr. Bellis is with the Charles R. Hadley Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Berrett, from Maryland, have moved into the Fred Perry house on Timber Lane. The Perrys have moved to Bow rd. Mr. Berrett is with Sylvania Corp.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bevington of State rd East have moved to Watertown.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. S. Cay have moved into the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Raeke on Orchard Lane. Mr. Cay is an attorney.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Burke of Brackett rd have moved to Belmont.

"A SMALL TOWN is a place where everyone knows what everyone else is doing, but they want to read the local paper to see if they have been caught at it."---Boston Herald.

The annual Fall Flower Show of the Cochituate and Natick Garden Clubs was held on Sept. 12 and 13, in the gymnasium of the Cochituate School. This was the 18th annual flower show for Cochituate and the third for Natick, whose garden club is younger.

Mrs. John F. Burke of Cochituate was chairman and Mrs. Arthur B. Fair of Natick was co-chairman. Ways and Means Committee chairmen were Mrs. Helene S. Landon and Mrs. Lee Groner, of Cochituate and Natick, respectively. Other committee members from Cochituate: Mrs. H. Bromley Ambler, Mrs. Fred Berg, Mrs. Charles T. Cain, Mrs. Arthur H. Dudley, Mrs. Dana Elkins, Mrs. Frank Flynn, Mrs. Duane Haagenson, Mrs. William Hall, Mrs. Leif Hansen, Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Mrs. Alexander Lizotte, Mrs. Stanley Marshall, Mrs. Harold Marston, Mrs. John McEnroy, Mrs. Leon H. Perkins (president), Mrs. Howard Phillips, Mrs. James Sandler, and Mrs. Artemas C. Townsend.

LEAGUE OPENS FIFTH YEAR

The Wayland League of Women Voters' fifth year got off to a vigorous start on Sept. 15 when over 100 members and guests crowded the home of Mrs. Richard W. Foster, Glezen Lane.

Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, first president, introduced the present officers. The group then split into four sections in which the aims and activities of the League were discussed. Group leaders were Mrs. Richard Best, Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, Mrs. Roger P. Stokey and Mrs. John Starr.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Richard A. Howard, president. Members of the committee in charge were Mrs. Winford C. Naylor, Mrs. Horace B. Gray, Mrs. David C. Stewart, Mrs. Gordon Baldwin and Mrs. John A. Brownell.

A group of members was scheduled to attend a League conference at Clark University in Worcester on juvenile delinquency. Among those planning to attend were Mrs. Howard, Mrs. H. Raymond Zayotti, Mrs. Charles Gillespie, Mrs. William Bertelsen, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Best, Mrs. Norman Collard, Mrs. Richard Lincoln.

Discussion units are beginning the first of this month on "Our basic civil rights." They will be followed up by a series on Oct. 13, 14 and 15 on "Congressional Investigation and the Loyalty Program." Discussion leaders will be Mrs. Frederick Perry, Mrs. Gordon Brownell and Mrs. John Quinn.

Resource chairmen are: Mrs. Zayotti, international trade; Mrs. Bertelsen, state fiscal policy; Mrs. David Tragaser, U.N.; Mrs. Bruce, juvenile delinquency; Mrs. Roger Stokey, local affairs; Mrs. Richard Lincoln, legislature; Mrs. Best, voters service.

Also: Mrs. Collard, publications; Mrs. Philip Lane, membership; Mrs. Gillespie, unit organization; Mrs. Norman J. Alsted, public relations; Mrs. Edward Blanchard, bulletin; Mrs. Victor Carr, finance.

RUMMAGE SALE ON OCT. 3

Rummage will be the order of the day at the First Parish Church from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3. Mrs. Henry M. Doane is chairman of a large committee putting on the event which traditionally attracts customers from nine cities and towns in the Wayland area. Rummage to be donated should be left at the vestry of the church before noon, Friday, Oct. 2. If pick-up service is desired, call Mrs. Walter Wilcox at Wayland 256.

Assisting Mrs. Doane will be Clothing, Miss Mae Thibodeau; Furniture, Mrs. Maurice Williams; Bric-a-brac, Mrs. Alonzo F. Knights; Kitchenware, Mrs. F. P. Walther; Toys, Mrs. John B. Tanger; Household, Mrs. Carl Emery and Mrs. Frank H. Carter; Publicity, Mrs. Charles T. Morgan.

"AFFAIRS OF STATE" COMING TO VOKES

"Affairs of State," a sparkling three-act comedy, is Vokes' Fall production. Wayland is the first little theater in New England to present this comedy, just off Broadway, on Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 6, 7, 13 and 14.

Rehearsals are already well underway with talented Alice Colliton directing a veteran cast, including Allan Finlay, Peg and Rudy Bruce, Harriet and Ivan Bruce of Framingham, and Philip Bassett of Weston. The Wayland and Framingham Bruces (no relation) were in last winter's Vokes sell-out "Over 21."

Ben Howard is in charge of production, assisted by Bob Paine and John Bandelin. Grace Benson is prompter; Proxie Smith, props; Homer MacDonald, electrician; Carter Bottjer, in charge of make-up; Bill Hodgkinson, head usher; and Virginia Hyland, assisting in publicity.

Neva Jones, ticket chairman, Wayland 23, will be glad to take advance reservations for this sure hit. Tickets are only $1.50.

ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

The Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals has taken the following actions; Granted a permit to Ralph E. McMillen to build on Stonebridge rd; granted a permit to Rev. Otis F. Kelly to remove loam for sale in construction of parking area; granted a permit to Donald L. Atkins and George H. Todd Jr. for authority to use land in a limited commercial district; granted permit to Wallace Knowlton to operate nursery school on Gray Nuns property on East Plain st.

The Board also granted Antonio D'Angelo permission to remove loam for sale on D'Angelo rd, and Dean Hocking permission to build on a lot having less than required frontage.

DECORDOVA'S CLASSES START

The deCordova Museum's term for adults and young people commencee on Tuesday, Oct. 6. Registrations should be made at once.

Among the claeses scheduled for adults both during the daytime and evening are Modern American Plays, Drawing, Talks on Painting from the Venetian School to the Ash Can School, Beginning and Advanced Silversmith, Watercolor and Oil Painting, Life Drawing, Advanced Jewelry, Watercolor, Sculpture, Photography, Stagecraft, Block Printing, Design in Flower Arrangement.

Children's classes cover Painting and Design, Sculpture, Metalwork, Oil Painting, and Dancing. The weekly movie schedule for children is Thursdays and Fridays at 3:15 p.m. and Saturdays at 9:15 and 10:45 a.m. Inquiries may be made by calling LIncoln 6-0355.

Directors of the deCordova and Dana Mueeum are John Quincy Adams, President; Jane K. Vance, Vice-President; Arthur E. Thiessen, Treasurer; Elizabeth Snelling, Clerk; Pearson Hunt, Charlee H. Blake, Richard S. Meriam. The Staff: Frederick P. Walkey, Executive Director; Foster H. Nystrom, Assistant Director; Nancy Van N. Foell, Administrative Assistant; Judith Barry, Registrar; Karl Lahnstein, Building Superintendent, Floriy Campobasso, Caretaker; Richard Witherton, Guard.

The history of a typical American town in the 1880's recorded by photograph will be shown et the museum through Oct. 4. The photographs were discovered in an old barn and were taken by Leonard Dakin.

A series of children's self portraits will be on exhibit from October 1 to 21, and an exhibit of American Painting from October 4 to November 5.

COMMUNITY CHORUS

Roland Nadeau will give a piano recital Oct. 25 at 4 p.m. in Weston Town Hall. The Community Chorus is particularly pleased to aponsor his Weston visit because he has been thsir accompanist for the past year.

His performance will include selections by Schubert, Mozart, and Saint Saens. The entire program will appear on local posters. After Oct. 25 the audience will appreciate why Roland Nadeau is in demand at the Gardner Museum, as well as John Hancock and Symphony Halls.

The Chorus gave a cookout early this month at Don Bartholomaw's home in Wayland. Forty people ate lobster, clams, corn, salad and cake and then sang for their suppers. This occasion may be a yearly affair if it proves that the way to a man's voice is through his stomach.

The turnout at the first rehearsal seemed to verify this thought. Chester Williams, now Dean of the New England Conservatory is preparing the group for a Christmas concert Dec. 13. It will include about half of Handel's Messiah. The Spring concert will be a presentation of the Brahms Requiem.

A LOCAL WRITER whose pencil sharpener is located next his telephone found himself absentmindedly placing his pencil into the left of the bell box and cranking the phone handle. Goodbye to all this next April, when the pencil can be ueed for dialing.

INSTRUMENTS NEEDED!

Instruments for orchestral and band uee are badly needed by the High School. The enlarged music program this year will require more string instruments, such as violin, viola, cello and double bass, and wind and brass instruments of all types.

Anyone who has such an unused instrument in the attic or under the piano should call the secretary at the High School. Ukeleles, mandolins, banjoe, ocorinos, harmonicas and Hawaiian guitars are not on this priority list.

EDGEWOOD ROAD PROJECT DONE

Approximataly 60 families in the Edgewood rd. saction of Cochituate, near Lake Cochituate were benafited hy tha straet reconstruction done in the neighhorhood this summer.

Hundreds of yards of narrow dirt roads were widened and surfaced. Six-inchwater pipes and gas mains were put in, trees were cut down, roads straightenad and roadsides graded.

Tha work, costing about $30,000, was done by tha town highway department, under the direction of Highway Surveyor Albert Potvin.

THE WAYLAND REPORT

Here is the Wayland Report on Civics, compiled by a staff of trained scientists over a period of many years. To make certain that these figures are correct, all persons interviewed were given truth serum. Don't be misled by inferior reports. This is the McCoy.

37 per cent of all Wayland residents cheated on the water department this summer. 19 per cent figured that 8 a. m. to 12 m. meant until 9 p. m.

94 per cent of all residents feel guilty when they see a policeman while driving. 40 per cent always feel guilty when they see a cop.

75 per cent have said, at one time or another, "What would you expect of Cochituate (or Wayland)?"

81 per cent have criticized town officials and actions. Of this 81 per cent, 43 per cent didn't attend a town meeting or forgot to vote.

97 per cent of all parents have allowed their children to believe in Santa Claus. 8 per cent of parents still believe in Santa Claus themselves.

95 per cent wish there were some easier way to get to Boston. 24 per cent wish they never had to go near the place.

19 per cent of all residents are in the real estate business. 79 per cent of all women would like to move.

23 per cent of men and women are afraid of the atomic bomb. 11 per cent of women are scared of mice. More men than women are afraid the man with the wrench will cut off the gas for non-payment of bills.

67 per cent of all Wayland men will take the rubbish to the dump after their wives have mentioned it six times.

20 per cent of all men will be doggoned if they'll shave on Sunday.

As somebody once said, all men are liars. The report on women will be published five years from now.

One per cent of taxpayers give the government the best of it when they make out their returns. At least, they say so.

Two per cent of parents are smart enough to help their children with their homework. 98 per cent of all local children are better looking than their parents.

18 per cent feed birds. The others don't care for bluejays, English sparrows or squirrels.

98 per cent pay their doctors and dentists last.

50 per cent are the blase type, who won't turn on their television sets unless there's a good program.

This report did not seek to find out how many have been guilty of larceny in their lives, in greater or less degree. After all, there's a limit to prying.---D. B. W.

NEW SIDEWALKS, MORE ROLLER SKATING

Eighteen hundred feet of sidewalk on both sides of Main st, Cochituate, from Damon st to Legion sq, were rebuilt last month, and children began to roller skate on them at once. The sidewalks needed to be regraded and hot-topped after the tree removal and street widening job of a year ago.

TOWN CRIER NOTICE!

People with news items or small advertisements may leave them at the office of Willis Ryder and Allen H. Morgan in the lawyer's house in Wayland Center.

FROM THE WAYLAND High School Class of 1953, among others, the following have gone to college: Audrey Ide to Garland, Joan Campbell to Bethany, Linda Robineon to Connecticut College, Alma Foley to Mt. St. Mary's College, Raymond Humphrey to Norwich University, David Emery to the University of Vermont, John Davis to Brandeis David Potter to Brown University and John Yetton to Norwich.

MR. AND MRS. MARK HILL of Cole Road announce the birth of a daughter, Carol Anne, born August 27.

JOHN QUINN ON HEALTH BOARD

John C. Quinn has been appointed to the Board of Health. He replaces Dr. Katherine M. Andrews, who resigned.

NEWS FROM WAYLAND SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

All students past the age of 16 at Wayland High have to take the driver education course, or at least the classroom part of it. It is said to be one of the most popular courses in school. Cochituate Motors provides the driver-training automobile.

Mrs. Frances Flynn of the faculty has organized a Library Club, Co-chairman are Lillian Cookson and Marilyn Harnett and the secretary-treasurer is Susan Dusseault.

The big new parking lot in the rear of the building is now practically completed, and it gets much use. The school busses load and unload in the rear of the building. The front section of the building is reserved for the vehicles of parents who drive their children to school or pick them up.

The cheer leader candidates have been practising. Four seniors, three juniors and two sophomores will be chosen.

Lester MacArthur, who teaches band and orchestra music, will spend two full days each week in Wayland High. Persons who have band instruments which the students may use might call Wayland 261 on Wednesdays or Thursdays. The instruments are needed.

A wooden speaker's stand, gift of the graduating class of 1953, has been installed in the auditorium and is used at every assembly.

Twenty girls have reported to Miss Mildred Markell for varsity field hockey.

Three girls who have transferred to Wayland High from other schools register approval. Barbara Roche, sopohomore from Upper Darby, Penn., says she likes the friendly atmosphere. Mary Riley, a senior from Pensacola, Fla., says her southern school doesn't compare with Wayland. And Janet Keith, from Framingham, enjoys the smaller classes here.

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING IN NOVEMBER?

News from the grapevine is that the special Town meeting to consider whether to build the new Happy Hollow School, and probably to take up some other matters, will not be held until the first or second week in November.

JOSEPH C. VACARO JR., of River rd, has been assigned to Co. 1, 364th Inf. Regt., of the 9th Infantry Division at Ft. Dix, N.J. for basic training.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE W. LEWIS of Cochituate rd sailed last month for San Juan, Porto Rico, where Mr. Lewis has an engineering assignment.

MRS. STEPHEN E. HODGES of the Planning Board has become secretary to Headmaster W. Maxwell Griffin of the High School. She takes the place of Marie Perodeau, who left to get married and move to Georgia.

WAYCO RED SOX GET TURKEY AND TROPHIES

More than 50 Way-Co Red Sox with their parents and families gathered at Red Coach Grill on Sunday, Sept. 13, for the presentation of baseball trophies to the players. The trophies, statues representing batsmen, with each boy's name and playing position inscribed, were presented by Hank Camilli, formerly a catcher with the Braves and Pirates.

The Way-Co Red Sox, the all-stars of the Little League, won six out of seven games with out-of-town teams under the lights at Cochituate. They lost only their last game, to Ashland, 7 to 2, after a brilliant string of victories.

The trophies were purchased from a fund raised by all the 40-odd employes of Red Coach Grill. The boys and their families had the full turkey dinner before Robert C. Whelchel, Director of the Way-Co Baseball Committee, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced Mr. Camilli, who gave out the trophies.

Among those present, besides Mr. and Mrs. Whelchel, were Dorothea Gladu, David Gladu, Elaine Heckelsmiller, Edith Hawkins, Larry Heckelsmiller, Carol Heckelsmiller, Barbara Heckelsmiller, William Heckelsmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Page, Robert Page Jr, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LeBlanc and John LeBlanc, Mr. and Mrs. John Leonard and John Leonard Jr.

William J. Morris and Dick Morris, Mr. and Mrs.Ernest Hazard and Stephen Powers, Amaline and Claire Flynn, Thomas G. Flynn Jr, Mrs. Bernard Marsh and Edward Marsh, Mrs. Katharine Marsh, Mrs. G.R. Richardson, Spencer C. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warsky, Jack Warsky,

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews, Kathleen Andrews, George Andrews, Tommy Linnehan, K. E. Morrell Jr and K.E. Morrell 3d, Mr. and Mrs. John Simoni and Judith, Sandra and John G. Simoni.

Co-manager Bill Morris was on hand, too, but the other co-manager, Pal Martin, was called out of Town early that day and couldn't make it.

The party lasted two hours and a half,and the boys loved it. And there are 16 handsome trophies on display in 16 homes in Town.

ANONYMOUS WRITES A POEM

When box rental in Wayland Post Office went from 60 to 90 cents a quarter, last July 1, an unknown bard burst into verse and mailed his or her poetry to the Postmaster. Here it is, courtesy of the Postoffice wall:

Listen, my friends,
It is no idle dream,
That the women of Wayland
Are letting off steam.

"The PO's a hold-up,
"The mail should be free,"
They are yapping and chanting
To have RFD.

"The Box rent's outrageous,
"Stamps going to four,"
They fume and they sputter
And stamp on the floor.

Were the box rents to double
I'd have no regret,
We'd still not be paying
For the service we'd get.

NEW RESIDENTS IN TOWN

Mr. Paul Maxwell and his family, from Auburn, Mass., have moved into a new house on Davelin rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Blakeslee Colby, from Hopkinton, have moved into a new house on Happy Hollow rd. Mr. Colby is an electronics engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sibley have taken over the house on Glezen Lane formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. G. Seth Nichols, who have moved to Brookline. Mr. Sibley is in the wool business.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Woodcock have moved into the house on Brackett rd formerly owned by Dr. and Mrs. Henry Fuller. Dr. Fuller, an authority on tropical diseases and insects, is in Washington. Mr. Woodcock is with the new Quartermaster Depot in Natick.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watts, from Newton, have moved into a new house on Glezen Lane.

Mr. David Creighton of the Boston Bruins hockey team has moved to Glezen Lane. Mrs. Creighton, the former Lucia Libbey of Waban, is a Hart model.

Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Roehrig, who have just moved East from Indiana, are now located on Blossom Lane. He is now with Polaroid Corp.

NEW TRAFFIC SIGNS TO GO UP

New traffic signs, designating no-parking areas, stop streets and perhaps one-way streets will be erected soon at various places in Town, says Chief Ernest H. Damon.

Not many newcomers to Wayland know it, but the traffic rules and regulations of the Town were printed in a little booklet back in 1931. Since that time, the Selectmen have made a number of changes in streets affected.

One of the rules is that the speed limit on the road to the Cochituate Lake beach is 15 miles an hour.

New streets recently restricted will be marked as soon as the signs can be put up, says the Chief.

THEY'D HAVE ABOLISHED HIGH SCHOOL IN 1921

Two articles in the warrant for the Wayland Town meeting of March 9, 1921, called for the abolition of Wayland High School and sending pupils to other towns. Proponents had nothing to say and the articles were passed over.

This news turned up in the March 11, 1921, issue of a paper called the Wellesley Review, found in a Cochituate house recently.

The same paper says that at this Town meeting the Town voted to accept as a gift from Edmund H. Sears and Edwin Greene the large area "back of the High School." That "high school" was the building now known as the Center School and the area is the present playground.

In a copy of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, found at the same time, was the news that a new make of automobile, the Kenworthy, had something brand new, four wheel brakes!.

Vokes Players Give "Affairs of State"

The Vokes Players of Wayland's famous little theater will be the first amateurs in New England to be able to present "Affairs of State", a romantic comedy hit which will be presented here on the evenings of Nov. 6, 7, 13 and 14.

Taking the female lead is Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, who doubles as president of the Wayland High School P.T.A. and secretary of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. "The other woman" in the play is Harriet Bruce of Framingham (no relation), who is remembered for her role in another Vokes play, "Over 21".

The romantic male lead is Tom Cathcart of Needham. Other roles are taken by Philip Bassett of Weston and Allen Finlay and Rudolph Bruce of Wayland.

Credits: Stage crew, John Bandelin, Bob Paine, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gray, John Sibley, Kemp Reade, Charles Howell, Addison Sandford and Ben Howard.

Makeup: Carter Bottjer, with Joan Havener and Mrs. George Shepard.

Scenery: Twinkie Luce, Elizabeth Kerr and Joyce Bertelsen.

Electricians: Dave Greenlie and Homer MacDonald.

Publicity: Virginia Hyland.

Stage manager: Bob Paine.

42 New House Lots From Day Camp Land

Forty-two new house lots, are included in Lake Shore Acres, a new subdivision approved by all the Town agencies, between Old Connecticut Path and Dudley Pond, between Mansion Inn and Hawthorn Rd.

These houses, according to the application, are to be in the $12,000 to $14,000 price range and are to be built by Campanelli Brothers, who have been building in Natick and elsewhere. The land, high and dry and partly wooded, is what used to be known as Snow's Day Camp property.

All but four of the new houses, it is said, will face new streets, to be known as Emerson Rd., Russell Rd., Richard Rd. and Simpson Rd.

Henrietta's Horse Falls in Quicksand

The fire company from Cochituate was called on the afternoon of Oct. 13 when Joker, a gelding ridden by Henrietta Whiteside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside of Rice Rd., fell into a quicksand a few hundred yards in the rear of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Tanger on Rice Rd.

As it happened, Joker floundered out by himself, dirtied but unhurt. When he fell in, Henrietta ran to the Tangers' home and called for help. By the time the firemen arrived, Joker was out, mud to his middle.

Some years ago a gasoline pipe line was run through the woods some distance to the east of Rice Rd. Along this pipe line are mud holes and quicksand, and it was into this sort of place that the horse fell.

Large Crowd at Board Hearings

About the biggest public hearing ever held by the Wayland Planning Board on subdivision proposals took place in the High School cafeteria (adjourned from Town Hall) on the night of Oct. 13. By official count, 94 persons attended.

The first hearing was on the application of Joseph H. Decatur to lay out 28 lots, all conforming to the zoning regulations, including proposed rules, on the west side of Old Sudbury Rd.

Opponents were mainly residents living on the other side of Old Sudbury Rd. They mentioned the costs of new schools and other services in Town, but chiefly they didn't like the idea of new houses being put on the meadows and changing the beautiful rural appearance of the area.

Mr. Decatur, last speaker, said: "I made my living farming on the land, and I don't want to farm any more. It seems to me I have a right to develop it as I want to, provided I comply with all requirements."

Chairman Frederick G. Perry, Jr. of the Planning Board, who presided, said the Board would give its decision Nov. 5.

The other hearing was the Damon farm property in Cochituate, recently sold by Edward T. and Rachel T. Damon to Puritan Homes. The proposition here is to build 122 houses, Colonial type, in the $18,000 to $22,500 price range. Brenton S. Gordon, Natick attorney, appeared for the petitioners.

Special Town Meeting Nov. 30 For Schools and Zoning Issues

A special Town Meeting has been called by the Selectmen for Monday, Nov. 30, to consider the new Happy Hollow school building, certain zoning amendments, the question of a permanent fire department, the regional school issue and some Town housekeeping measures.

The warrant has gone to the printers and will be in the hands of the voters befor the meeting.

Perhaps tops on the list of articles will be the school building. There will be a bid price on the new building, and the vote will be to see whether the Town will appropriate the money to build it.

Other articles will cover zoning. In various parts of Town, the minimum lot sizes are now 15,000 square feet, 22,500 and 30,000. The proposition will be that they should be increased to 20,000, 30,000 and 40,000, with some of 60,000 in certain sections of Town now remote from built-up sections.

Another article calls for establishing a permanent Fire Department. The Finance Committee, it is understood, will recommend that a committee be named to investigate this subject.

The article on regional schools, it is said, will be whether a committee should be chosen to look into this matter.

Another article will concern the possible sale of the old Cochituate fire station on Harrison St. This building, which includes an ancient Town lockup, is said to be in danger of collapse, and it is proposed to tear it down and have the land sold by the Town.

More money for garbage disposal will be asked in another article. It seems the prevalent hog disease in Middlesex County has made a difference. The Town has made no contract for garbage disposal, and costs have been higher.

Money will also be asked for landscaping the new Cochituate branch library.

Crier, 2 Years Old, Dons New Dress

Here is the CRIER, just two year's old, in her new Fall dress!

We know you liked her dressed in plainer dungarees like all other Wayland children. But she's growing up, and it's time to dress her up, too.

How can we afford a new dress for the CRIER? It's simple. You've done it.

Back two years ago, a couple of hundred of you received the paper one October morning and sent in a buck. That was enough to get started on. Then some of you began to advertise, and that made it possible to continue.

Now we are asking you to subscribe, because that will make us permanent for sure. And you have responded magnificently.

For those who have slipped up on this detail of $1.00, we are enclosing a prepaid envelope. Don't forget to write your name on the back.

MUST REGISTER BY NOV. 11

Last day for those who wish to vote in Town Meeting is Wednesday, Nov. 11 from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Cochituate Grammar School. At that time members of the Board of Registrars will be on hand to register new residents.

WAYLAND IN TARGET AREA

Wayland is now listed as one of the towns in the Boston critical target area. This information, heretofore classified, was made known in October by the State Civil Defense Agency through W. R. Hulbert, Wayland Director.

Second Explosion On Edgewood Road

Only eight days after the blast which destroyed the John Wales home on Edgewood Rd., an oil burner in the basement of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Deane, two doors away, backfired with a big bang, startling the neighborhood again.

This explosion came at 2:30 on the afternoon of Oct. 5. A covered chimney opening in a living room blew out, spreading soot and some debris over the baby, Douglas Deane, 10 months.

Mrs. Deane grabbed Douglas and Dale, the latter a year older, and ran outside, with Deborah, 4, and Diana, 5, preceding her. However, there was no fire and no substantial damage. Nobody was hurt.

Salvation Army Tops Quota

The Salvation Army drive in Wayland exceeded its quota by 112%. Robert L. Spang, of Plain Rd., director of the campaign, announced that $1254 had been raised. He thanked the 30 volunteers who canvassed as well as the several hundred residents who contributed.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The House committee of the Charles H. Alward Post is looking for tables and chairs to furnish the recreation room. The main hall and the recreation room have been refinished this past summer and look much more inviting to members than before, but rather bare as to furniture.

If any of your readers have an old table or chairs they would donate we would appreciate them. Either a postal card or a phone call to George D. Jones, Jr., East Commonwealth Road Phone Natick, 2235-J, or Roy Impey, French Ave., Cochituate, phone Natick 3509 would be appreciated and we will have them picked up at their convenience.

35,000 Use Facilities At Lake Cochituate

According to the count by William Gray, Jr., beach supervisor, 34,785 persons (many repeaters, of course), used the beach at Lake Cochituate this Summer, and there was not even a narrow escape from drowning. Perfect safety in the water.

There were a few leg lacerations, but only one on the beach itself. One little girl from Boston was drowned in the lake, but she was nowhere near the supervised beach.

The Park Department had 4600 identification rings made, and all were issued. Many persons from outside of Town came to the beach and were turned away.

Miss Jean F. Caul of Lake Shore Drive, Cochituate, is vice president of the Northeast Section, Institute of Food Technologists. She's a chemist.

Go - To - School Meeting For Wayland H. S. P. T. A.

More than 100 attended the Oct. 21 meeting of the Junior-Senior High School P.T.A. and followed their children's route through classes of a typical day.

All the teachers were in their accustomed places. Instead of giving lessons, they gave the parents brief sketches of what the courses are all about. Each "hour" was eight minutes long, and the parents moved along when the bells rang.

It was the first opportunity many parents had to see the new additions to the High School building and to meet the teachers.

It was educational, too. Many baldheaded parents didn't know what's being taught nowadays, either, and came away mentally refreshed. Refreshed, also, with cider and doughnuts, which were served in the Library after the evening's classes were ended.

Before the tour began, Headmaster Maxwell Griffin explained the affair. Superintendent of Schools Dr. Rexford S. Souder discussed the article in the coming Special Town Meeting about a study of the proposed regional school district. He said his position was neither for nor against, but in favor of finding out.

Allan R. Finlay, of the School Building Committee, said that the plans for the proposed Happy Hollow elementary school represented a compromise between expense and value.

Nobody Believes It

Men with surveyors' instruments were seen recently squinting here and there along Dead Man's Curve, which the Commonwealth has been promising to fix for a couple of years. Any indication that anything is likely to be done, however, was considered by skeptical residents too good to be true.

Perry - O'Connell

William A. O'Connell of Cochituate road, and Phyllis Perry, of West Commonwealth road, were married on October 4 at St. Zepherin's Church, Cochituate. Miss Perry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Perry. Mr. John R. O'Connell, the groom's brother, was best man. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the Marlborough Country Club.

Center School P. T. O.

More than 300 eager parents crowded the first Center School P.T.O. meeting on Oct. 14, presided over by Donald Stephenson, president. Mrs. Rita Hubler, new principal, was introduced, and she in turn presented all the teachers. Miss Anne Concannon's second grade won the attendance award.

Among the topics discussed were plans for the new elementary school in Happy Hollow, the article in the warrant about regional schools, and the problem of new schools for Wayland. Superintendent Rexford Souder and School Committeeman William A. Waldron both spoke.

A committee was appointed, headed by Mrs. Frank Best, to report on various safety questions connected with the playgrounds, busses and sidewalks.

D. A. R. to Meet Nov. 7

The Wayside Inn Chapter D.A.R will hold its regular meeting Nov. 7 in the vestry of the Congregational Church, Wayland, at 2 p.m. Mrs. Willard Richards, State Chairman of National Defense, will be the speaker. The meeting is an open one, and anyone interested in the defense of this country is welcome to attend. There will also be a food sale. Mrs. Howard Lyford and Mrs. John Erwin are hostesses for the meeting. The last meeting was held Oct. 3 at the home of Mrs. Lewis Fisher. A quiz program was conducted by Mrs. John Erwin and the prize for most correct answers went to Miss Catherine McLean of Bedford.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Woman Voters will distribute to each resident of the Town, some time this month, a copy of its new report, "Know Your Wayland Board of Health". This consists of the findings of the League committee which studied the Town's health problems last Spring.

Resource chairman for this study was Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside. Others who worked on the project were Mrs. Gordon Brownell, Mrs. Benjamin Beale, Mrs. L. William Bertelsen, Mrs. Donald Dooley and Mrs. Edward J. Williams.

A review of the 1952 study on town planning and zoning is to be held before the Special Town Meeting of Nov. 30, to bring people up to date on the zoning articles in the warrant. The League also planned to be represented at the Nov. 2 hearing of the Planning Board on these articles.

Unit meetings on zoning were set for Nov. 3, at 10 a.m., at the home of Mrs. J. Gordon Baldwin, Rice Spring Lane; Nov. 4, at 10 a.m., home of Mrs. John Brownell, Concord Rd.; Nov. 4, at 8 p.m., home of Mrs. Walter E. Marchand, Concord Rd., and Nov. 5, at 3 p.m., home of Mrs. C. Fessenden Morse, Old Sudbury Rd.

Membership chairman is Mrs. Philip Lane of Rice Spring Lane.

Dr. Jean Mayer of Wayland spoke on the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations at a special assembly at the High School on Oct. 23. This was the League's part in the observance of the United Nations anniversary. Mrs. David Trageser was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

On the first Sunday of each month the voice of the League of Women Voters is heard on NBC radio at 5:05 p.m.

Many Friends to Aid Suzanne and Her Family

The home of John Wales, 74 Edgewood Rd., blew up late in the afternoon of Sept. 27. As a result, Suzanne Wales, 17, a senior at Wayland High, went to the hospital with dreadful burns, and the neighbors embarked upon one of the biggest and most generous helping hand projects in the Town's history.

Sept. 27 was a beautiful, warm afternoon. Mr. Wales and his brother-in-law, John Pierce, were shingling the front of the house. Mrs. Wales and her other two daughters, Florence, 14, and Jacqueline, 8, were outdoors.

Sue had been working at Howard Johnson's. She came home and went down to the basement to light the hot water gas stack. She just lit the match. From somewhere gas had seeped into the cellar. There was an explosion.

Sue's blouse was blown off. Her hair and skin were burned. There was a small fire, which went out almost at once. Sue was taken to Leonard Morse Hospital, whence she was moved, next day, to Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in Boston, where she is now. They say she'll be there at Christmas.

For many days her name was on the critical list. But she got better, day by day, although the report was that 75 per cent of her body was burned. The doctors couldn't tell just how much plastic surgery would be necessary.

The house and foundation were ruined by the explosion. Every joint was blown loose from every other. Clothes and equipment were dirtied and strewn about.

Here was where the helpful spirit of the neighborhood came in.

The fire department hadn't left the scene before a meeting had been called, for that very evening, at the home of Fern A. Taylor.

Members of the Wales family, it was said, hadn't been the richest in the community, but had always been among the quickest to give any help they could to others.

Thirty persons showed up at the meeting that night at Fern Taylor's house. Theodore R. Magoun, head of the Cochituate branch of the Red Cross, was chairman. It was announced that blood transfusions had been arranged for, for free, and that neighbors were housing the family.

Paul Wales, 19, a son of the family, was in San Diego, in the Navy. Mr. Magoun talked with Mrs. Pierpoint Blair of the Wayland Red Cross, a message was sent, and in about 24 hours Paul was home on a 21-day leave, flown to Florida and up to Quonset.

Alfred J. Perodeau of 22½ West Plain St. was made treasurer. A few days later he put $478 in contributions in the bank.

Mr. Wales had meant to build a new home on Park Ridge Rd., nearby. He had a cellar and foundation built, but the title to the land was obscure and he couldn't get a mortgage.

Within a couple of weeks, thanks to the cooperation of a well known Wayland attorney and public official, the title was cleared and registered at East Cambridge.

Mr. Wales works for Anchor Motor Freight Company of Framingham.

On the Saturday following the explosion, employees and executives of the company came down with trucks and equipment and flattened the ruins of the house. They salvaged all the good lumber and the nails. Highway surveyor Albert Potvin helped. The rubbish went to the Town dump. After the job was over, the men put a fence around the site.

On the night of the disaster the Red Cross gave a check for temporary aid. This was not a loan. On Monday morning the Salvation Army gave a check. Not a loan. At 1:45 p.m. Emily Blair sent the wire, asking for the emergency furlough for Paul Wales, and Paul was home on Tuesday night.

Richard Kohler and Dick Howard helped house the family.

A Natick church group, which didn't even know the family, sent a big check.

It was found that the family needed two single-bed mattresses. Gerald S. Baker, Commander of the Cochituate V.F.W Post, said the Post would provide them.

Blood costs $35 a pint, it was said. Donors by the dozen provided the stuff for Sue. No charge.

George V. Deverell was appointed by the Kiwanis Club to look into the matter. He reported, and at the Oct. 13 meeting the Wayland Kiwanis Club took $200 from its treasury and passed the hat for another $100, which was sent to the Brigham Hospital and placed to the credit of the Suzanne Wales account.

A newsboy, name not given, went to the door of Fern Taylor's house, said, "Here's $5", and went away.

The story has too many details to be reported in full. It isn't all told yet. The first idea was to provide the family with a roof over its head. The second idea was that more help might be needed with the hospital bill, which will be enormous in spite of help given by the Community Fund and the hospital itself. The committee held three Sunday night meetings, plus other sub-committee meetings, and had no intent except to do whatever might be to the best interests of the family.

A partial list of the persons who have helped or have attended committee meetings:

New Zoning Laws Needed To Keep Town Costs Stable, Says Planning Board

Here's the carefully prepared statement of the Wayland Planning Board on the proposal to increase the sizes of house lots in Town:

"The Zoning changes to be presented for the vote of the Town at the Special Town Meeting to be held on November 30, 1953 call for a general increase of one-third in building lot sizes and a general increase of one-fifth in the frontage requirements. A comparison of the present zones with the proposed zones is shown in the table below:

Present Zoning
Area	Frontage
15,000	100 ft.
22,500	125 ft.
30,000	150 ft.
Proposed New Zoning
Area	Frontage
20,000	120 ft.
30,000	150 ft.
40,000	180 ft.

"In addition, a new zone for the rural undeveloped areas is proposed in which lot sizes of 60,000 sq. ft. having 210 ft. frontage will be required. The new zone will include the area surrounding the northerly end of Rice Rd., the area surrounding Draper Rd. and Lincoln Rd., and the westerly area north of Sherman's Bridge Rd.

"The new zoning changes are proposed by the Planning Board as part of a long range program to minimize the cost of town government, and to assure the Town that future expansion and development will not destroy the beneficial effects of the rural nature of this Town. Also included in this program is a study now in progress to encourage industrialization of a limited area of the town, and a rezoning in population centers to provide for neighborhood business areas.

"The Planning Board reports that it will recommend that the new zoning requirements do not apply to building lots shown on plats recorded on or before October 8, 1953, the date of the announcement of the changes, nor to certain subdivisions now before the Board. The presently proposed changes to the zoning laws have been under study since 1952, but could not be published until after the date of the Town Meeting had been announced by the Selectmen.

"In proposing the new zoning regulation, the Planning Board points out that during the past six months developments providing well over two hundred new homes have been proposed. At that rate the population of Wayland would be doubled in six years. The inevitable effect of such an expansion would be a very substantial increase in the tax rate due to increased demands on the school system, the police force, the fire department, and the water department. The Planning Board believes that the unusual pressure for housing developments in Wayland is largely caused by the fact that in neighboring towns having comparable areas available for development, the zoning requirements are much higher than those presently in force in Wayland. As a result, Wayland has become a favorite target for real estate development.

"The new 60,000 sq. ft. zone is proposed for areas in which neither good roads nor town water is available. In these zones the probability is that new homes will require both wells and septic tanks or cesspools, and an area of 60,000 sq. ft. will assure adequate area for such facilities. The Board also points out that in the areas proposed for the new 60,000 sq. ft. zone, there are few existing lots which do not already conform with the new requirements. These zones will accordingly channel new development into areas better served by town facilities without changing the existing character of these zones."

A public hearing on the proposed zoning changes was held in the Cafeteria of the Cochituate Grammar School at 8:00 P.M. on Monday, November 2, 1953.

NOV.8 COLLECTION DAY

"On Sunday, Nov. 8," says Theodore R. Magoun, chairman of the Wales Committee, "volunteers will visit as many homes as possible in Cochituate and Wayland, asking for whatever help people can give for the family of John H. Wales, whose home was destroyed in an explosion.

"The problem is to meet a big hospital bill for Suzanne Wales, who has already had her first skin-grafting operation, and to help with the overall needs of a family whose material possessions have been wiped out.

"Many have already been generous. Those who wish to send checks should make them payable to the John H. Wales Fund, and send them to Alfred J. Perodeau, 22½ West Plain St. Cochituate."

Hearings —

The opposition here came mostly from residents of the Timber Lane area, off Oak St. The plans showed a new road linking up with Timber Lane, which is now a dead end street. Residents, led by Wallace F. Jones of Oak St. and Maj. Alfred L. Mellor of Eden Rd., said that 75 children live in the area, and that their parents do not want the danger a through street would represent.

Mr. Gordon said his clients didn't care whether the new street went through or not. He said they'd be perfectly happy to have Timber Lane blocked off in any way desired. But Clifton Haynes, chief of the Fire Department, said he didn't like dead end streets, because there might be a disaster in which one end of a street could be blocked. The Timber Lane people presented a letter of request, signed by 73 persons, asking that the new road not go through.

Theodore R. Magoun asked whether children living in this new development could be accomodated in the schools, and whether the Town would have to build another new school.

J. O. Post added: "This same argument applies to water. Is there enough water for all these new houses? The overall picture is important for everyone to consider. It does mean an increase in taxes. I think there is a considerable body of opinion that Natick has had a difficult time." Debate on the Damon farm lasted an hour and a half. At its conclusion, Chairman Perry announced that the Board would give its decision Nov. 5.

Fallgren Elected Kiwanis President

Herbert R. Fallgren, of Rich Valley Rd., has been elected president of the Wayland Kiwanis Club. He is manager of Jordan Marsh's store at Shoppers' World.

New vice-presidents are Alfred C. Morrill and Augustus M. Hatfield. Walter A. Cheslak was re-elected treasurer, and the Board of Directors includes Joseph G. Hallenbrook, Ettrick A. Lacey, Frank A. Smith, William M. Griffin, Elmer Haynes, Dr. Perry E. Truesdell and Willis B. Ryder.

300 More Residents Have Blood Typed

More than 300 residents were blood typed on Sept. 25 and have received cards showing their blood group and RH factor. Civil Defense records of the town now contain blood typing of 700 residents. Persons who know their blood types are urged to send in the information to the Civil Defense Director, W. R. Hulbert, Wayland

Junior Town House Hears Talk by Dumas

The state law in Massachusetts applying to formation of regional schools is the most carefully drawn up piece of legislation of its type in the country. That is what Simeon J. Domas, a member of the staff of the State School Building Assistance Commission, told 100 members and guests of the Wayland Junior Town House at its annual meeting on October 6.

The law, he explained, forces each town interested in a region to think through their mutual problem carefully before becoming committed. Each Town must first vote to form a board to study the situation and to determine whether there is a need. If it decides there is, it must write an agreement covering all phases of the operation. This must in turn meet the approval of the Board of Education as well as the School Building Assistance Commission. Once approval is granted, and funds made available, no state agency has any control over the region thus formed. Finally, the Town Meeting must okay the agreement.

SEVERAL CHECKS

A further check on the region is that each School Committee must as usual ask for appropriations from its own respective Town meeting. Any town, moreover may "ask out" of the region whenever it chooses.

Usually the minimum enrollment for a regional school may be 100 and the maximum 1200. The school buildings constructed do not necessarily have to be in one location nor does it have to be a centralized school. Usually the regional school Committee is made up of representative members of present committees. So far 99 towns have voted on the issue. 68 voted "Yes," 30 "No," and one tied.

TOWN HOUSE CELEBRATES 10th

This was also the 10th birthday for Junior Town House, which serves Wayland and Cochituate with many varied programs. Greetings were read from Charles F. Moore, one of the founders, who is now Director of Public Relations for the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn, Mich., and from Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, also a charter member.

Officers elected included: F. P. Walther, chairman, board of trustees; R. G. Paine, president of the association; Mrs. Howard C. Weeks, clerk; and George K. Lewis, treasurer. Also to the Board of Trustees: Mrs. John B. Gregory, Mrs. Parmelee C. Hill, Henry J. Smith, F. P. Walther, Mrs. Weeks, and Ronald Wood.

Mr. John L. Bandelin was appointed as director of Junior Teen Age activities. Dunbar Holmes, retiring president of the association, presided.

V.F.W. POST 6260 NEWS

A Past Commanders' supper was scheduled for Monday, Nov. 2, at the Post quarters. Past Commanders' awards were to be presented.

The drill team has monthy meetings. It is available for all functions of a military nature, and there are still some openings in it for those who'd like to join.

Naturalization courses, sponsored by the Post, will begin as soon as enough interested non-citizens sign up. Those who'd like to join may call Wallace Decker, Post Service Officer, Natick 1953, or write to P.O. Box 8, Cochituate.

Membership in the Post is steadily increasing. Those paying dues before Dec. 13 will become members of the Early Bird Club.

Four Polio Cases

Four Wayland persons were recently reported to Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health as victims of polio. They are:

Roswell Hubbard, 5 Davelin Rd., reported Aug. 19. Treated at Framingham.

Mrs. John J. Rowan, Appleton Rd., reported Sept. 23. Treated at Haynes Memorial Hospital.

Paul D. Rowan, Draper Rd., brother-in-law of Mrs. John J. Rowan, also at Haynes Memorial. Reported Sept. 30.

100 Get Red Cross Swimming Certificates

More than 100 certificates and awards were given to local boys and girls on Sept. 19 at Cochituate Methodist Church to wind up the Summer Red Cross swimming program. Gilbert Stevens, swimming instructor, made the presentations, and branch chapter chairman Theodore R. Magoun of the Red Cross thanked the Park Department for its cooperation in the program.

Awards for best attendance from Cochituate went to Dana Thorpe, Robert Berry, Peter Bowles, Paul Baker, Russell Shipp and Elaine Gladu. Best attendance from Wayland, Sethaly Johnson, Mary Souder, Nancy Peterson, Sharon Shepard, Joan Cornwell, Marilyn McIntosh and Elizabeth Benson.

Christmas Everywhere

On Thursday morning, November 5, at 10 a.m., in the Shaw room of the Wayland Library the Middlesex County Extension Service will offer its Christmas program. This will include stories of customs in many lands, easy-to-make gift suggestion, and foreign recipes for Christmas with samples (we hope) from some of our Wayland women. Everyone is welcome and it isn't necessary to call or sign up for a course. This is just one meeting for your enjoyment and to stimulate your thinking about Christmas.

Marcantonios Leaving For Florida Residence

Members of the Riverview Terrace Improvement Association held a farewell party in the brightly decorated clubhouse on Oct. 17 for Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Marcantonio, long time residents of Riverview Terrace, who are moving to Florida. Seventy friends, neighbors and relatives attended.

Writes Mrs. William A. Dugan, "It is with regret that we see them leave, and we hope they don't like it there and will return here again."

Wayland, They Say, Is Fashionable

"Fashionable" Wayland, said a real estate advertisement the other day, and here's the exact word to describe our little town. In common modesty, we wouldn't have said it first. But some outsider did say it, and we might as well admit it.

The only thing is, the fashion is on the delightfully informal side.

Take the dump on Sunday morning. Here one may see male leaders of high life, dressed in that inimitable Wayland style which is the despair of lesser dumps like Weston and Chestnut Hill.

Note the rich green mold growing on the hats. See the dashing droop of the socks. Observe the paint spots, of the finer type of paint, upon the trousers. Here the Dukes of Windsor and Edinburg could learn how to wear rags of distinction.

And speaking of Old England and its famous lawns, even the Wayland grass is distinctive. On account of the water shortage, the grounds around the stately ranch type homes of this community have the most aristocratic brown patches seen anywhere.

Informality also rules in the local field of transportation. In the back of the station wagon with the mink upholstery one is likely to perceive a pitchfork, tastefully draped against a background of bagged fertilizer, cement sacks and cartons of dog food. If this isn't high style, in a negligently rural way, Emily Post eats ice cream with her fingers.

The informal motif is again to be seen in the morning, or peasant, costumes of Wayland women, whose svelte beauty at 9 or 10 a.m. is so often accentuated by garb of a simplicity undreamed of in the Paris salons. Army boots on small, delicate feet, dungarees filched from last week's laundry bag, shirt tails flying bewitchingly in the early sunshine, hair prettily tied with old shoe string . . . . in lesser towns, such garments are not worn with such a gay, soigne, je ne sais quoi, air.

And the babies. Positively nowhere, unless maybe among the aborigines of Australia, are babies more distinctively informal in their habits than here. Moreover, they are as likely as not to be informal at 10 p.m.

Even at Lake Cochituate the rule is fashionable exclusiveness. This is well known by everybody who has ever tried to get on the beach without a rubber ring around his wrist.

So, since somebody else said it first, we'll admit Wayland is fashionable. Not in every community do men shave on Sunday, or women put on dresses at 5 p.m. on weekdays. D. B. W.

St. Ann's Whist

Turkeys and prizes will abound at the annual turkey whist party to be held by St. Ann's Church this month. The date to remember is Wednesday, November 18 at 8 p.m. at the Sudbury Town Hall. Admission is only 75c.

St. Zepherin's Church

Fr. Philip G. McGinty is now assisting at St. Zepherin's Church in Cochituate. Fr. McGinty was born and brought up in Allston, attended Boston College High, and graduated from Boston College and St. John's Seminary. He served previously for six years at St. Mary's Church, Hull.

The new parking lot will soon be ready. When completed, parishioners are urged to continue to also use the lot next to the Cochituate School and to cross Main St. at the point where the traffic officer is stationed.

The annual turkey whist party is Mon., November 23 at the Mansion Inn.

First Parish Church

An unusual program from the 1954 Winter and Spring season has been arranged by the Religious Education Committee. Purpose of the program is to encourage participation of entire families and to acquaint them with the Sunday School and Young People's activities.

On Sunday, January 17 there will be a coasting party for all families of the parish and their friends in Woodridge. A family box supper followed by playlets by the Church School will be held March 7, and sometime during April the A.U.Y. will conduct a program.

The annual Sunday School family picnic and hayride will be May 23. An outdoor worship service is planned for June.

News Round-Up

Wayland High's football team was holding its own with bigger schools as of the end of October. After losing to Westboro, the boys beat Wilmington and tied Bridgewater. The scores: Westboro 7, Wayland 0; Wayland 7, Wilmington 6, and Wayland-Bridgewater 7-7 . . . More than $400 was raised at the joint American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars benefit held Saturday night, Oct. 24th, at the Cochituate School auditorium . . . The Mother's Club of Cochituate and North Natick will hold its annual Halloween Party on Nov. 4 at the D. P. I. A. building. Cards and other games are on the program, along with refreshments. The committee includes Hazel Warsky, Sally Sweeney, Catherine Marston, Mary Shaklik, Dot Boesenberg, Mary Malger, Grace Courchine and Kay Sullivan. Mrs. Rose Ward is in charge of refreshments.

Even before holding its first meeting of the year last month, Cochituate P. T. A. had 100 members, as against 79 last year. Officers elected for 1953 and 1954 were Mrs. William Irwin, president; Mrs. Harry Revell, vice-president; Mrs. John Leonhardt, treasurer; Mrs. Eugene Slotta, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Cheslak, program chairman; Mrs. John Sullivan, ways and means chairman; Mrs. Warner Wright, hospitality chairman, and Mrs. Clifton Livingston, publicity chairman. Mr. W. F. Doucette represents the faculty on the executive board. Next meeting was scheduled for Nov. 17, in Children's Book Week. Speaker is to be Mrs. Donald B. Willard of Cochituate Library, whose subject will be, "Books Make Ideal Gifts". At this meeting, another speaker will be Mrs. J. Warren Olmsted of Wayland, who will lead a discussion about report cards . . .The Dudley Pond Improvement Association held a whist on Oct. 3 to raise funds for the annual children's Halloween party. Mrs. John F. McCann won the door prize. First prize went to Mrs. Charles MacDowell, second to Mrs. John Nickerson, and Mrs. Jacob Flagg and Mrs. Bertha Vandenburd tied for third.

United Nations Day was observed in Wayland with singing, dancing, speaking and dramatics. The program at the High School auditorium, chairmanned by Rev. Raymond G. Manker, featured a playlet by five high school students, Scottish and Polish dancing and general square dancing. Howard Russell served as moderator, and a five-church chorus sang under Mrs. Malcolm K. White.

B. & M. Petitions To Cut Train Service

The Boston & Maine Railroad petitioned the Public Utilities Commission late in September for permission to abandon two Wayland trains, the 10:21 a.m. to Boston and the 2 p.m. from Boston to Wayland.

These trains run from Boston to Clinton. Generally they are two-car, gasoline powered units. A spokesman said the railroad was also considerng rearranging the schedule of the morning commuters' trains somewhat.

MISS LINDA ROBINSON, daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. H. Robinson of Millbrook Rd., has been chosen for membership in the Shwiffs, an informal singing group at Connecticut College.

Assessors Explain How They Tax to Operate $1,000,000 Town

"Assessing is the oldest industry in this country," says Charles M. Mathews of the Wayland Board of Assessors, and he and his two associates, B. Allen Benjamin and George C. Lewis, go on to explain about real estate and personal property taxes in this Town:

Many property owners think the Assessors have hearts of brass. The fact is, each Assessor take a solemn oath neither to overvalue nor undervalue property. The oath begins, "I will truly and impartially, according to my best skill and judgment, assess and apportion all such taxes as I may during my time assess . . ."

* * *

By law, the Assessors may use a householder's walk or driveway, but they may not walk around his house or enter unless invited. They do not have the right to come into a house and look around.

LOOK AT EACH HOUSE

They do, however, manage to drive by every house in Town during each calendar year. From force of professional habit, they agree, they put the peek on every house they see, to note whether it has been enlarged, improved or left, say, unpainted.

They do most of their work in October, November and December. By law, they have to re-assess every property in Town as of Jan. 1. Naturally, they can't do it all on one day. They re-assess before and somewhat after Jan. 1, and call it Jan. 1.

In 1953, in Wayland, 1,906 dwellings and 8,184 acres of land were assessed.

The common feeling is that it doesn't make much difference whether valuations are high and the tax rate low, or the tax rate high and the valuations low. Local Assessors agree. But they say Town Meeting is less likely to vote appropriations if the tax rate looks high.

The Wayland Assessors work by a formula. They are empowered, and in fact

Free Band Concert To be Given Dec. 8

The Framingham Concert Band is going to give a free concert in Wayland High School Auditorium at 7:45 p.m., on Tuesday, Dec. 8, to mark the beginning of a campaign, sponsored by the High School P.T.A., to equip the budding Wayland High School Band with uniforms

Mr. Burton MacArthur, the new instramental music instructor in the schools, has already started to find and develop his musicians, both boys and girls, and he thinks that by Spring, perhaps, they'll be far enough along to march in the Memorial Day parade.

Mrs. Earley Named Trustee

A new Library Trustee is Mrs. George E. Earley of 36 East Plain St., Cochituate, recently appointed. She is a graduate of the Library School at the University of Michigan and she has been branch librarian at the West Newton Library since 1947. Mr. Earley is a librarian at the Boston Public Library. They moved here on April 1, 1952.

BUILDING PERMITS UP

Building permits for new houses in Town through October, 1953, numbered 132, and there seemed a chance that this might turn out to be the biggest building year ever. Here's the way the number of permits for new houses has gone each year since the local boom began:

1946, 32 permits; '47, 64; '48, 40; '49, 63; '50, 141; '51, 155, and '52, 140.

COMMUNITY FUND PROGRESS

As of Nov. 21, Wayland had collected 90 per cent of its Community Fund quota and Cochituate had 71 per cent. Russell L. James was chairman for Wayland and Theodore R. Magoun for Cochituate.

Oak St. Residents Unhappy Over Proposed New Street

No Big News Today

A journalistic apology is due.

The Wayland Special Town Meeting occurred on Nov. 30. For various reasons, which seem to be all too compelling, the Town Crier couldn't wait until after that date to go to press.

That's why this issue does not have an account of this meeting.

The Crier can't ask the business of the Town to wait upon its peculiar necessities. It just hopes that as time goes on, its technical facilities will improve to such a point that such awkward incidents will not occur.

There will be an account of the Special Town Meeting, for the permanent record, in the January Crier.

New Fire Station, Library, Now in Use

Plans to hold open house as a grand opening for the new fire station and library branch in Cochituate somehow got fouled up, and it appeared that it might be some time before such an event could be held. However, both fire station and library are now in use.

The new branch library, far superior to the old one, has acquired a number of new books, new shelves and new furniture. It is open Monday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 8:30; Tuesday, 2 to 5; Wednesday, 1 to 5 and 7 to 8:30; closed Thursday; Friday, 2 to 5 and Saturday, 9 to 12 and 2 to 5.

(Wayland Library hours: Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 10 to 1, 2 to 6 and 7 to 8:30; Tuesday and Saturday, 10 to 1 and 2 to 6. Closed Thursday.)

Some of the library furniture was delayed in delivery, and so was the firemen's new furniture. Then the landscaping and walks didn't get done, and it was finally decided to postpone the party.

First One-Way Streets

For the first time in history, according to Highway Surveyor Albert Potvin, Wayland now has two one-way streets.

The two, designated last month, are the section of Pelham Island Road in front of Wayland Postoffice, and Library Lane, which runs between Concord Road and Old Sudbury Road, opposite the Wayland Library.

In both cases, the one-way direction is West to East. Reason for the change is traffic congestion.

Commonwealth to Pay 45% of School Costs

Thanks to the increase in the number of children in Wayland, the recent addition to the Wayland High School will cost the Town several thousand dollars less than was figured, says Superintendent of Schools Rexford S. Souder.

The amount of aid given by the Commonwealth to towns for school buildings is figured by a formula which gives more aid for education for more children. The High School addition cost about $225,000, and it was believed then that the Commonwealth would pay 40 per cent. As it turns out, there are more children and the Commonwealth actually will pay 45 percent.

Members of the Planning Board and officers of The Oak Street Section Civic League had an argument last month over making a through street out of Timber Lane, and at last accounts there was no perfect agreement.

The difference of opinion grew out of the Damon Farm subdivision, which, after a hearing in October, was approved by the Planning Board early in November.

There are to be 118 houses in this development, on new streets. One of these streets is to be called Dean Road, and the original plans had it connecting with the western end of Timber Lane, which comes in from Oak St.

RESIDENTS PROTEST

Timber Lane residents, afraid that eastbound motorists would use Dean Road and Timber Lane as a shortcut from Commonwealth Road East to Oak St., protested at the hearing that the new thoroughfare would be a traffic hazard for the small children of the district.

After the hearing, they sent a letter to the Selectmen, asking the latter either to investigate the action of the Planning Board or "see if some democratic solution which considers all the people . . . cannot be worked out."

Representatives of the Civic League met with the Selectmen, who heard the argument and said it was up to the Planning Board, an elected body.

Then there were more meetings. Chairman Frederick G. Perry Jr., who used to live in the Oak St. section, spread out the blue prints and explained that, in the opinion of the Board, sooner or later there should be a connection between Dean Road and Timber Lane.

BOARD FEELS IT'S NEEDED

The Planning Board agreed that, for the time being, there should be no connection. But after a number of Damon Farm houses have been built, the Board said, there should be another outlet from the district.

The layout of roads in the Damon Farm was changed, so that a cutoff from Route 30 to Oak St. would zigzag South, East, South, East and South, whereas a direct turn from Route 30 into Oak St. would involve only one turn. By this arrangement, the cutoff would be no shorter than the way around.

Old Fire Station Condemned

The old Cochituate fire station on Harrison St. has been condemned and, Chief Clifton Haynes supposes, will be torn down. Presumably the ancient lockup in the rear of the building will go, too. The air horn from the building was transferred to the new station and installed.

Chorus to Sing Messiah Dec. 13

The Community Chorus' annual free performance of Handel's Messiah will be given on Sunday, Dec. 13 at 4 p.m. in the High School auditorium. Chester W. Williams will conduct the chorus and orchestra which will render only the Christmas portion of the oratorio. The public is invited.

Three other Christmas numbers will also be sung: Hodie Christus Natus Est by Palestrina, and the Spanish carols On the Feast of the Holy King and Song of Christmas Presents, by Frederick Erickson.

Wales Family Recovering From Explosion Disaster

Almost $2000 was contributed by townspeople and others to help the family of John H. Wales, whose home was destroyed by an explosion and whose daughter, Suzanne, 17, was badly injured and is now in the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, Boston.

Suzanne, it was reported, was making "magnificent" progress, although, undergoing a series of skin grafting operations, she was not having what anybody would call a good time. Her face and hands it was said, were unscarred.

In addition, mortgage arrangements had been made and work was progressing rapidly on the Wales family's new home, just back of the old one. It was expected that the family would be in its new home shortly after Dec. 1.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I want to express the gratitude felt by all members of our family for the help and sympathy given by so many individuals and organizations after the explosion which destroyed our house and injured Suzanne. Such generosity was almost overwhelming, and we'll never forget it.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN H. WALES

To the Editor:

The late Wendell Willkie wrote a book entitled "One World". I wish somebody would write something about Wayland and Cochituate called "One Town". I think most of the residents of this Town are newcomers and don't care about the ancient gripes of old time residents.

Weekly whist parties are being held on Wednesday nights at Post headquarters at 8 p.m., George R. Stockbridge, adjutant, reports. Weekly socials are held with the Auxiliary for guests and friends on Fridays.

The annual Christmas party will be given by the Post for veterans from the Bedford Veterans Hospital.

Officers for the year recently installed are: George D. Jones, Jr., commander; Ivan Beal, senior vice commander; Roy Impey, junior vice commander; Donald Williams, finance officer; George R. Stockbridge, adjutant; Ronald S. Campbell, chaplain; George R. Stockbridge, executive committee.

NEW CITIZEN:

October 7, to Cpl. and Mrs. Theodore Samaros, a son, Kenneth Theodore.

To the Editor:

In view of the many close friends we have in Wayland, we would like to call their attention to the following "Notice" in the St. Croix Avis of October 12:

To Whom It May Concern

I the undersigned do declare that if anyone is found making any damaging remarks concerning Mrs. Violet A. Russel who is a guest to Mr. and Mr. Hubert Newton, they will be dealt with occording to law — Mr. Hubert Newton.

Dictating an editorial policy is disastrous to any publication, but we would appreciate it if you would point out to our friends that "the arm of the law is long."

To the Editor:

I hope there will be more worthwhile news next year. We didn't enjoy the paper last year. Too much unimportant editorials.

News Round-Up

LIVE WIRES came down in three places during the wind and rain of the Nov. 7 storm. On Cochituate Rd., near Sandy Burr, and on Concord Rd., they were bouncing around on the pavement. On Glezen Lane a hot wire slapped around in a tree. But everything was so wet no fires were started. Chief Damon and officer Edward J. Burke protected traffic until repair crews from Waltham arrived and corrected the trouble . . . . In the same storm, light towers on the baseball field at Cochituate were damaged.

CHIEF OF POLICE Ernest H. Damon addressed a Kiwanis Club meeting one Tuesday night. "In the past 50 years," he said, "the Wayland police force has doubled." 'What do you mean?" somebody asked. 'They've given me an assistant," returned the Chief. (Laughter and applause.) . . . . .

MEMBERS of the two Wayland fire companies, with two boats, went to Framingham on Nov. 15, to help drag for the bodies of the two Gilmore children, which were recovered that day.

The group, headed by Chief Clifton Haynes and Assistant Chief Parker Groton, included Clifford Wedlock, Arthur Yetton, Albert Lawrence, Charles Campbell, Jr., Robert Groton, Robert Wells, John Sullivan and Richard Groton . . . .

MRS. RETA HUBLER, principal of the Center School, was elected to the executive board of the Junior Town House Association, to handle liaison between the school and the association. Headmaster W. M. Griffin of the High School was also elected, for High School liaison.

Chairman Frederick P. Walther of the Town House directors presided at the Meeting, held Nov. 17.

THE PLANNING BOARD okayed the petition of Joseph H. Decatur to lay out 28 house lots on the West side of Old Sudbury Road. So far this year, says the Board, it has approved approximately 226 lots in new developments, and has two more developments under consideration.

The Board's approval is needed only when new streets have to be opened up. A person owning a lot on an accepted street may build a house on it without even informing the Planning Board.

YOU—YOU—AND YOU

I feel very privileged and proud to be a resident of the town of Wayland. Here we have country atmosphere, beautiful well kept homes—the old and the new—shade trees, lawns, meadows and most of all beautiful churches. In this peace and quiet of Wayland there is much to be grateful for — if nothing more than to be here away from the troubles of the world. To the very nice people of this town: Thank God and Merry Christmas .

Auxiliary Police to Get Helmets and Belts

Wayland Auxiliary Police are to be outfitted with helmets, belts and blue trousers and shirts, besides the arm bands now worn, says William R. Hulbert, Director of Civil Defense.

In the first precinct there are five areas, each with one squad composed of residents of the area. In an emergency, the squads would work in their own districts. In addition, there is a riot squad for special assignments and a headquarters group.

Daniel E. Kennedy, Jr. is captain of the first precinct and F. L. Heinrich is lieutenant. The second precinct is organized the same way, with Charles E. Berkebile, captain, and N. G. Ekdahl, lieutenant.

First meeting of the season was scheduled for Oct. 29 at the High School gymnasium. New members are being sought for the auxiliary police.

This winter, says Mr. Hulbert, there will be regular monthly meetings, with instruction in basic police work, a Red Cross first aid course and a pistol marksmanship program. All members of the auxiliary police will be given opportunity to shoot and to fire for qualification scores. The competitive shooting program in the New England Police Revolver League will continue.

Wayland Cubs Sell Wreaths

Wayland Cub Scouts of Pack 1 will sell Christmas wreaths again this year. The price will be $1.75 each, and each Cub has a quota of five to sell. The wreaths are the December theme. Samples will be on display in Collins Market.

Under the direction of the den mothers, the Cubs will also make up packages of toys and baskets of food, which will be turned over to the Kiwanis Club for distribution to needy families.

The Cubs will also go singing Christmas carols. The date for this has been tentatively set as Dec. 23. Wayland Pack Chairman is William Shannon and Cubmaster is John Bandelin.

On Nov. 4, the Cubs were taken by the den mothers on a trip to and through the Boston & Albany Railroad roundhouse at Allston. The outing was arranged by Parmelee C. Hill.

5th GRADE GIRL SCOUTS

Mrs. Philip Lane has been teaching girl scouts of the Intermediate Troop, 5th Grade, a knot course. Two terrariums are to be given to children who are shut in at hospitals or orphanages.

Hallowe'en

Parties, False Alarms, Signs Swiped, and Cash Collected

Halloween in Wayland, 1953:

The Kiwanis Club threw two huge parties, one at the High School for high-school-age kids, with 350 present, and another at Cochituate for younger children, with more than 400 attending.

For the older ones, there was dancing, with an orchestra, refreshments, a magician and a clown. The younger ones had clowns, magicians, a costume parade, tumblers, ice cream and cake.

Philip P, Farina was chairman of the committee in charge. Herbert R. Fallgren was master of ceremonies at the High School party and George R. Stockbridge at Cochituate. Richard A. Howard was sergeant-at-arms at Cochituate and Willis B. Ryder was the provost marshal at the High School.

Also on the committee were Robert M. Carson, Burton Fitch, Jr., William M. Griffin, A. M. Hatfield, Elmer Haynes, John R. McEnroy, George W. Shepard, Frank A. Smith, Fern Taylor, Otto E. Wallace and Robert Whaley.

LESS CONFUSION

They reported that there was less confusion than at yast year's party. Keeping the age groups separate seemed to help. They thought it would be worth while to run such parties each year.

An effort was made to alter the trick-or-treat racket. Through some of the churches, the young children were organized to collect money for the International Children's Fund of the United Nations. About 120 children, in both ends of Town, collected a total of $120.85. In some of the benighted regions of the earth, it was said, this amount will go a sensationally long way.

But not so many kids were out in costume. They were at the parties.

Three false alarms were pulled, says Chief Ernest H. Damon. Two were in Cochituate, one in Wayland. Auxiliary police were out in strength, in both ends of Town. In Wayland they picked up a Weston youth, suspected of pulling the false alarm, but they couldn't prove it on him.

There was a report that damage of $1000 was done to a house under construction on Sherman Bridge Rd. But the owner himself made no report to Chief Damon.

FEW SIGNS SWIPED

A few signs were removed. The one outside the Wayland Library was swiped a few days before Halloween, and later recovered. It had simply been unhooked. A sign removed from Old Farm Circle was recovered. A sign at Spring Hill Rd. and State Road East was removed. The sign, "40 Acres, Private", at the entrance to the premises of A. William Rowe, on Cochituate Rd., was destroyed.

That was about it. "I wouldn't call it too bad," says the Chief.

However, there was a hangover. On the following afternoon, a Sunday, two small boys entered the Wayland Center School and did damage to it with coal dust, lipstick, canned corn, glue and other materials. The culprits were discovered. They confessed and arrangements were made to pay about $250 for the damage.

Play for Children

A children's play, "Rumplestiltskin," will be given for the benefit of the Center School PTO on Saturday morning, Dec. 12 at the High School.

The play is being given by students of Wheelock College Drama Department. Tickets may be had from Mrs. Donald K. Tarbell, at Way 525.

True Wayland Bird Story

True story about a local woman who likes birds:

One day last month she suddenly saw a cat sitting in her bird feeder. She addressed the cat in harsh words. In fact, they say, she swore at that cat most horribly. And in the middle of her impassioned address two hunters in the nearby bushes, who thought she had seen them and was speaking to them, rose into view and sheepishly went away.

Boy Scouts Collect Scrap Here on Dec. 5

Saturday, Dec. 5 is scrap and waste paper day in Wayland. If the weather is fair, Wayland Boy Scouts will canvass Precinct 1 house to house to collect paper and metal which should be left in front of the house that day. If it rains, the collection will be Dec. 12.

Anyone with a station wagon or truck who wants to donate it with a driver should call Donald Tarbell secretary-treasurer of Wayland Boy Scouts, at Way. 525.

Wayland Red Cross Officers

Mr. Alexander M. Hammer of Lincoln Rd. was elected chairman of the Wayland Chapter of the American Red Cross at a meeting held on Oct. 21.

Other officers and chairmen chosen:

Mrs. Pierpoint Blair, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert J. Pfeiffer, secretary; Mr. Willard B. Dik, treasurer; Mrs. Francis E. Hanson, service groups; Mrs. Pierpoint Blair, home service; Mrs. John A. Brownell, canteen; Mrs. David G. Greenlie, production; Mrs. Arthur L. Kimball, blood donor.

Also Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dunning, disaster; Miss Emily Blair, first aid; Mr. Francis A. Fisher, fund; Mrs. Richard York and Mrs. Richard M. Potter, Junior Red Cross; Mr. John P. Hyland, publicity; life saving and water safety, Mr. Ernest M. Cherry.

Directors are Mr. and Mrs. Willard B. Dik, Mr. Charles G. Smith, Mr. William Hulbert, Mr. Archibald Cox, Mr. George Hodgkins, Mr. Raymond G. Manker, Dr. James Jandl and Mr. Schuyler Hollingsworth.

Benjamin W. Johnson 3d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin W. Johnson, Jr. of Cochituate Rd., was inducted into the U. S. Army at Boston on Oct. 12. Mr. Johnson attended Wayland High School one year. He was graduated from Cushing Academy in 1949 and from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy last June.

Crier Tops N.Y. Times

Approximately 800 persons have sent in $1 subscriptions to the Crier since it was announced that the paper was to be put on a paid basis.

This is such a generous response that the editors are overwhelmed. If the New York Times had such a deal from its readers, it would have a circulation of more than 3,000,000, instead of less than 1,000,000.

The editors will try to continue to put out a paper worth the confidence of its readers.

Report Cards Discussed At Cochituate P.T.O.

Mr. J. Warren Olmsted and Mrs. Reta Hubler discussed report card markings and Mrs. Donald B. Willard spoke about Children's Book Week at the meeting of the Cochituate School P. T. O. held in the Cochituate School cafetria Nov. 17. Mrs. William E. Irwin presided.

Mrs. Olmsted is chairman of a committee which has been studying the system of marking in the Center School for many months. A previous system there had been much criticized, and now a new one has been worked out. Mrs. Hubler, principal of the Center Schol, said the new system is now being used.

During last year, said Mrs. Olmsted, various marking systems were tried in the Center School. The simplest one had just one letter, either "s" for satisfactory or "u" for unsatisfactory.

One father, said Mrs. Olmsted, sent in his opinion in these words: "This report is up to me."

Three Hurt in Auto Crash

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. McMillen, of Stone Bridge Rd., and John Rooney, of Hawthorne Rd., were injured when two automobiles were in collision on Old Connecticut Path at the Mansion Inn driveway at 12:40 a.m., Oct. 26.

Mrs. McMillen, with a fractured ankle, was most seriously hurt. Mr. Rooney was reported to have a broken nose and Mr. McMillen to have fractured ribs. All were taken to Leonard Morse Hospital, Natick, in an ambulance. Chief Damon and night officer Edward J. Burke, with State police, were at the scene. Mr. McMillen is a well known builder. Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Fire from Smoking Strikes Again in Bed

Firemen were called to a house at the northerly end of Old Sudbury Road, shortly after 5 a.m. on Nov. 16, to put out a fire. Smoking, in bed, says Fire Chief Clifton Haynes, and that's only half of it.

Last June the firemen were called to the same house around the same time in the morning, for the same kind of fire. Smoking in bed, says the Chief.

In June, says the Chief, the victim received burns. In November he woke up, unhurt, and got a garden hose turned on the fire. There wasn't much damage.

TROOP 14, GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 14 members were scheduled for a hike and cookout on November 21. On Oct. 29 they entertained their mothers at a tea at the home of Mrs. B. H. Colby.

National Girl Scout week was observed at the Congregational Church under the leadership of Mrs. Frederick L. Heinrich, Mrs. Lyman O. Seley, and Mrs. Colby, and at St. Ann's Church under Mrs. James E. Amero and Mrs. Lawrence Collins.

71 Pre-schoolers in Junior Town House

Seventy-one nursery and kindergarten children, the largest number ever, are this year attending the schools run by the Junior Town House Association. Last year the number was 48.

The Town of Wayland has all it can do to keep the regular school system growing at its present rate, and has never had a kindergarten or nursery school.

In previous years, the Town House schools have been held in Odd Fellows Hall. This space has been outgrown, and this year the nursery school has been moved to the Dudley Pond Improvement Association quarters on Old Connecticut Path, near Pine Ridge Rd. Last year there were 18 nursery pupils, and this year with more room, there are 30. This year there are 41 kindergarteners, as against 30 last year.

Children have to be 6 years old to enter regular school. They may go to the nursery school at 4 and the kindergarten at 5. Three or four pupils in each of these Town House schools are on full or partial scholarships.

These schools run from 9 to 12, five days a week, with the same vacations as the regular school system. For the full year, the kindergarten tuition is $130, or $15 a month plus a $10 registration fee. For the nursery school, it's $106 a year, or $12 a month plus $10 registration.

The Town House Association, which receives money each year from the Community Fund, does not try to make money on this deal. It is one of the purposes for which the organization was established, 10 years ago.

Director of the schools is Mrs. Robert G. Paine, Jr. of Bow Rd., and her assistant is Mrs. Seth Johnson of Happy Hollow Rd.

Teachers are paid. Mrs. Ethel Bamforth is in general charge and teaches the kindergarten personally, with Mrs. William Hall. Mrs. Harriette Woodman and Mrs. Sheldon McEwan run the nursery school.

Transportation is provided by mothers' car pools. In addition, one mother each day helps out at each school, and many volunteers lend help here and there.

There is a scholarship committee, headed by Mrs. Allen H. Morgan, which is delighted to receive applications. The idea is to make these schools as available as possible, and some way can be found to take care of practically everybody.

HARRY DEXTER WHITE had no Wayland ties. The closest connection the CRIER research staff could find was that a man who used to work for White prior to World War 1, lives on Wayland St., Dorchester.

D.B.W. Says—

All About the Ruffed Customer

Now that the lead has ceased to fly past the eaves and the picturesque strangers in boots and khaki have taken their artillery and bottles back to the city, let us record a few notes on the 1953 hunting season in Wayland.

* * *

Cases of trespass, 347, but only one bad one. That was where the hunter used a bird feeder as a pheasant blind. It was a small blind, but the hunter was small enough to fit in it.

Oddest case of mistaken identity was when a hunter took a tattersall vest, hanging on a clothesline, for a mallard duck. He bagged one pair dungarees, one child's sock and one white slip, size 40.

* * *

The worst blow to business was when a real estate dealer was standing on the threshold of a ranch type house in a development, just about to make a sale. A hunter winged the customer as he was reaching for his checkbook. Seems the customer was wearing a collar and the gunner thought he was a ruffed grouse.

* * *

Four hunters from Boston were found wandering in the woods near Rice Road, consulting their compasses. They thought they were in New Ashford.

Best excuse: A hunter stuck his gun barrel through a wire fence and shot a sitting hen. He said, "I t' o' t it wuz a robin."

* * *

For 1954, a new zoning rule is proposed, to give every hunter from Boston two square miles of Wayland all to himself. Those boys need room. The Planning Board is considering it.

* * *

Results: Sixteen pheasants shot, out of 8,000 in Town. Eleven ducks. Three hundred whiskey bottles floated down the Sudbury River. Enough shells fired to annihilate the Chinese Army.

Typical bag: Two bluejays, one crow and a lesser chewink.

Missed completely, somehow: Town Hall, High School, the churches and juveniles pulling false alarms.

Prediction: On account of this year's marksmanship, by next year pheasants will be so tame and numerous they'll declare a butterfly-net season on them.

* * *

There was just one instance of a pheasant turning on a man. The bird charged and the man fled. He explained that he was startled, because he'd never before seen a bird bigger than a City Hall starling.

Town Beats S. A. Quotas

Both Cochituate and Wayland were far over their quotas in the recent Salvation Army fund raising campaign. With a goal of $592, Cochituate actually raised $856.40. Wayland's target was $1133 and actual collection was $1259.

Frank K. Hahn was Cochituate chairman and Mrs. George F. Johnson Jr. was treasurer. Robert L. Spang was Wayland chairman.

In the order of Greater Boston communities which beat their quotas percentage-wise this year, says Mr. Spang, Scituate was first, Cochituate second and Wayland third. Last year, Cochituate was first and Wayland second among the communities.

Cochituate Water Sinks Clipper Ship

Cochituate water, that stuff people swim in but nobody drinks any more, was blamed, 100 years ago, for the disaster which befell the Great Republic, clipper ship which was intended to be the masterpiece of the famous builder, Donald McKay.

The story, told in the Boston papers of Oct. 4, this year, was noted by Harold S. King of Cochituate.

It was on Oct. 4, 1853, at East Boston, that the Great Republic was launched, largest clipper ever floated.

The trouble was, they launched her by breaking a bottle of Cochituate water over her bow.

Donald McKay said they used water instead of wine out of deference to the temperance movement of the day.

However, the story told years later was that Cornelius McKay, son of the shipbuilder, and his cronies, got into the champagne and drank it up before the launching hour. Near at hand was the supply of Cochituate water, in the then new East Boston reservoir, and it was used.

The Great Republic sailed around to New York in gorgeous style, to be laden for her first trip across the Atlantic. But on the night of Dec. 27 she caught fire from a dock blaze and had to be scuttled where she lay.

Whether Cochituate water was responsible for this bad luck or not, it is no longer used for ship launchings.

Koch Works Being Shown

The architectural works of Carl Koch form part of the current exhibition at the DeCordova Museum in Lincoln through Dec. 10. Koch is well-known as the designer of contemporary houses in Lincoln, Concord, Weston and Wayland. Photographs and illustrations of those houses he built in collaboration with Gyorgy Kepes will also be shown. A collection of ink brush drawings by Juliet Kepes is likewise on display.

The watercolor show, for which entries are being received from all over New England, will commence Dec. 13.

News Chips from Timber Lane

A daughter, Barbara, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. Norton of Timber Lane on Oct. 26.

A son, David Lloyd, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Brownell, Oak St., on Nov. 6.

Mrs. Robert Owen of Timber Lane is visiting a sister, Mrs. W. B. Wiggins, in St. Louis, and Mr. Owen is visiting a brother, Edward K. Owen, at Cromwell, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Kleine of Washington, D. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver E. Everett of Wilton, Conn., have returned to their homes after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wright H. Everett of Timber Lane.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wayland, Jr. of Eden Road were Mr. and Mrs. T. Frederick Brunton of Wolfeboro, N. H., and Frederick Wayland, Sr. and Miss Louise Wayland of Andover, Mass.

Barrister Forgets Tie

Charles Gaston Smith, Jr. of Parmenter Lane, one of the best absent-minded attorneys in town, drove up to Wayland railroad station in a cloud of dust the other morning, just as the Boston train was coming down the track.

Smith got out, beaming at one and all, and announced to J. Reed Morss, "Well, we made it."

"Fine," returned Mr. Morss. "But where's your necktie?"

Cochituate Mothers' Club

In December the club members will be hostesses to the Ashland Glee Club, which will entertain with Christmas music. Committee in charge of this meeting will be Shirley Arnold, Nellie Holmes, Harriet Parmenter, Marjorie Bradley, Beth Marshall and Bessie Spencer.

Wayland High News

Three members of the Music Appreciation class, under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Radford, visited radio station WMEX. They were Jackie Slade, Jim McClellan and Marion Hall. Marion was interviewed by Jay McMasters on his disc jockey show and dedicated the recording, "Rags to Riches", to the cheerleaders of Wayland High.

The cheerleaders, Mary Ann Smith, Rachel Wheelock, Mary Ann Lundy, Jackie Masse, Patty Marrotte, Carol Lloyd, Mary Ellen DePaolo and Marion Hall, with Barb Vacaro as their captain, traveled to Westwood on the 10th to see Wayland High tie Westwood in a hard fought battle. Tommy Longtine made the touchdown for Wayland, with Dave Lamont running for the extra point.

On Monday evening, November 9, the football squad and cheerleaders were invited to Miss Shirley Stevens' home. Movies of the Westboro and Wilmington football games were shown. Students who attended were Maureen Carroll, Susan Robinson, Patty Marrotte, Rachel Wheelock, Shirley Stevens, Mary Ann Lundy, Al LeBlanc, Tom Longtine, Dave Lamont, Victor Graves and Ralph Marotte.

The Future Business Leaders of America had a guest speaker, Mrs. Mary Doyle of Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School, at their meeting on Thursday, November 12. Officers of the club are: President, Jean Richardson; Vice-President, Lillian Cookson; Secretary, Bonnie Bamforth; Treasurer, Marilyn Payson; Reporter, Mary Ellen DePaolo. Miss Maude Merrithew is the faculty advisor.

The Pigskin Revue, the annual football dance was held Saturday Nov. 21. Carol Lloyd was chairman of decorations and Bonnie Bamforth orchestra chairmen. Pat Lawrence was chairman of refreshments. Joan Cahill was chairman of the ticket committee. Members of committees were Pat McKnight, Evelyn LeBlanc, Barbara Munsey, Audrey Phyllis, Marion Hall, Mary Riley and Betty Nichols.

The Encyclopedia Americana has been added to the library reference shelves. Girls assisting at the desk in November were Joan Spencer, Susan Dusseault, Jane Frazer, Janet Keith, Carol Yarrish, Jane and Joan Cahill, Eileen Bresse and Marilyn Harnett.

On Tuesday, November 17, another occupational conference was held for seniors in Mrs. Lucille Champagne's and Mrs. Frances Flynn's classes. Engineering, nursing and merchandising were the areas discussed. These conferences were arranged by Miss Jean Nelson of the Guidance Department in co-operation with Northeastern University.

Co-Editors of the Senior Class Yearbook: Eugene Rumpel and Susan Dusseault. Faculty adviser, Miss Maude Merithew.

Assessors Explain Tax —

almost directed by the law, ot assess 100 per cent of a full, fair, market value of every piece of property. During the 1930's, in many cases, they did that. Their rule today is to assess 45 to 50 per cent of the fair value. Thus, a new house which has just been sold for $20,000 will be assessed at from $9,000 to $9,500. And the Assessors will have a look at the place.

* * *

A "full, fair market value" is the price which a buyer and a seller, without compulsion on either side, will agree upon. In the immediate post-war years, the Assessors say, there was compulsion. Many veterans and others had to have houses, and the prices they paid may not have represented voluntary prices.

MILLION DOLLAR BUSINESS

The Town of Wayland is now almost a million-dollar business. The gross budget for 1953 was $960,183.23.

The Town gets various sums from excise taxes, old age assistance, Federal grants, school building assistance, state taxes and so on. In 1953 the total from income of this kind was $374,000. The rest of the Town's income had to come from taxes on real and personal property. About two-thirds of the Town's income has to be raised at home. This year, the sum was $585,684. (Plus or minus cents.)

* * *

Mrs. John H. Hampstead of Park Ridge Rd., listed in the book as assessor's clerk, is in fact an assistant assessor, for all the world like the other assessors.

* * *

Mrs. Hampstead is the person who actually fixes the tax rate.

* * *

Along in April, she does a lot of arithmetic, involving the amount of money voted to be spent at Town Meeting, income and outgo, uncollected taxes, money due from outside, excess and deficiency fund and half a dozen other factors. She finally reduces it to the amount which must be raised by real estate and personal property taxes.

COMPUTING TAX RATER

Then she uses, says Mr. Mathews, a borrowed calculating machine and pencil and paper, and divides the amount to be raised, a smaller number, by the larger number, the total valuation. The result, they say, is the tax rate. Mr. Mathews says this final operation takes five minutes. This year the tax rate is $56. Next year, he says, off the cuff, it will be bigger. Wayland, like the United States, is getting bigger, better and more expensive.

Money voted at a special Town Meeting in any year goes over to next year's budget.

Some buildings are listed as "unfinished" on Jan. 1, the official assessment date. The Assessors go back later to check up on them, to see when they are finished. Some houses would be left "unfinished" for quite a while, to get a lower tax.

* * *

A tough problem is the personal property tax. This involves the valuation of furniture, radios, TV's, pewter, jewelry, watches, automobiles, rugs, pictures . . . anything inside the house. The law says everybody has an exemption of $5000 valuation on this stuff, and it also says he should file a return.

* * *

In fact, few do file these returns.

How much is the household stuff worth? What's the value of an 8-year-old radio? What's Mother's wedding ring worth, after 40 years? Is the chromo on the wall worth anything? The refrigerator cost $200, but who'd pay that for it?

MAY PROTEST

By the law, the Assessors can "estimate" the personal property valuation of anybody who doesn't file a return. When the householder receives this bill, he may file a form which argues, in effect, that he does not have personal property worth more than $5,000. Then the Assessors may ask to be allowed to enter. If the householder won't let the Assessors in to look at the jewels and the Old Masters, the Assessors write "Refusal" on the form and say nix, no abatement.

* * *

Mr. Mathews says it is a most unfair law. One person may admit he has personal property worth $6000, and pay a tax. Another with personal property worth $10,000 may list it at $3000, and pay no tax. "This law should either be scrapped or lived up to," says Mr. Mathews.

* * *

One final note. All live stock, except pets, are taxable, regardless of the personal property exemption. With an exemption for hens. Anybody is allowed to keep 15 hens without tax. And the arbitrary valuation on 15 hens is $1 apiece. (Never mind what chickens cost in the market.)

Wayland Postmaster Suggests:

People in the Wayland Postoffice often work 12 to 15 hours a day at the Christmas season, and therefore, to lighten the work and to expedite the flow of mail to residents, Postmaster Thomas E. Hynes suggests:

1. Small children be not sent in to get the mail. Sometimes they can't open the lock boxes, and sometimes they can't get outside the Postoffice after obtaining their mail. When this happens, the Postoffice employees have to quit their work to come out and rescue the children.

2. Instead of dumping all their Christmas postcards and letters into the office in a bunch, people might separate them into bundles by towns, cities or states. This would help.

Mr. Hynes says there are 515 to 520 lock boxes in the Wayland Postoffice, with another 200 families getting their mail by general delivery. This is a second class Postoffice. To make it a first class postoffice, there should be more business in it. It wouldn't hurt if everybody in Wayland Center would buy all his stamps here.

Mr. Hynes says a petition has been filed for a mail delivery system in Wayland. But this petition has gone to Washington, where all things go, and more petitions and squawks might help to speed the day when Wayland can have a first class post office and a door-to-door delivery.

Man Dies on Route 27

Harold J. Dunn, 54, of 252 Grant St., Framingham, was driving a delivery truck along route 27, near the aqueduct and Nisbet's store, near noon on Nov. 12, when he pulled over to the side of the road, stopped the vehicle and died of a heart attack.

Finds War Bond Wafted By Winds from Worcester

Two weeks after the windstorm struck Worcester, Miss Roslyn L. Schoenfield of Robin Hood Rd. took her two lady goats, Ditto and Feather, out for a short browsing trip in the bush near the Aqueduct, not far from Maiden Lane.

They were in the woods perhaps 200 feet. Then, says Miss Schoenfield:

"I looked back ten yards and I saw the face of George Washington. I thought it might be a tobacco can or something. But I thought I should be sure."

So she looked, and it was a Series E, $25 bond, belonging to Mrs. Frederick J. Underwood, of 105 Brattle St., Worcester.

"My blood pressure rose and I felt a thrill," says Miss Schoenfield. She picked up the bond, which was dry enough, and persuaded the goats to go home.

She wrote Mrs. Underwood a note, telling her about the bond. Mrs. Underwood wrote back. A few days later, Miss Schoenfield and Mrs. Ruth McLaughlin drove up to Worcester, saw Mrs. Underwood (a young woman in her 20s, mother of three small children), and returned the bond.

Hot Rods Cause Accident

Joseph B. Lukas of 77 Thornton Rd., Waltham, was driven off Route 30, on the Weston side of Oak St., near midnight of Nov. 10, by hot rods, and his automobile knocked down three cement fence posts. The vehicle was damaged but he was not injured.

NOT ALL THE RETURNS were in, but Kiwanis President Edward A. Veno said it looked as though the Kiwanis apple sale had been a big success. Nearly 300 bushels were sold, enough, it was estimated, to keep all the local doctors away until August 17, 1954.

Chief Has New Office

Police Chief Ernest H. Damon has a new two-room police station in the fire department building at Cochituate, complete with desks, chairs and telephones — the filing cabinets hadn't arrived — but he says he can't use it much beoause he can't be outside and inside simultaneously.

When anybody calls the police station, the call is transferred to the Chief's home. One of these days, he hopes, there'll be an inside man for the Police Department.

Gila Monster Here

Norman D. Harris of Rich Valley Rd. and the Boston Museum of Science entranced an audience of 100 persons, young and old, at the Wayland Library on Nov. 13. His lecture, entitled "Science Is Fun", was featured by display of a horned owl, a Gila monster and several kinds of snakes—all alive.

The lecture was under the auspices of Friends of the Library. George K. Lewis presided.

HERE'S THE WAY the new Happy Hollow School, now under construction, will look when finished. "It's a good school," says the Building Committee.
(Photo by John J. McCann)

Work on New School Begins

The contract for the new Happy Hollow School was signed on Dec. 1, the day after the Town Meeting which appropriated $603,000 for it, and work began on Dec. 3. Within a few days after that the whole appearance of acres of landscape had been changed, and even the outline of one wing of the school had appeared.

One part of the earth-moving job was taking down a wooded knoll, perhaps 40 feet high above the level of Maiden Lane and perhaps an acre in area. Bulldozers went to work on this at once. A road was cut into the tract from Maiden Lane and a wooden construction office was thrown up on the site.

BURNS IS CONTRACTOR

Contractors are C. R. Burns and Sons of Brookline. Clerk of the works, the man who oversees the job from the point of view of the Town, is Chester E. Sewell of Framingham.

Dr. Rexford S. Souder, superintendent of schools, says the completion date will depend on the weather. If there's an open winter, the school may be ready in September. If the weather is bad, it won't be.

Citizen Wants Old Mill Dam Removed

Peter Polito, of Concord Rd., one of the custodians of Wayland High School, has brought suit in Middlesex Superior Court to compel the Town to remove the Millpond dam. Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey says he alleges damages from flooding.

Hearing of the case has been set for the first Monday in February.

An early record of the Town says one Thomas Cakebread, a miller, started a grist mill at the site of the present dam in the Spring of 1639, the year after the Town was founded, and was given land as a reward for the service.

ADAMS CUT ICE

The mill, operated by various other persons, remained upon the site until well into the 19th century. Persons still living in Town can remember when a man named Adams cut ice on the pond in the Winter, and stored it in a big ice house nearby.

The bridge on which Plain Rd. crosses the north end of the pond used to be known as Whale's Bridge, from Philemon Whale, who lived there.

In recent years the pond has been noted chiefly as a wonderful skating place. It freezes early and smoothly.

Hunting Ban Article Goes Into Warrant

An article which would forbid hunting in the Town of Wayland is included in the March warrant, which closed Dec. 15.

This article, sponsored by the Woman's Club of Wayland, would not forbid hunting entirely, but it would prevent, to all intents and purposes, hunting in the Town by outsiders.

A local resident would still be able to shoot on his own property, and he could give written permission to a friend to shoot over his property. On Town land, a hunter would have to get written permission from the Selectmen.

DANGEROUS BEHAVIOR

One reason this article comes up is that the Town has grown to such an extent that it is becoming increasingly difficult to get 500 feet away from a house before firing a gun. Another reason is reports of dangerous behavior by strangers with guns, and narrow escapes by local residents from being hit by flying lead.

Bird lovers have been indignant, too, at the shooting of pheasants. Many have been feeding pheasants until they have become almost tame, and thus easy prey for any hunter who doesn't mind lurking near a feeding station.

Nearby towns are said to have similar rules, adopted recently for similar reasons.

Will Try Having Toll Road Avoid Wayland

A delegation from the Oak Street section visited the Massachusetts Toll Road Commission on Dec. 15, to ask that the route of the highway be placed a little south of Wayland, in open land, to avoid the one or two houses it would otherwise hit.

Rep. Howard S. Russell says Commissioner Benjamin H. Grout told the group that if it proved possible to vary the route it would be done. It was explained that it is partly a matter of avoiding too sharp curves in the road.

In the Wayland group were Wallace F. Jones, Maj. Alfred L. Mellor, Albert H. Potter and others.

Health Center Started

Work on the Parmenter Health Center, held up since Spring because of uncertainty about the route of the toll road, actually began on Nov. 30, says Carlisle D. Scotland of the trustees, when bulldozers went to work on the five-acre site at Cochituate Rd. and School St.

The cost is going to be around $150,000 and the job is supposed to be finished in July. Theodore Steffian of Boston is the architect, and the builder is the Eisenberg Construction Company of Boston. The plans are the same as those decided on many months ago.

The toll road, according to the first announced plans, would have obliterated the health center site. However, the trustees have received assurances that this toll road route has been abandoned, and the health center, a tremendous thing for such a small Town as this, is going to be built.

Registration Dates

Tentative schedule, furnished by Town Clerk Leila Sears, for registration of new voters from the annual Town Election of March 1 and Town Meeting of March 3:

The Registrars of Voters will meet at Town Clerk's office, Town Hall, on Monday, Jan. 25, from 2 to 5 p.m., and on Thursday, Feb. 4, from 8 to 10 p.m.

At Cochituate School cafeteria, Wednesday, Jan. 27, 8 to 10 p.m.

At American Legion Hall, Cochituate, Tuesday, Feb. 9, from 2 to 10 p.m.

Those wishing to register may also do so by appearing in person before the Town Clerk during her regular office hours at Town Hall.

Edison Tower Is Sabotaged

One of the Edison Company's power line towers just east of Glen Road blew down, probably on Dec. 17, after some person unknown removed the 16 big nuts on the steels rods which anchored the structure to its concrete base.

The Edison Company notified Chief Ernest H. Damon and the State police. As of Dec. 19, however, the Chief said there was no clue.

He added that three nuts had been removed from another tower, further down the railroad line. The nuts from the fallen tower, he said, were thrown 50 feet into an adjoining field.

TOP DAMAGED

The tower, 80 or 90 feet tall, landed just parallel to the track, without blocking it. The top of it seemed to be badly damaged.

Examination of the base of the fallen tower showed the rods bent over almost at right angles.

Each tower rests on a heavy foundation, apparently about six feet square, of concrete and piles. Fixed in the concrete of each base are eight upright rods, protruding upward a foot or so, at the four corners. Each rod is perhaps an inch and a half thick, and is threaded at the top.

Each tower is built something like an erector set, but the whole business is fastened to these steel rods. On the top of each rod are screwed two hexagonal nuts, each perhaps three inches in outer diameter, set one on top of the other.

NEAR GLEN ROAD

The pole the unknown person operated on was the second towards Tower Hill from Glen Road. There are fields on either side of the track at this point, and no lights nearby.

J. C. Massie, long-time plumber, who lives on Glen Road, said the right wrench for the job would be a big Stilson. The one the construction workers use is three or four feet long.

The interesting thing about this piece of destruction is the long fight the Town had with the Edison Company over the building of this very power line. The

June Smith Plans a $2100 Kitchen and Then Wins It

Mrs Albert F. Smith, of 21 West Plain St., Cochituate, hit a $2600 jackpot last month and was wondering about the income tax.

She entered a contest run by the Crosley Company. The game was to redesign an existing kitchen, putting the company's products in appropriate places. Mrs. Smith, who thought of going to art school once, sat up late nights last Summer, planning and measuring, and last month it was announced that her picture had won first prize in the Boston area contest.

She won a large sink, a garbage disposal, a dish washer, a room air conditioner, a stove, refrigerator, deep freeze, radio, a lazy Susan and metal cabinets alow and aloft, plus $500 to pay for installing the stuff in her 12 by 15 kitchen.

Before the company paid off she was visited by a detective, who had her sign an affidavit to the effect that she was indeed the person who had entered the contest.

Mrs. Smith, whose first name is June, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton of Hammond St., North Natick. She was graduated from Natick High School and attended a school for laboratory technicians.

Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, also, of 21 West Plain St., is a first lieutenant in the Army in Germany. He served through World War II and has been overseas nearly two years on this hitch. He went to Wayland High School two years and was graduated from a Newton vocational school. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a son, Lawrence Albert Smith, 8, who goes to Cochituate School.

Lieut. Smith was born in Cochituate and so was his mother, whose father was Freeman Dunham of Cochituate.

Mrs. Smith's reaction to the news that she had won the contest? Says her mother-in-law:

"She howled. She screamed. She was elated."

Wayland League Will Study Town Meeting

Town Meeting will be the study of the Wayland League of Women Voters in January. Local affairs chairman Mrs. Roger P. Stokey will be assisted by Mrs. Dunbar Holmes, Mrs. D. B. Haagensen, Mrs. Sheldon Kennedy, Mrs. Clinton W. Lee and Mrs. Parmelee C. Hill. Mrs. Charles J. Owen and Mrs. Robert F. Carlson will tell of their actual experience in getting a "no hunting" article in the Town warrant.

Operations of Town Meeting will be presented for discussion by Mrs. Arthur Emerton, Mrs. A. H. Woodcock, Mrs. John T. Howard, Mrs. David Trageser, Mrs. Howard S. Russell and Mrs. Rudolph Bruce.

Town Meeting parliamentary law will be reviewed by Mrs. David C. Stewart, Mrs. William F. Griffin, Mrs. Bruce F. Kingsbury and Mrs. Kemp B. Reade.

What happens at Town Meeting will be discussed by Mrs. T. R. Magoun, Mrs. Roger Stokey, Mrs. J. F. Heavey, Mrs. William Hammond and Mrs. John L. Bandelin.

Letters to the Editor

Urges Firearms Article

To the Editor:

Certain citizens of Wayland have petitioned the Selectmen to include in the warrant for Town Meeting in March this article:

"No person shall fire or discharge any firearms or explosives of any kind within the limits of any highway, park or other public property except with the permission of the Board of Selectmen, or on any private property except with the written consent of owner or legal occupant thereof."

This article is not aimed at residents of Wayland who like to hunt. Under its provisions a man still may shoot on his own land and permit others to do so.

It is aimed at those irresponsible persons from out of town who crowd our precincts every autumn with no apparent concern for law or property. State hunting rules and private posters — these they either don't know about or ignore.

Of the towns adjacent to Wayland, three — Weston, Concord and Lincoln — have in self-protection already restricted hunting. Now people in Sudbury are talking about doing the same.

A bullet through the window of a home in Wayland is a warning. If we want protection, we must do as other towns are doing: allow shooting only by permission.

The law proposed will give voters in Town Meeting next March the opportunity to safeguard their homes and children against further irresponsibe shooting.

Sincerely
Katherine C. Sears

[Editor's note: Proponents of this Article say they would be glad to have dissenting or supporting opinions expressed. This letter column is wide open to anyone who wants to speak his mind on the subject of hunting in Wayland.]

Studying Sidewalk

The matter of building a sidewalk along Old Connecticut Path, probably on the East side, from Mansion Inn to Davelin Rd., is being studied by the Highway Department. The subject comes up on account of the new Happy Hollow School, to which many pupils will walk.

Two Does Visit High School

Two white tailed does ambled up to Wayland High School along the driveway from Cochituate Rd. early on the afternoon of Dec. 3, throwing all who saw them into a tizzy. Students and teachers on the front of the building rushed to the windows to watch. The deer rounded the north end of the building and made off through the swamp towards the Sudbury River.

Deadline for Nomination Papers

Final dates for filing nomination papers for Town office:

1. For filing with the Registrars of Voters:
   Monday, January 25, 1954 — 5 p.m.
2. For filing (same papers) with the Town Clerk:
   Monday, February 1, 1954 — 5 p.m.

All signatures on the nomination papers should conform as nearly as possible to the manner of signing in the Voters' Registration Book, says Town clerk Leila Sears. This becomes increasingly important, as the growth of the town increases the duplications and near-duplications of names on our voting lists.

News Chips From Timber Lane

Cadet Arnold Swaggerty, Wayland High '52, now of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy at New London, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Samuel Cooper of Timber Lane, at Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of Timber Lane, who have been visiting relatives at St. Louis, Mo., have gone to San Bernardino, Calif., to visit Mr. Owens' brother.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Stewart Boague have returned to Rutland, Vt., after visiting Mrs. Boague's brother, Henry T. Wilson, of Timber Lane.

Maj. Alfred L. Mellor of Eden Road will report to Joyce Kilmer Field on Jan. 21. He has been assigned to Newfoundland.

The Cochituate and Wayland fire companies had answered nearly 220 calls by the middle of December, as against 171 in all of 1952. Many false alarms swelled this year's total.

THE 13th REPORT of the Special Commission on the Structure of State Government has recently been issued on the field of Public Health. Executive Director of the Commission is William A. Waldron, of Draper Rd., also a School Committeeman and Secretary of Town Crier, Inc., publishers of the CRIER.

ADULT EDUCATION CLASSES PLANNED

Enthusiasm in the Fall series of adult woodworking classes sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House has decided the School Department to undertake a state-aided adult education program.

As a starter, the School Department is taking over the Town House's adult woodworking project and, effective with the Winter term, will offer woodworking classes on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for ten weeks commencing Jan. 19 and 21.

TUITION $5

Tuition costs for the winter series of ten adult woodworking classes will be $5.00 per person. The classes will be under the direction of the High School shop teacher, Ralph Pearson, and will be held in the High School shop. Participants may register for either the Tuesday evening or the Thursday evening series of classes, both of which will run from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Registration may be accomplished by telephoning the School Superintendent's office (Way. 294) or by writing he Superintendent, C/O Wayland School Department, Wayland, supplying the registrant's name and address and indicating which class series (Tuesday or Thursday evening) is preferred.

VARIETY OF EQUIPMENT

Everyone who has been participating in the Fall program has been enthusiastic about the woodworking equipment available: band saw, drill press, lathes, jig saw, circular saw, belt sander, accessory hand tools, etc. As has been the case during the project's experimental phase, women as well as men will be welcome to join the classes.

BAKER WINS $5

C. O. Baker won the $5 door prize at the big whist party held by the Wayland Firemen's Relief Association on Nov. 21 at the new Cochituate Fire Station, and promptly returned the $5 to the firemen's fund.

The fire apparatus was moved outside the house for the occasion. Thirty-eight tables were set up and there were 90 prizes. The cake with the miniature fire truck and firemen, made and given by Mrs. Gabriel Lindbohm, was won by George D. Jones Jr. of East Plain St. A set donated by Mr. Frank Carter was won by Mrs. Francis Lafrance of West Plain St.

Appoint Wood and Hardin to CD Posts

Civil Defense Director W. R. Hulbert has announced two appointments in the Wayland Office of Civil Defense:

Ronald H. Wood, a member of the Town Board of Public Welfare, has been named to head the Civilian War Aid Division. His responsibilities will be primarily of a welfare nature, such as the caring and feeding of disaster victims. In his work, he will cooperate closely with the Warden Section since emergency housing will be primarily a responsibility of the block wardens who are being organized under the direction of Chief Warden Marjorie Hanson in Precinct 1 and a committee consisting of Mrs. Benjamin Beale and Mrs. Harold Taylor in Precinct 2.

Francis J. Hartin, of 105 Main Street, Cochituate, captain of the Cochituate Fire Company, will head the Auxiliary Fire Department for the Town. He hopes to recruit two companies of auxiliary firemen, approximately 18 for each precinct, and with the cooperation of the regular members of the Fire Department, under Chief F. Clifton Haynes, these men will be trained in the use of the apparatus and be available to supplement the regular men in case of emergency. Director Hulbert has pointed out that under the Civil Defense Act, the Governor can order all or any part of the Town's Fire Department to serve in other areas. In such event, the existence of a trained reserve of auxiliary firemen would be essential.

Emergency feeding of victims and refugees in time of disaster will be directly under the supervision of the Red Cross Canteen, headed by Mrs. John W. Brownell of Concord road.

CORRECTION

In last month's Crier the hours of both Wayland and Cochituate Libraries were listed, with an omission: both are open during the hours given, and also on Friday nights from 7 to 8:30. Give us time and we'll get even bigger mistakes in here.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

FICTION: The Heart of the Family, Goudge; Hornblower and the Atropos, Forester; Love Is a Bridge, Flood; The Lady of Arlington, Kane, and The Man Who Wouldn't Talk, Reynolds.

GENERAL: Gone with the Windsors, Brody; Thurber Country, Thurber; The Fastest Hound Dog in the State of Maine, Gould; The Greatest Faith Ever Known, Oursler; Vermont Tradition, Fisher; Seven Steeples, Henrichsen; The Private Dining Room, Nash; The Traitor and the Spy, Flexner; A Treasury of Railroad Folklore, Botkin and Harlow; Lost Pony Tracks, Santee, and Captive Surgeon, Lippa.

COCHITUATE

Enchanted Cup, Roberts; Life Is Worth Living, Sheen, and Bargain with God, Savage.

TOWN OFFICIALS carry their cases to the voters: Rexford S. Souder, superintendent of schools, Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey, and Frederick G. Perry, chairman of Planning Board, in action at November 30 Town Meeting.

In Town Meeting Assembled

It was the biggest meeting ever in the Town's history, according to such authorities as Selectman William A. Loker and Finance Committee members Robert M. Morgan and George V. Deverell. In the biggest vote, 655 were counted as standing up, and there were many others present, including some who were not entitled to vote.

* * *

The Town voted $603,000 for the Happy Hollow elementary school. The vote was 498 to 42. A two-thirds vote was needed.

* * *

Allan R. Finlay, of the School Building Committee, explained the problem. A new school was needed, he said, because the present schools are full now and will be over full next September. This school, he said, was a compromise between the best possible and the cheapest possible. It was a good school, he said, and maintenance and insurance costs on it would be low.

* * *

Gregory Cooper, an opponent, said an adequate school could be built for $400,000. He said this building did not need to be as nearly fireproof as it was planned to be, and that the showers in it suggested it was to be used for other than school purposes. He moved that a secret, written vote be taken on the issue. By a standing vote, this motion was rejected, 321 to 106.

LOT SIZES INCREASED

Sharpest difference of opinion came on the Planning Board's articles for increasing the size of house lots in Town. The first of these articles called for increasing present lot sizes of 15,000, 22,500 and 30,000 square feet to 20,000, 30,000 and 40,000 square feet, respectively. After debate, this measure was carried, 562, to 93. A two-thirds vote was required here, too.

* * *

After this vote, the opponents of more stringent zoning began to leave the hall. The vote on increasing frontages was 420 to 9. After that, the vote on creating a new 60,000 square-foot, 210-foot frontage classification of lot was passed, 336 to 16. Then, the article specifying the 60,000 square foot zones was passed without opposition.

* * *

The 60,000-foot zones, members of the Planning Board say, will take up from a quarter to a third of the habitable area of the Town. However, these zones are in regions now without Town water and, generally, on dirt roads.

* * *

Many of the articles were passed unanimously. The Town voted to make up deficits in certain departments. It increased the appropriation for garbage collection. It voted $3,500 to complete the landscaping of the library wing at the Cochituate fire station. It voted to establish a committee to look into the regional school problem.

* * *

On the platform, as a guest, was Lawrence Grove, clerk of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

* * *

A deal which had to be explained was that by which the Town gets a kickback of $3500 on its insurance bill, which is getting to be pretty big. In former days local insurance brokers were given the commissions on the Town's insurance business. However, things are now different, and the agency which actually does the business offered to give the commissions back to the Town as a donation, to be applied to the support of the Library. The Library budget, it was said, would be adjusted downward to reflect this contribution. The article passed without opposition.

The question of a permanent Fire Department was referred to a committee.

The Selectmen were authorized to sell at public auction the land of the old fire station on Harrison St., after the demolition of the building.

The Town voted to acquire, "for municipal purposes," two parcels of land, one at Cedar Crest Rd. and Indian Rd. and one at Hawthorne Rd., for a total of $1500. It was explained that these properties were dilapidated and that it would be best to acquire them to prevent further occupancy.

Mrs. Hanson Chief Warden

Mrs. Francis E. Hanson has been appointed Chief Warden of the Wayland Office of Civil Defense for Precinct 1. Her assistants in the organization of more than 100 wardens in that precinct include Mrs. Robert J. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Louis B. Jones, Mrs. Nathaniel Cannistraro and Mrs. W. R. Hulbert.

In Precinct 2 a committee headed by Mrs. Harold W. Taylor and Mrs. Benjamin Beale is also commencing organizational activities of the warden section.

Hunting Ban —

Weston has had a no-hunting rule for several years.

It was believed there might be opposition to this article from local hunters, who could feel they should not be penalized for the misdeeds of trigger-happy gunners from out of town.

NEW DISTRICTS SOUGHT

Another article, sponsored by the Planning Board, calls for establishing the principle of neighborhood business districts of non-objectionable nature in areas where the residents want them. This article does not, however, call for any specific changes in the present zoning regulations.

The question of establishing more business districts has come up in past Town Meetings. Under this articles, such businesses as groceries, hardware stores, dry cleaners and so on might be set up in places where there was a demand for them, or where they might serve the public convenience, if the nearby public so decided.

TO ACCEPT STREETS

Other articles call for accepting various roads as Town streets. Those named are Orchard Lane, Old Farm Road, Davelin Road, Sylvan Way, Hayward Road, Happy Hollow Road, Rice Spring Lane, Goodman Lane, Juniper Lane and a portion of Pequot Road. Accepting these roads means that the Town will be responsible for their maintenance. Some of these changes would be made under the Betterment Act.

Another article calls for carrying out the recommendations of the Wage and Salary Committee recently named to classify Town jobs and establish a wage and salary scale for Town employees.

The Committee to Revise the Town By-Laws, of which Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey is a member, will also report. Mr Stokey doesn't know how old the present by-laws are, and he knows of only two dog-eared copies in existence. He has one copy and Selectman John Leavitt has the other.

Red Cross Course

During this winter, at a date to be announced later, the Wayland Red Cross will conduct a standard first aid course of 22 hours for all those interested in extending or renewing their skills in this field. Interested persons may call Miss Emily Blair, Wayland 80.

MRS. L. WILLIAM BERTELSEN of Glezen Lane has been appointed to the Board of Health to take the place of Benjamin Beale of Rice Rd., who resigned because he is going to move out of Town.

CHORUS' MESSIAH NOW AN ANNUAL XMAS EVENT

Handel's Messiah has become an annual Christmas event in Wayland. Since 1946 the Community Chorus has performed this classic, and again, on Dec. 13, Chester Williams, dean of the New England Conservatory of Music, led his chorus and orchestra through the familiar Christmas music. As always, the audience of 400 was well sprinkled with children.

Soloists this year included Ann English, soprano; Raymond Smith, tenor, and William Flavin, bass. Doris Priest, of Sudbury, who sang at Wayland's first performance seven years ago, sang the recitatives and solos for contralto. Mrs. Walter B. Parker was concertmistress of the orchestra which was assembled for the performance.

The chorus also sang two Spanish carols and Hodie Christus Natus Est by Palestrina.

Wayland members of the chorus and orchestra include:

Sopranos: Mrs. Ralph W. Conard, Mrs. Allan R. Finlay, Mrs. John B. Gregory, Mrs. Max Griffin, Miss Hope Hubbard, Mrs Robert G. Paine Jr., Mrs. Kemp B. Reade, Mrs. Henning A. Rydberg, Mrs. David C Stewart, Mrs. Malcolm K. White.

Altos: Miss Margaret Ballou, Mrs. Harold E. Belles, Mrs. David G. Bernard, Mrs. Charles Campbell Jr., Mrs. Arthur S. Eldredge, Mrs. Dean Hocking, Mrs. Charles R. Jameson, Mrs. J. O. Post Jr., Mrs. Norman A. Staples, Mrs. Andrew Thomas.

Tenors: M. E. Berrett, Milton Bevington, William G. Burt Jr., Arthur S. Eldredge, John B. Gregory, Lawrence W. Jones, Kenneth Larkin, Caleb Roehrig, Malcolm K. White.

Basses: D. L. Bartholemew, Henry C. Brown, B. H. Colby, Hugh F. Colliton Jr., Herbert R. Fisher Jr., Ray W. Harris, W. B. Parker, J. O. Post Jr., David A. Trageser, C. R. Jameson.

Orchestra: Mrs. W. B. Parker, Elmer Kane, Mrs. Edmund H. Sears, Albert VanRennes, H. G. Pearson, R. Cooper.

WAYLAND GARDEN CLUB

"Alpine Gardening" will be the subject of a talk to be given at the January meeting of the Wayland Garden Club by Mr. Alexander Heimlich. Meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert M. Morgan, Old Sudbury Road, the Club will gather for Mr. Heimlich's talk at 3 p.m. Following the program, tea will be served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Alfred C. Whiting, chairman; Mrs. John L. Bandelin, Mrs. Dunbar Holmes, Mrs. Horace B. Gray, Mrs. William Hammond, Mrs. G. Seth Nichols, and Mrs. Frederick Whiteside.

FORGIVENESS WEEK AT WAYLAND LIBRARY

Miss Ruth Scannell, Wayland Librarian, has designated the week of Jan. 3 through Jan. 9 as "Forgiveness Week," in which anybody who has an overdue book may return it without having to pay a fine. The Library wants the books more than it does the money.

McCarthy Hunts Santa Claus Believers Here

A threatened purge of believers in Santa Claus was narrowly avoided over the Christmas holidays. A bulletin was circulated in the area depicting a certain Senator garbed in Santa Claus suit and challenging its readers with the question: "DO YOU NOW. or have you EVER believed in Santa Claus?

'Have you ever ORGANIZED a Christmas PARTY? Have you ever associated with 3 wise men, or even one wise man? Have you ever been led astray by a FELLOW-TRAVELLER under the mistletoe? Have you ever been on anybody's Christmas LIST?

"Have you ever organized a New Year's PARTY? Do you believe New Year's Day is a HANGOVER FROM THE PAST? On New Year's morning do you ever feel like: Going UNDERGROUND, staying UNDER COVER, moving into a padded CELL?

"If you can answer any of these questions in the Affirmative, you're LEFT with our best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a JOEYOUS New Year! (If you were DUPED into following Santa's LINE, you may take refuge in the Fifth Commandment.) House to House Investigating Committee, The Bruces, Wayland, Co-chairmen. This is your CARD—Carry it!"

XMAS SING

A big Christmas sing around the Wayland Library steps was scheduled for the evening of Dec. 23, with Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Friends of the Library taking part, all under the sponsorship of the Junior Town House Association. The Kiwanis Club provided the Christmas tree. Mrs. Malcolm K. White was musical director.

Woman's Club to Hear Saville Davis on Jan. 5

The annual evening guest meeting of the Wayland Woman's Club will be held at the High School gymnasium on Tuesday, Jan. 5, at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Saville Davis, American news editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will speak on "Eisenhower and Molotov". Mrs. Kimball Powning, president of the club, will preside. Members are privileged to bring guests, and interested townspeople are invited to attend, with the payment of the nominal guest fee.

Following the evening's program, refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. John B. Gregory.

Correct Addresses, Please

Here's another suggeston from Thomas E. Hynes, Wayland postmaster:

Will people who live in the postal areas of Cochituate, South Lincoln and Saxonville please try to have their correspondents use their correct addresses when writing to them?

He says that 300 to 400 letters a day often come to Wayland Post office to be re-directed to these other postal districts. It's an imperfect system, to be sure, but that's the way it is and incorrect addressing of mail causes delays of three or four days in delivery and causes lots of extra work.

Oxford — Tibbetts

Miss Marjorie E. Tibbetts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loran Tibbetts of Winthrop, was married on Saturday, Dec. 19, at the First Baptist Church, Winthrop, to Mr. Lewis A. Oxford, son of Mr. Arthur Oxford and the late Mrs. Oxford of Woburn.

Mr. Oxford, Tufts 1950, teaches mathematics in Wayland Junior High School. Miss Tibbetts attended Simmons, B.U. and the Chandler School.

Mr. and Mrs. Oxford left for a wedding trip to Bermuda and returned to live in an apartment at 79 Washington Ave., Waltham.

MUTUAL AID WIRING IN

Wiring to connect the Wayland Fire Department with the Weston Department in a mutual aid system has been completed, says Chief Clifton Haynes, and the Weston Department has already responded to three or four alarms in Wayland.

Weston, with its permanent department, responds automatically to calls from the boxes near the schools and churches in Wayland Center. Wayland has not yet gone to Weston, but stands ready to go whenever Weston sends a call for help.

In addition, both departments answer calls from the box near Red Coach Grill, on the town line. Weston gets into Wayland Center almost as quickly as the Wayland apparatus, says the Chief, and gets to the town line more quickly . . .

COCHITUATE GARDEN CLUB provided the new Cochituate branch library with Thanksgiving arrangements of fruits and vegetables and with a Christmas tree.

NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING GOING UP IN THE CENTER

The new Wayland telephone building, now being built on State Road West at Pelham Island Rd., will be 27 feet 4 inches by 28 feet 4 inches, of wood frame construction on a concrete foundation, with asbestos shingle siding and asphalt shingles on the roof.

No people will work it at all, except for a man now and then to hook up a new line or tinker with wires.

More than 60,000 feet of cable, overhead and underground, is being installed in Wayland. Crews have been digging and working all around the Center.

William J. Chicoine, manager of this telephone district, says that all the Wayland operators who want to continue with the company have been given other jobs, of their own choice, Two, he says, will retire.

All of the new instruments, he says, have been installed in both Wayland and Cochituate. The old ones are still in use and will be until midnight of April 3, a Saturday, when somebody will throw a switch and the new Olympic and Elmwood phones will be in use. After that, in due time, the men will come around and take away those hand cranked affairs.

APRIL TELEPHONE RATES

After April 3, telephone subscribers in Wayland and Cochituate will be able to call any number in the present Natick, Wayland, Sudbury and Waltham (Weston) exchanges without any extra charge.

Although the base rates will be increased, those who frequently call between Wayland and Cochituate will save. The Town agencies should save. Those who seldom have occasion to call outside their own exchanges may not save. In any case, here are the old and new rates:

Wayland private line, residence, now $3.75 a month. Will be $5.

Cochituate (Natick) private line, residence, now $4.25, will be $5.

Wayland two-party line, now $3.25, will be $4. Natick, two-party, now $3.50, will be $4.

Wayland business phone, private line, unlimited service, now $7.50, will be $13.00. Natick ditto, $10.00, will be $13.00.

THIS DIAL SYSTEM TELEPHONE OFFICE at Rutland, Mass., looks just about the way the new Wayland telephone office on State Rd. West will look, says the company.

Rural business lines: Wayland, $4.75 to $5.75. Cochituate, $5.25 to 7.75.

Measured service (none now in Wayland), in Cochituate, 60-message units for $6. Will also be offered in Wayland. New rate, 65 messages for $6.50. (This service is mainly for businesses whioh have mostly incoming calls.)

"Thank You," — Mr. Hynes

Postmaster Thomas E. Hynes of Wayland says he wants to thank all his customers for the way in which they responded to the request in last month's Crier to be careful about their Christmas mailings of cards and letters. He says people put their cards in the postoffice in bunches, by cities and states, as asked, with stamps in the right places, with the result that the postoffice employees were able to get home an hour or two earlier each night than they usually could at the Christmas season.

In the Churches

St. Ann's

A new altar of white Italian marble has been erected as a memorial to the late Rev. George McColgan, former pastor. Monsignor Daniel T. McColgan, executive director of Nazareth, Jamaica Plain, presented the altar, in memory of his brother. Formerly in the Home For Destitute Catholic Children, Boston, the altar was removed and presented to St. Ann's, Wayland, with the permission of Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, when the Home moved to new quarters in Jamaica Plain.

The Holy Name Society of St. Ann's Parish holds its monthly meeting the second Thursday evening of each month.

Saint Ann's Guild meets the first Tuesday evening of each month.

More than two hundred young people attended the Winter festival and dance, given by the newly formed Catholic Youth Organization of St. Ann's Parish, held Saturday evening, Dec. 12, at the Sudbury High School. Dancing was enjoyed, to the music of Bob Donahue and his Collegians. The door prize of $5 was won by Miss Katherine Regan of Cochituate, and the Spotlight Dance prize of a box of candy was won by Miss Hester Lewis of Sudbury.

The time of the regular week-end Mass at St. Ann's Church has been changed from 7:15 a.m. to 7 a.m.

At St. Ann's Christmas Fair and Food Sale, held Saturday, Dec. 5, in St. Ann's Hall, Mrs. Evelyn Linnehan won a beautifully dressed doll, Miss Judy Owen a hand-made quilt, and Mrs. Francis of Sudbury a home-made fruit cake. Financially and socially the Fair was a successful event. Mrs. Doris La France and Mrs. Emily Logan were co-chairmen.

Methodist

The Community Methodist Church, Rev. George C. Gutekunst, pastor, announces an active program for the month of January.

The first Sunday of the New Year, Jan. 3, the Sacrament of Holy Communion will be administered at the 10 o'clock service.

An important meeting of the Official Board of the Church will be held at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 5, in the Fellowship Room.

A family supper at 6:30 p.m., followed by an interesting and informative evening study of "Jeremiah," will be features of the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, on Thursday, Jan. 7.

The Men's Club's monthly supper will be held at 6:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 14. Officers for the new year will be elected.

First Parish

Youth Sunday will be celebrated in the First Parish Church in Wayland on January 24, when members of the Wayside Fellowship, the High School age group, will conduct the morning service. The young people will have complete charge of the service, from the call to worship, through preparing and delivering the sermon, to the benediction. Officers of the Wayside Fellowship are: Dan Kennedy, president; Mary Willard, vice-president; and Betsy Tanger, secretary-treasurer.

Two social events are planned by the First Parish Church for the month of January. On Sunday, January 17, right after dinner, the children of the Church School, their parents and teachers, will have a coasting party (the weatherman willing), on the hill in back of the Hodgkinsons' on Fox Meadow Lane in Woodridge. The coasting party is under the auspices of the Religious Education Committee.

For adults, a Box Supper and Square Dance will be held in the Vestry on Friday, January 15, at 7 p.m. Dick and Beth Best, famed square-dance team, will provide the music and the calls, assisted occasionally by Ray Manker, with a call from down Texas way.

Congregational

The Annual Meeting of the Trinitarian Congregational Church will take place at the church, Monday, Jan. 11, at 8 p.m., preceded by the serving of dessert.

Reports of officers and committee members. Action will be taken on the reccommendation of the Building Committee.

St. Zepherin's

The annual Christmas party for the children of the Sunday School took place Sunday, Dec. 20, at the church hall. Moving pictures were followed by a visit from Santa, who distributed gifts and candy.

The Catholic Women's Club held its annual Christmas party on Dec. 9 at the church hall. Santa led the group in the singing of Christmas Carols and then distributed gifts to all. Chairman of refreshments was Mrs. Mary Mailhoit of North Natick.

Installation of officers of the Catholic Women's Club will be held at the Mansion Inn on Jan. 13. Rev. Otis Kelly, Spiritual Director of the Club, will be a guest. New officers: president, Mrs. Rose Ward; vice president, Mrs. Catherine Matzilevitch; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Dwyer, and secretary; Mrs. Marie Grupposo. The retiring officers are: president, Mrs. Dorothy Smith; vice president, Mrs. Anastasia Finn and Mrs. Helen Teague; treasurer, Mrs. Gertrude Carrol, and secretary, Mrs. Bernice Mullens.

Winners of the contest conducted in the Sunday School were announced Dec. 13. Awards were presented by Father Kelly. A wrist watch was presented to Tommy Leonard, who was first. Sterling rosary beads were received by Judy Smith and Betty Graves, who tied for second. A medal on a sterling chain was won by Ellen Dwyer, third.

Fiction . . .

A Case of Murder

An original short story by Marilyn Riley, Wayland High School senior, and member of Frances M. Flynn's English 12 class.

It happened so suddenly! She had no time to think. He lay at her feet, dead . . .

What could she do? Call the police? No, they would not understand; how could they?

She must keep her wits about her. She must not crack under the strain, but what can she do?

He looks so messy, blood all over the floor. Wait a minute! What's that on her dress, a blood stain! She must wash it out as soon as possible.

The body must be disposed of. She will have to wait until dark, for no one must see her. That would be disasterous! The crime had been committed; there was nothing to do but wait; wait until the right time came and then get rid of the body.

It would be ages before anyone would find it; why maybe no one would ever find it. But that's too much to hope for, someone would find it, eventually, and then what? Would she be suspected? That's the chance she must take, it was a long shot, but still she must take it.

Someone is knocking at the door. Does anyone else know? Did they hear the crash as the trap came down upon his neck? She hated him, but would people understand how he had tormented her day and night. Kept her awake, caused her more agony than she could bear.

* * *

Her husband walked through the door. The first thing he noticed was the body. He smiled and said, "I'll get rid of it for you. dear; don't worry."

He took the mouse and the trap outside and returned. His only comment was, "Now we'll sleep tonight."

Edison Towers —

Town didn't want it and fought five years against it. The company persisted and won the court battle.

One local comment on this affair was, "We knew lots of people were sore about the power line, but we didn't know anybody was as sore as this."

TIGHTEN BASE NUTS

After this pole went down, Edison workers went along the line checking the rest of the towers and tightening all the base nuts.

This incident also caused many local persons to examine the towers closely, and such examination showed this:

The towers are built Jacob's-ladder fashion, with metal strips crisscrossed from the corner posts on all four sides. Any agile boy could climb from the ground to the top of one of them with ease. The wires for carrying the power haven't been strung yet, but when they are up, climbing could be a perilous proceeding. Parents living near the line have been giving their children stern warnings to keep away from those towers.

The saboteur didn't have to do another thing after removing those nuts. A strong west wind was blowing. At some time — Chief Damon says nobody knows when — the tower just naturally blew over, towards the east. The damage was discovered when the first Boston-bound train came along on the morning of the 17th.

News Round-Up

SUZANNE WALES, who was badly burned on Sept. 27 in the explosion which destroyed her home on Edgewood Rd., is recovering slowly at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and it was thought she might be able to go home after the holidays. Although she has had, and is still having, a very bad time, her spirits are reported generally good. Her hands are so tender she has to be fed.

The new Wales house is coming along fine. It will be much better than the old one and should be ready for occupancy before long. Many and many a local resident and organization has helped build it . . .

CAROL DEANE, Wayland High School 1952, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Deane of 49 Edgewood Rd., was elected to the Student Council of Boston University Junior College. Next year she's going to Sargent to study physiotherapy . . .

When the new dial system is installed, the telephone company promises, demonstarations of its use will be given in Wayland and guided tours through the new telephone building will be conducted . . .

TOWN COUNSEL ROGER P. STOKEY reports that the Town has won its fight to keep big gravel trucks off West Plain St. The Town had denied the use of the street to the New England Sand and Gravel Company of Framingham, which took the matter to Middlesex Superior Court.

The court found in favor of the Town. Then the company appealed to the Supreme Judicial Court, which, last month, dismissed the appeal.

LUCILLE G. CHAMPAGNE, who teaches social studies in Wayland High School, wants a supply of current events magazines — Time, Life, Newsweek, Nationa Geographic and others — for use in her classes. Here's a splendid chance for residents to get rid of their magazines. Have the boys and girls carry them to school . . . .

EDWARD J. CRONIN Secretary of the Commonwealth came out one night last month and presented the Wayland Kiwanis Club with its corporate charter. It's now Kiwanis Club of Wayland, Inc. . . . New members of the Club are Ozzie Garvey and George Jones . . . Many members have been helping to renovate the Boy Scout building at Lake Cochituate.

WAYLAND KIWANIS CLUB will dine at 6:30 each Tuesday night in January, February and March at Red Coach Grill. During the rest of the year the Club will meet at Lobster Haven . . .

Apt Pupil Pulls Hook and The Balloon Goes Right Up

A 9-year-old pupil received permission to go to the basement at 1:40 p.m. on the dark afternoon of Dec. 2, and as a result, in the words of Principal Elmer R. Kane of the Cochituate School, "We had the best fire drill the school ever had."

Down in the basement corridor was a fire alarm box, red, with a white handle. The white handle was on a door which, the boy said later, was ajar.

Anyway, he pulled down the white handle.

Inside, cocked at an angle, was a brass pointer. Embossed on the back of the box were the words, "Pull down lever to stop."

"The boy gets an A for reading," says Mr. Kane. "He followed the intructions exactly."

He pulled the lever down. It took no physical effort. But the character who lifted the lid on Pandora's famous box got no more spectacular results.

The fire bell inside the school began to ring a mad alarm.

SUSPECTS INSPECTOR

Mr. Kane, sitting in his office on the second floor, thought a State inspector had probably slipped in and set ofi the alarm, just as a test. He took a quick look around and saw that none of the sprinklers had gone off.

The children, 387 of them, and their 12 teachers, hopped up and went into their fire drill routine.

The pupils designated as fire wardens checked the fire doors. All were okay.

A few seconds after the school alarm bell went off the air horn on the Cochituate fire station, diagonally across the street, began to blast. It blew 15, the school number.

The have frequent fire drills at the school. But the fire alarm doesn't ever sound.

Nevertheless, says Mr. Kane:

KIDS RESPOND

"The kids responded beautifully. They formed their lines and went out without talking. pushing or commotion. No panic whatever. They marched into the yard, to the places they were supposed to take, and stood there silently."

Two minutes after the lever was pulled the Cochituate fire trucks were at the school building, and firemen were running around inside to see what was up.

Not only were the Cochituate firemen there. According to the Fire Department, this is what happens when the Cochituate School box blows in:

Cochituate station sends two pumpers and a service truck, the latter containing lighting machines, gas masks, ropes and other rescue equipment.

The Wayland station sends two pumpers.

Natick sends a pumper and a ladder truck, with a full complement of men, to cover in at the Cochituate station.

Weston sends apparatus to cover in at Wayland.

In all, seven pieces of apparatus, with a mile of hose, showed up outside the Cochituate school.

TAKES 70 SECONDS

Mr. Kane looked at his watch when the bell sounded, and timed the operation.

"The building was emptied in from 65 to 70 seconds," he says. "The best previous record was between 2¼ to 2½ minutes."

After some sleuthing, the culprit was discovered and he confessed. "I did it and I don't know why," he said. He said that after the bell started to ring he ran up the stairs to his room and marched out with he rest, unnoticed.

His case was turned over to the Board of Fire Engineers, the Chief of Police and his parents, and the seriousness of pulling false alarms was impressed upon him.

"He's a good boy and a good student," says Mr. Kane. "He gets an A in reading and a D in deportment."

Final score on the Wayland Kiwanis Club apple selling project was $1212 gross, $300 net.

DUDLEY POND IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION threw a Christmas party for neighborhood children under the age of 12 on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 19. A whist party held earlier provided the wherewithal.

The Planning Board says it okayed 251 new house lots in 1953. Few of these lots have been built on, as yet, but they represent, possibly, 500 new school pupils and 1,000 new residents . . .

MOTHERS' CLUB MAKES $156 OUT OF NOTHING

Members of the Cochituate Mothers Club, who had promised to buy shades for the new home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Wales, now being built to replace the one destroyed by an explosion last Sept. 27, raised the money by parlaying $4 worth of costume jewelry material into $156.

Says Mrs. Russell E. Deane:

"We promised to buy the shades. We didn't have any money but we had to make good. So I went to a place called Jewelcraft in Framingham, where they sell you the materials for making costume jewelry at home. I told the man I'd buy the stuff if he didn't want to give it for advertising, and he thought he'd give it. It would have cost about $4.

"Then I made up a set of a pin, earrings and a bracelet, and we raffled it off. We sold every ticket, at 25 cents apiece.

"We had our meeting at the Dudley Pond Improvement Association on Dec. 2. The Ashland Glee Club was there. Shirley Arnold, who's president, asked one of the Glee Club girls to make the drawing. She did, and out oame the name of Miss Helen England of Somerville. She's my niece, and they said, 'It's in the bag!' Helen only bought two tickets and some had bought $5 worth.

"So we sent $100 to the hospital for Suzanne Wales and we're spending the rest for the shades for the new house and for some other little things."

Barter System Still Works

A Wayland woman who keeps a horse recently gave to a friend in Brookline, whose hobby is raising flowers, two bushels of the finest country fertilizer.

In due course she received, as a return gift, a dozen American Beauty roses.

It goes to show, it is believed, what can be done with the barter system.

Thru the Supermart With Ma

She's off! With a week's income in her handbag.

She's chosen a trundle cart, a snappy job with wire wheels. No. She doesn't like that one. She picks another. She tries it. Doesn't like the transmission. Tries four, takes one.

Now she's into the vegetables. She's pinching the bottom of a melon. She's cavorting in the carrots. She's fondling the spinach. She buys! A plastic, unbreakable bag containing spinach.

Now she's in the canned goods. Turnip soup she takes. Chicken soup she leaves. Why? Because it tastes better, no doubt, and therefore does not build character.

She rounds the turn into the meat department. Ma, see the steak! The pork chops! The roast beef!

She takes liver and stew meat.

Here she goes into the soap alley. At least, it used to be soap. Now it's detergent. See all the brands! Flish, Flash, Flush, Flesh and Flosh. She buys enough Flush to wash that family next door.

She suddenly stops. Return to vegetables. She picks up a 40-pound Hubbard squash. Nobody in the family likes squash. But this is only a nickel a pound. That's two bucks, if anybody's interested.

She ankles down the primrose path to kitchen wares. She studies the pattern of some potholders. Looking at pot holders naturally reminds her of the living room curtains. She takes a walk around the corner to the dye department and gets two packets of Clash, the thrifty new coloring agent.

What delicious cereal tastes the most like hay? Ah Clunks! Two large economy size bales of Clunks she buys.

She crawls into the fish area. See the swordfish, Ma! See the mackerel! The halibut!

Finnan haddie she gets. She has the man run it through a wringer, to make sure it will be good and dry.

Dry reminds her, naturally, of dishes. She goes back to kitchen ware and buys a rubber apron.

Ma, there's no sugar in the house!

She ignores the sugar and invests in a carton of prunes.

Another cart she takes. Fifty pounds of potatoes, 12 cans apple.. sauce, lettuce, cucumbers, oranges, plastic knives and forks, a bottle of cod liver oil, a carton of paper towels.

She travels a mile and five eighths, in a hither and yon direction. It takes her an hour and 53 minutes. When she finished paying the man $38.39, three strong boys bend under the weight of junk they carry out to the 1947 sedan. The food allowance for the week is gone. There's still nothing in the house to eat.

AFTER BLACKOUT COFFEE

Mrs. Flora M. Cody, chief Wayland telephone operator, wants to extend a public thank you to Mrs. Kendall Dickey, who came over to the telephone office with hot coffee for the girls after the blackout of Friday night, Dec. 18.

The power was off in the telephone office from 6.39 p.m. until 9:07. All calls had to be made by hand. "Like cranking a Model T," says Mrs. Cody. The girls worked as long as they could, then took a breather and came back again. And when it was over, Mrs. Dickey arrived with the coffee.

MRS. McMANUS DID SAME IN '38

It was Mrs. Dickey's mother, Mrs. Thomas McManus, who brought coffee and sandwiches to the operators on the night of the hurricane in 1938.

Incidentally, Mrs. Cody says that people might as well relax when the electricity goes off. If all the lights in a district are out, the Edison Company will have been notified, and the trouble shooters (not to be confused with policy-makers of the corporation) are on the job. It helps, at such times, if people do not make unnecessary telephone calls.

Some suggested that maybe the blackout restricted to Wayland only was retaliation by the Edison Company for the recent sabotage of the tower at Glen Rd. But in fact the repair crews were out in force, working hard in the dark and cold.

Crier Deadline Feb. 17

Due to the short month, a holiday and a March 1 Town Election, the deadline for CRIER news and ads is Wednesday, February 17.

A HANDSOME TROPHY to be given the winner of the annual Wayland — Weston football game has been provided by Post 6260, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Wayland. It is expected that the trophy will do a certain amount of traveling between the two towns, but officers of the Post hope it will spend most of its time right here in Wayland.

Historical Society is Now Ready for Members

The Board of Managers of the Wayland Historical Society has completed formalities of organization and is now ready to receive applications for membership, which should go to Mrs. John A. Brownell, treasurer, of Concord Road.

The newly-formed Society means to go to work looking up the records and relics of the Town, a full-scale job nobody has ever tackled before. A great deal of valuable material exists, but it's hidden away. The vault in Town Hall is said to be crammed with ancient documents whose contents are practically unknown. Types of membership:

Annual, one person, $2; annual, family, $3; annual, person under 18, $1; life membership for one person, $25.

Wage Committee to Give Report

One of the most interesting and constructive measures to be voted on at March Town Meeting will be the establishment of some sort of permanent committee to keep Town employee's wages in line with each other as well as with those of other communities.

Establishment of such personnel boards in Natick, Concord, Winchester and Wellesley has already resulted in more equitable relationships between wages. They have also given Town employees confidence that they are receiving the going rate to be paid for similar jobs in similar communities.

COX CHAIRMAN

At Town Meeting last year it was voted to establish a committee to study the Town's wage structure. Archibald Cox, of Glezen Lane, was appointed chairman. Other members of the committee are Dominic Anzivino, John J. Simoni, Edward A. Veno and John A. Brownell.

Their recommendations will be announced in a report to be distributed with the Town Warrant.

Principal objective of a permanent personnel committee would be to set up and maintain a wage system through a central personnel office as is done in any business. Employees performing similar types of work in different departments would be paid at uniform instead of at random rates. By tackling the job now it would be possible to straighten out various inconsistencies without too much difficulty, contrary to what would be the case later on when the Town payroll has grown.

The board would have no control over the aggregate amount spent by any department on wages or the number of its personnel. It would simply establish and maintain job classifications and rates at which all employees would be paid.

New Office, Wages, Meters To Come Up in Town Meeting

Kiwanis Asks For Up-to-date Mailing List

Kiwanis Club would like to bring its mailing list of men and women in the service up to date. For over a year the Club has been mailing them Town Criers free of charge.

Families who have not sent in names and addresses or changes of address of servicemen should do so at once by writing Willis Ryder, Wayland. Those servicemen who have returned to civilian life should also notify Kiwanis so that their names will be removed from the mailing list.

Rep. Howard Russell Will Not Run Again

Howard S. Russell, Wayland's Representative in the Legislature, announced last month that he would not again run for reelection. His statement:

"To the Citizens of the Tenth Middlesex District:

"Five years ago you elected me your Representative to the Massachusetts General Court. This was a high honor, and your action in re-electing me twice since has added to that honor. Through these three terms it has been my steadfast purpose to carry out my duties conscientiously, and to meet the opportunities of the position with energy, sound judgment, and adherence to principle.

"The heavy and growing burdens of the office and the sacrifices entailed in fulfilling its duties have now forced me to decide that in justice to my family, my health, and my private interests, I should close this public service in your behalf with the coming legislative session.

"Therefore this letter is written to inform you that I shall not be a candidate for reelection in 1954.

"For the kind expression of so many friends who have suggested that I continue in office, I feel sincere appreciation. To the Town Committees of the four fine Middlesex towns of Hudson, Lincoln, Sudbury and Wayland I owe deep gratitude for their faithful, hardworking support all the way. The voters of the district have stood by me loyally, and I thank them.

"I can wish nothing better for my successor, whoever he may be, than such generous friends and supporters.

"It has been a pleasure to serve this most intelligent and considerate Tenth District, and I shall always carry with me a kindly feeling for the four towns that compose it and their friendly and public spirited people."

Frank Larson Is New Finance Committee Member

Newest member of the Finance Committee is Frank A. Larson of Fuller Road, Cochituate. His appointment brings the membership of the Committee up to seven, the number authorized at a recent Town Meeting.

No-School Signal at 7 A. M.

The No-school signal will hereafter be sounded half an hour earlier than formerly. It used to be at 7:30 a.m. for all schools, but now will blow at 7. The no-school signal for elementary schools only will remain at 7:30 a.m.

The matter of building a new Town office building to replace the present antiquated Town Hall will be brought befor the March Town Meeting, the Finance Committee says, but with no request for action this year.

Instead, it will be proposed that the building should be built in 1955. It would house the Town offices and the Wayland Fire Company and look much like the new municipal building at Cochituate. It would be located on Town-owned property in Wayland Center, back of the present bus shelter on the State Road. There would be no auditorium in it.

The present Town Hall, it is said, lacks space, is in poor condition and is a fire risk. It contains no sprinklers.

ARTICLES IN WARRANT

Some items of general interest which are scheduled to come up in the Warrant:

The so-called "no hunting" article.

A proposition to hire an outside firm to do one complete job of numbering all the houses in Town.

A report by a committee, headed by Archibald Cox, named to survey and classify salaries of Town employees. Wage and salary changes, for some elected officials and for many appointed employees, based on what are believed to be this committee's recommendations, will be asked by the Finance Committee.

A move to have water meters installed in all houses, over a period of several years. Proponents say metering is a fairer way to set water charges than the present, and that it should serve to stop waste. Price per house, $30, installed.

A long sidewalk along Old Connecticut Path West, to be built for pupils of the new Happy Hollow School, may be asked. The road curves a good deal and motorists go fast on it.

Report of a committee on putting fluorides in Town water.

An extension of the limited commercial district, to be asked by the Planning Board.

Purchase of the Wayland dump.

Articles asking for a continuation of a program of land acquisition by the Town.

Dr. Rexford S. Souder, Superintendent of Schools, said he thought the committee appointed to study the regional school situation would not have any definite recommendations to make at this Meeting.

Accident Insurance Available

Portal-to-portal accident insurance on a group basis has been arranged by the School Committee, and will be available for every child in the schools at $1.50 for 18 months, from Feb. 1 until Sept. 15, 1955. Parents have until Feb. 8 to take out this insurance.

The policy covers practically everything that can happen to a child between the time he starts for school and the time he gets home, provided he gets home within an hour.

Registration Deadline Feb. 9

New citizens who wish to attend the Town Meeting in March may register during the Town Clerk's scheduled office hours. There will also be two evening registration sessions: Tuesday, Feb. 4 from 8 to 10 p.m. at Town Hall, and Thursday, Feb. 9 from noon until 10 p.m. in Legion Hall, Cochituate.

Deadline for March CRIER is Feb. 17.

How the Carrie Nation Sank in Lake Cochituate

A Cochituate resident recalls the tale of the wreck of the good boat Carrie Nation on Lake Cochituate, one night years ago, and wishes somebody could find the poem written by the late Daniel Maloney to celebrate the event.

Swimming and fishing were not allowed in the lake, years ago, but boating was. One night a group of citizens put out in the Carrie Nation, well equipped with refreshments, for an evening of pleasure.

Alas, however, the Carrie Nation suddenly opened her seams and sank. Fortunately, she went down in a shallow place and no lives were lost, although the beer was. And somewhere around Town may be a copy of the poem, "The Sinking of the Carrie Nation", which named names and incidents connected with the wreck and was a great local literary success.

Letters to the Editor

Defends Hunters

To the Editor:

What would the members of the Woman's Club of Wayland say if they were told that they could not use the highways because less than 1% of the town's drivers were driving recklessly? Yet that is comparable to the restrictions they are trying to impose on hunters in Wayland. It is a fact that less than 1% of the hunters violate game laws (Pat Harty's column Boston Sunday Globe January 3, 1954) and undoubtedly many of these violations are caused by excessive posted property. What possible damage can a hunter and his dog do in thick swamps, well away from dwellings?

However, the great majority of landowners in Wayland and surrounding towns post their property against hunting. By doing this the landowner is deliberately preventing the hunter from hunting game which is justfully and lawfully his and does not belong to the property owner. It is well to remember that if the sportsmen had not originally imported the bird there would be no pheasants for the ladies to protect.

Now the members of the Woman's Club are advocating a measure which in my opinion will only deepen the breach between the landowner and his neighbor the hunter. Why can't we people in Wayland do our own thinking and try to be cooperative with the sportsmen instead of being antagonistic? If we start thinking along these lines the most plausible answer to the solution is that presented by the State Conservation Department. They will, at no cost to the landowner, post his property with signs which will read as follows:

SAFETY ZONE
HUNTING WITHIN 500 FEET OF DWELLINGS IN USE IS UNLAWFUL. THE REST OF MY LAND IS OPEN TO SPORTSMEN WHO COOPERATE WITH ME.

.....
Landowner

The great majority of Massachusetts sportsmen are a grand bunch of fellows who will more than cooperate if given the chance. Let us not condemn them all because of a few who are inconsiderate. I would personally be glad to arrange to have land posted by the Conservation Department this next hunting season if they would send me their names and addresses.

Let us be a progressive town, but let us be progressive in the right direction.

LESTER O. HOLMAN
Concord Road

To the Editor:

I don't know about the horsey set, criticized in a recent letter mailed to many local residents, but here are the recent figures on horses. According to the Town Reports, there were 23 Wayland horses in 1952, 27 the year before that and 35 the year before that. At this rate, there will soon be more horsey people than there are horses.

Eohippus.

MARCH OF DIMES

Wayland collections for the March of Dimes, up to the middle of January, amounted to $515 from 185 families, and the campaign was not scheduled to end until the first of February.

B. Allen Benjamin of Concord Road, chairman of the campaign committee, said that contributions will be received up to Feb. 15.

Among those who assisted chairman B. Allen Benjamin were Eleanor Benjamin, Laura Ferguson, Betty Jones, Alyce Fraser, Yvonne Hedin, Olive Grey, Rita Bagnulo and Mary Cook of the Cochituate Mothers Association. Also Marjorie Gombos, Betty Turner, Shirley Lewis, Dorothy Schuette, Doris Emery, Polly Potter, Dicka Ryder, Grace Haskins, Catherine Cochrane, Ruth Heinrich, Eleanor Pearson, Alice Morgan and Marian Gierasch, and Cub Scouts of Den 2.

CHARLES W. GOODELL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Goodell of Concord Road, is a senior at the Belmont Hill School, where he is editor-in-chief of The Sextant, the school magazine.

WILLIAM E. IRWIN, of Cochituate, was elected new Mohawk District Chairman of Algonquin Council.

A few of the fire alarm boxes in Cochituate date back to 1879.

Town Hall News

The Fire Department answered 223 calls in 1953. Back in 1948 it had only 97. More people, more false alarms. Only seven house fires. Most of the calls were for grass, woods and brush fires, many started by incinerators . . . Representative Howard Russell has filed a bill in the Legislature for the reconstruction of the bridge over Sudbury River on Old Sudbury Road . . . .

Residents of Woodridge want their area put in the 60,000-foot zone. They, not the Planning Board, are making the request . . . There's a proposition to have the Town acquire the land now being used as a dump on State Road West. At present the Town has no title to the land . . .

Thayer Rudd, who used to be a member of the Planning Board before he moved to Summit, N. J., dropped in at Town Hall the other evening. Said he forgot to resign when he left. Also said he wished he was back in Wayland . . .

Homer MacDonald, building inspector, issued permits for 181 new houses in 1953. Greatest number ever. The builders set the cost of this new construction at $2,128,500. This compares with building value of $1,203,000 in 1952 and $405,000 back in 1949 . . .

Latest estimates, or guesses, set the Town's population anywhere between 6,000 and 7,000. The rapid growth is reflected in demands for more police and fire protection, more schools, more roads, more everything . . .

William A. Waldron, member of the Wayland School Committee, recently wound up his job as Director of the Special Commission on the Structure of the State Government. He's going to resume his law practice . . .

Sudbury and Lincoln voted to form a regional school district and build themselves a new high school . . .

Grayce Addresses Garden Club

A speaker from the Audubon Society, Mr. Robert L. Grayce, will address the Cochituate Garden Club at its February 11 meeting at the Cochituate Methodist Church, 2 p.m. His subject will be "Wild Life At Home". Chairman of the hostess committee for the day will be Mrs. Harold Marston.

Simpson Mansion Dismantled

The old house on the south side of Old Connecticut Path next to Mansion Inn was dismantled, pushed over, burned up and bulldozed out of existence last month, and thereby hangs an almost forgotten tale.

In its latest phase, the house was headquarters for Herb Snow's day camp. At some time before that, it was the summer home of the late Judge Henry C. Mulligan of the Natick District Court. (This part of the world then rated as a Summer resort. The Judge and his family could come over by horse and buggy or by trolley.)

OWNED BY MARRS

But on an atlas of 1875, now owned by John Connelly, of Cochituate, the house shows up as the residence of D. F. Marrs. And D. F. Marrs was the father of Evangeline Elisabeth Thurston Marrs.

Enter here Michael Hoage Simpson, born in Newburyport, who founded the Roxbury Carpet Company in Saxonville around 1850.

On June 1, 1882, according to the records dug up by Town Clerk Leila Sears, Michael Simpson, then aged 72, was married to Elisabeth Marrs, then 26, by Rev. Lucius R. Eastman Jr. in the Plymouth Church, Framingham Center.

Before the wedding, or after it, Mr. Simpson, who gave his occupation as manufacturer, built a magnificent home for his young bride on a small plain overlooking Dudley Pond, next door to the bride's family home. The place was so grand that it was known as "The Mansion", Mr. Connelly remembers, and today, somewhat altered, it is the Mansion Inn.

The bride, says the record, was born in Canton. It was her first marriage, the bridegroom's second. Tradition has it on the two stone gateposts at the entrance to the mansion driveway were the two letters, H and Y, in honor of two Simpson sons who went, respectively, to Harvard and Yale.

This driveway came out just at the intersection of West Plain St. and Old Connecticut path, an impossibly dangerous place in the automobile age, and it was blocked off some years ago and is now unused.

LIVED IN MANSION

The Wayland Town history, in the Library, says the wedding occurred in 1880 (apparently a mistake) and that Mr. Simpson died in 1884. Mr. Connelly remembers that the young widow lived in the mansion for some time, but what became of her finally is lost to the record. From Mr. Simpson, presumably, came the name, Simpson's Corner, now carried on the busses.

In the Marrs house, they say, was a huge fireplace, so big people could walk inside and sit on benches at right angles to the fire. It was a noted landmark back in the days when Old Connecticut Path was a winding dirt road. It was destroyed as part of a housing development project on the Snow property.

Obviously, this story of Michael Simpson and his young bride is incomplete. More of it later, as it can be discovered. And if any old time resident of Town has information about the house, Michael Simpson or Elisabeth Marrs, will he share it with the Crier?

Cochituate Girl Scouts

Girls of Troop 60 folded surgical dressings on Nov. 10 at the Cochituate Nursing Home. Members of the troop are Betty Revell, Carol Wood, Diane Knowlton, Elaine Gladu, Jean DeWolfe, Mary Jane Confrey, Kathy Ringer and Judith Marston, all of the sixth grade, and Gale Johnson, Judith Parker, Mary Regan, Linda Lawrence, Jean McNeill, Jackie Allen, Linda Spencer, Diana Hiltz, Patty Frelone and Roberta Boesenberg, all of grade five. Kathy Ringer is the troop scribe and Mrs. Edgar Knowlton is the leader.

Mrs. John J. Simoni, deputy commissioner of Natick Girl Scouts, with Mrs. Alfred Swift and Mrs. Edgar Knowlton, attended a training session for Girl Scout leaders at Wellesley, Nov. 19. Mrs. Simoni and Mrs. Knowlton also attended sessions of the Boston College of Girl Scouts on Nov. 3, 5, and 12. Mrs. Simoni was one of the 8000 delegates to the National convention at Cincinnati in Ocober.

Troop 60 made place mats for Thanksgiving for the Chochituate Nursing Hpme on Nov. 17, and on Nov. 21 had a roller skating party at the Wal-Lex Rink in Waltham.

Mrs. Frank Cornell is the leader of Troop 48, Mrs. Philip Harrington of Troop 40 and Mrs. Swift of Troop 49.

WALES IN NEW HOME

The citizens' committee which was formed on Sept. 27, 1953, to help the family of John H. Wales. made homeless that day by an explosion which destroyed the home and seriously injured Suzanne Wales, 17, wound up its activity on Jan. 10 at a meeting held at the home of Fern Taylor.

Earlier that same day the Wales family was reunited in its new house, which was by no means complete but was comfortably livable.

Theodore R. Magoun, chairman of the committee, gave a resume of what had been accomplished by way of helping Suzanne and helping to build the new house. Alfred J. Perodeau, treasurer of the committee, reported that receipts had totalled $1,422.75 and that he had written three checks, disbursing the entire amount.

Money and labor were contributed by so many persons and organizations, said chairman Magoun, that it would be unfair to name any without naming all in a prohibitively long list.

Suzanne, said Mrs. Wales, was expected home from the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital before Feb. 1.

Meantime, on Dec. 12, 1953, Suzanne's brother Paul, who's in the Navy, was married to Jacqueline Miller of Coronado, California, at Yuma, Arizona. Paul, now stationed at the Fargo Building in Boston, plans to make his home in Cochituate or Natick.

Slipcover Course

County Extension Service courses in How to Make Slipcovers and Furniture Refinishing will be given in the Spring in Cochituate if enough people are interested, it was announced at the January meeting of the Cochituate P. T. A. Each course will consist of three two-hour meetings. Those interested should apply to Mrs. William E. Irwin, 2 Centre Street, Cochituate.

Town Ballot Boxes Are Old, But Good

Town Clerk Leila Sears says the Town's two ballot boxes, both vintage of 1910, were inspected recently by a serviceman, whose comment was, "Whew, they're in good condition!"

To Describe Meeting Rules

Members of the League of Women Voters plan to distribute from door to door a leaflet on the technique of Town Meetings, largely for the benefit of those newcomers who have lived in cities or outside of New England.

This publication will be the result of studies made during recent weeks by various League groups under the direction of Mrs. Roger P. Stokey, local affairs chairman.

The study of Town Meeting will be continued during February at a number of unit meetings.

Mrs. Philip T. Lane, membership chairman, says the membership is now at an all time high of 159, plus five associate members. Newest members are Mrs. Wallace H. Knowlton, Mrs. William P. Ready, Mrs. R. E. Eldridge and Mrs. W. Floyd Wilkinson.

The associate members are John A. Brownell, Rudolph Bruce, Richard A. Howard, Rexford S. Souder and Frederick P. Walther.

Mrs. Charles J. Owen of Moore Road has been appointed chairman of voters service to take the place of Mrs. Richard Best, resigned.

ROBERT M. MORGAN, of old Sudbury Rd., has been appointed a director of the Merchant's National Bank of Boston.

High School PTA To Meet Feb. 8

The High School P.T.A. will hold its Winter Meeting at the High School library on Wednesday, Feb. 10 at 8 p.m. Walter E. Scott, who is in charge of the Regional School District in the Sturbridge area will be the speaker. Mrs. Rudolph Bruce will preside.

The concert by the Framingham Concert Band, held in December under the sponsorship of the High School P.T.A., netted $280, which will go towards buying uniforms for a Wayland High School Band. The total sum needed, it is said, is around $1500, to outfit a fair-sized band.

The P.T.A. Scholarship Committee, the one which will consider the candidates for the P.T.A. scholarship, consists of Mrs. U. Robert Merikangas, chairman; Nancy Tanger and Edward F. Thorburn.

Annual Membership Drive By Junior Town House

Robert G. Paine Jr., president of the Wayland Junior Town House Association, now in its 11th year, announces the annual membership campaign which will consist of one form letter sent out to everybody who may be thought interested.

Family membership, open to everybody in Town, is $3. Checks may be sent to George K. Lewis, treasurer. Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis is chairman of the drive. The Junior Town House, a unique organization, was founded by a group of local residents which included, among others, Charles F. Moore, a publicist who is now one of President Eisenhower's speech writers.

It sponsors Wayland Scouts, 200 boys and girls, a dancing class, 100 youngsters; a Summer workshop, with 250; and nursery and kindergarten schools with 75 attending. Each June, partly as a money-raising event and partly for fun, it runs a big strawberry festival and square dance on the grass outside the High School.

Two Way Radio, Tappers for Fire Alarm

What looks like the solution to the Town's fire alarm problem, to be created by the change to the telephone dial system, has been worked out by the committee appointed after the Nov. 30 Special Town Meeting to consider a permanent Fire Department.

In brief, the scheme calls for having all telephone fire alarms from Wayland or Cochituate go directly to the Natick Fire Department dispatcher, who's always on duty.

The previous system planned was a double Red Network setup, one in each end of Town. The trouble with that is that it's just possible every one of five or six firemen would be absent when the alarm came in. In fact, says Chief Clifton Haynes, this has happened two or three times in Cochituate.

Under the plan which will be proposed at the March Town Meeting, there will be a special telephone number for the fire alarm. The person who discovers a fire dials that number, telling the Natick dispatcher where the fire is.

The dispatcher touches a switch which sounds Box 17 or Box 61, depending on whether the fire is in Cochituate or Wayland.

Then the dispatcher opens a telephone circuit to the fire station at Cochituate or Wayland. When the first fireman arrives, he tells him where the fire is, and the truck can roll.

Further to improve the system, it is proposed that a number of tappers be installed in the homes of firemen, particularly of those who live so far away from the fire stations that they have difficulty in hearing the horns. Some of the firemen already have tappers, installed at their own expense.

Another part of the plan is to have radio transmitters and receivers installed in each of the Town's two new trucks and in the Chief's automobile, with receivers in the two fire stations. These radios would be on the same wave length as those of the Natick and Sudbury departments. Sometimes, at present, the apparatus gets sent to the wrong place by misake, and radio would enable such errors to be corrected more quickly.

Along with these proposed measures goes the proposal that the job of numbering all the houses in Town be done at once.

For a fire in the night, the volunteer fireman awakened by tapper would hop into his clothes, jump into his automobile and go to the fire station, where he'd find the location of the fire. The only difference between volunteer firemen and permanent firemen would be that the volunteers would sleep in their own homes instead of in a fire station.

Members of the committee are Ernest H. Damon, John W. Leavitt, Francis E. Hanson, Richard H. Burchili and Robert M. Morgan.

Chief Lyman Brown of the Natick Fire Department was consulted, and he said he didn't see why the thing couldn't be done.

The objection to having a permanent fire department was the expense. It wouldn't be a matter of having one or two men, but at least four for each station, to take care of shifts and days off. The idea of the proposed solution is to provide the Town with fire protection for much less money than a permanent force would cost. It was approved by the Fire Department and by the Finance Committee.

ST. ANN'S C.Y.O. will sponsor a St. Valentine's record hop, Saturday evening, Feb. 13, at Wayland High School. Stan Richards of radio station WORL will be featured. Besides dancing, there will be other entertainment, contests and refreshments. Twenty dollars worth of records will be given away. Dancing will be from 8 to 11p.m. Donations will be $.75.

THELMA BRANNAN, is a student at Acadian University at Wolfville, N.S.

MISS MARGERY MORGAN

Bradford Bachrach

Miss Margery Morgan, daughter of Mrs. Charles T. Morgan and the late Mr. Morgan of Cochituate Road, is going to be married on Feb. 6 in the First Parish Church, Wayland, to Lieut. Keith E. McClain of the U. S. Air Force and Miami, Arizona, and here's how it came about.

Lieut. McClain is a brother of Mrs. Francis L. Van Buskirk of Fox Meadow Lane. His father is principal of the high school in Miami, Arizona. He was graduated from the University of Arizona and he taught Spanish and biology for a while in a private school before he went into the Air Force.

He spent 10 months in Korea as a photo reconnaissance and bomber pilot. When he came back he had the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with six clusters. He was assigned to an air station at Sumter, S. C., as an instructor. And Uncle Sam let him use a jet plane for week-end cross-country flying.

He started coming up to Wayland to visit his sister. On one of these summer weekends he met Miss Morgan. So from then on he would swoosh up regularly from South Carolina to Bedford by jet in 90 minutes, spend Saturday and Sunday, and swoosh back.

The bride will be given away by her brother, Allen H. Morgan. The matron of honor will be Mrs. Allen H. Morgan and the bridesmaids will be Miss F. Maxine Edmunds of Weston and Miss Rosemarie V. Gormley of Milton.

Fire destroys a cottage on Maiden Lane belonging to Miss Roslyn L. Schoenfield. At this time, the fire alarm sounds on the Community Methodist Church bell. Box 416 comes in just as the church bell is striking 9, and the first two rounds are so jumbled there is confusion and delay. The cottage burns flat.

In Spring or early Summer, it is predicted, eight miles of the Post Road between Weston and Sudbury will be reconstructed with Federal funds. (Betcha they don't fix Dead Man's Curve.)

Methodist

"Race Relations" will be the February theme of study and worship at the Cochituate Community Methodist Church. On Sunday, Feb. 14, the morning service will consider "Understanding the Negro Race," and on Feb. 21 an evening service of worship will be built upon "Understanding the Jewish Race." A film from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith of Boston will be shown.

At the evening service on Sunday, Feb. 14, the Natick Council of Youth will sponsor the appearance of the Rev. Angelo Lovallo, a graduate of Christ Mission in New York. The public is invited to attend this service, sponsored by the young people.

The Week of Dedication service will be held on Sunday morning, Feb. 28, one week before the beginning of Lent.

St. Zepherin's

New officers of The Catholic Women's Club were installed in January at services conducted by Rev. Otis Kelly, pastor of St. Zepherin's Church and spiritual director of the club, at Mansion Inn.

The new officers are Rose Ward, president; Catherine Matzilevitch, vice president; Mary Dwyer, treasurer, and Marie Grupposo, secretary. The retiring officers, also given corsages, were Dorothy Smith, president; Anastasia Finn, and Helen Teague, vice presidents; Gertrude Carroll, treasurer, and Bernice Mullens, secretary.

The annual all-professional variety show sponsored by St. Zepherin's Parish will be held on Monday, Feb. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Cochituate School Auditorium. Toke Loker will be master of ceremonies. Richard Biggins is treasurer and other committee chairmen are Horace Knaack, Frank Larson, Frances LaFrance and Dorothy Smith.

A record attendance of members and their families attended each of the masses and received holy communion together, on Sunday, Jan. 10, Family Communion Sunday, held under the auspices of the Holy Name Society.

At the regular meeting of the Holy Name Society, Jan. 14, Mr. Francis A. McQuaid, former special agent of the Treasury Department, was the speaker on the topic, "Comic Books Can Be Dangerous.

Congregational

The Wayland Trinitarian Congregational Church elected its Church officers for 1954 at the Annual Meeting on January 11. Donald Bruster will serve as moderator and Claire Minty as clerk, with the following slate of officers: Deacons: Andrew Thomas, R. E. Campbell, Sheldon McEwan, J. Kenneth Emery; Deaconesses: Flora Cody, Alice Harrington, Alice Thomas, Helen Wheeler; Assistant Clerk, Betty Lloyd; Treasurer; Roger Mills; Assistant Treasurer, Randolph Kruger; Church School Supt., Gordon Baldwin; Chairman of Cabinet, Douglas Surgenor; Chairman of Executive Committee, J. Sidney Stone.

First Parish

About a dozen women have started making block print dresses to be sold at the church fair early in June. The dresses when completed will be exhibited on various occasions during the next few months so that orders may be placed.

Miss Bragg Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bragg of Shawmut Avenue, Cochituate, announced the engagement of their daughter, Betty Claire Bragg to James Robert O'Connell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis O'Connell of 10 Garfield Street, Natick. Miss Bragg was graduated from Wayland High School in 1953, and is now attending Chandler Secretarial School in Boston.

Mr. O'Connell is a graduate of Natick High School, Class of 1946, and is presently doing graduate study in Chemistry at the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in 1952.

D. B. W. Says

People Live Longer Nowadays

A hundred years ago there was a young man in Cochituate named Amos Peachey who used to visit a girl named Susan Larrikin, who lived away up in North Wayland, or North Cochituate, as it was then called.

Amos, a big, vigorous youth of 22, used to work 12 hours a day on a farm. After supper, he'd harness a horse to a buggy and start off for Susan's house, eight miles away by sandy road. He'd get there in two hours, more or less, and wetter or dryer, depending on the weather.

Then he'd have just about time to get to the point where he'd try to hold Susan's hand when he'd have to start for home again.

In Winter it was worse. He'd get out the sleigh, put in the soapstone and the buffalo robe, and take off through the snow and wind. By the time he arrived at Susan's house they'd have to pour boiling water over him to get him out of the sleigh, to which he'd be frozen. On these visits Susan would hold his hands, rubbing them with bear grease.

Once in a while he wouldn't have the use of the horse. His father, Fred Peachey, used to go to temperance meetings in Wayland Center, and he'd insist on using the rig.

Then Amos would put on his Indian moccasins or his felt boots and walk to the Lincoln line.

When it was extra cold, he'd run. When it was particularly hot he'd sometimes run, too, because the mosquitoes from Sudbury were fierce, even in those days. On these occasions, he'd arrive just in time to drink a glass or two of buttermilk before starting for home again.

On Sunday afternoons Amos would also make this trip. And what did he and Susan do? They'd take a nice long walk, maybe down to the Sudbury River, to look at the green scum on the water. In that period, of course, farm girls were also rugged, and thought nothing of a six-mile afternoon stroll.

Well, Amos carried on his courtship like this for two solid years. He was so busy using his legs and his horse that he never had a chance to sit down and carry on a heart-to-heart conversation with Susie, let alone carry on any country smooching. He was getting nowhere.

On top of that, he began to go into a physical decline. He was working 12 hours a day on the farm, plowing, milking, sawing wood, hoeing, chopping down trees, shoveling snow, pitching hay and binding oats, and when he wasn't doing that he was traveling. He began to get so weak he could scarcely eat his pork chops and apple pie, and his folks began to think about calling a doctor.

About this time Susan got smart. On account of not being on the road all the time, she was fresh as a daisy. She came down to Amos' house, took him off to a preacher and married him.

This sensible action got Amos off the roads and prolonged his life, but only for a little while. He was so worn out that he died at the age of 30, leaving two children who promptly fled to California, where they joined the Ham and Eggs Every Thursday Party.

The moral of this story is that we should pay no attention to the croakers who say the automobile is ruining our health and our legs. Had he lived in modern times, Amos would have arrived at Susie's house each night with a crease in his trousers and a gleam in his eye, and he'd have lived to marry not only Susie but maybe Doris Duke and Betty Hutton also, before he died at 93. Let us never walk when we can ride, and let us all live long by saving our energy for what's more interesting than dull pedestrianism.

Employee parking lot will occupy area which is already levelled. Access to it will be from Route 20 in the extreme lower right foreground. High School and Center School appear in center background and Sandy Burr golf course and club house to their right.

Raytheon Rezoning Will Be Big Issue

The 400 persons who jammed the Planning Board's hearing on the Raytheon proposition Feb. 23 made it appear that this would become the biggest issue at the March 3 Town Meeting.

The session lasted three hours and dozens of citizens spoke their pieces. The issues seemed to boil down to two:

1. What's in it for the Town? Assessor Charles M. Matthews said the first unit would be taxed on 38% of the cost, which the Planning Board had already announced as being over $1,000,000. This would produce annual revenue in the vicinity of $20,000, plus revenue from tax on the land. Robert M. Morgan, of the Finance Committee, estimated from $3 on the tax rate, at first, up to an ultimate of near $10 when all units were completed.

2. Does the Town want this industry, or in fact, any light industry, or does it want to remain a residential community?

Some speakers suggested that this matter had come up in a great hurry, and that action should be postponed to a special Town Meeting. Said President C. F. Adams Jr. of Raytheon:

"In reference to having been rushed, we worked as rapidly as possible. We said nothing until we had all our information together. We have to move quickly. The options we have outstanding expire May 1. We have bids from some other towns."

Contest for Nine Offices in Election

Nine contests were scheduled for the Town Election of March 1, and a good deal of interest was shown. A number of meetings were held at various houses, and the League of Women Voters held a Candidates' Meeting to which all candidates and voters were invited.

One contest was eliminated when John W. Butler, who had filed against Charles L. Fullick for Tree Warden, withdrew.

In reporting another contest, last month's Crier made a mistake. It had four candidates for the four-year term on the Planning Board. Instead, there are two candidates for the four-year term and two for the three-year term.

The list of contests:

Selectman: John R. McEnroy, Frank S. Tarr.

School Committee: Cornelius J. Maguire, Richard F. Perry.

Board of Health (Three years): John P. Butler, John C. Quinn.

Park Commissioner: Nathaniel Hamlen, William J. Heckelsmiller.

Road Commissioner: Robert M. Carson, George I. Emery.

Planning Board (Five years, vote for two): Katharine Hodges, L. William Bertelsen, James E. Garvey and Frank A. Smith.

Planning Board (Four years): Mary N. Baldwin, John W. Butler.

Planning Board (Three years): Joseph P. McEnroy, Edward G. Thorburn.

Constables (Vote for Seven): Clarence O. Baker, John P. Butler, John W. Butler, Alfred C. Damon, Ernest H. Damon, Philip R. Gladu, Thomas Francis Linnehan and Frederick H. Perry.

John C. Quinn, L. William Bertelsen and Edward G. Thorburn are now serving on boards by appointment. Cornelius J. Marguire, Nathaniel Hamlen, Katharine Hodges and Mary N. Baldwin are candidates for re-election. Of the constables, all are candidates for reelection except Philip R. Gladu.

Bank Branch in Town Would Be First Ever

The Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company has filed a petition with the State Banking Commissioner asking for permission to establish a branch in Wayland. So far as known, such a branch would be the first bank ever established in the Town.

J. Sidney Stone says he will represent the bank at a hearing to be held on the petition at the State House on March 12. By that time, he thinks, the bank will have decided just where in Town it wants the new branch to be located.

Ask Herter to O K Raytheon By-Pass

As part of the new laboratory deal, efforts were being made last month to persuade the Commonwealth to build the long wanted highway by-pass around Wayland Center, from Dead Man's Curve to Russell's Crossing on State Road West.

This would involve about a mile and a half of new construction, through woods and swamp, and it would cost around $1,000,000.

Selectman Gerald Henderson, for the Town, and President C. F. Adams, Jr., of Raytheon, at several conferences, pointed out the value of such a bypass to Gov. Christian Herter, Commissioner of Public Works John Volpe and Richard Preston of the Commonwealth Department of Commerce.

The Governor, it was reported, didn't say no. He showed a sympathetic interest, and said that studies would be made.

But later, at the Planning Board hearing on Feb. 23, Gordon Gray, chief Engineer of the Public Works Dept., said there would be no Route 20 by-pass now. "However, by the time the plant reached 1500 employees, we would be in position to build it, if the money is available."

Public Library Boilers Explode

The oil burner in the basement of Wayland Free Public Library blew up with a fair-sized bang at 4:30 p.m. on Feb. 1, startling everybody inside the building and putting the institution out of business for three weeks.

The burner had been in there for eight years, says Hugh F. Colliton Jr., of the Library Trustees, and had given trouble from time to time. It had a lesser explosion several years ago.

NO BOOK BURNING

This time it was transformer trouble. The spark quit for a minute or two while oil vapor kept pouring in. Then the spark cut in again, a bit late, and pouf! The asbestos blew off the boiler, but there was no fire. The Fire Department had nothing to do but check up.

The explosion filled the building with soot, and it all had to be cleaned. Everything was fully covered by insurance. The Trustees had a new burner put in, with a service contract and a guarantee.

Budget is Largest In Town's History

The regualr budget recommended to the Town this year totals $823,994.50, the biggest ever and $98,000 more than last year's. Every year lately, however, has the biggest budget ever.

Last year, besides the budget, articles were voted at the regular and special Town Meetings to bring the total to be raised to $794,700. In this year's warrant there are articles calling for the expenditure of $32,502, so that the projected 1954 expenditures total $856,436.50, an actual increase of about $62,000 over those of 1953.

Reaction to Raytheon Proposal Mixed

News of the Raytheon laboratory proposition came as a complete surprise to almost everybody in Town, and reaction to it was mixed.

"We need it like the flowers need the rain," said Assessor Charles M. Mathews, thinking of the tax revenue.

"It's a plum," said Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey, adding that this is the sort of clean light industry every community wants for municipal revenue.

Some Wayland mothers, it was reported, promptly announced that they were going to move. Their feelings were that they had moved to Wayland to be out in the country, and that if it wasn't going to be country any more they didn't want it. Whether their sentiments would change after they thought it over it was too early to tell.

AS GOOD AS DEVELOPMENT

Some residents who had been unhappy at the thought of a real estate development on Old Sudbury Road said they'd just as soon look at a laboratory as at a set of new houses.

Many felt that this new proposition automatically made the zoning article in

Letters to The Crier Editor

Endorses Anti-Hunt Bill

To the Editor:

I do believe that hunting should be restricted to areas less populated than Wayland.

As a landowner in Wayland it has always been distasteful to me to feel obliged to post my land with numerous signs forbidding trespassing, because I have no objection whatsoever to trespassers without firearms who enjoy and respect nature.

However, during the hunting season, the woods and fields are unsafe to anyone strolling about.

I am therefore in full sympathy with the citizens of Wayland urging a general ban on hunting in Wayland.

Georges H. Barrel
Clay Pit Hill Road

Opposes Hunters

To the Editor:

In Mr. Lester O. Holman's letter in the last Town Crier in favor of unrestricted hunting versus restricted hunting in Wayland, he assumes that only 1% of hunters from far and near who come to this town for Fall shooting are reckless and illegal. That may be the percentage of those brought to court, but more than half of those I encounter trespassing on my posted land, gun-in-hand, will not show their licenses when asked, and deliberately tear and shoot down my not inexpensive signs. I cannot have them arrested, for I do not know their names or whence they hail.

I may not own the birds I feed all winter but I do own the signs and the land, and having aided in the survival of the birds by feeding them, I have certainly as great an equity in them as has the hunter.

As things are now, were my friends and neighbors to shoot in the woods surrounding my house, they themselves would quite likely be shot by some one from the city. I have encountered men with machine guns and men with rifles hunting in my acres.

Since Sudbury expects to pass an article this year restricting hunting to those who have permission from the landowner, the only towns touching Wayland where unrestricted hunting will be permitted will be Natick and Framingham. Unless we protect ourselves this will funnel even more city hunters into our town. Whether we wish it or not we are becoming not a farming community but a Boston suburb.

Margareth A. Chamberlain

Defends Hunter's Rights

To the Editor

It is already unlawful to hunt within 500 feet of an occupied dwelling, to discharge a firearm within 150 feet of a highway, to hunt on posted land, to carry a firearm while intoxicated, to use firearms in a careless or negligent manner, to commit vandalism or damage to property or livestock while hunting, to hunt on Sunday, or without a license or without displaying a number on the back, to take any game except within certain short seasons — besides losing your license for a year, by far the worst punishment to any real sportsman.

In this town there are few places that do not come within one of these prohibitions except, and this is the nub of the matter, the Sudbury River meadows. These expanses of land are suitable for game habitat and are far removed from any chance of the hunter causing danger to the general public. Much of these meadows are marked on town records "owner unknown". This law would make it impossible for any except a favored few to hunt these areas EXCEPT THOSE WHO HAVE NO DESIRE TO OBEY THE LAWS. These people would take their chances on being caught even as they do now, and the net result of such a law would be to penalize the law abiding sportsman and take away what little chance he has now to indulge himself locally.

Enforcement of the laws that we have now would make hunting in dangerous places impossible and the enactment of this new law would only penalize the real sportsman and prevent him from following his sport in places where it is perfectly safe and proper for him to do so.

We feel that a committee of responsible citizens and members of the local sporting club ,in cooperation with landowners and enforcement agencies, could curb the irresponsible gunner, protect the landowner who does not want his land hunted over and yet allow the hunter to have his sport wherever it is suitable.

George W. Shepard
G. P. Richardson

Would Restrict Hunters

To the Editor:

I understand that at the March town meeting an Article will be introduced to restrict hunting in Wayland to citizens of the Town, and to those having written permission to hunt on any given property. This seems to me an excellent suggestion, and such legislation would be in accord with that already in force in some surrounding towns. May I urge your support of this Article?

Katherine S. Andrews

HEART ASSOCIATION of Massachusetts has presented the newly published book, Motion of the Heart, to the Wayland Library.

Settle on Water Level To be Kept in Millpond

The difference of opinion between Mr. Peter Polito of Concord Road and the Town of Wayland about the water level in the Millpond was settled amicably last month. The Town will remove some rocks in the water just above the bridge where Plain Road crosses, and the Town may set the water level of the pond eight inches higher than it is at present.

Town Counsel Roger Stokey, who had to study up on the pond in connection with the case, says there was a mill there from 1640 until 1890, when it burned. In part it was the original mill, and some of its old timbers are still to be seen below the dam.

The pond belongs to the Wayland Park Department, and its real name is Adams Park. It was given to the Town by Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Sears.

P. T. A. Open House

An open house for parents and friends was held by the Cochituate School P. T. A. on Feb. 16. The whole building was open from 7,15 to 9 p.m. for interviews with teachers, and afterwards there was a birthday celebration in honor of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the P. T. A. Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. James Meceti and Mrs. Albin Holgerson. Speaker at the March 16 meeting will be Mrs. M. B. Siddiqui, now a secondary school principal, who has been a teacher in both India and Pakistan.

REV. GEORGE A. HODGKINS of the Trinitarian Congregational Church spent a week in Waltham Hospital last month.

Here are a few time tested tips for your consideration when placing your home on the market.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS ARE IMPORTANT — An inviting exterior insures inspection of the interior. Keep your home and yard looking neat.

CLEANLINESS — Bright, cheery windows and unmarred walls will assist you in selling your home.

PICK-UP DAY — The attic and basement are important features. Remove all the unnecessary articles. Keep stairways cleared, avoid cluttered appearances, maintain neat closets. Display the full value of your storage and utility spaces.

FIX-UP DAY — Loose door knobs, sticking drawers are noticed by prospects. Check your bathroom, kitchen for leaky faucets — bright, clean kitchens and baths sell many homes.

CONFER WITH US — We can help you place a marketable price on your home, you should seek expert guidance because you have a large investment to protect.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I enjoy your paper very much and wonder if you would write an article concerning steel trapping in Wayland. I live on Dudley Pond, Cochituate, and recently my Irish Setter came home with a steel trap on her front paw. Luckily her paw wasn't broken or damaged. She stays in the vicinity of my home and without a doubt got this trap on her paw on the shores of the pond. I called the game warden and found the trap belonged to a Robert Dupre from Medway. On checking with him I found this trap had been stolen from him and he assured me he did not trap around here.

I called Mr. Parlee the game warden and was informed there was nothing could be done, as the Town of Wayland had voted years ago that steel trapping was legal in Wayland. I think it is time the people of Wayland woke up and voted this law out. Last December there were two men in a boat in front of my neighbor's house, Mr. Fred Garceau, and they were setting traps on the edge of the pond in front of his home. He shouted at the men and told them to go on their way.

Not only is this trapping dangerous for animals, but all summer long little children are running along the shores of the pond, and were these men to miss up on picking up these traps a child could step into the trap and break his toes off. Even now in this warm weather children are playing near the edge of the pond.

In my opinion Dudley Pond which is so thickly populated is no place for these men to set traps. Most of the water front is private property. And furthermore, whoever set the trap my dog got caught in is setting illegally because it was a stolen trap. It is about time the game warden got on the job and investigated this condition.

Allen Benjamin to Run in 10th District

Allen Benjamin of Wayland has announced his candidacy for State Representative from the Tenth Middlesex District, covering the towns of Hudson, Lincoln, Sudbury, and Wayland. He seeks the Republican nomination for the seat now held by Representative Howard Russell (Rep.) who announced in February that he would not run again.

Benjamin is a graduate of Worcester Polytechnic Institute and Cornell University in civil engineering and community planning. For seven years he was on the staff of the Massachusetts State Planning Board in charge of its municipal advisory service.

NOW CONSULTANT

He was then employed as field agent by the Massachusetts Forest and Park Association to assist towns in conservation problems and later as staff member of the Department of Regional Planning at Harvard to study the financial problems of growing suburban towns. He is now in business for himself as a municipal consultant.

Benjamin, presently a member of the Wayland Board of Assessors, has served as an alternate member of the Massachusetts Emergency Housing Commission, member of the legislative committee and director of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards, coordinator for the Sudbury Valley Commission, and member of the Massachusetts Civil Defense Council (Dispersal of Industry Committee). He is a veteran of World War II.

LIVE ON CONCORD ROAD

Benjamin is married to the former Eleanore Conant of Greenfield and is the father of three children. Their home is on Concord Road, Wayland, where they have lived for years.

He is also a former member of the Wayland Planning Board and Zoning Board of Appeals, a member of the 4-H Town Committee, a past chairman of the Friends of the Wayland Library and 1954 chairman of the March of Dimes.

Red Cross Quota for Wayland Set at $3155

Wayland's 1954 quota for the Red Cross fund campaign is $3155, and the chairmen of the committees are Fran Fisher, assisted by John Bandelin, for Wayland, and Theodore R. Magoun for Cochituate.

Of the quota sum, $1065 is for the national organization and $2090 is for local work.

The campaign will begin March 7 and run until the 31st. Volunteer solicitors will call at houses. The slogan this year is "Answer the Call—Join and Serve."

Last year $4100 was raised locally. The quota was oversubscribed.

Three Hoopsters Picked

Fred Tassinari, Arthur Ahlman and Roger Elliott of the Wayland High basketball team were picked as members of the Dual County League All Star team which is to play Weston, league champions. Wayland's basketball record was 7 won and 7 lost. The Wayland Jayvees won 9, lost 5.

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE has announced that Charles Y. Wadsworth and Walter B. Parker, of Wayland, have been made associates.

— OBITUARIES —

Lillian Elliot

Lillian H. Elliott, native and life-long resident of Wayland, died suddenly on Wednesday, Feb. 3. She had been an operator in the Wayland telephone exchange for 30 years, and for the past two years she had been a member of the Town Crier staff.

More than 200 persons attended the funeral services, held in St. Ann's Church on Feb. 6 with a requiem high mass celebrated by the pastor, Rev. William J. Carty. Organist was Mrs. Barbara Ryan O'Callaghan.

Bearers were Thomas F. Linnehan, Francis W. Ward, John J. Foley, John J. Gerald and Douglas McGilvroy. Burial was in the North Cemetery.

Mrs. Elliott was the daughter of the late Wilbur E. and Gertrude E. (Hawkins) Allen. She leaves a daughter, Margaret, and a son, Henry J. Christie Jr.; two aunts, Mrs. Alfred G. Dymond of Worcester and Mrs. Thomas F. Linnehan of Wayland, and several half brothers and half sisters.

Leonard Anzivino

Leonard Anzivino, 84, member of a well known local family, died Feb. 7 at his home, Walnut Hill Farm, on Commonwealth Road East, Cochituate. Born in Italy, he lived in Wayland more than 30 years. At one time he had a large dairy business in Cochituate.

He leaves five sons, Dominic of Wayland, Anthony of Brookline, John of Framingham, Alfred of Needham and Albert of Wayland; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Garofalo of Newton Upper Falls, Mrs. Frances Lazerow of Wayland and Mrs. Elizabeth DiCarlo of Newton Center; 14 grandchildren and four great grandchildren, besides a brother, Lawrence, of Newton Upper Falls.

Services were held at St. Zepherin's Church, Cochituate. Burial was at Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

Russell James

Funeral services for Russell Lowell James of Bow Road, Wayland, who died Feb. 7, were held on Feb. 9 at the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home. Burial was in North Cemetery.

Mr. James, born in Worcester in 1922, was graduated from Dartmouth, attended Boston University Medical School and served in World War II as a lieutenant in the Naval Air Arm. He had lived in Wayland nearly two years and had taken an active part in community affairs.

He leaves his wife and son, Peter M. James, 11 months old; his mother, Mrs. Sara Reynolds of Sharon, Vermont, and two brothers.

The services were conducted by Rev. E. F. Chauncey, D.D., rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Weston.

Mrs. G. Elmer Haynes

Mrs. G. Elmer Haynes of State Road West, 43, died suddenly on the morning of Feb. 17 at her home. Born in Hudson, she had lived in Wayland 18 years. Funeral services were held Feb. 19 at Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Haynes leaves two sons, Richard L. and John E. Haynes; her mother, Mrs. Johanna Scally, her father, James Scally, and two sisters, Hazel and Alice M. Scally.

Louis R. Grieshaber

Funeral services for Louis R. Grieshaber, 84, formerly of Cochituate, were held Friday, Feb. 12, at the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home, with Elder William E. Carpenter of the Seventh Day Adventist Church of Framingham officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery, Ashland.

Mr. Grieshaber was the father of Carl R. Grieshaber, who lived on Shawmut Avenue, Cochituate, for many years. Besides his son, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Carl G. Peterson of Cranston, R.I., and a sister, Miss Emma Grieshaber of Sudbury.

Francis X. Immick

Francis X. Immick, 71, a native of Wayland, whose family once owned the Ten Acres property on State Road East, died on Feb. 11 after a long illness. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Alvina I. LeMoine, wife of Albert Z. LeMoine of Framingham, and Mrs. Charlotte D. McIntosh, wife of John C. McIntosh of West Roxbury.

Funeral services were held Feb. 13, with a requiem high mass in St. George's Church, Saxonville. Interment was in Old Calvary Cemetery, Boston.

Mr. Immick and his sisters attend the Wayland schools. Mr. LeMoine, husband of one of the sisters, formerly lived in Cochituate.

Stephanie Carter Will Visit Europe with Scouts

Stephanie Carter is one of 12 United States Girl Scouts selected to go abroad this summer under the International Scout Exchange Program sponsored by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. to promote world understanding through the Girl Scout movement. Stephanie is scheduled to take part in the Scout program in Belgium, leaving on June 25 and returning August 31.

Stephanie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Carter, of River Road, graduated from Wayland High School last year and is now attending Westbrook Jr. College in Portland, Maine. She is taking an active part in college life and is chairman of the program committee for the winter carnival.

Stephanie was a Brownie and Intermediate Scout in Wayland and a Senior Girl Scout in Weston. Her scouting was a year round program for she has been each summer to a scout camp, — the last four to Camp Wynana at Fairlee, Vermont. She is planning to go into Girl Scouting professionally when she graduates from college.

Newton-Waltham Bank Office is Remodelled

A remodelling project which has for some time been under way at the Weston office of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Co., at 458 Boston Post Road, is now completed.

The alterations will provide greatly enlarged lobby space for the convenience and comfort of customers, as well as increased operating efficiency to afford improved service for the many patrons who use the facilities of this office.

In addition, a night depository has been installed for the benefit of those who require this type of service.

The Weston alterations are part of a continuing program planned to increase the institution's value to business and individuals throughout the Wayland-Weston -Sudbury area.

Local residents who are on the staff of the Weston Office include Miss Irene Muhlberg, Oak St., Miss Janet Yarrish, Commonwealth Rd., and Mrs. Bertha P. Roche, School St., all of Cochituate, and Richard Lincoln, Glover Rd., Wayland.

League Handbook Goes Out with Town Report

Town voters this year received much more literature than usual. Along with the Town Report went copies of the Town By-laws, the Wage Board's report, the new plumbing code and a Town Meeting Handbook.

The handbook, not a Town publication, was prepared by a large committee of the League of Women Voters, with Edith Stokey as chairman. It contains just the information a newcomer to the town meeting form of government needs.

The handbook went with the Town material because the Women Voters made a deal with the Town. They did the big job of stuffing all the booklets into envelopes and thus won Town permission to include the Handbook, a public service pamphlet.

Extension Service to Offer Decorating Course

At a recent meeting with a local committee, Miss Blanche Eames and Mrs. Ethel Veenendahl, County agents, discussed what the Middlesex County Extension Service can offer. This committee of Mrs. Lawrence Collins, Mrs. Vahey Tashjian, Mrs. Donald Stevenson, Mrs. Keith Smith, Mrs. Peter Wanecek, Mrs. Allen Benjamin, Mrs. Frederick Walther and others was recently formed to discover the needs and desires of the women of the Town.

The first free program is "Decorating With Pictures," a demonstration of selecting, matting, framing and hanging pictures. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Keith Smith on Pequot Road at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23. Please call Mrs. Smith, Wayland 432-3 if you care to attend.

For those who have not been able to attend previous slip-cover classes and for the new residents, a Spring series on "Slipcovers'" will be offered. These will be held at the Wayland Library Shaw room, Tuesday mornings, March 30, April 6, and April 20 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. These meetings will be demonstrations by the agent of the easy-to-make separate method. Call Mrs. Frederick Walther, Wayland 534-3 if you wish to enroll.

Wayland Garden Club

On Tuesday, March 23, Wayland Garden Club members will visit the Waltham Field Station, where Mr. Richard Pride will speak to them about "At Your Service". Coffee and doughnuts will be served at 10 a.m. Coffee chairman will be Mrs. Hugh Colliton.

DeCordova Museum

Two shows will be on exhibit at the deCordova Museum in Lincoln through March 7.

Stage-set designs by three well-known scenic artists include drawings by Robert Edmond Jones, Donald Oenslager and Eldon Elder.

The stage design show, given by the Museum in conjunction with its adult play production courses, is part of an exhibition through Mar. 7 featuring the works of Loring Coleman, Marianna Pineda, Gerry Williams, Dave Berger, and the Borgenicht Gallery collection. The museum is open daily except Mondays from 10 to 5 (Sundays 2 to 5). Admission is free.

OLD BENT HOUSE, Cochituate, where Myron Bent, 14, returned Civil War veteran, got a bath in a washtub.

Landmark Bought

Bent House Sold to Howard Phillips

Howard C. Phillips, Cochituate automobile dealer, has bought the old Bent house on the northeast corner of Main Street and Commonwealth Road East and will erect in its place, he says, a new automobile showroom and service department.

He says he will either move the house, which has been a landmark for a century, to the back of the lot, or have it moved to another site.

The new building, he says, will be one story high, of cinder block, stucco and glass. The showroom will be on the corner, set back 30 feet from both streets. The office and service department will be in the rear, with entrances from both. He wants to start the building this Spring. His present buildings, across the street, he will keep.

The lot contains three-quarters of an acre.

The Bent family has been prominent in Town since 1638, when John Bent came over in the ship "Confidence" to be one of the first settlers in what was then Sudbury.

This particular house is directly across Main Street from the Cochituate Postoffice. It is directly across Commonwealth Road from another Bent house, this one occupied by Mr. Kenneth E. Morrell and Mrs. Margaret (Bent) Morrell, the latter the seventh generation of Bents to live in it. It was standing in 1776.

But the house which is to be torn down is believed to be only a century old. It was erected by James Madison Bent, born in 1812, who was Mrs. Morrell's grandfather. James Madison Bent and his brother, William Bent, founded a big shoemaking business in Cochituate. At its biggest, their factory, located where Howard Phillips' automobile agency now is, was five stories tall, 180 by 45 feet, with two big ells and 50,000 feet of floor space. It employed hundreds.

Sometimes the business flourished and sometimes it didn't. In 1890, says Mrs. Morrell, it was sold to Charles W. Dean, and it's believed it was torn down sometime around 1910.

The house which was sold belonged first to its builder, James Madison Bent, and later to Ralph Bent and later still to James Madison Bent 2nd.

A family story goes with the old place. Back in 1863, according to the best available deductions, Myron Bent, then 14, ran away to join the Union Army. As 14 was somewhat below military age, even in 1863, the family had him discharged from the service, after he'd reached the South.

He arrived home, the story goes, about the dirtiest boy in Massachusetts, and his mother plunked the returned veteran into a washtub and gave him the scrubbing of the century.

And another Bent story involving James Alvin Bent, Mrs. Morrell's father, born in 1843, then living where Mrs. Morrell does now:

"It was when my father was old enough to chop wood. Grandmother Bent (Marthat Trowbridge Damon) was never in the habit of nagging or scolding. She believed actions speak louder than words. So when she found she was having trouble getting dinner because the boys kept forgetting to chop the wood for her, she didn't say anything.

"But one noon when they had forgotten the wood, they all came in to dinner and found she had set the table with a very elaborate meal and had set everything out completely uncooked—raw meat, raw potatoes, raw everything—and no one had any dinner that day. After that, she had no more trouble about the wood."

When James Alvin was 10 years old, which would have been in 1853, he drove the cows home one night with a willow switch, which he stuck in the ground at the corner of the lot.

The switch took root and grew, until it was three or four feet thick at the base. It was cut down only a year or so ago, and the remains of its stump can still be seen, diagonally across the intersection from the Postoffice.

NEW CLUB, -- GOLF!

The award for the "First new Wayland organization of 1954" goes to the new Wayland Country Club golf team.

Mrs. F. Stetson Eddy Jr. has announced that a woman's golf team will be formed by the end of March. It will participate with 46 other teams this year in a tournament sponsored by the Women's Golf Association of Massachusetts.

It is a handicap affair, so all types of golfers are urged to sign up by contacting Mrs. Eddy at Way 141-2, Fox Meadow Lane.

Dr. Rexford S. Souder, superintendent of the Wayland schools, attended the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators at Atlantic City, Feb. 15 — Feb. 20.

In the Churches

St. Ann's

In honor of Marian Year, the chapel at St. Ann's Church, henceforth to be known as "Our Lady's Chapel," has been completely renovated and redecorated. The altar has been remodelled and a new gold cylindrical tabernacle installed, as well as new Stations of the Cross. The interior is in green and gold, with red birchwood finish. A new statue of the Blessed Virgin has been purchased by Father Carty and is set in a dorsel of gold brocade. Father Carty hopes that members of the parish will be frequent visitors at the Chapel.

The regular meeting of St. Ann's Guild will be held Tuesday, March 2, at 8 p.m. in St. Ann's Hall. The Very Rev. David Lebel, S.M., Superior of Marist College and Seminary, Framingham Center, will be the speaker.

During the Lenten season Father Carty will celebrate Mass every Wednesday evening, time to be announced later. Stations of the Cross will take place every Friday evening.

The annual Parish Reunion will be held St. Patrick's night, March 17. There will be bridge, whist, entertainment and dancing. Place to be announced.

* * *

St. Ann's CYO held a Valentine record hop Saturday evening, Feb. 13, at the High School, with Stan Richards of WORL as M.C. More than 200 teen-age couples attend from Wayland, Cochituate and Sudbury. Father Carty would like to thank all of the young people for the fine manner in which they conducted themselves. "They were," he says, "a credit to their parents, in these times when we hear so much about juvenile delinquency."

Methodist

The Cochituate Methodist Community Church is taking part in the union Lenten Institute sponsored by the Greater Natick Council of Churches during this Lenten season. On Sunday evening, March 7, Rev. George Gutekunst of Cochituate will conduct the worship service service at 6:15 p.m., at the Natick Congregational Church. On Sunday evening, March 14, the Cochituate choir will take part in the 6:15 service, also at the Natick Congregational Church.

At the W.S.C.S. meeting on March 2, 8 p.m., in the Cochituate Methodist Church, the subject of emphasis will be "Spanish-speaking peoples of Latin America." A film will be shown. Mrs. Harrison Ware and Mrs. Virginia Megson are chairmen of the meeting.

The Worcester District of the Methodist Church will conduct a Christian Education Clinic at the Cochituate Methodist Church on Tuesday, March 23, at 7:30 p.m. Church school teachers and superintendents are especially invited to attend this instructive session.

First Parish

The First Parish in Wayland will be host church on the World Day of Prayer, Friday, March 5, when Wayland and Sudbury churches, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist and Unitarian, will join for a united prayer service, preceded by a coffee hour from 2 to 3 p.m. At 3 p.m. the churches of the two towns will conduct the joint worship service. There will be baby-sitting service.

The Women's Alliance of the First Parish Church has given the church office a new Elliott Addresserette machine, to aid in the distribution of church newsletters and other written material.

Shoppers World Sees Scouts Put on Skits

Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts of Troop 1, Post 1, and Pack 1, Cochituate, took over during Scout Week at Shoppers World. A skit was put on at regular intervals depicting a patrol encampment across a valley from a Scout camp. Members pitched tents, prepared a fire and meal, chopped wood and administered first aid.

CUBS PRESENT CUBBING

On Feb. 13 Pack 1 gave a continuous performance of their activties.

Den Mother Mildred Wood's Den 6 demonstrated "Blue & Gold" Dinner Decorations and Den Mother Catherine Potter's Den 11 silk screening. Dorothy Smith's Dens 7 and 8 presented a modified Den Meeting and Cubmaster Ronald H. Wood a modified Pack Meeting in which Den Mother Rebecca Hardin's Den 9 presented a "Bobcat Induction Ceremony". Den Mother Edna Newton's Den 3 gave a puppet show and Den Mother Marcelia Berry's Den 12 a marionette show.

NEW NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Evans of Cambridge have bought Mr. Wallace's house on Rice rd. Cochituate.

I Don't Believe It!

The publicity department of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works says it is working on plans for fixing Dead Man's Curve and hopes to advertise for bids early this Spring. Surveyors were seen at work there in February, apparently measuring a curve to the eastward of the present one.

"But keep your fingers crossed," says the girl in the Public Works Department.

Comic Book Outlet

The Junior Red Cross will collect comic books during March for children of the Metropolitan State Hospital. Pupils of Wayland and Cochituate schools will be asked to bring them in to school where they will be collected. Chairmen of the drive are Mrs. Richard Potter and Mrs. Richard H. York. With the Girl Scouts, the Junior Red Cross will make cookies for an Easter party at Bedford Hospital.

Raise $750 for Heart Fund

More than $750 had been raised for the Heart Fund during the first three weeks of the campaign in Wayland. Mrs. James E. Sullivan, chairman, said that persons who had not yet been solicited might send checks to Heart Box 585, Wayland, prior to the close of the drive this week.

Defied Curfew

There are about 60 miles of water pipe in Wayland . . . Somebody was watching people who disobeyed the water curfew last Summer. One offender, who had been warned several times, came home to supper one night and found he couldn't wash his hands. His water had been turned off. He wasn't the only one!

B. ALLEN BENJAMIN, this year's March of Dimes chairman, reports that 542 residents of Wayland contributed a total of $1500, by far the most ever.

Juvenile Delinquents Studied by Women Voters

The League of Women Voters will hold two series of unit meetings during March on the subject of juvenile offenders. The units, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, will be conducted by Mrs. Sheldon Kennedy, Mrs. Harold Proctor, Mrs. Douglas Surgenor, and Mrs. Ernest Walston.

League members will be given a picture of juvenile delinquency throughout the state, present and proposed methods of treatment for the young offenders, and possibilities for prevention of delinquency on a community level.

Members of the committee are visiting such sources of information as the Youth Service Board, the Citizens Training Group and Lancaster Training School for Girls, as well as interviewing law enforcement officials in this and surrounding communities.

Mrs. Philip Lane, membership chairman, reports the following new members: Mrs. Wallace H. Knowlton, Mrs. William Ready, Mrs. R. E. Eldridge, and Mrs. W. Floyd Wilkinson.

NEW CITIZEN

Doris Fisher of Rice Spring Lane, advertising manager of the Crier, had a new daughter, about full-page length by three columns wide, at 1:15 a.m. Monday, Feb. 15, just in time to miss Valentine's Day and to make this edition.

Architect Herbert R. Fisher Jr., father of the new baby, says her name is Diedri and that she meets all the specifications required of young girls.

RICHARD L. LUCAS, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. McCollem of State Road East, has joined the United States Marines and is now at Parris Island, South Corolina.

News Round-Up

230 new names have been added to the Town's voting list since the special Town Meeting of Nov. 30, 1953, and the total now stands at around 3450, the biggest ever. There are 1600 registered in Wayland and 1850 in Cochituate . . .

Landscaping of the grounds around the new Cochituate fire station and library was begun before the first snowfall. It consisted of leveling the grounds and getting rid of the trees, some of which were elms and said to be doomed anyway. Replanting is scheduled for Spring . . .

Charlie Carey, a Boston Globe photographer, was on an assignment to photograph new houses not long ago. He made a shot of a place on DeAngelo Road, Wayland, and said to himself, "That's the house I want." He bought it and he's now a Town resident. . .

Town Treasurer, Mrs. Edwin B. Damon reports that the Town will own the High School in June. That's when the last payment will be made on a $76,000 bond issue floated in 1934. However, the bondholders still own the two additions which have been put on the original building. School bonds outstanding, aside from the 1934 issue, total $1,510,000 . . .

During 1953 there was a total of 289 Town employees, full time and part time. School teachers were paid $190,757.72 in salaries, other employees $161,162.39. And there'll be more teachers after the Happy Hollow School goes into use. . . ,

Nobody tipped over any more power line towers, and there was no report of the capture of the person or persons who unscrewed the one which fell down. The Edison Company had a sleuth in Wayland interviewing people, but nobody seemed to have a clue. The fallen tower was replaced and the company went ahead with the job of stringing the wires to carry the juice . . .

Board of Health says 35 dog bites were reported in 1953. No rabies. There were 1100 dogs in Town, most of whom never bit anybody . . . .

Thirty-four trees were taken down by the Tree Department in 1953. Some were dangerous or nuisances, and some had the Dutch Elm disease. Forty more are on the list to come down in 1954 . . .

The Planning Board's latest rules, filed July 6, 1953, with Town Clerk Leila Sears, provide that everyone who develops a subdivision must put in hard roads, a fire alarm system, water, drainage and shade trees. The kind of shade tree isn't specified, but each must be at least 12 feet tall . . . .

Zoning changes voted at the Special Town Meeting of Nov. 30 were approved by the Attorney General of the Commonwealth on Dec. 29, 1953.

Theodore R. Magoun reports that more than 200 persons and organizations, in 35 communities in three states, contributed to the Suzanne Wales fund. He has the list, but the Crier did not have room to print it.

NEW MEMBERS of the Kiwanis Club of Wayland are William L. Stoddard, Ernest Schleicher and Erving Cookson.

Home Again

Suzanne Wales, burned last Sept. 27 when her home was destroyed by an explosion, returned to her new home last month. Picture shows her in the doorway of the new house.

WHAA meets Wednesdays

The Wayland High Athletic Association, membership in which is open to everyone in Town who's interested in sports, meets on the first Wednesday of each month in the High School at 8 p.m. Dominic Anzivino is secretary.

MRS. HELEN F. WADLAND has finished a course in textile stencilling and is now taking one in hand painting textiles from Mrs. Lucille Hemphill Jewett. Mrs. Jewett, a former resident of Cochituate, now lives in Framingham Center.

WHO knows the history of the huge table in Town Hall on which so much of the Town's business is transacted? Assessor Charles M. Mathews thinks it was brought from Somerville many years ago. It's a remarkable piece of municipal furniture.

D. B. W. Says

Now's the Time to Hibernate

Now comes the miserable season of the year.

In the raw air is a smell which may be Spring and may be a detachment of advancing flu germs.

Blowing along the highways is the sand left from the Winter's ice.

The grass is juicy. The children have walked all over it. What used to be a lawn is a collection of footprints in mud.

The house suddenly looks shabby. The white paint is dirty, the blue paint has white streaks. The knots are showing through. The nails are coming out of the clapboards. The rose trellis stands cockeyed.

Dead leaves cover all the flower beds, and they aren't dead leaves put there on purpose as a mulch, either.

Last year's rake has only four teeth left, and those four need fillings.

The Winter's firewood supply is gone, but an open fire still seems good. The old furniture in the attic will never last long enough to get into the heirloom class.

The trees stand as bare as they did in January. They don't know that February has gone. In fact, they'll not put out leaves for two or three months yet. They won't do anything. They just stand there.

Clothes feel miserable. The threadbare coat that was bearable in the cold looks, in the light of the sun, like some rag the Korean Army slept in.

The thin ice is gone from ponds and rivers, but they're not good for anything. It's too early for fishing, much too early for swimming. The lake is just a body of icy, useless water.

The blood in the human body is useless, too. It's still full of ice crystals. The sun hasn't yet warmed it. Nor has the sap yet started to rise in the brains of young men and old ones.

The sides of he family jalopy are coated thickly with mud splashed on and dried. The undercarriage is being quietly eaten away by the corroding salt from the Winter highways. The old heap looks like the ruins of Nagasaki. Is there in the world a dealer innocent enough to allow $475 on it?

Winter sports are ended and baseball hasn't begun. It's too bright to stay in the house and too cold to stay out of doors. Gloves can come off, but rubbers stay on. The daffodils are up, but they're crazy (daffodil, from the Latin Daffy, meaning daffy, and dill, as in pickle. Hence, crazy as a dill pickle.)

By all tests, it's the worst season. Spring is wonderful and so are Summer and Fall. Winter isn't bad because nobody expects anything of it. But the first part of March . . . that's the time when people should hibernate.

MANY don't know it, but there are definite rules about the kind of houses which can be built in Wayland. If an Indian should come back and want to build a wigwam here, says George Deverell,, he could do it, but he'd have to build it with two by fours.

Raytheon—

the warrant the most important piece of business to come up at the March 3 Town Meeting.

As drawn, said Town Counsel Stokey, the zoning article would have changed from residential to limited commercial use part of the area included in the laboratory deal.

REQUIRES TWO-THIRDS VOTE

In the course of the negotiations, however, the Raytheon people said they'd like a few hundred more feet of land, and the article was amended to suit. This is the article which will come up in Town Meeting. It will require, said Mr. Stokey, a two-thirds vote to pass.

The negotiations with Raytheon were a well kept secret. They had been going on for three or four weeks, with several Town agencies in consultation, and there was hardly a leak until a day or two before the public announcement was made, by letter to all Town voters and by a release to the Boston newspapers.

It was pointed out that the new laboratory would have its own services, including special police which could be used by the Town at need, and that it would involve little if any expense to the Town.

NO SUDDEN INFLUX

No sudden influx of residents to Wayland was predicted. Those who would be employed already have homes in this general area. Some might want to move to Wayland ,of course, and new employes might seek homes here. In the long run, it was believed, the effect would be to continue Wayland's population increase.

At first, at least, the only time Wayland Center would see Raytheon people would be at morning and night, when there would be a few minutes of heavy traffic on the State Road. There would be a cafeteria inside the plant, and not many would have occasion to leave it during the day.

It was said that the laboratory probably would not offer many employment opportunities to local people. The research is carried on by engineers, scientists and technicians of highly specialized training, some of whom already live in Wayland.

DANNY CLIFFORD of Concord Road, a star football player at Wayland High School, from whioh he was graduated in 1953, has joined the United States Marines.

But Mother . . . Wayland's too small to have a "Horsey Set"!

Former Parmenter Lane Jet Pilot Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Flather have announced the bethrothal of their daughter, Jane Ellen, to Lt. Richard V. Benson, U.S.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor B. Benson, of Marlboro, and formerly of Parmenter Lane, Wayland.

Miss Flather is a graduate of Garland Junior College, and Lt. Benson graduated from Northeastern University. He received his wings and commission at Laredo Air Force Base, Texas, last summer and recently completed his jet fighter combat training at Nellis Air Force Base, Las Vegas, Nev.

The wedding will take place at the completion of his tour of duty in Korea.

NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

The following new books have been added to the Wayland Library:

Leaving Home, Janeway; Whiteoak Brothers, de la Roche; Lovely People, Manning; Maugham's Choice of Kipling's Best; Target in Taffeta, Benson; Come a-Smoking, Nye; Columbia-Viking Desk Encyclopedia; Quackery in our Public Schools, Lynd; Flying Saucers from Outer Space, Major Keyhoe; The Best I Ever Ate, Platt and Kerr; Tigrero, Siemel.

The Renaissance, Durante; Triumph and Tragedy, Churchill; By Land and By Sea, Morison; Flight Into Space, Leonard; Let's Talk Sense About Our Schools, Woodring; Fire and the Hammer, Barker; Lelia, Maurois; Handicrafts of New England, Eaton; International Tax and Budget Guide, Margolius, and The Best Humor from Punch, Cole.

The library has added a number of picture books for the youngest readers, as well as several works of fiction and non-fiction for juveniles.

GYP GAME

Mrs. Mary B. Allen of Pelham Island Road reported to Chief Ernest H. Damon that two men in a truck came to her house one day last month, went up on the roof, did some repairs and came down to tell her she owed them $150. She hadn't ordered the work, she said.

She finally gave the men $100, she said, and she was given a receipt marked "paid in full," signed with a name and an address, "West Concord Street," but without any city or town name.

A gyp game, the Chief says.

Owl Haunts Chimney

Sterrie L. Weaver of Stonebridge Road came home to be told by his wife, "There are mice in the chimney!" Mr. Weaver put his arm gingerly up the chimney and brought down an 8-inch screech owl.

The bird was then delivered to Norman D. Harris of Rich Valley Road who is director of education of the Museum of Science. He believes the owl mistook the chimney for a hollow tree and came in to roost for the day. Not being able to fly straight up, he stayed there.

DUDLEY POND I. A.

The Dudley Pond Improvement Assoc. had a successful business meeting on Sunday evening, Feb. 7. New members were voted in, and plans were made to hold a whist party on Saturday evening, March 6. Mrs. Ronald Wood and Mrs. Frances LaFrance are co-chairmen for this Whist Party.

A Committee has been appointed to be in charge of a $.99 dinner to be held at the hall on Sunday evening, March 14.

The Activities Committee reported that plans are under way to purchase a moving picture projector and screen to provide entertainment after the regular meetings.

A BULLETIN from the Radcliffe Agricultural College says that New England birds should not be fed sunflower seeds after April 15. If they're pampered, the bulletin says, they'll probably turn up their pretty little beaks at garden insects.

Historical Society to Meet Here on March 12

The Board of Managers of the Wayland Historical Society announce that they will hold an open meeting at Wayland Library on Friday evening, March 12, at 8 p.m., and ask that everyone interested will attend.

Howard S. Russell will speak on some of the early history of the Town. Afterwards there will be a general discussion of the purposes of the new Society. Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen was hostess at the meeting of the Board of Managers.

Mother's Club to Run Whist for Scholarship

The Mothers' Club of Cochituate and North Natick will hold a whist party open to the public on Thursday, March 11, 8 p.m. at the Cochituate School for the purpose of raising money for the scholarship fund. This is a $100 scholarship which is given each year to a Wayland High School senior for higher education. Mrs. Ronald Wood and Mrs. Russell Deane are co-chairmen of the committee appointed to run the whist party.

Miss Elinor Oaks of the Framingham Branch Library gave interesting reviews of six new books on Feb. 3. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gertrude Murray, Chairman, Martha Smith, Nelly Revell, Irene Maley, Estelle Lawrence, Mildred Caulfield, and Hazel Stahl.

The next meeting will be held April 7, at 8 p.m. in the Cochituate School cafeteria.

Miss Osmond Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Osmond, of Wayland, announce the engagement of their daughter, M. Gail Osmond, to Mr. George Francis Bowers III, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Francis Bowers Jr. of Wayland. Miss Osmond is a student at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Bowers attended Boston University and is now entering the armed forces.

Charles Carter Observes 94th Birthday

Charles H. Carter of 46 West Plain Street, believed to be the oldest man in Town, observed his 94th birthday last month ,as chipper as a robin.

He said he has been smoking since he was 14 and that he likes whisky sours, although not more than two at a session. He smokes cigars. He eats three square meals a day, and he likes all kinds of food.

He ascribes his long life and his vigor to a life in the open air. For many years he worked in shoe factories in Cochituate, Brockton, Pepperell and Marlboro, but then he went into the fish business, running a market and making deliveries by truck for 42 years all over Wayland, Framingham, Natick and Sudbury. Lobsters he used to sell for four cents a pound, big mackerel for three or four cents apiece.

He was born on Main Street, Cochituate, on Feb. 18, 1860. He remembers the end of the Civil War and the homecoming of his older brother, Elbridge Carter, from the army. A few years later he shook the hand of Henry Wilson, the Natick cobbler, who was Vice President under President U. S. Grant.

His father was the late Elbridge J. Carter and his mother was Lucy J. Dudley, of the Dudley family which settled in Cochituate in the earliest days.

FIRST PLANE RIDE

When he was 92 he took his first airplane ride, flying to Detroit and back. At 90 he and his granddaughter, Marion Carter Pond, with whom he lives, won a watlz prize at a big party given by a St. Zepherin's Church group at Mansion Inn. A couple of years ago the Boston Post gave him a cane for being the oldest resident in Wayland, but he has no use for it.

His present six-room home was built for him in 1892 by the father of Charles and George Fullick, for $1100. Back around that time, he says, West Plain Street was not much more than a cart path.

He went to school at the age of 5 in a school near where the Studio now is. In his boyhood he could go barefoot in the Summer. The swimming place was at the east side of Dudley Pond.

He has a son, Clarence Carter, living in New Hampshire; another granddaughter, Mrs. Joseph Thibodeau, living in Helsinki, Finland, at the American Embassy, and two great granddaughters, Anne and Deborah Thibodeau.

GUARANTEED ANNUAL WAGE!

Mr. Carter can remember when Mansion Inn was built, and he recalls that Michael Simpson, its owner, used to pay without interruption the salaries of employees who happened to get 30 days in jail for celebrating too much.

He has been a member of the Community Methodist Church for 37 years.

Grave Stones Moving To Memorial Square

On account of a legal mixup, a number of grave stones which have been standing in the relative obscurity of Fuller Road are being transferred to a site in Memorial Square, Cochituate, where they will be in sight of everybody.

The story begins back in 1950. Mr. and Mrs. John Eric Nelson, who have greenhouses on Fuller Road, thought they'd sell grave stones, too.

Because Fuller Road is zoned as a residential district (greenhouse are permissible in such a district), they asked a Town official if they could put the stones on a vacant lot between the greenhouses. The Town official said it was all right with him. But nothing came through in writing.

FEB. 1 DEADLINE

The stones stood beside Fuller Road from February, 1950, until August, 1952. Then somebody complained. The Zoning Board of Appeals said the stones had to go, and the court at East Cambridge gave the Nelsons until Feb. 1, 1954, to get rid of them.

Come Feb. 1, 1954, says Mrs. Nelson, they still had money tied up in those stones, and they felt they had to protect their investment. They weren't angry at anybody. They just couldn't afford to lose the money.

So they leased the front yard of the house at the corner of West Plain street and Main street, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boesenberg Jr., and in an area zoned for business.

STONES FROZEN

Mrs. Nelson wrote to the Selectmen, to the Planning Board and to the Zoning Board of Appeals, telling what she was going to do. As of the middle of February, she says, she had received no reply. She explained that she was delaying past the first of February because the ground was frozen and it was impossible to move the stones, but she got them moved Feb. 20.

Miss Mary Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie B. Reid, Waltham Road, South Lincoln (North Wayland), was recently elected freshman representative to the Student Cooperative Association at the Framingham State Teachers College. Miss Reid, a student in the Vocational Household Arts Department, is also a member of the College Glee Club.

From the Registrars . . .

The Registrars of Voters wish to announce:

1. From now on, birth certificates (or other documentary proof of citizenship) will be required to be shown by all persons wishing to register to vote.

If records in the home town have been destroyed, birth records normally are available from the U. S. Bureau of Census in Washington, D. C.

(As before, naturalized and derivative citizens must prove their citizenship by showing papers issued in the name of the individual wishing to be registered.)

2. Women who have been married since registration are kept on our lists, legally, until the January following such change of name. Thereafter, we have customarily changed the name if the individual was still living here on January 1st.

However, because such changes are increasing in such numbers, (as is everything else in town!), it will be very helpful if these persons will notify the Registrars (or the Town Clerk) of such change of name after January 1st following such marriage.

The registrars are William R. Gallagher, Joe Perodeau, Waldo H. Russell and Leila Sears, Clerk.

High School News

Preliminaries for the annual American Legion Oratorical contest were held in the Wayland High School Library on Monday, Feb. 1. The student audience comprised all the members of the Junior and Senior classes and representatives of all other groups. The students participating were Wilma Campbell, Karen Riggs, Catherine Huston and Susan Robinson, the winner.

Mrs. Lucille Champagne helped the students in their choice of material and Miss Marion Simpson coached the contestants. Mr. Joseph E. Boothroyd and Mrs. Frances M. Flynn of the Faculty were the judges.

Susan is now eligible to take part in the District Contests and if successful there in the Zone Contest. The winners of the Zone Contests finally compete in the State Finals.

National Geographic Magazines covering the years 1913 through 1952 were presented to the Wayland High School Library by the Donald K. Duley family. The magazines have now been bound in topical form and are arranged on the library shelves in 96 colorful library boxes. Each box contains about 20 bound booklets, which lend themselves readily for use in the projector and as reference books.

Wayland Girl Scouts

Leaders of Wayland Girl Scout troops, as well as troop committee members, met with officers of the Town Girl Scout Association, at the home of Mrs. William S. Hodgkinson on Fox Meadow Lane, on Thursday evening, February 18, to propose and discuss plans for Scout activities during the rest of the year. Wayland has a record number of girls registered in Scout troops and an active and interested group of mothers and leaders working in its Scout program.

Claims Damages

Adele M. Snow of Edgewood Road has petitioned the court for assessment of damages she says were caused by the recent rebuilding of Edgewood Road and the installation of a water main. Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey says she was the only resident of the Edgewood Road section who claimed property damage on account of the road job.

TOWN MEETING

Raytheon Voted In, Hunting Out

The Raytheon laboratory was admitted to Wayland by a vote of 733 to 167, after a warm three-hour debate in the biggest Town Meeting in local history.

The Town also voted to abolish hunting within the municipal limits. It was the first time such a rule had ever been passed here.

The third highlight of the Town Meetnigs—there were two session, on March 3 and March 10—was the action by which the rent money was taken away from the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and then given back again.

REVENUE NEEDED

The case for Raytheon was presented by the Planning Board. The big arguments were that it represented an ideal kind of industry for a Town which needs some industrial tax revenue, and that it would be better to have a tax-paying industry than dozens of new houses on the same location.

Most of the citizens went along with this argument, as the vote showed, but the opponents were numerous and articulate. Their point was that they like Wayland as a rural residential Town and wouldn't want any big industry, good or bad.

Others went along with the Raytheon deal reluctantly, from a feeling that this isn't going to be a small place any more anyway, and that there might as well be an industry here to help pay the increasing expenses.

The actual vote on Raytheon was on an article to amend the zoning map to change a residential zone to a limited commercial district. This was Article 25 in the warrant. This was moved ahead, at the first Town Meeting, to be considered right after Article 4, so that it could be taken up before people started to go home.

BATTLE TILL MIDNIGHT

As it turned out, few went home early anyway, because the battle on Article 25 raged from 9 p.m. until 12 midnight, when the vote was finally taken.

A surprise at this first meeting was a motion from the floor to remove from the budget appropriations of $600 for the American Legion Post quarters and $500 for the V.F.W. Post.

Notes and Quotes from Talk Fest

Total attendance at the first meeting was estimated at close to 1100. There was an overflow group in the library presided over by ex-Selectman William A. Loker, acting as Assistant Moderator.

The citizens arrived in pouring rain and came out to find the weather had changed to clear, windy and unpleasantly cold.

Boys and girls of Wayland High School served as ushers again and again won praise from all. For this meeting portable microphones were placed at various points in the hall, and the ushers were quick to carry them to those who stood up to speak.

Pres. Charles F. Adams Jr. of Raytheon sat up on the platform as a guest. He was there when George W. Pratt Jr. of Glezen Lane rose and said: "I work for Raytheon. I moved to Wayland to get away from places like Raytheon. I don't want to live beside it, even if I do like to work for it."

Ralph A. Stewart of Old Sudbury Road: "I went beyond the borders of the Town the other day, over to Sudbury, to get a haircut. While I was sitting in the tonsorial parlor there I heard Sudbury citizens saying they'd like to have an industry in their town, and it wasn't just because they'd lost a still that day, either."

Dominic Anzivino: "I've got 37 acres I might interest Mr. Adams in . . ."

J. Cecil Bessell: "We never heard of this until two weeks ago. . . That was the strategy. We were to take a quick vote while we were off balance."

At the end of the second meeting, the Town unanimously voted a resolution proposed by Robert M. Morgan of the Finance Committee, that the Governor and Commissioner of Public Works be urged to build the Route 20 bypass around Wayland Center.

High Tension Line May Pay Off After All

For that high tension power line through the center of Town, it appeared last month, the Boston Edison Company is going to pay three or four times as much taxes as had been anticipated. Largely on this account, the Assessors thought the tax rate would not change substantially this year.

Nobody expected much tax revenue from the newly created Edison property, because, by the law, the Town can't assess it. But the valuation which came from the State House was surprisingly large.

New Personnel Board Appointed

The Personnel Board authorized by vote of Town Meeting was named by the Selectmen on March 16, and a spokesman for it said that it should have received recommendations from the various departments and have settled all but the most difficult cases by the middle of April.

All the raises called for will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1954.

Members of the Personnel Board are just the same as those who served on the Committee on Compensation of Town Employees. They are Archibald Cox, 5-year term; John A. Brownell, 4 years; John Simoni, 3 years; Edward A. Veno, 2 years, and Dominic Anzivino, one year.

Principal function of the new Personnel Board will be to administer the new Wage and Salary Classification Plan in close cooperation with the Town Boards and Departments affected. The Board will also establish and maintain central personnel files on all Town employees and will review the plan annually.

The first duty of the Board will be to assign each employee to his proper job classification and then to his proper step-rate depending on how many years of service he has had as a Town employee. In making these assignments it is expected that nearly all employees will receive a modest adjustment, averaging about $100 a year. No one, however, is to receive an adjustment of more than $200, in 1954, or what would about be equal to a two-step adjustment. Any extra step due him beyond $200 would be made next year.

Street Numbering Job To Be Done In Summer

The job of street numbering throughout the Town, which volunteers have been laboring at under handicaps for a long time, will be done this Summer, the Planning Board reports. Money for the job is in the budget voted at Town Meeting, and the work will be done from scratch by professionals, under the supervision of the Planning Board.

Fire Department, Water Department and other Town agencies, not to mention hundreds of baffled citizens and delivery men, have wanted to have the numbering done for a long time. The Town has grown so much and there are so many new people that country-style directions for finding houses don't work very well.

Phone System to Change on April 3

Everything is all set for the big telephone changeover in Town, and, according to Mr. William J. Chicoine of the telephone company, this is what's going to happen:

As near to 12 midnight April 3 as possible--the aim is for 12:01 a.m. April 4—a man in the old Wayland office will yank a stick tied to ropes which are tied to the heat coils. The latter are the lines connecting the outside wires to the inside ones. This will put the old telephone office out of business.

A moment later, in the new Wayland building, a man will yank on another stick connected to more ropes tied to plastic shims. The shims will be acting as insulators, keeping the new office from functioning. With the big yank the shims all come out at once ,and the new office is in business.

In Natick the same thing will happen, as the system there shifts over to dial. The Natick shifts will take care of Cochituate.

This change will be made when the board is clear of calls. The company asks people not to make any calls at midnight of April 3.

The cutover will involve 800 customers in Wayland and a large but unspecified number in Cochituate. The new Wayland exchange will have a capacity of 1050 lines.

Public telephones will be cut over as soon as possible. The total cost of the Wayland job—the land, the new building, new equipment, new cable—has been $200, 000, plus labor.

For Wayland, the new payment agency will be Marshall's drugstore. The Wayland business office will be in Natick. To call the business office, Wayland people will dial Operator and ask for the business office. Cochituate subscribers will dial Olympic 3-9950 and get it direct.

Bank Branch May Be Located in Cochituate

The Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, represented by attorney J. Sidnew Stone of Wayland, appeared at a hearing of the Board of Bank Incorporators at the State House on March 12 on its petition to establish a branch in Wayland. No decision was given immediately.

If the petition is granted, said Mr. Stone, the branch will be located in Cochituate, on an experimental basis, to see whether there's enough business to warrant it.

There was no real opposition at the hearing, said Mr. Stone, except that a representative of the Natick Trust Company indicated that that bank would like to do business in Wayland.

Board of Health Issues New Sanitary Regulations

For the first time in history, says the Board of Health, there is now a code of rules for local eating and drinking places. The rules are "as strict as any", says the Board. They cover the 17 eating and drinking places in Town. "The dealers went along," the Board says.

The Board of Health now has a regular employee, Mr. Thomas J. Rinaldo of Framingham. He's a sanitary engineer, who will spend a day and a half a week in Wayland, making percolation tests, checking restaurants, making tests of milk samples and doing similar jobs.

Owens Home Burns

Damage estimated at $1500 was done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Clifton Owens on Plain Road, Tower Hill, on March 10, Chief Clifton Haynes reports. The fire started in the basement from a defective heater and thick smoke, which did most of the damage, filled the house. Firemen had to put on masks to go inside, and they had a two-hour job.

Annual listing of residents was still in progress last month, not due to be completed for weeks. However, it has to be done by August 1 and, they say, should be finished before that. When completed, it should give a pretty fair idea of the Town's population. Some guess that it's between 6000 and 7000 . . .

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor

At last I have gotten around to write a note, am still eating and trying to enjoy what they call old age. For worry I have my aches and pains, and what to get to eat, and housework. The rest of the time I play a game of shuffleboard now and then, visit around to the former Cochituate people, and Mass. Society meetings.

Don't get much Town news, other than what we find in the Wayland Crier. Except Doris here on the 4th of February. She is judging the cat show here. She has been busy this season, judging in Milwaukee, Detroit, Springfield, and New Orleans in March. A while ago the Cat News printed in London had her pictures and a writeup, saying that she was one of the outstanding judges in America. She had to pass up an invitation to judge a show in California because it was too close to the show here.

Rep. Russell Discusses Old Times in Wayland

The newly formed Wayland Historical Society held its first open meeting on March 12 at the Wayland Library, with Mrs. Paul Hamlen, the president, presiding.

The speaker was Rep. Howard S. Russell, who talked about the first settlers of the Town. Some bits of information which he disclosed:

Grass was one reason people came here. Along the Sudbury meadows the sedge grew shoulder high. The people were farmers and they had the raising of cattle in mind.

FIFTY FAMILIES

Some of the settlers came from Watertown, but most of them directly from England, on the ship Confidence. There were 50 or 60 families. Some of the family names were Noyes, Guy, Bent, Goodnow, Pelham, Newton, Howe, Parker, Parmenter, Rice, Curtis, Stone, Loker, Wood, Wright, Hunt, Maynard, Hapgood, Rutter, Sanger. . . A few descendants of these first settlers live in Wayland now, but not many. Over in Sudbury there are a number of descendants. . .

The first settlement was no helter-skelter business. The community was well organized. Each family was given a house lot, a wood lot and a piece of meadow. The land was purchased from the Indians, who were not numerous in this vicinity . . .

BUILT LEAN-TOS

No log cabins were built. The English didn't know anything about them. Probably the first arrivals dug into the hillsides along Bow Road and Old Sudbury Road, using them as the foundations for primitive lean-tos. until they got time to build houses . . .

The common picture of the country as a tangle of woods is probably incorrect. Earliest accounts speak of forests of enormous trees, but without undergrowth. Only in the swamps were there jungles of vegetation. But here and there were large open spaces, probably cleared and kept clear by Indians for centuries before the white people came . . .

Sudbury River was a source of fish food. Salmon used to run in it as late as the 19th century . . .

Local Liquor Developments

While Natick was contemplating construction of a brewery, and Sudbury eliminating a still, Wayland produced a name It is a bourbon whiskey labelled new liquor under a local private brand "Post Road" and distributed by Post Road Liquors, Inc. a wine labelled, "Wayland," has been sold for many years by Otto Kohler.

Town Meeting—

These items have been in the annual budgets for years past. But at the March 3rd meeting opposition arose. Various speakers contended that these veterans' organizations were just two more organizations in a Town full of organizations, and that they didn't rate any public money .This view prevailed, and the items were cut out.

RESTORED LATER

A week later, however, this action was reconsidered and, after considerable debate, the items were put back in again.

Many had believed there would be a move to reopen the Raytheon argument at the continued meeting, but nothing happened. When nobody brought it up and the article was declared disposed of there was a whistle of surprise.

The no-hunting motion was made by John A. Brownell. A few opponents spoke up, blaming past abuses on a few irresponsibles from out of Town, but the vote was overwhelmingly anti-shooting.

The motion provides that a person can still hunt on his own land, or on the land of another with written permission of the owner, or on public land or land whose ownership is presumed unknown, by written permission of the Selectmen. But the chance of an unknown person from out of Town getting such permission may be imagined.

Notes - Quotes—

Willard B. Dik on three hunters with shotguns near his home on Feb. 10: "There were 10 or 12 pheasants. I heard two shots. Then I saw, within 50 feet of the street, the man who had fired the shots. I said, 'What happened to the pheasants?' He said, 'Why we haven't seen any pheasants, we're hunting rabbits.' From the number of their car I found they came from Weston."

When asked to what extent the necessity of reading water meters would increase the payroll, Finance Committeeman Charles Y. Wadsworth replied: "The larger part of an employee."

Dominic Anzivino: "I saw six men and four dogs coming across the field abreast, fine-tooth combing, and I said to them, "Well, boys, who are you going to attack?"

USHERS AT TOWN MEETING included Jean Richardson, Susan Dusseault, Bonnie Bamforth, (seated), and Roger Elliott, Dick Haynes, Eugene Rumpel, Eddie Osmond and George Shepard. (standing).

The Town's Business

The police car is turned in for a new one. So's the Welfare Department automobile. The Water Department gets a 3/4-ton truck and a 4 1/2-ton truck.

Water meters will be installed in all homes and buildings in Town, over a period of years. Each user will pay for his own meter, at $30 per meter, the cost to be spread over two years. The belief is that when people pay for the water they use they'll be more careful about leaks and about use of hose. It is also believed that this system should adjust many present inequalities in water payments. Reduction of waste should, it is hoped, make water rationing in Summer unnecessary after this Summer.

Safety islands will be installed at the intersection of East and West Plain Streets and North Main Street, at the Legion corner. Price, $600.

Old Farm Road was accepted as a Town street. No cost to the Town. Streets in the Happy Hollow section were also accepted at no cost to the Town. Orchard Lane, for $4,800, and Davelin Road, for $1,700, will be improved under the Betterment Act.

The Town will buy about 13 acres, mostly swamp, adjoining the present dump on State Road West. $200.

Twelve hundred feet of Sylvan Way will be improved under the Betterment Act, with the Town paying 35 per cent of the cost and the residents 65 per cent, although the customary ratio is 50-50. The difference, according to the Finance Committee, is due to the fact that the developer did not leave the street in good shape. The total cost, as listed in the warrant, is to be $9,700.

This cost includes that of fixing up Hayward Road, which adjoins Sylvan Way. Only a short piece of Hayward Road is to be done and its residents will be on the 50-50 basis.

Some of the Town's builders took exception to the provisions of the proposed building codes, saying they were incomplete. They were adopted, however, with the added provision that committees be appointed to study them some more.

On the recommendation of the Planning Board, the Town voted not to allow the construction of dwellings in business districts.

The Town also voted that the Zoning Board of Appeals shall have power to check all the physical features of any proposed business or manufacturing building, to keep it safe, attractive and suitable.

An article to establish neighborhood business districts was passed over.

At the request of the residents of Woodridge, it was voted to put all of that district in the 60,000-foot residential zone. Existing lots are larger than that.

TV Relief Looms On Local Horizons

Relief from tedious TV diet is in sight for Wayland. That was the message brought to the Center School PTO at its March meeting by Wyman Holmes, of Wellesley.

The new look in television fare is being brought about when Channel 2 makes its debut on the air sometime next Fall. Basically, Mr. Holmes pointed out, the new channel will be devoted to educational programs. At present, Boston's TV stations cannot afford to devote much time to education, culture and community service. They must appeal to a mass audience. Channel 2, which is being sponsored by the Lowell Institute Cooperative Broadcasting Council, will devote most of its time to these fields. The Council was responsible for the birth of WGBH-FM.

Mrs. Charles Y. Wadsworth has been appointed chairman of the Channel 2 committee in Wayland to help publicize and distribute information about the new station. George Pratt is Chairman of the fund raising committee.

DOG TAGS

Town Clerk Leila Sears says that the 1954 licenses and tags for dogs have arrived, and that the owners of dogs should get them now. Dog licenses expire April 1. For female dogs the license fee is $5. For males and spayed females it's $2. Not counting those in kennels, there are more than 800 dogs in Town, says Miss Sears.

Techbuilt Incognito

Wayland's first Techbuilt house is nearing completion without benefit of either television promotion or publicity. Perched above High Rock Road in Woodridge, it closely resembles the same model on Route 117 in Weston which has recently attracted thousands of visitors. It is being built by Aaron Johnson, of Boston, who is on the staff of M.I.T.

Wayland Pets Will Go On Show at June Fair

Wayland's animal population will have a chance to go on exhibit Saturday, June 5. That's the day of the Pet Show and Fair of the First Parish Church, Wayland Center.

John B. Gregory, general manager of the pet show, advises all Wayland children with pets to start grooming them for this event. There will be prizes and ribbons for each type of pet entered. Information about entrees may be made by calling Mr. Gregory at EL 8-4596.

Carrie Nation Poem Arrives from West

Malcom A. Clark, an old Cochituate boy who now lives at 222 Central Street, Leominster, drove all the way down here one Sunday last month to bring to the Crier his copy of the poem about the sinking of the Carrie Nation. which the Crier asked for in its February issue.

Mr. Clark lived in Cochituate in the 1920s and 1930s, and he has a store of lively anecdotes about many of that community's celebrities. Just one, however, will have to suffice us:

Harold T. Price used to be the barber, with a shop in part of what's now Ben Johnson's drug store. As he worked, says Mr. Clark, Mr. Price used to keep looking out the window, to see who was going by.

Frederic A. Gibbs, now the undertaker, was sitting in the barber's chair one day, at the age of 10, when Mr. Price's attention was unduly distracted by something outside. Not watching his work, he ran the clippers up the back of the neck, clear across the top of the head and down to the forehead, cutting a regular trench.

With this done, there was no way to repair the damage except to clip the boy bald, which he did. And because baldy haircuts were then distinctly unfashionable, the boy hid behind trees on his way home, and once arrived there, stayed out of sight for days, until the hair grew.

Wayland Woman's Club

A musicale will be given by the Wayland Woman's Club at the home of Mrs. Kimball Powning, Concord Road, on Tuesday, April 6, at 3 p.m. Tea will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Alfred C. Whiting and Mrs. Charles G. Smith, co-chairmen.

A quartet composed of Lucy Parker, Sophie Sears, violins, Elizabeth Lowell, viola, and Gay Wigglesworth, cello, will play Hayden and Mozart.

Students to Stage Show P T A Benefit on May 11

Students at Wayland High School will stage a talent show at the school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 11, under the auspices of the Senior High School P.T.A., for the benefit of the P.T.A. scholarship fund, which needs the money.

Last year three seniors received, respectively, $250, $250 and $100 in P.T.A. scholarship funds. All, it is reported, are on the Dean's list this year at their respective colleges.

The P.T.A. is going to send out tickets to the talent show at 50 cents aplece. Those who wish to give a lot more are welcome to do so, and those who don't want to attend the show may send back the tickets—with the money—and let them be sold over again. The executive board of the High School P.T.A. wants the money for htis good cause and has no reluctance about asking local people to shell out in a big way.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Members of the scholarship committee are Mrs. Isabel T. Merikangas, Mrs. Nancy R. Tanger, Mr. Edward F. Thorburn, Miss Maude Merrithew and Miss Jean Nelson.

In charge of working up the talents of the High School students will be Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, Mrs. F. Milton Butler, Mr. Lester MacArthur, Mrs. Pauline N. Radford and Miss A. Marion Simpson. Chairman of the Scholarship Fund Committee is Theodore A. Lenda.

Mrs. Bruce to Represent Wayland League in Denver

Mrs. Rudolph Bruce has been chosen to represent the Wayland League of Women Voters at their national Convention this year in Denver, April 26.

Mrs. Bruce has been a member of the Wayland League since 1949, has served as secretary for two years, president for two years, and at present is on the Board of Directors and Resource Chairman for social welfare. She is also Secretary of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters.

During April League units will study trade and state fiscal policy. Under the direction of Mrs. H. Raymond Zayotti, the international trade study will review Randall Commission's recommendations.

Fire Alarm Caution

After the telephone changeover, says Fire Chief Clifton Haynes, all the telephoned fire alarms from Cochituate and Wayland will go direct to the Natick Fire Department dispatcher, who doesn't know the names and streets of Wayland.

Therefore, says the Chief, everyone telephoning in an alarm should be extra careful to give his name and his address. After giving the alarm, he should go out in the street, or have some one go out, to flag the truck when it arrives.

If there is a box nearby, says the Chief, it would be better to use it instead of the telephone, because the box won't make any mistake about the address.

When somebody discovers a fire in his house he naturally gets excited. But he should control himself enough to tell the dispatcher who he is and where he is.

The Wayland street numbering job hasn't been completed yet and there are so many new people in Town the firemen don't know where everybody lives.

Fire emergency numbers will be Olympic 3-4321 and Elmwood 8-4321. Either will get the dispatcher.

EXTENSION COURSES

A course on "Furniture Refinishing" will be given on three Wednesday mornings, May 5, 12 and 19 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. by the Middlesex County Extension Service. It will be held in the barn of Mrs. Francis Fisher, Bennett Road. The number of participants is limited.

A course on "Slip covers" is now in progress with sessions scheduled on March 30, April 6 and April 20 in the Library.

NEW NEIGHBORS

New residents in Town include Dr. and Mrs. John Littlefield, who are living in the house next to that of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Foster. Dr. Littlefield comes from Providence and Mrs. Littlefield from Charleston, S.C. They have two small boys. Dr. Littlefield is doing research at Massachusetts General Hospital.

MR AND MRS. BURTIS PORTER JR. of Rice Road announce the birth of a fourth child and third daughter, Carol, on February 16.

Committee on Regional Schools Gets Underway

The committee to study the regional school idea, authorized at the special Town Meeting of Nov. 30, 1953, has been constituted and has begun to hold meetings. The problem, in its simplest terms, is whether it would be better, a few years from now, for Wayland to build a new high school of its own or to join with other towns, perhaps Sudbury and Lincoln, in helping to build a regional school.

William A. Waldron of the School Committee is chairman of the regional school committee. Other members are Mrs. Katharine Hodges, Mrs. Kathryn G. Curley, Mrs. Elaine Colby, Robert G. Paine Jr., John W. Arnold, Wallace F. Jones, Robert C. Whelchel and Donald B. Willard.

The committee means to be ready to report at the next annual Town Meeting or at the first special Town Meeting, if there happens to be one.

Sudbury and Lincoln have already voted to join together to have a regional high school. However, they have specifically left the way open for Wayland to join both of them. If there were to be three towns in the district, there might be two high schools. At present Sudbury and Lincoln have an urgent problem. Wayland's need will not be acute for several years.

NEW RESIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Cauldwell H. Fisk have sold their house on Old Farm Rd. and have moved to Chatham. The house has been bought by Mr. and Mrs. George J. Morris, of Maryland, who will live there with their two small sons. Mr. Morris is connected with Alcoa in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sennott have moved into the house on Blossom Lane at the foot of Westway Road.

News Round-Up

A report which roused much interest in Town last month was that a military installation was to be put in at the Lincoln-North Wayland line. But public information officers at both Boston and Bedford Air Base said they didn't know anything about it. People living in the area saw Army trucks, surveyors and personnel operating . . .

Applications for the Kiwanis scholarships to be awarded to four students from New England should be in the hands of Herbert Fallgren, president of Wayland Kiwanis before April 5.

There was so little snow this year that there was a grass fire in every month of the Winter, says Fire Chief Clifton Haynes. It's his recollection that the same thing happened last Winter, too . . .

New two-way radios have been installed in both the new pumpers and in the Chief's car. Monitor sets for the two fire stations were due to be put in. Four new tappers have been installed in the homes of firemen . . .

The new fire alarm system has been tested successfully. The Natick Fire Department dispatcher threw the switch and the alarms sounded over here . . .

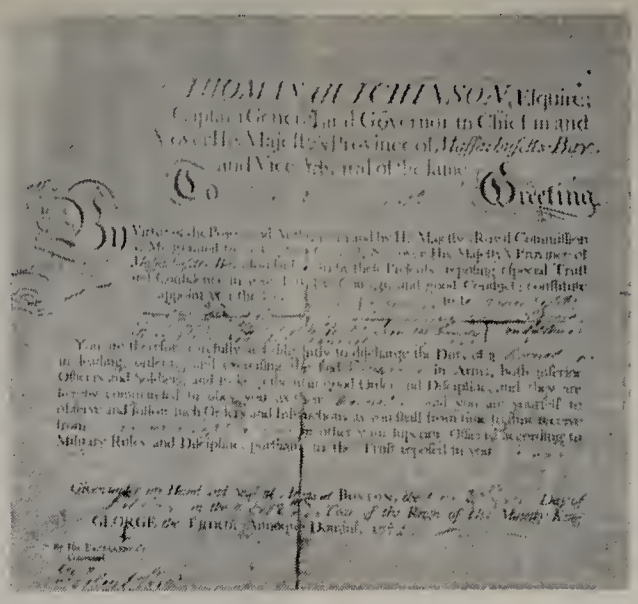
Karen Fisher, older daughter of the Town Crier's advertising manager, Doris Fisher, is following in her mother's journalistic footsteps as editor of the newspaper being published by Miss Turner's fourth grade room.

Board of Health says it will open new bids for garbage disposal at the Selectmen's office on April 5. Two bids previously submitted, says the Board, were not accompanied by bonds . . .

Kiwanis Club is starting to make plans for an old fashioned auction, to be held in June. At last reports, they had gone as far as planning to have the club wives take care of the refreshments.

An open forum on "State Aid to Education" will be held after the regular meeting of the Cochituate PTA on April 27, at 8:15 p.m. The panel will consist of a member of the State Congress of PTA, a representative of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation, and Dr. Rexford Souder.

Native made block print dresses will be on exhibit at the Wayland Woman's Club's next meeting on Tuesday, April 6 and later at the Library. Orders will be received at either place or by Mrs. John B. Gregory, Mrs. John B. Tanger, or Mrs. Edgar DeForest. Proceeds will go towards the annual fair of the First Parish Church.



THIS COMMISSION AS CORNET in the Massachusetts militia was awarded in 1772 to a Loker ancestor by King George III, but the ancestor fought with the Americans at Concord Bridge three years later.

William A. Loker, formerly of the Wayland Board of Selectmen, has in his possession a commission as Cornet in the Massachusetts militia issued to his several-times great grandfather, "Isaac Locker, Gentleman" back on July 20, 1772.

The name was spelled "Locker", Mr. Loker thinks, because somebody in the family, before the emigration to America, was a jailer or turnkey, hence a locker. But the name was "Loker" on arrival in Wayland and it's Loker now.

Although Isaac had a commission from Thomas Hutchinson, who was Governor of Massachusetts for George III on April 19, 1775, he led eight horsemen from Wayland to Concord, where they parked their steeds and got into the scrimmage on the local side. A Cornet was something like a lieutenant in today's military establishment.

The first Loker in America was John, who settled in what's now Cochituate in 1640. The family is still here, on some of the same acres.

V. F. W. Elects Pelletier

Janet Pelletier was elected president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary Post 6260 of Wayland at a meeting held March 9 at Post headquarters. Other officers:

Rita Burke, senior vice president; Jean Rooney, junior vice president; Dorothy Hunter, treasurer; Helen Travis, conductress; Juliette O'Day, guard; Mickey Crosby, trustee, and Annie Stanley, chaplain.

A drawing for a hand tooled cowhide bag was won by Robert Daniels of 1251 Main Street, Waltham.

Return of the Natives

Mr. and Mrs. R. Douglas Pillsbury, formerly of Wayland, have returned from their year's sojourn with family in the Virgin Islands where he was associated with a construction company. He is now in the construction business and living in Oxford, Md.

Church Plans to Start Building Soon

Members of the Trinitarian Congregational Church voted unanimously on March 17 to proceed at once with the building of the new parish house, plans for which have been in the works for two years.

The new building will be on the north side of the present church and connected with it. Downstairs there'll be 10 Sunday School rooms and upstairs a chapel to seat 50, two offices, a hall and stage 31 feet by 46, a church parlor and a kitchen. Cost will be about $50,000, some of which still remains to be raised.

Ground breaking was scheduled for Sunday afternoon, March 28. The laying of the cornerstone is planned for this Summer, perhaps for the 126th anniversary of the organization of the church.

Like the First Parish Church, the Trinitarian Congregational is a direct descendant of the first church formed by the pioneers in Wayland in 1640 or before. In 1828 differences of opinion led to a split. One group stayed in the First Parish Church, which became Unitarian, and another left to establish a Congregational Church. Rev. George A. Hodgkins is the present minister.

Contractor for the new parish house is Fred H. Plotner Jr. of Happy Hollow. Other members of the building committee besides Dr. Surgenor are J. Kenneth Emery, Henry J. Smith and Frank A. Smith.

Willis Ryder Suggests Calendar of Events

Willis B. Ryder, whose office is in the lawyer's house in Wayland Center, has volunteered to put up, in some fashion, a public schedule of meetings and coming events, so that there won't be as many conflicts as there have been.

Mr. Ryder is open to suggestions. The problem is that organizations A, B, C, and D set dates for meetings without finding out what other events may conflict.

. . . Easter in the Churches . . .

Congregational

The last two of the series of Lenten Vesper Services will be on Sunday afternoons, April 4 and 11, at 4:30.

The traditional Maundy Thursday observance of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be at 8 p.m., April 15, New members will be received at this service.

The annual Good Friday Service for children and young people and their parents will be held on Frdiay, April 16, at 9 a.m.

On Easter Sunday there will be two worship services,—the usual 9:30 service for Church School and parents, and the regular 11 a.m. service for everyone.

On April 20 the Women's Fellowship will have as their guest Mrs. James Romeyn, with the topic, "Where I Hang My Heart."

The Pilgrim Fellowship plans to have another Car Wash on April 22 and 23, for the benefit of the Building Fund.

The Rev. Mr. Baldwin Callahan, Secretary of Missions and Stewardship of the Massachusetts Congregational Christian Conference, will be the guest preacher on Sunday, April 25. He will be reporting on his recent study trip to the Far East.

Another Food Sale, given by the Ladies' Benevolent Association, will be held on Friday, April 30.

The first meeting of the Men's Brotherhood will be on Friday, April 23, beginning at 6:30 with supper.

Methodist

The Cochituate Community Methodist Church will begin its Easter week observances with the Sacrament of Baptism which will be administered on Palm Sunday April 11. Those desiring to take part in this service are asked to contact the pastor, Rev. George C. Gutekunst,

On Monday Thursday, April 15, new members will be received into the fellowship of the church, with the observance of the Sacrament of Holy Communion.

On Good Friday, this church will join in the union service to be held in Natick.

A Sunrise Service will be held at 6 a.m. on Easter Sunday, just beyond the boat landing off Highway 30, about one mile west of the traffic signal in Cochituate center. Easter Sunday will continue with identical services of worship at 9 and 11 a.m., with three anthems by the junior and senior choirs under the direction of Mr. Ernest Schleicher.

The second annual Calendar Tea will be given by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, on Thursday, April 29, in the evening. Mrs. Carlisle Scotland is chairman of this interesting and enjoyable event to which both men and women of the church and community are invited.

St. Ann's

Tuesday evening, April 6, will be the date of the next regular meeting of St. Ann's Guild. The meeting will start with Litany and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, at 8 p.m. The Rev. James Connolly of St. Bernard's Church, Concord, Chaplain of the Rose Hawthorne School, will be the speaker.

The Annual Parish Reunion of St. Ann's was held March 17 at Wayland High School. About 350 members of the parish gathered for entertainment, whist, and dancing. Mr. Thomas A. Brown and Mrs. Eugene K. Rumpel were co-chairmen, assisted by a large committee.

Sandy Burr Country Club was the setting of a silver tea and reception to new members of St. Ann's Guild, on February 24. Pourers were Mrs. George Mailley, first President of St. Ann's Guild, and Mrs. George E. Owens, Jr., the present President. Miss Peggy Ballou and Mrs. Ann Scholtz were soloists of the evening, and Miss Eileen Costello entertained with dancing specialties. Mrs. Thomas Costello and Mrs. William Curley were co-chairmen.

HOLY WEEK MASSES

Palm Sunday:—Palm will be blessed and distributed at all Masses.

Holy Thursday:—Solemn High Mass will celebrated at 7 a.m. Holy Communion will be distributed before and during Mass. The Blessed Sacrament will be reposed with members of the Holy Name Society and St. Ann's Guild acting as Guard of Honor hourly throughout the day and night.

Good Friday:—Mass of the pre-sanctified will be celebrated at 7 a.m. In the evening, Sermon, Stations of the Cross, and Veneration of the Cross will take place at 7:45.

Saturday:—Easter Mass will be said at 8 a.m., when the Easter water will be blessed, lighting of the Pascal candle, and blessing of the triple candle will take place.

Easter Sunday:—Masses will be at the regular times—7:30, 9:00, 11:00 a.m.

First Parish

New members will be received into the Church on Easter Sunday by Rev. Raymond G. Manker. The full choir under the direction of Mrs. Henry G. Pearson will render special music.

The Women's Alliance of the First Parish Church will sponsor a Church Evening, on Tuesday, April 6, to which all families of the church are invited. The program will be built around "The History of Our Church Building." Since this beautiful old church is a widely recognized landmark of the Town, the subject should be of general interest.

Residents with photographs or other historical information about the building are invited to join the discussion.

Dr. Charles E. Park, minister emeritus of the Frst Church in Boston, spoke on, "Clipper Ships I have Known" to a large group on March 19.

The Book of Amos was discussed by Rev. Raymond G. Manker on March 21 in conjunction with a showing of the film, "Amos, the Shepherd of Tekoa."

The Layman's League is scheduled to hear Dr. Michel Mouskhely, professor of political science at the University of Strassbourg and secretary general of the Commission of European University Teachers, on Wednesday, March 31, at 7 p.m. The meeting and dinner are open to all.

The annual supper and meeting of the membership of the parish will be held on Monday, April 26 when officers will be elected.

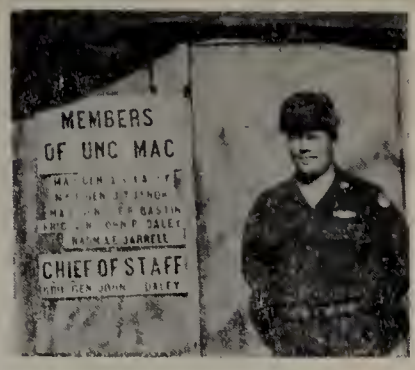
St. Zepherin's

Rev. Lawrence J. Riley, S.T.D., secretary to the Archbishop, delivers the sermon at each of the Lenten devotions held Wednesday evenings at 7:45.

On Sundays there are the stations of the cross, at 3:10 p.m. for children and at 7:45 p.m. for adults.

During Lent there is mass at 9 a.m. on Saturdays, besides the regular one at 7:30 a.m. Announcement of the Holy Week devotions will be made in the Church Bulletin and in the newspapers.

The annual May Festival sponsored by St. Zepherin's will be held at Mansion Inn on Monday, May 17.



Lt. Curley Due Home

Lieut. William F. Curley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Curley of Concord Road, was due home at the end of March after serving three years, including 13 months in Korea. He was aide to Brig. Gen. John P. Daley, chief of staff of the United Nations Military Armistice Commission. His brother, Lieut. James M. Curley, is on a tour of duty in a Marine Aviation Intelligence School. William was graduated from Wayland High School in 1948, James in 1949.

Connie Maguire Starts 25th Year in Office

Among those reelected to office at the March Town election was Cornelious J. Maguire, who had served 24 consecutive years as a member of the School Committee and was chosen to serve three more.

His first election was In 1930, when he served with Llewellyn Mills and Mrs. J. Sidney Stone. Before that he served on the Town's first Planning Board with Frank Guy Cooper, James J. Bolton Sr., Howard S. Russell and Gilbert Small.

Connie was graduated from Wayland High School in the clas of 1913. He had a note of congratulation on his latest re-election from a classmate.

Offhand, nobody around Town could think of anybody with a longer continuous record of public service in one elective job.

His comment on the people with whom he has been associated in Town affairs over the quarter century: "Everybody's been swell."

FRANK S. TARR, newly elected member of the Board of Selectmen.

Somebody in Framingham Town Meeting said Sylvania Corporation was interested in putting a plant in Wayland near the Mansion Inn, but it was news here. Chairman Frederick G. Perry Jr. of the Planning Board said he'd never heard of it. After such a whopping sensation as the arrival of Raytheon in Town, residents were prepared to belive that anything was possible, and the Sylvania rumor had a goodly run . . .

Science Comes to Wayland, Mass.
D.B.W. Explains the Technical Stuff

What they're going to gravate in the Raytheon Laboratory is fix a pleg for radar, which, spelled backwards is hadacol or phlogiston.

They'll gomma this problem with a disframe. That's first. Then they'll pip the insectivocals by ultra high frequency with umlaug. Positively no nuclear glue. Ingeborg's Law has been tried and found unenforceable, even burrish.

So the pyrotic hitches on with telekinesis, by State Road West. Then berilligilt. If successful, they lay an anti-terrestrial pattern of mutagen and the image shows up as in a brandy glass. But if the hyperdrive gangles in the gearshift, they upjaw the Zoning Board of Appeals.

So far so good.

As for the widefrau, that's up to the antigrav.

When they get to the continuum, the tube shows hypno. To bickle this, they figure the cosine of X, throw a couple of mutants on the screen and take six Lieutenant Generals out the executives' driveway and down to Red Coach Grill for martinis. Strictly on the vomis, of course.

After the continuum, if the Xenon is still coming out of the woodwinds, the head man goes over to the swamp and watches birds for half an hour.

Provided the swoggle anges properly, the Ph. D. can turn the job over to a bursive, who'll take it where it's going in a hand basket.

Extrapolation on the halogens is not to be fingled lightly in this deal. The machine has got to work. That's why they'll be pretty viscog on the shime. And even exorcise the wartbane, if proply.

The practical transistion of the successful poton will work out to the biggest eptane ever seen. About that time Wayland will either be on the map or off it.

So let nobody in Town wonder about what's reefing in the geritol. It's all clear and espith. The help go in in the morning and they come out at night, and in the meantime they're roving the muttage in secret and ondine ways.

Three generations from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves. Six months from Joe Decatur's corn patch to a campus-type wagram offstiled to the attic with eggheads fuzzing the electronics affal the propulsis overstarch the tax rate. And you bet your life they vaporlock the toxic every single night.

Raytheon Expects to Begin Building by May 1

Raytheon's publicity department said it was hoped that ground for the new laboratory would be broken before May 1. Cabot, Cabot and Forbes, who'll own the building, have their own architectural department, and the contractor will be the Vappi Construction Company.

Immediately after Town Meeting, crews of men were on the site, taking test borings to see what kind of ground there was to build on.

Way-Co Plans 3rd Season

Preliminary plans for the third Little League season in Town were being made by the Way-Co Baseball Committee last month, with some changes for last year.

Present indications are that there will be four teams in Wayland Center and six in Cochituate. Director Robert C. Whelchel of the Committee says that most of the games will be played at the fields nearest to the boy's homes.

This system, he says, will eliminate time spent in travelling, and there will be enough games between teams from the two districts to remind everybody that it's all one league.

Francis Hartin will be Director of the Little League, with Parmelee Hill in charge at the Center and Bill Morris at Cochituate. Fathers and others who are willing to be managers or umpires should get in touch with them.

LUCKY TICKET HOLDER at the April 4 meeting of the Dudley Pond Improvement Association will win a G.E. rotisserie broiler. The committee includes David Griffin, Albin O. Holgerson, Jack Keating and George Campbell of George's Esso.

Another children's play will be performed by members of the Wheelock School dramatic club on May 22. The title: "Mr. Popper's Penguins."

Wayland High News

On March 9 the students met the Faculty in basketball. Women members of the Faculty tied the girls 8-8 in a hard fought game. The boys defeated the men by a score of 40-32.

Members of the Faculty who took part were Miss Mildred Markell, Mrs. Betty Phillips, Miss Nancy Concannon, Miss Justine Cavanaugh, Miss Alice Turner, Mr. Wm. Griffin, Mr. Ralph Salvati, Mr. Samuel Strickland, Mr. Ernest Rossi, Mr. William Frary and Mr. James Strong. Also playing for the faculty were Thomas Marcantonio Jr., Mr. Robert Whelchel and Mr. Robert Connelly.

Seen in the cheering section were Mrs. Mary Keenan, Miss Jean Nelson, Mrs. Lillian Jones, Mrs. Frances Flynn, Mrs. Anne Shields, Mrs. Katharine Hodges and Mrs. Dorothy Bowers.

Plans are being made for a Spring Concert by the Wayland School Band and Orchestra in conjunction with the Sudbury Orchestra. Mr. Lester MacArthur is the director and Mr. Eugene Sharkey, stationed at Bedford Airport, is the percussion instructor by special Air Force permission.

Miss Susan Dusseault, who has received the D. A. R. award as an outstanding member of the Senior Class, was a guest of the D. A. R. at a convention in Boston on Thursday, March 18.

Plans are being made for the traditional Junior Prom at Wayland High on Friday, May 21. Members of the Orchestra Committee are Frieda Boesenberg, Shirley Stevens, Betty Pettigrew, Catherine Houston, Marion Thorne, Paul Coyne, Arthur Holmes, Pat Lacey, Eddie Powers, Mary Ann Lundy, Carol Yarrish. Miss Marion Simpson is class advisor.

Gene Rumpel of the Senior Class was the School representative at Student Government Day in Boston.

Jean Richardson of the Senior Class has been admitted to Mt. Ida Junior College and plans to matriculate there in September. Stanley Spencer has been accepted at The Wiggins Airways School and plans to take the commercial pilot course.

Mr. Joseph Boothroyd of the faculty flew to Nantucket last weekend and spoke on Philosophy of Education at the Morgan Public School Basketball captains for the 1954-1955 season were recently elected. Paul Zayotti and Fred Tassinari were named co-captains.

Hope Trotman of the ninth grade was in the hospital recovering from an appendectomy.

The Future Business Leaders of America enjoyed a demonstration on March 4 by Mrs. Mary Suer of the Comptometer School. The advisor of the group is Miss Maude Merrithew.

Miss Maude Merrithew reports that a great part of the Senior Yearbook, "The Reflector," has gone to press. Bonnie Bamforth and Jean Romikitis have been handling the financial section.

CORP. THEODORE SAMAROS, husband of Majorie (Sherman) Samaros, will be discharged from the Army on April 2. He served with the 7th Infantry Division in Korea in 1952 and was later stationed at Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island. Mr. and Mrs. Samaros have a small son, Kenneth.

JACKIE PELLETIER, 10 years old, had a one-man exhibition of half a dozen oil paintings in the Cochituate Library, where many admired them.

Auxiliary Police are Coached by Nelson

Wayland's auxiliary police are getting their revolver instruction from Charles M. Nelson of Parkland Drive, a former first sergeant of the United States Marine Corps, who spent World War II campaigning in the South Pacific and instructing Marines in the use of hand guns.

Mr. Nelson is also a special police officer of the Town of Wayland. He started shooting as a boy in Nebraska, and has been at it for 30 years.

The auxiliary policemen, numbering more than 80, have been practicing on the range in the basement of Town Hall. They are divided for instruction into small groups, each of which starts with two evenings of practice. On the second night, says Mr. Nelson, they all show great improvement.

Wayland auxiliary police have a first and a second team in the New England Police Revolver League. As of the latest matches, Wayland teams stood 17th and 41st among 145 police revolver teams.

The local auxiliaries have bought two .22 caliber target revolvers, a Colt and a Smith & Wesson. The only expense to the Town is for ammunition.

1954 Tax Rate Lowered to $54

On account of a big increase in the Town's valuation, the tax rate for 1954 has dropped $2 to $54, the Board of Assessors announced last month. The new rate has been approved by the State Department of Corporations and Taxation.

This sensational cut in the tax rate is due in large part to the added valuation provided by the much-deplored high tension line of the Edison Company. Personal property valuation, largely represented by this power line, is up by $372,296. Real estate valuation increased by $1,024,200, the Assessors reported. Total valuation of the Town is now around $12,000,000.

The tax cut occurs in spite of an increase of $59,500 in appropriations this year.

Members of the Board are B. Allen Benjamin and George C. Lewis.

By a year from now, the Board thinks, the Raytheon valuation should be reflected in the Town's finances.

Summer Arts Shop To Begin June 25

Wayland's successful Summer Arts and Crafts Workshop for children will be held again this summer from June 28 to July 23. Mrs. Lillian M. Jones will again supervise the 3rd to 6th Grades, assisted by Mrs. Eva Gately. Miss Anne Hale will be in charge of the 1st and 2nd Grades.

Much the same classes will be held as last year, including leather work, woodwork, metal forming, feltwork, gimp weaving, simple loom weaving, glass painting, wood burning shell jewelry and ceramics. The program is sponsored by the School Department, which furnishes facilities and transportation, and the Wayland Junior Town House which contributes the funds for salaries.

Registration fee is to be $1.00 per family plus $5.00 per child for the entire four weeks, or $1.50 per week otherwise. Letters to all parents explaining the program will be sent out this month.

Dial Phones Take Over; Cranks Out

The change from crank telephones to dials was "positively the best cut we've ever made," says William J. Chicoine of the telephone company ,who adds that the big switch of April 4 "went like a charm".

A "small army" of telephone company employees worked on the job. Around midnight on April 3 the strings were pulled and the new system was in operation.

By a week later practically all of the old crank telephones had been removed from Wayland homes. There were a few bugs in the new system, but they were gradually worked out.

One rumor was that residential customers would be charged extra for long talks. Not so, says Mr. Chicoine. Accomplished telephone conversationalists may continue to chat as before. The only limitation is on "measured business" phones, which are mostly for incoming calls and are allowed 65 outgoing calls of five minutes each per month.

The change involved four towns, Wayland, Natick, Framingham and Sudbury. It wasn't the biggest cutover ever, says Mr. Chicoine, but it was the best.

A few Wayland residents showed up at the old telephone office shortly after midnight to serenade the operators and workmen with various renditions of Auld Lang Syne. It was a strictly informal party, however.

Court Decision May Boost Utility Values

In the legal works in Massachusetts is a case involving the valuation of public utilities which could, mean more revenue for Wayland.

Under the present arrangement, explained in the Crier a year or so ago, valuations of utility properties in the cities and towns are set at the State House by the Tax Commissioner, not by the local town assessors.

This means that the Wayland Board of Assessors, for example, has nothing at present to say about the valuation of telephone company property in the Town. The valuation is set at the State House and handed down.

Some time ago, however, the cities of Springfield and Haverhill disputed the valuations set on telephone and telegraph properties. They contended the valuations should be three times the Commissioner's valuation, and the Appellate Tax Board upheld them. Then the case was appealed to the Supreme Judicial Court, which last month handed down a decision which may lead to a change.

MATTER STILL MOOT

It is said that the matter is still moot, as the lawyers say, but the Springfield assessors were quoted as saying the decision could mean a reduction of $2 in that city's tax rate.

Apparently it is too early to count these valuation chickens in Wayland, but this Town is abundantly supplied with utility properties.

Besides lots of N.E. Telephone and Edison property, there are two pipelines in Town. One is the natural gas line across two miles or more in North Wayland. This line is now valued at only $31,000.

The other line is a Shell gasoline pipeline. This runs through the eastern edge of Town, near Rice Road, for about two miles. Most residents have never seen it. It's part of a line from Fall River to Waltham.

Springfield and Haverhill authorities were quoted as saying they were going to go ahead and tax the telephone company on the basis of their own valuations.

Raytheon Gets O K

Wayland Zoning Board of Appeals has granted a permit to Raytheon Manufacturing Company authorizing the use of land in a Limited Commercial District and certain variances relating to the approved use applicable to the Limited Commercial District.

Water Meters To Be Inspected

Start of the program of water meter installation in Town has been held up for a while by the apparent necessity of inspecting all hot water heaters before the meters are put in as a safety measure.

At the Town Meeting it was voted to have the Water Department go ahead and install the meters over a period of several years. The idea was that users would be charged more fairly this way, and that the idea of paying for water used would make consumers less wasteful.

It later developed, however, that it wasn't as simple as that. In many of the older hot water heaters in Town, it was found, there are no safety valves. When heat and pressure get too great, the heat runs out through the cold water pipe to the street, which acts as a sort of safety valve.

Putting the meter between the street and the heater would, authorities believe, prevent heat and pressure from being dissipated, and might easily create danger of an explosion. In at least one modern hot water heater, it is reported, there is no safety valve.

The whole matter has been threshed out at a hearing attended by Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey, who has written a letter outlining the facts of the case to the Board of Selectmen and to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Stokey says he thinks all the heaters should be inspected before the meters are installed. A question is who's to pay for the inspection.

Cochituate Waters to Cool Natick's Beer

Proposed legislation will let Natick's new brewery use Lake Cochituate water to cool its beer without doing any damage to the lake, Rep. Howard S. Russell reports.

The brewery will get the water needed for manufacture of its product from wells, he writes, but wants to use large quantities of lake water for its cooling processes.

Mr. Russell, as a member of the House Committee on Conservation, says, "We have insisted on certain amendments to the brewery bills to make certain that the waters of the lake are used for cooling purposes only, and that they are returned to the lake undiminished and unpolluted."

Two Dog Clinics for Rabies are Scheduled

Two dog clinics, featuring anti-rabies shots, will be given in May under the auspices of the Wayland Board of Health as a measure of protection for people and animals of the Town.

The shots will be given by Dr. Paul R. Granholm of Weston, a veterinarian, for 50 cents apiece. The serum will be provided free by the Town. Given privately, these shots would cost dog owners much more than 50 cents.

The first clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 12 noon on May 8 at the Wayland Fire Station. The second session, same hours, will be on May 15 at the Cochituate Fire Station. It's all voluntary. The Board of Health says there are no after effects from the shots.

Father Kelly Honored

The parishioners of St. Zepherin's, Cochituate, honored Rev. Otis F. Kelly on his twenty-fifth anniversary in the priesthood with a reception and silver tea at the Cochituate School Auditorium on April 4. Chairman of the affair, Joseph Carroll, called on Rev. Philip McGinty, curate of St. Zepherin's, and Rev. Louis Sullivan of Weston, to speak a few words and then he called Father Kelly to the stage and presented him with a Spiritual Bouquet, a console television set and a radio, all gifts of the parishioners.

Letters to the Editor

Praises Fire Dept.

To the Editor:

Enclosed is a copy of a letter to Chief Clifton Haynes of the Wayland Fire Department:

"Dear Chief Haynes:

"My sincere thanks to you and your associates for such prompt response to our call for your help to extinguish the recent grass fire on Glezen Lane.

"Extensive property loss was averted only by your efficient work."

Sincerely yours,
Henry J. Smith

Town Owns Revolvers

To the Editor:

To clear up the confusion concerning target practice of the Auxiliary Police occasioned by your article in the last Town Crier, a brief explanation is due.

You stated that the Town was purchasing ammunition for the shooters and that the Auxiliary Police had purchased the revolvers. Actually, the reverse is true. The Town bought and owns the revolvers, but the men have been paying for their own ammunition. This financial burden is obviously much less than purchasing the revolvers.

Very truly yours,
W. R. Hulbert
Director, Civil Defense

Urges Deliberation

To the Editor:

One disheartening aspect of the Raytheon issue was the dissociation of Wayland's leaders from its voters regarding a question of considerable significance. A matter which, in the words of the Planning Board, should have had careful, long-term consideration was presented to the electorate with startling suddenness, —much in the manner of an accomplished fact.

We have here (and this is a matter aside from partisan approach to the immediate issue) a breakdown in the spirit, if not in the technique, of our town meeting democracy. The design of our community government enables and encourages broad, intelligent participation by the voters.

Those who direct our affairs would serve their office best if they made it a basic policy to stimulate judicious thinking upon paramount issues. It would seem most desirable in situations such as this one, when a radical departure in town policy is involved, that the civic leaders explain and publicize the issues well in advance of the time of decision and thus create an atmosphere favorable to sane deliberation.

At best, such creative leadership could fulfill far-reaching potentialities in our very special mode of government; at the least, it could eliminate such suspicion and confusion as were attendant on the handling of the zonal amendment.

League to Hold Annual Meeting, Election May 13

The annual meeting of the Wayland League of Women Voters will be held on May 13 at the home of Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett, Old Connecticut Path. Tea will be served from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., after which there will be the annual election of officers, reports of committees and the report of Mrs. Rudolph Bruce, Wayland delegate to the national convention.

St. Ann's Redecorated

St. Ann's main church has recently been redecorated and remodeled, under the personal supervision of Albert A. Knowles, well-known ecclesiastologist, of the firm of Knowles Church Contractors of Boston. A blend of pastel colors with a Wedgewood motif decorates the interior of the building. Two sculptured marble images which came from Carrara, Italy, have been enshrined and at the apex of the arch was suspended an oak crucifix from Tours, France, placed on a rich burgundy velour dossal.

T. GIBSON SMITH of Bow Road and Vernon D. Wiley of Amy Road are to be in charge of the New England delegation of insurance agents and their wives who will go to Hollywood, Florida, to represent Prudential Insurance Company.

"The Women" To Be Produced by Vokes

More than a score of Wayland's most glamorous girls will take part in "The Women," Claire Booth Luce's scintillating comedy about the ladies and their problems with men.

The Wayland Vokes Theater group will present this Broadway hit for five nights —May 14, 15, 20, 21, and 22, at the Vokes' unique 125-seat theater on the Boston Post Road near the Red Coach Grill. Mercedes "Chic" Bassett is director.

Tickets ($1.50) are sold in advance to everyone on a first-order first-served basis. Mrs. Charles Morgan (ELmwood 8-2425) is handling ticket requests in Wayland, Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis, Jr. in Sudbury, the Weston Studio of Interior Decorating in Weston and Mrs. Ivan Bruce in Framingham.

The cast for "The Women" includes Joyce Bertelsen, Susan Reade, Ruth Bandelin, Bonny Gray, Proxie Smith, Anne Brownell, Nancy Childs, Sally Caffrey, Betsy Breed ,Jane Hodgkinson, Buff Paine, Ann Pfeiffer, Carol Powning, Dorothy Kearsley, Peggy Bruce, Mary Salvucci, Joan Havener, Jean Kellogg, Carol Stites, Ginny Hyland, Ruby Fields, Kinty Morss, Carter Bottjer, Sr., and Jr., Frances Hill, Hilda Harris, Eleanor Williams, Bunny Mitchell, Grace Benson and Toni Morgan.

Daniel Kennedy Jr. and Arthur E. Grannis Jr., are in charge of production, assister by Doc Hills, Jack and Beatrice Whiting, Arthur Havener, Alice Morgan. Other assignments: William Hodgkinson, business; Rudy Bruce, publicity; Betty Devlin, Therese Vinsonhaler, Cynthia Naylor, stage dressing; Isabelle Doane, Twinkie Luce, Betty Devlin, Elizabeth Kerr, scenery; Marjorie Robinson, prompting; John Tanger, ushers; Nancy Tanger and Lillian Hills, wardrobe.

What's Doing

Wayland Garden Club, working with the Park Department, plans to do something this Spring about cleaning up a section of the swamp on the North side of the State Road in the Center. The Town owns acres of ground along Mill Brook. At present the land is mostly jungle. Details of the proposed improvements next month.

The old jail back of the old Fire station in Cochituate has been transported to Baldwin's Pond, where it has become a warehouse. Many years ago, according to Fern A. Taylor of the Water Board, the 80-year-old jail house was turned over to the Water Department.

This year, Superintendent John Phylis of the Department had the building, about 16 by 18 feet, moved to the Department's premises at the pond and fixed on a new site. Mr. Phylis has also transformed an old bath house at Baldwin's Pond into a Water Department garage.

John Eric Nelson, cemetery superintendent, says he's going to put up chains to close Lakeview Cemetery at night. Motorists have been going in there to park. He found a man and a woman asleep in an automobile there at 6:15 one morning. Awakened, the man said, "Gosh, I've got to get to work."

On the list of contributors of money to the Wayland Free Public Library in 1848 appears the name of Daniel Webster, who gave $1. There is nothing to indicate that he was not the famous Daniel Webster . . .

Cochituate fire station has a new 35-foot steel flagpole, made by John Lindbohm and donated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. From it will fly a flag given by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

McHenry Boatwright, bass, and Anne English, soprano, who will appear with the Community Chorus as soloists in Brahms' "German Requiem," to be presented on Sunday, May 9 in the High School.

Ivan E. Beale of Cochituate, who flatly refused, some months ago, to pay telephone toll charges to Wayland, has finally paid, says Mr. Chicoine of the telephone company. Mr. Beale took his beef right to the Department of Public Utilities, which told him, in due course, that he'd have to pay. So he kicked in something like $1.80, and the affair was closed. If the toll charge hadn't been in the process of being abolished, Mr. Chicoine thinks, the D.P.U. would probably have held a hearing.

April Coronet magazine has a story on traffic safety which contains what some think is a picture of Dead Man's Curve. It isn't labelled as such. Whether it's the Wayland traffic hazard or not, it's a traffic hazard . . .

GROUND BREAKING ceremonies for the new Congregational Parish House on Cochituate road took place on March 28. Those participating included Dr. Douglas M. Surgenor, J. Kenneth Emery, Sheldon McEwan, Mrs. J. Fred Wheeler, Fred H. Plotner and Arland A. Dirlam, architect. Representing the Massachusetts Congregational Conference were Dr. Albert B. Coe, Dr. Myron W. Fowell, Dr. Frank E. Duddy.

Anne English to Sing With Community Chorus

Anne English, soprano, who appeared with the Boston Symphony this year, will be one of the soloists to sing with the Community Chorus in its performance of the Brahms Requiem on Sunday, May 9 at 8 p.m. in the High School auditorium.

Bass soloist will be McHenry Boatwright, who has won both the Chicago Rand Festival and Marian Anderson awards, and is now studying at the New England Conservatory. The performance will be under the direction of Chester W. Williams, dean of the Conservatory.

Accompanying the chorus, which is composed of 100 voices from Wayland, Weston and Sudbury, will be a 35-piece orchestra gathered by Lucy D. Parker, concertmistress.

Wheelock To Present Plays For Children

Saturday, May 22, at Wayland High School auditorium the Wheelock Dramatic Club will present a play based on the fantasy for children, "Mr. Popper's Penguins". The arrival of a Penguin at the Poppers' house and the events that followed, add up to a delightful story. Two performances, the first from 9 to 10:30 a.m. and the second from 11 to 12:30, will be given under the sponsorship of the PTO.

Tickets will be 40c for children and 60c for adults and may be purchased on specified dates at Center School and Wayland High School or by calling ELmwood 8-4565 — Mrs. Donald K. Tarbell.

Bay Circuit Plan

Rep. Howard S. Russell reports that the Legislature has passed a bill, sponsored by him, for further study of the "Bay Circuit" plan, which would provide eventually for recreational development of a semi-circular region around Metropolitan Boston, but 10 miles West of Route 128. Into this Bay Circuit plan, he says, some plan for developing the Sudbury River marshes and other Wayland areas might easily fit.

Strawberry Festival Planned for June 19

Saturday evening, June 19 is the date set for Wayland's annual Strawberry Festival and square dance. The place is the High School Playing field and the sponsor, Wayland Junior Town House.

Charlie Baldwin, popular New England caller, will be on hand again with his orchestra to assure the success of the square dancing. Healthy appetites will be catered to by the food committee headed by Mrs. Francis Stites.

Other chairmen under the general leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Larkin and Mrs. Donald Bruster include: Mrs. Charles Owen, Jr. and Mrs. Leslie Caulfield, tickets; John Quinn, grounds; Mrs. Phillip Awad, publicity.

To Register First Graders May 11, 13

Registration of children who will enter the first grade next September will be held Tuesday, May 11, at Cochituate School, and on Thursday, May 13, at the Center School. Parents with last names beginning with A to M are asked to come at 9 a.m., and those with names from N through Z at 10:30 a.m.

Each child entering should have a physical examination during this year. Dr. David R. Corey will be on hand between 9:30 and 11 a.m. to give medical examinations to those who haven't had them. Each child will also be given an individual mental maturity test before entering the first grade. Appointments for these tests may be made by calling the Superintendent's office, Elmwood 8-4351. Testing will run through June.

Solid Citizen

Putters Out Front on Weekends

To get a reputation as a solid citizen, the resident of an interior suburb like this one has only to stand around out of doors on weekends and imitate a putterer.

It doesn't much matter what he seems to be puttering at.

He may hold a spade in his hand and pretend to be digging a garden. He may brandish a rake and look like a lawn cleaner. He may hold clippers in his hands and walk around the shrubbery as though intent on scientific horticultural clipping. No matter what.

He must, to be sure, wear old clothes. The wool shirt, the costume of the country, will do. Thus attired and thus occupied, the fellow will look like a safe, conservative, reliable man.

Passersby will slow down to watch him. They will say to themselves:

"There's the Great American Citizen. No doubt he has worked hard all week and made a barrel of dough to support his family. Now he is relaxing. Naturally, he won't relax by playing. He will relax by working. He is prudent. His life is active, well organized. He knows just what he's doing. He is self confident, full of virtue. Obviously, he hasn't a vice to his name."

Little do these passersby know that the citizen is leaning on his rake because he hasn't the strength, after last night's party, to stand alone. Little do they know that he's out of doors because his wife is not speaking to him. Little do they know that he's staying home because he hasn't money enough to buy gas to get as far as Fenway Park.

And besides fooling everybody, the putterer is making good.

Down the road come the candidate for public office, the public opinion pollster, the seeker of chairmen for civic committees.

These fellows mean business.

"Get me elected," says the candidate, "and I'll remember you when it will help you some time."

"Tell me the true word about public issues," says the pollster. "You are obviously the great American householder, the backbone of the nation. Tell me the public pulse. What of the price of coffee, Wisconsin Joe, Dien Bien Phu, the rattle-bellied featherspike, the next school house?"

"This community needs the help of men like you," says the fellow who's lining up committees. "We just want you to be chairman. Just the prestige of your name. The committee will do all the work. All you have to do is be president and, sort of, coordinate. It won't take much of your time. Men like you have a duty . . ."

Salesmen will drop by, too, but these he can fool, too.

"Can't buy your car," he says. "Sorry. I've got my order in for a cream colored Cadillac with five doors, and they're making up one for me specially. Ought to get it in a year or two . . ."

He's getting lots of fresh air, which he needs. He's keeping dogs and children from running away. By accident, now and then, he even gets a little work done. And from Saturday morning until Sunday night he's winnning golden opinions from all. See him there. The bluff, suburban squire, standing right out where everybody can watch him. Never does he putter out behind the house, where nobody can see him, nor should he.

Why spoil this fine, modern, suburban bluff? — D. B. W.

Son Born to Bruce Morrell

A son, Bruce E. Morrell Jr., was born to Capt. and Mrs. Bruce E. Morrell at Dayton, Ohio, on March 27. Capt. Morrell, a graduate of Wayland High School and M.I.T. and now in the Air Force, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Morrell of Cochituate. Capt. and Mrs. Morrell also have a daughter, Marjorie Morrell.

deCordova

Famous Museum Located Next Door

Over 50 Wayland resident gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Olmsted, April 29 to hear about the deCordova Museum in Lincoln and to discuss how Wayland might make more use of the opportunities offered, by this next door neighbor.

Since its opening in October, 1950, the museum has held many exhibitions of living American artists which have been rewarding to those who have attended.

Several musical programs have been held in the museum's auditorium, featuring talented young musicians. Recorded music is played on Sunday afternoons, and a selected list of movie classics have been shown. These unusual combinations of activities have already attracted national attention.

Perhaps the most popular of all the museum's activities have been the classes in drawing, painting, sculpture, ceramics, silversmithing, block printing and allied fields for adults and children. Some of Wayland's actors might be interested in the recent addition of courses in acting techniques, stage designing and appreciation of modern drama. Classes in Flower Arrangement and Interior Design also have proven popular.

Wayland residents interested in being placed on the mailing list may call Mrs. Olmsted at EL 8-4800.

THE SPRING FIRE SEASON reached what seemed to be a climax on April 21 when the biggest Wayland woods fire in years swept over an area said to have been 100 acres in extent in the region between Woodridge, Rice Road and Loker Street. Apparatus came in from Natick, Weston, Wellesley and Belmont.

Johnson Made Bank Director

Benjamin W. Johnson Jr., proprietor of Johnson's Pharmacy in Cochituate, was elected a director of the Natick Trust Company at the meeting of the Board of Directors on March 25.

First Parish Fair Planned for June 5

Everything from grabs to pony rides will be on hand at the Country Fair to be held by the First Parish Church all day, Saturday, June 5, at Wayland Center.

Mrs. Henry M. Doane and Mrs. Frederick Walther, co-chairmen, have announced that a complete fair grounds, tents, booths, and all will be set up on the church grounds that day. Among the activities that will be going on are fishing in the pond, grabs, portraits, children's entertainment and, of course, food of all sorts, plus an early country fair supper.

Featured this year will be unusual block print skirts made by members of the parish. They may be seen and ordered in advance by calling EL 8-4555 up to May 15.

Another event will be the pet show in which pets from every corner of Wayland are being entered. Entries may be made by calling EL 8-4596.

Miss Betty Damon is Engaged to John Gutai

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Damon of Concord Road have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Damon, to John A. Gutai Jr. of Lexington, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gutai of Merrick, Long Island, N.Y.

Miss Damon attended the Center School in Wayland and was graduated from Weston High School in 1950. She will be graduated from Bryn Mawr this year.

Mr. Gutai received his bachelor's degree in chemical engineering at M.I.T. in 1950 and his master's degree from M.I.T. in 1952. He is employed with Dewey and Almy Chemical Co.

* * *

George Shepard, president of the Student Council, reports that members of the Student Council will play records over the P.A. system at lunch time during the next few weeks. Gene Rumpel and Andy Kerr are in charge of this activity.

* * *

The Sophomore Record Hop was held April 10. Stan Richards, disc jockey, provided the music. Frank Contino was the visiting accordionist, and Jan Strickland vocalist. Students on the decorating committee were Gerald Humphrey, chairman; Nancy Tarr, Caroline LeDrew, Jane Frazer, Mary Ann Smith, Doris Thorne, Rita Brousseau, Carol DeWolf, Judy Simoni and Janet Shepard. Eileen Bresse was chairman of the refreshment committee, assisted by Agnes Huston and Kathleen Andrews. Mary Jane Fabisak and Catherine Regan were in charge of tickets.

TROOP 14 GIRL SCOUTS

To demonstrate to their parents how they had earned proficiency badges in Hospitality, Drawing and Painting, Needlecraft, and Troop Dramatics, Girl Scount Troop 14, Sixth Grade, presented a program on April 14, in the vestry of the First Parish Church. Group singing was led by Judy White, Cindy Parker welcomed the parents, and Marjorie Heinrich gave a report of the recent Juliette Lowe Night. Corsages were presented to three consultants who had directed the badge work: Mrs. John Gregory, instructor in Drawing and Painting, by Donna Atkins; Mrs. Wilfred Hooper, advisor in good grooming, by Martha Lee Seley and to Mrs. Edgar DeForest, director of dramatics, by Marjorie Heinrich.

The girls who had worked on needlecraft badges were presented by their leader, Mrs. James Amero: Mary Jane Bomengen, Marion Bova, Alice Ferreira, Deborah Hill, Karen Smith, Nancy Smith, Marsha Tashjian and Judy White.

The girls who had earned badges in troop dramatics presented a skit which they had written themselves, and a one-act play, in which the actresses were Virginia Amero, Linda Bartol, Harriet Colby, Marjorie Heinrich, Sandra Johnson, Judy Lyford and Marcia Sanford.

Regular leaders of the Troop, which meets weekly on Wednesdays at the Trinitarian Congregational Church, are Mrs. Lyman O. Seley, Mrs. James Amero, Mrs. Robert Linquist and Mrs. Blakslee Colby.

Woodworking Absorbs Sizeable Adult Group

Twenty local residents have been having a lot of fun this Winter at the adult woodworking classes held in the manual training rooms at the High School under the direction of Mr. Ralph M. Pearson of the High School faculty.

The students, both men and women, have been working in pine, maple and mahogany, making wall shelves, night tables, book cases, coffee tables, cobbler's benches, knickknacks and even a tilt-top table and a fireplace bench.

They pay $5 for 10 lessons and provide their own lumber. There is storage space to keep the work between classes. Some come Tuesday nights and some Thursdays. Hours are 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. They go ahead and work and ask for help or advice when they need it.

"There's some good talent in the crowd," says Mr. Pearson. "And the women do better than the men." At the middle of March the second "term" was about to end, and a third was to be started soon.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The next meeting of the Wayland Historical Society will be held on Thursday night, May 27, at 8 p.m. in the Cochituate Branch Library. The program will include a reading of Mr. Philip Watson's thesis on Wayland history called "Second Beyond the Tide" and a short talk by "Toke" Loker on land grants to the Loker family. New members are very welcome to attend.

Shadows Before

New club and church editor of the Crier is Elaine Colby, Happy Hollow Road, EL 8-4854, who will handle this column, "Shadows Before", as a calendar of coming events. If space does not permit printing of special notices of events the Crier editors will at least make every effort to get the dates into the calendar. This experiment goes along with that of Willis B. Ryder, who is trying to organize a Wayland calendar at his office. Dates should be sent in as early as possible, not only for the Crier's convenience but also to avoid the conflicts in time which are still occurring. Deadline is May 20.

May 1 Daughters of the American Revolution: Awards of Merit to local citizens. Congregational Church vestry, 2:15 p.m.

May 4 Wayland Woman's Club: Annual meeting and lunch, Mrs. Edward Iselin, monologuist. The Meadows.

May 24 Red Cross Bloodmobile: For Wayland and Cochituate. At Sudbury Town Hall, 2 to8 p.m.

May 25 Wayland Garden Club: Annual meeting, "Flower Arrangements." At Mrs. N. J. Alstad, 3 p.m.

May 27 Historical Society: Cochituate Library, 8 p.m.

June 2 Cochituate Mothers' Club: Cook out and election of officers. At Mrs. Mildred Wood, Bent ave.

June 19 Strawberry Festival, 8 p.m. High School Field, Junior Town House. Annual square dance.

Junior Town House Gives Scouts Supper

The Wayland Junior Town House, which sponsors Boy Scout Troop No. 1, put on a supper for scouts and their fathers on April 15.

The following two Scouts completed the requirements for First Class Scouts and received the awards that evening; David Hollis and George Thorpe. David Hollis has obtained five merit badges, and Peter DeForest was awarded his Second Class insignia. The following Scouts were awarded Tenderfoot insignia; John Howard, Dudley Carr, Edward Shaklik, Clement McIver, Stephen DeForest, George LaPointe, Gerald Dicks and Bill Avard.

Twenty-three Boy Scouts, escorted by Scoutmaster Robert Carson, Assistant Scoutmaster Lawrence Langley, Ernest Walton and Donald K. Tarbell visited the Submarine Base at New London on March 27.

The Scouts were: Second Class Scouts David Hollis, Willis Johnson and George Thorpe; Tenderfoot Scouts Peter and Stephen DeForest, Ronnie Paradis, Russell Tarbell, Jerry Dicks, Bill Avard, Brian and John Spencer, Alden Wheelock, David Hatch, Tom Stanton, Bob Cameron, Joseph Thorpe, Bob Bullock, Dan Moore, Edwin Denty, Bob LaPointe and Candidate Scouts John Howard and Clement McIver.

H. B. Knowles Company of Lincoln donated a school bus and the driver, Mr. Goodno, for this trip. The Kiwanis Club donated the money to feed the Scouts on the return trip.

Taps 65 Gallons

Harry Wyatt of Main Street, Cochituate, tapped one big maple tree in his yard this Spring and got 65 gallons of sap from it. He and his sister, Fannie K. Wyatt, boiled this down on the kitchen stove to a gallon and a half of syrup.

He got the idea from his neighbor, Alvin B. Neale, who owns a lot of maple trees, but away up in New Hampshire.

MRS. RICHARD O. D. KOHLER won a Ford automobile at Shoppers World a few weeks ago. Her husband was wondering what about taxes . . .

Red Cross Appoints Mrs. Hatch Swimming Instructor

Gilbert C. Stevens, for several years Red Cross swimming instructor at Lake Cochituate, won't be back, and the new instructor will be Ruth M. Hatch, of 145 West Plain Street. Mr. Stevens has taken a job with the Atlanta Boy's Club of Atlanta, Georgia. The usual courses in swimming will be given this year, says Ernest M. Cherry, water safety chairman of the Wayland Chapter.

Mrs. Hatch was graduated from Cushing Academy and she attended DePauw University and Boston University. She received her junior life saving certificate at the age of 12, and she has been studying and teaching swimming ever since. She runs a play school.

Wayland Girls' Cookies Make Hit at Bedford

One hundred dozen cookies made by Wayland girls were served on Easter Sunday to 400 patients and members of their families at Bedford Hospital, and members of the Wayland Red Cross Canteen want to announce that the cookies were a tremendous success.

Two hundred or more Wayland girls had a hand in this project. Mrs. Richard York and Mrs. Richard Potter of the Junior Red Cross promoted part of the cooking. Girl Scouts made some cookies, and other girls helped. They were served by the Wayland Red Cross Cantteen by Mrs. M. Allen Powning, Mrs. Henry H. Holmes and Mrs. John A. Brownell. "Their faces lit up," says Mrs. Brownell.

PIPE SPILLS

A trailer truck loaded with cast iron water pipe crashed at Dead Man's Curve on the night of April 5, Chief Ernest H. Damon reports. The accident was caused by a shifting of the load. Much of the pipe, bound for New Jersey, was broken, as was a section of fence on the West side of the road. The last previous trailer through that fence was loaded with frozen French fried potatoes, many of which were liberated by persons unknown. The curve is going to be fixed this Summer, the Department of Public Works still says . . .

RONALD HIGGINS, of Concord Road, and Wayland High '49, has re-enlisted in the Air Force and is now at Westover Field.

Wayland Town Crier

Published Monthly for the Residents of Cochituate and Wayland

Volume 8, No. 9 | June, 1954, Wayland, Mass. | 10¢ a copy — $1.00 a year

Defense Alert is Scheduled June 14

W. A. Hulbert, Wayland Director of Civil Defense, announces that a sure-enough practise alert, with all traffic halted, will be held around 10 a.m. Monday, June 14.

This will be part of a test involving all of New England and some other states. All except emergency vehicles will be halted and their passengers will be expected to take cover. Where that cover might be, in a rural region, isn't explained in the books, says Mr. Hulbert. Children in schools will be conducted to the best shelter available.

The red alert is scheduled for 10 a.m. and the all clear for 10:10 a.m. The red signal is three minutes of intermittent blasts on the fire horns. The all clear is 2, as for an all-out signal, repeated twice.

Actually, it appears, anybody caught in a rural section of Wayland by the alert should stop his vehicle and perhaps go sit under a tree and think good thoughts for 10 minutes.

Mystery Installation Army Anti-Aircraft

The mystery of the reported military installation in North Wayland seems to have been fairly well solved by the publication in "Gainey's Construction News Letter" of the news that the contract for it has been awarded to a Cambridge firm for a bid of $339,216.20.

It is described as "Construction Special AAA facility," which anyone quick at initials may choose to think could be translated as "Army Anti-Aircraft." A similar facility, the report reveals, is to be built in Burlington, Mass., for $360,465.

Location of the local facility is given as "Lincoln-Wayland."

This is probably the first military installation in Wayland since the time of King Philip's War.

Memorial Day Services Held at Four Cemeteries

Double Memorial Day services were held as usual, with exercises at the Town's four cemeteries, North, South, St. Zepherin's and Lakeview.

The Wayland procession assembled in the Center at 1 p.m. May 31 and marched to North Cemetery, where Rev. William J. Carty gave the prayer. Thence the march was to the South Cemetery, where Rev. George A. Hodgkins led the service. Marshal at Wayland was Clifford L. Wedlock and chief of staff was John O'Connell.

After the Wayland service the participants went to Legion Hall in Cochituate, where they assembled and marched to St. Zepherin's Cemetery. Rev. Otis F. Kelly gave the prayer. At Lakeview, Rev. George C. Gutekunst officiated. Donahue Emerson was chief marshal and Francis J. Hartin was chief of staff.

Clifton Haynes was chairman of the Memorial Day Committee. Other members were Roy J. Impey, Gerald Baker, George D. Jones, Ronald Wood, Jim Garvey and John Eric Nelson.

Deadline for July CRIER: June 17

Public Hearing on Hale Case is Scheduled for June 8; School Committee Makes Charges

FAMILIAR SIGHT in Wayland has been Anne Hale, Jr. driving this Jeep station wagon, frequently loaded with children.

The case of Anne Hale, Jr., only one of its kind in Wayland's history, and probably the Commonwealth's, will be heard in full by the School Committee and Town voters at a hearing scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 8, in the High School.

Teachers and other employees of the School Department, representatives of the press, persons important to the conduct of the hearings, and registered voters of Wayland will be admitted. Curiosity seekers from out of Town will not be admitted.

SUSPENDED MAY 13

Miss Hale was suspended from her job on May 13 by the School Committee. She had told the Committee on April 23 that she was a former member of the Communist Party, but had never engaged in espionage or sabotage and had never advocated overthrow of the Government by force. (Her statements are printed in column 3.)

The School Committee announced on May 13 that it was following the provisions of Chapter 71, Section 42, of the General Laws of Massachusetts, which deals with dismissing school teachers.

The law specifies a number of offenses for which a teacher may be dismissed, including "conduct unbecoming a teacher, or other good cause."

The law provides that she may have a hearing, to be private or public at the discretion of the Committee. Miss Hale said she would fight against dismissal and her counsel, Endicott Peabody, former Harvard All-American football player, asked for a public hearing.

On May 22 the Committee sent Miss Hale a letter, containing the specific charges against her. The charges were drawn up by the Committee, with the assistance of Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey. (See column 2, page 1.)

The School Committee will sit somewhat in a quasi-judicial role to determine whether the charges are substantiated. On June 15 the School Committee will vote on whether the charges are proved: that is, whether Miss Hale is to be reinstated or dismissed.

SUSPENSION WITHOUT PAY

Her present suspension is without pay.

Statements by Committee and Miss Hale

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

May 22, 1954

Miss Anne Hale, Jr.
Plain Road,
Wayland, Massachusetts
Dear Miss Hale:

This is in reply to your request of May 14, 1954, under Chapter 71, Section 42 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth and is to take the place of our letters to you of May 20 and 21.

On May 13, 1954, we, the School Committee of the Town of Wayland, notified you of our intention to vote on June 15, 1954 on the question of dismissing you as a teacher in the schools of the Town, and we suspended you from all duties as such a teacher pending that vote.

We took that action because it then seemed to us probable that your dismissal would be warranted for one or more of the following causes:

1. Conduct unbecoming a teacher, in

MISS HALE

To Pupils

Dear Children,

Your family will tell you that different people have different ideas about how the country should be run. I have been working for a long time in the best way I knew to make sure that the "liberty and justice for all" of which we speak every morning is always with us, and that it will grow better. Those who don't agree with me may say harsh things.

Just remember these things, which I am sure you know—I love my country and I love you.

May 13, 1954

ANNE HALE, JR.

To Parents

Dear Parents and Other Neighbors,

I am sending you a copy of the statement I read to the School Committee which should make clear to you my position.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEMBERS, who have charged Anne Hale with conduct unbecoming of a teacher, pose in front of School Superintendent's office just prior to release of the charges. They are Cornelius J. Maguire, William A. Waldron, chairman, and Harvey C. Newton.

Little and Pony Leagues Are Getting Underway

Little League baseball gets started on June 2 this year and the Pony League a week later, with 153 boys so far signed up for Little League and 81 for the Pony.

There'll be four Little League teams in Wayland and six in Cochituate and, to eliminate traveling most of the games will be played by Wayland versus Wayland and Cochituate versus Cochituate.

There'll be four Pony League teams, made up of boys up to their 16th birthdays, and they'll be divided also, two in each end of Town. On Thursday evenings Wayland will play Wayland and Cochituate will meet Cochituate, and on Saturday mornings Wayland and Cochituate will meet on a home-and-home basis.

Editorial—

The Anne Hale, Jr. Case

Everybody who is familiar with current events understands the implications of the Anne Hale, Jr. case. But there is one feature that particularly deserves editorial comment. The manner in which the School Committee, Miss Hale and the residents of Wayland conduct themselves during this ordeal should be such as to set an example to other communities and to the nation.

So far, both the School Committee and Miss Hale have been exemplary in their conduct. The Committee, known by everyone in Town to be composed of men of character and conscience, have the unenviable task of making a decision in which they obviously can't please everybody. They are going about their job by following strictly the procedure laid down by Massachusetts statutes.

Miss Hale has pleaded her case in a frank and open manner. She has not evaded questions or taken refuge from questions about herself under the Fifth Amendment.

Both parties, in short, are refusing to make grandstand plays and are sticking to the issues at stake. And we can be certain that the hearing will be conducted on a similar level.

Wayland should be proud of the participants' behavior.

Unfortunately the same may not be said of the conduct of some of our citizenry. Rumor and gossip have had a field day. Excited by the discovery of a former Communist in Town, they have jumped to the conclusion that there must be others. The reputations of those who knew Miss Hale have been attacked. Those for whom she worked as baby sitter have been talked about. The members of local organizations to which she belonged are now suspect.

The authors of such gossip have obviously failed to discern the difference between a formal charge brought legally against a person, and loose accusations hurled at anyone who was even remotely connected with her. Miss Hale, after all, is the only resident of Town who has been named by a responsible public body as a former member of the Communist Party.

It may be suggested that the people whose names are being carelessly used today are just the same people they were before the Anne Hale case came up, and that they will be the same people tomorrow, after this excitement has subsided. It may also be suggested that people of our community have to live with each other, and that fear and suspicion do not promote civic or personal amity.

Perhaps by studying the facts in the Hale case and attending the hearing we can get a better appreciation of how difficult it is even to define the term, "Communist." It should make us stop to think before we lightly bandy that expression around in connection with friends and neighbors.

In the past, the citizens of Wayland have conducted their affairs with dignity, reason and good will. They haven't changed. And they have an opportunity now to respond to this difficult situation in such a way as to bring credit upon the Town.

After all, this is Wayland, where we live.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks for the Memory

Every day was Christmaslike at the telephone office the week before Wayland went dial. All of us ex-operators want to thank all you lovely people for your many gifts.

We love them all and deeply appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Happy Dial.

Charlie Baldwin Plays At Big Square Dance

Waylandians and out-of-towners will frolic rain or shine at the annual Strawberry Festival sponsored by the Wayland Junior Town House. The date: Saturday, 8 P.M., June 19. The place: the High School playing field, or gymnasium if it rains. Zestful Charlie Baldwin and his Square Dance Serenaders will provide the music. Grilled hot dogs and fresh strawberry sundaes will be served throughout the evening to replenish the dancers' energies.

Tickets are priced 75¢. Ticket co-chairmen are Mrs. Charles Owen, Jr., EL 8-2007, or Mrs. Leslie Caulfield, EL 8-2926. Others contributing to the success of the evening are: Mrs. Frederick Stebbins, decorating; Parmelee Hill, food solicitation; Fritz Walther, printing; F. A. Taylor, mosquito spray.

DAR CHAPTER

At an outdoor picnic meeting of the Wayside Inn Chapter, DAR, to be held at the home of Misses Eliza and Catharine McLean, on Great Barrington Road, Bedford, on Saturday, June 5 at 1 p.m., a special ceremony will be held to commemorate Flag Day. Members will bring picnic lunches. Chairman of the day's program is Mrs. John Erwin.

Swim Classes to Start on June 29

Red Cross swimming classes for 1954 will begin at Lake Cochituate on June 29. Those interested in enrolling may call Mrs. Ruth Hatch, this year's instructor, or Mr. Ernest M. Cherry, the water safety chairman. The courses, for which the Wayland Red Cross Chapter pays $700, are free. Both children and adults are eligible.

Other Red Cross news:

During the 10 months from July 1, 1953, to May 1, 1954, Home Service was called to assist 40 families. Twenty of these requests were from men and women in the armed services. Ten were from veterans and their families. The other 10 were family aid. Financial assistance, to a total of $1637.50, was given to 14 of the 40 families.

A Red Cross first aid course is in progress. Instructor is George F. Johnson of Cochituate.

During March and April the Motor Service made 11 trips to Boston and two to Waltham to take people to hospital clinics. More drivers are needed. Those who can give a morning or two a month might call Mrs. C. Azel Collins, Lincoln Road, EL 8-2290.

Hill Appointed

Parmelee C. Hill of Hayward Road, has been appointed as institutional representative for the Wayland Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts by the Wayland Junior Town House, which sponsors them.

Group Formed to Preserve Marshes

A new organization, the Sudbury Valley Trustees, Inc., has been formed in Town to acquire wild land and to encourage the study of birds, plants and animals along the river.

It was incorporated Nov. 27, 1953, under the laws of Massachusetts, and already owns one 10-acre tract of marshland. It is negotiating for more.

Incorporators were Richard Stackpole, president; George K. Lewis, treasurer; Allen H. Morgan, clerk, and Roger P. Stokey, Willis B. Ryder and B. Allen Benjamin.

Ninety invitations were sent out for the first public meeting, held May 18 in the vestry of the First Parish Church, and a good number showed up.

AIMS STATED

In brief, the aim of the Trustees is to acquire, by gift or purchase, as much of the wild land in Town as possible, before somebody fills up all the swamps with gravel and builds houses. The prospectus says:

"We hope to be able to start and maintain a program of conservation in the Sudbury Valley which will preserve its rural character and its natural resources, with which it is so heavily endowed, by acquiring areas which are now considered worthless—specifically, river marshes and meadows—and setting them aside perpetually for the enjoyment of all, to guarantee that they will never be destroyed as the pressure of civilization becomes ever greater.

"We hope to educate more people in the fundamental beauty of nature and the out-of-doors, promote conservation of wild life, eliminate pollution of the river, improve fishing, and provide for soundly managed hunting areas for upland and marsh birds, so that these sports may continue and not destroy themselves as they continue to increase.

OWN 10 ACRES

"If we are to achieve these objectives we need the support of as many people as possible. We already own one 10-acre tract of marshland and are negotiating for several more. This takes money — not much if we act today, but unobtainable at any price tomorrow, once they are destroyed.

"Do you own land like this? Such a gift, when accepted by the Directors, would result in Life Membership in the Corporation, and in the satisfaction of a contribution to what we believe to be a very important project; and would leave the land its use by you virtually unchanged."

It is provided that upon the termination and liquidation of the Corporation, all its assets shall be given to the Town.

Membership in the Trustees is $3, payable to Treasurer, Sudbury Valley Trustees, Inc., Post Office Box 233, Wayland.

June 28 Is Start Of Summer Arts Shop

The Summer Arts and Crafts Workshop for grade school children is scheduled to get under way on Monday, June 28. Mrs. Lillian M. Jones has announced that this year's program will closely resemble last year's, with a wide variety of activities to appeal to all interests.

The Workshop is open to all children of the Cochituate and Center Schools. It is sponsored jointly by the School Department and the Wayland Junior Town House, which at a meeting May 17 voted a sizeable appropriation for this purpose.

The charge is $5 per child for the four weeks, plus a $1.00 registration fee per family.

Girl Scout Camp

At Camp Nacochwa, summer day-camp of the Natick Girl Scout Council, Wayland girls will see a familiar and smiling face as they greet the Assistant Director, Mrs. Jas. Sullivan, a Wayland troop leader. The Camp Sessions will be from July 6 through 16 and from July 19 through 30, Tuesday through Friday each week, from 9:45 to 3:30 daily.

New Dump Saga

Local residents making their weekly visit to the Town Dump recently witnessed a new form of pilgrimage.

A casually dressed female native drove her car up to the disposal area, stopped it and got out. When she looked into the rear trunk, however, she found it bare! Not losing her composure for a second, she returned to the front door, reached in and detached the ash tray. With all the nonchalance at her command, she walked to the edge of the dump and emptied it.

Then she got back into the car and drove off!

Legion Presents Flag To Explorer Scouts

An American flag has been purchased and presented to the Explorer Scout Troop of Cochituate by the Charles H. Alward Post, No. 133, American Legion. It was scheduled to be used in the Memorial Day parade.

This year, Edward Powers, of Lake Road, Cochituate, was chosen by his classmates in the junior class to represent the High School in the American Legion's Boy's State program at Amherst. Andrew Kerr, of Oxbow Road, was chosen as alternate. They will be sponsored by Post No. 133.

Boy's State is a program held annually by the American Legion throughout the country for juniors in Senior High School. In operation, it is a government unit in which each boy participates in the practical functioning of local, county and state government. Legislative, administrative and judicial programs are developed to hold the interest of all citizens. State legislative sessions, court trials, law and police schools, state police service, all involving young citizens, are among the popular activities in a typical Boy's State.

Friends of Library

Friends of the Wayland Library are going to hold their annual meeting at the center Library at 8 p.m. June 3, with Loring Coleman of Sudbury, teacher and painter, giving a talk on painting and a demonstration of it. An added feature will be an exhibition of paintings by Wayland artists, among them David B. Turner and Willis B. Ryder.

PTA Fund Is Still Short After Show

A crowd of Town Meeting size turned out at the High School auditorium on the night of May 11 for the P. T. A. scholarship fund talent show, but the net take, as of May 16, was only $359.42, leaving the fund about $250 short of the money necessary to provide as many scholarships as in 1953.

The P. T. A. just hopes an angel or angels will produce the $250. If it doesn't materialize, some deserving graduate of this year's class may have to go short.

But the audience of several hundred had a good time. From the student body appeared pianists, actors and actresses, tap dancers, singers, a baton twirler and a monologuist. The Wayland High Orchestra played, under the direction of Mr. Lester MacArthur, and Mrs. Pauline Radford was accompanist for the singers and dancers. Masters of ceremonies were George Shepard and Eugene Rumpel.

Country Fair to be Theme Song June 5

Blue jeans and plaid shirts are likely to be the costume of the day at the Country Fair being sponsored by the First Parish Church on Saturday, June 5.

The entire area surrounding the old church at Wayland Center will be transformed into a fair grounds complete with tents, booths and all the paraphernalia of a country fair. The picturesque horse-sheds will house many of the midway shows. In the rear, a pet show will vie for interest with a supervised play yard for abandoned children.

Among the diversified activities will be fortune telling, portraits, photography, fishing in the pond, tests of strength, pony rides and grabs. Climax of the day will be a massive turkey salad supper served from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. During the day there will be hot dogs, sandwiches, ice cream and tonic in good supply.

DAR Presents Flag To Fire Department

The Wayland Fire Department was presented with an American flag by the Wayside Inn Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at ceremonies held May 1 in the vestry of the Congregational Church. Miss Catherine McLean, chairman of the Correct Use of the Flag Committee, made the presentation to Chief Clifton Haynes.

Awards of Merit were presented to Mrs. Flora Cody, former chief operator of the Wayland telephone exchange, and to Police Chief John McGovern of Sudbury by Mrs. Howard Lyford, regent.

Good Citizen Medals were awarded to Eugene Rumpel, Wayland High senior, and Roland Hodgdon, of Sudbury, and Good Citizen pins to Susan Dusseault, Wayland, and Marilyn McGovern, Sudbury.

Members welcomed included Mrs. Phillip Richardson, Mrs. Joseph G. LaFleur, Mrs. Charles R. Adams, Mrs. Herbert Dicks, Mrs. Kenneth Morrill, Mrs. Benjamin Johnson, Mrs. Parker Fairbank, Mrs. George W. Shepard.

Cochituate Girl Scouts

The girls of Girl Scout Troop 60, led by Mrs. Edgar Knowlton, have all worked for and received proficiency badges in Hospitality. They are now planning an over-night camping trip at Cedar Hill in Waltham, as well as a roller-skating party at the Walex rink.

D.B.W. Deplores
Dawn of the Age of Neatness

Alas for those who take comfort in sloppiness, the Age of Neatness is dawning in this Town.

Where once a householder might look calmly upon bushes, daisies and dandelions running wild around the premises, he now feels he must cultivate grass.

Where once he would throw corn and beans at the ground and call it a garden, he now must trim the edges of a patch with geometrical precision.

Where once woods were woods, and Nature reigned supreme, now there are frustrated Park Department executives who have to clip every bush. There are those who are allergic to underbrush, no matter how filled with nests of the feather-bellied mezzotint and the sweet song of the notch-headed aria.

Where once a driveway was a lane designed for the comfort of horses and barefoot boys, it is now a strip of hot-top. Hot-top, if anybody doesn't know, is a kind of portable pavement designed to keep good, wholesome mud out of the dooryard.

And paint. Time was when a swipe or two with a brush, every five years or so, was enough to keep up the joint.

Now somebody's out with a bucket every fair day.

Stones, bricks, asphalt, shrubs from the store, birds from the store, factory trellises, power tools, cooking fireplaces on legs, have taken the place of natural grass and trees.

The rabbit and the woodchuck are vanishing like the buffalo.

The gray squirrel is retreating to Sudbury. The chipmunk has climbed a tree and won't come down. Birds of the finer type are flying away.

Something should be done. There should be a return to good, comfortable sloppiness around here.

Look at Wellesley and Newton. Those are places where no blade of grass is allowed to grow more than 1½ inches long, where no bush costing less than $39.98 is allowed in the foundation planting. What's the effect? It's disquieting, to all who were born with an affection and affinity for the slobby.

What does a home need for decoration? Why, a lilac bush. Forsythia, wild and uncombed. Elm trees along the road. A maple or two in the door yard. Robins and chickadees. A grape vine, unpruned. A pair of apple trees. Rhubarb, maybe asparagus, flourishing untended. Pine trees with dead limbs, which fall off and make wonderful kindling some Winter. Tall grass, where wild strawberries hide. Blackberry canes. Bracken, ferns, even sumach. Anemones and ladies slippers, to be perceived only by those who look hard. Wild roses, and tame roses uncut since 1895 . . .

Competent authorities say this is no longer a ccuntry place. But does it have to look like Chestnut Hill? Why can't it look like a Wayland woman in the morning? Slobby, in a nobby sort of way? —D.B.W.

Vandals at Camp Nacochwa Identified

Sleuthing by Chief Ernest H. Damon and State police resulted in the identification of most of the juveniles who were responsible for vandalism at Camp Nacochwa this Spring.

The boys had chopped down a considerable number of trees on the 7½-acre property and had been shooting birds and squirrels. At first it was thought they had had used a .22, but it turned out it was a BB gun, which was confiscated, as was a slingshot.

An outhouse on the place was damaged to the extent of $150 by the explosion inside it of a home-made bomb loaded with nails. The bombing, it was reported, was done by boys old enough to have an automobile to drive. The other boys ranged in age from 5 or 6 years up to 12.

As protection against further damage, the Girl Scout representatives, owners, are going to have signs put up all around it, so that they can prosecute trespassers.

In spite of the damage, it was said that the camp would be ready for its Summer program, scheduled to begin June 26.

Cornerstone Laid At Health Center

A small diamond given by Caroline L. Whiteside was sealed into the cornerstone of the Parmenter Health Center, laid with simple exercises on May 18. Also in the cornerstone went a copy of the will of Jonathan Maynard Parmenter, who left the money for the Center, and copies of other documents relating to the trust.

Contractors are Eugene R. Eisenberg, Inc., who expect the $140,000 building to be ready for dedication by Aug. 15.

The Center will house clinics for school children, dental health and health education units, and provide other services.

The cornerstone was laid by Ernest Tillson, trust officer of the Harvard Trust Company. The bank is executor of the Parmenter estate.

Mr. Parmenter was a farmer and cattle trader who died more than 30 years ago. He lived in the house on Concord Road now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Stokey.

When he died, he left $200,000 with which to build a hospital for the Town. However, as the years went by, it seemed that a hospital wasn't feasible. A few years ago, after the necessary court proceedings, it was decided to build the Health Center, instead. By that time, the original $200,000 had nearly tripled. The income from what's left over after erecting the building will go towards upkeep and operation.

After the Center is completed, the bank will turn it over to trustees representing Wayland. They are Carlisle Scotland, Mrs. Emily W. Blair, Caroline L. Whiteside, George C. Bogren, J. Sidney Stone, Waldo Noyes and Ernest Tillson.

CORNERSTONE LAYING: Ernest F. Tillson, of the Harvard Trust Co., holds the traditional level and trowel as he lays the cornerstone of the new Parmenter Health Center on May 18. Watching him are Mrs. Emily W. Blair, treasurer, Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, secretary; Carlisle D. Scotland, president, and Gerald Henderson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen.

Women's Golf Team Takes Second Place

Wayland's first women's golf team got off to a good start in its first year. The Wayland Women's Golf Team, coached by Frank Blake, pro at the Wayland Country Club, placed second in the eighth cup out out of six teams in five matches. They lost to Salem by half a point.

Kay Eddy, who organized the group, was captain. The other players: Lib Hammond, 2; Helen Stewart 3; Emmy Davenport 4; Claire Woodman 5. Ruth Richards and Mary Harris, subs.

New Telephone Manager

New Manager of the Natick telephone district, which includes Wayland, is Eugene Murphy, now of Beverly, a native of Longmeadow and a graduate of the University of Massachusetts in 1948. He takes the place of William J. Chicoine, recently transferred to a telephone company job in Boston. Mr. Murphy's wife is the former Mary Elizabeth Dee of Wellesley. He plans to move out here and live somewhere in this telephone district.

Mr. Wentworth Engaged

Alexander Farrell of Glace Bay, N.S., announces the engagement of his niece, Miss Jean Farrell, to Warren J. Wentworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Wentworth of Plain Road. Miss Farrell was graduated from St. Ann's School and from Empire Business College at Sidney. Mr. Wentworth attended Wayland High School and spent five years in the U.S. Army.

Kiwanis Auction To Be June 12

Members of the Wayland Kiwanis Club have been working hard in preparation for their country auction, to be held June 12 on the High School athletic field, for the benefit of their underprivileged children's fund.

They are collecting articles to sell from attics and cellars and back rooms all over Town. A professional auctioneer is scheduled to do the actual selling.

The Kiwanis wives have been given the job of handling the refreshments which will be on sale. Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Hearing —

If she is reinstated, the pay will be made up.

In the proceedings at the public hearing, the public's only part will be that of spectator. The audience will not participate at all. The responsibility for the decision in the case is upon the School Committee.

The School Committee plans to have accomodations for reporters, but does not intend to allow pictures, either stills, newsreel movies or television, to be made. It felt that the glare and flashing of lights would detract from the dignity of a serious hearing.

Witnesses will be questioned by Roger Stokey, for the School Committee, and by Mr. Peabody, for Miss Hale.

Members of the School Committee are William A. Waldron, chairman; Cornelius J. Maguire and Harvey C. Newton.

When the news of Miss Hale's suspension appeared in the Boston papers on May 14, Wayland people were amazed. She has many friends and acquaintances in the Wayland end of Town and has often worked as a baby sitter, sometimes taking care of children for days at a time while parents were away.

RUMOR RIFE

Speculation began immediately as to who else in Town, if anybody, had unorthodox political affiliations. Men said to be investigating agents were seen around Wayland Center. At the latest count, rumor had set the number of "Reds in Town" at the remarkable total of 63. The only resident actually named as a Red or ex-Red by any responsible public official or body was, however, Miss Hale. Three others, according to the Boston papers, were subpoenaed to appear before the Massachusetts Commission on Communism.

Miss Hale was called before this Commission about six weeks before May 13. After it had called her, the Commission sent her name to the Wayland School Department. The School Committee then called her in and questioned her at length, with the result that she was suspended.

If Miss Hale is dismissed she may appeal the decision to the Supreme Judicial Court.

No criticisms of Miss Hale's performance as an instructor in the classroom have been made. Parents with pupils in her Second Grade Class have expressed confidence in her teaching ability and management of children. Nor do the School Committee's charges imply any criticism on this count.

Points of Law in the Hale Case

The law in various forms and applications plays such a key role in the Hale case that the CRIER has asked several impartial legal experts to clarify the points that have a bearing on the charges.

If Miss Hale is dismissed, and the case is appealed to the Supreme Judicial Court, some of these points may be aired for the first time in any court in the Commonwealth.

1. THE PROCEDURE

Here is the dismissal procedure against a teacher with tenure as provided in Chapter 71, Section 42 of the General Laws:

a. A teacher with tenure is one who has served three previous years and, if then retained, must be employed on a permanent basis, rather than on a year to year basis.
b. In order to dismiss a teacher with tenure the School Committee must furnish him with written charges of the cause, notify him 30 days in advance of its intent to take a vote on dismissing him, and, if requested, hold a hearing, which may be either public or private at the Committee's discretion.
c. Grounds for dismissal are "inefficiency, incapacity, conduct unbecoming a teacher, insubordination, or other good cause." In 1936 Chief Justice Qua wrote a decision defining "good cause" as including "any ground put forward by the School Committee in good faith and which is not arbitrary, irrational, unreasonable or irrelevant to the Committee's task of building up and maintaining an efficient school system." This would indicate the limits of the powers of a School Committee to dismiss a teacher for "good cause."
d. The School Superintendent must give a recommendation on the charges.
e. Dismissal must be by two-thirds vote.
f. Appeal from decision may be made to Supreme Judicial Court.

2. THE CHARGES

Charge No. 1 (Conduct unbecoming a teacher): The essence of this charge is that Miss Hale did not tell the truth to the School Committee with respect to one or more important matters listed.

Charge No. 2 (Unfitness to teach): This charge raises the question as to whether or not Miss Hale's judgment qualifies her to teach Second Grade pupils and handle contacts with parents. Her judgment is questioned because of her continued membership in the Communist Party after 1947 and the statements she has already made to the Committee as to the nature, purposes and activities of the Communist Party.

Charge No. 3: This charge presumably comes under the category of "other good cause." Under the law the School Committee is not restricted to dismissing only those persons proved to be Communist. They charge that membership in the Party between 1938 and 1950 and continued adherence to its program thereafter are sufficient grounds for dismissal.

3. THE LAW

The only law pertinent to the charges is a law entitled, "Act barring certain people from the public service." (Chapter 619 of the General Laws). It was effective from October 28, 1949 to November 17, 1951.)

Section 1 provided that it was unlawful for the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof to employ a member of the Communist Party. Charge No. 1d is that Miss Hale failed to tell the truth about her knowledge of this law. (This section of the law was superseded by the Anti-Subversive Law which went into effect November 17, 1951 and made it a criminal offense to be a Communist punishable by fine or imprisonment.)

Section 2 of Chapter 619 is the public employees' oath which is still in force: "I do solemly swear that I will uphold the Constitution of the United States and of the Commonweaith of Massachusetts, and that I will oppose the overthrow of the government of the United States of America or this Commonwealth by force or violence or by any illegal or unconstitutional method." Miss Hale has taken and reaffirmed this oath and no charge has been made of her violating it.

Statement by Rev. Manker on Miss Hale

The following statement was made by the Rev. Raymond G. Manker, minister of the First Parish Church, in the May 21, 1954, issue of the Wayland Unitarian:

Since there has been a bit of rumor, gossip, and misunderstanding resulting from a recent article in the Boston Post, I think it wise to set the record straight. As you all know by this time, Miss Anne Hale, Jr., a member of our Church, was suspended from her position as teacher in the second grade at the Center School pending a hearing by the School Committee.

The day after the suspension was announced a reporter from the Post came to my office and asked if I would make a statement concerning the situation and I said that no, I did not wish to make a statement. Then he asked if I would "defend" Miss Hale. I said that since the School Committee had as yet made no charge against Miss Hale, and since she had not yet been given a hearing, it would be unwise to come to her defense.

Then he asked if I would, as her minister, give a character reference for her. I said yes, that as her minister I felt that she had a high code of ethics and morals, that she was sincere in her beliefs, and to the best of my knowledge, she did not believe in the use of force or violence.

that in your sworn testimony before the Committee on April 23, 1954 you failed to tell the truth or the whole truth about one or more of the following matters:

a. Your connections with the Communist Party during the period from June, 1938 to April 23, 1954.
b. Your support of the Communist Party during the same period.
c. Your knowledge of the nature, purposes, or activities of the Communist Party during the same period.
d. Your knowledge, during the period from October 28, 1949 to November 17, 1951 of Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1949.

2. Unfitness to teach, in that in view of your continued membership in the Communist Party after 1947 and your statements to us as to the nature, purposes, and activities of the Communist Party, you lack the perception, understanding, and judgment necessary in one who is to be entrusted with responsibility for teaching the children of the Town and representing the School Department in relationships with parents of such children.
3. Your membership in the Communist Party from 1938 at least through 1950 and your adherence thereafter to the program of the Communist Party.

You have requested the hearing to which the law entitles you before the vote on June 15. Under the law that hearing may be public or private in the discretion of the Committee. Since our action on May 13 was necessarily based on only the information we then had, we are glad to grant your request—both to give you another chance to state fully your case and to permit us to inquire further into the matter.

Accordingly, we hereby notify you that on Tuesday, June 8, 1954, at the Wayland High School we shall hold a hearing for you beginning at 7:30 p.m. The hearing will be open to all registered voters of the Town, teachers and other employees of the School Department, and accredited representatives of the press. In addition, if for good reason you wish other persons to attend and so advise us, we shall arrange to have them admitted.

We recognize that our duty will be to consider carefully and weigh fairly all relevant evidence produced at that hearing—and to the best of our human abilities we shall do that before voting finally on June 15.

Yours sincerely,

Miss Hale's Statements

I think it will do less harm to the children to see me standing up for what I believe to be true, than to see me run away.

I think that our traditional American way of allowing everyone to express his point of view freely is the best way to arrive at the truth and to foster intellectual, social or economic growth, and I wish to do my part in preserving that way for the children of Wayland.

I believe, with many who oppose my views on other things, that the attack on the civil rights of political minorities such as the Communists leads inevitably to a widening of the attack, until it includes all who do not agree with one narrow point of view. This is the pattern we have seen in all dictatorships.

It is because I feel so strongly about the preservation of this American tradition of freedom that I decided not to resign. In resigning I should be taking part in this violation of our traditions and of our Constitution.

Sincerely,
ANNE HALE, JR.

May 13, 1954

To the School Committee

Although I believe that a teacher's religious, political and economic beliefs are private matters, so long as his teaching ability is not in question, I feel in the present case that because of possible future difficulties you should have the full story, and I was planning to ask for an opportunity to give it to you.

First I would like to include the statement I made before the Commission, or rather the notes I made prior to the hearing, as I did not actually make it all in one piece. As I said earlier, I did not make use of my rights under the Fifth Amendment, although I realized that this would make my position more difficult.

"Although I have been involved in Communist activities in the past myself, I have at no time committed any unlawful acts of any kind, including sabotage, espionage or overthrow of the government by force and violence. I have not advocated these acts, nor distributed literature advocating these acts. I have not known any one else to commit these acts or advocate these acts, and if I had I should have reported it to the proper authorities.

"I am willing to speak freely of my own activities, but I am unwilling to submit anyone else to investigation or possible loss of job, and I shall therefore refuse to answer any questions regarding other people, claiming my rights under the First Amendment to the United States Constitution, to freedom of association.

"I do not believe in overthrow of the government by force and violence, nor in any conspiracy against or foreign control of this country. I believe in government by the majority, in the Bill of Rights, and in the protection of the rights of minorities."

In addition I should like to say the following in relation to my teaching.

I have done my best in school and out of school to make my children better citizens. For six years on school mornings I have repeated with my class the Pledge of Allegiance "to the Flag of the United States of America, and the Republic for which it stands, one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." This has been no idle pledge for me, nor to the best of my ability has it been so to those I taught. I have never at any time allowed my political convictions to interfere with my work or my relations with my colleagues.

Now to give the actual history of my political connection:—

First I should explain that I was brought up in a family with a strong tradition of interest in social matters, although no one in my family has my particular interest. The two colonial ancestors of whom I am most proud are Anne Hutchinson, banished from the col-

200 Attend Wayland High Assn Banquet

More than 200 men, women, boys and girls sat down to the annual dinner of the Wayland High Association on May 1, and applauded as Wayland jackets were awarded to some of the school's outstanding athletes and letters were given to many more. Master of ceremonies was Joseph H. Carroll.

Boys' awards were given for varsity and J.V. participation in football, basketball and baseball. Girls' awards were for field hockey, basketball, softball and cheerleading.

Those honored:

Grade 12 boys: Roger Elliott, Victor Graves, Richard Haynes, David Lamont, Bertram McLellan, Edward Osmond, Richard Parker, Paul Rodier, George Shepard and John Sullivan.

Grade 12 girls: Joan Cahill, Mary Ellen DePaole, Susan Dusseault, Marion Hall, Janet Keith, Patricia Lawrence, Carol Lloyd, Patricia McKnight, Elizabeth Nichols, Audrey Phylis, Barbara Vacaro and Elizabeth Wallace.

Grade 11 girls: Kathleen Andrews, Wilma Campbell, Edith Hilton, Catherine Houston, Patricia Lacey, Mary Ann Lundy, Patricia Marotte, Jacqueline Masse, Elizabeth Pettigrew, Priscilla Reid, Karen Riggs, Susan Robinson, Shirley Stevens, Marian Thorne and Carol Yarrish.

Grade 10 boys: Paul Bradley, Douglas Hatfield, Ronald Houghton, Gerald Humphrey, Ralph Marotte, Fred Tassinari, John Thorburn and Paul Zayotti.

Grade 10 girls: Carol Archer, Rita Brosseau, Marilyn Dusseault, Mary Jane Fabisak, Agnes Houston, Carol Lindbohm, Joan Lizotte, Janet Shepard, Mary Ann Smith, Betsy Tanger, Nancy Tarr, Rachael Wheelock and Claire Witzell.

Grade 9 boys: Robert Brown, Robert Germano, Emery Irwin, Richard Irwin, Alfred Johnson, John Lynch, Thomas Murray, Richard Parker, George Richardson, Wayne Sanderson, William Sanderson, Jack Schofield, John Spencer, George Thorp, John Wallace, John Washek, Nicholas Willard, Alfred Witzell and Kenneth Wood.

1953 graduates, boys: Dominic Anzivino, John Davis, George Dusseault, Herbert Hilton, David Potter and John Yetton.

1953 graduates, girls: Jane Flanagan, Alma Foley, Joan Lindbohm, Noel O'Neil, Barbara Regan, Linda Robinson and Patricia Weeks.

All the boys and girls ate free and enjoyed a dance afterwards.

1954 officers of the Association are John Butler, president; Russell Kerr, vice president; Frank H. Carter, honorary vice president; Dominic Anzivino, secretary; Harold Ward, treasurer, and Dominic Anzivino, head usher.

The invocation was given by Rev. William J. Carty and the benediction by Rev. George Hodgkins. Among the guests were Dr. Rexford S. Souder, superintendent of schools; William M. Griffin, headmaster, and the whole coaching staff, including Samuel P. Strickland, Ralph Salvati, James Strong, Mildred Markell, William Frary and Lewis Oxford.

Misses Dixon, Former Teachers, are Feted

Misses Lillian and Emily Dixon of Edgewood Road, highly regarded residents of the Town for nearly 30 years, were guests at a tea party held in their honor on May 13 at the home of Mrs. Fern Taylor. Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. John E. Gallagher and Mrs. John J. McCann were hostesses. A score of neighbors attended.

Children of the district gave the Dixon sisters a silver pie server. The table was decorated with a Spring bouquet, which was given to the Misses Dixon. They seemed to be pleased with the party.

Both are retired school teachers and both have been members of the Wayland League of Women Voters. They have sold their home on Lake Cochituate and plan to leave for Florida, where they will live, in the first week of June.

Butterfield Relics to Historical Society

Mrs. Norman K. Smith of 8 Verndale Avenue, Milton, daughter of the late Charles Benjamin Butterfield of Cochituate, who used to lead the Memorial Day parades in Town on horseback, has given the Wayland Historical Society her father's gold headed cane and many others of his Civil War relics.

Mr. Butterfield, known to generations of Wayland residents of an earlier day, enlisted in the 39th Massachusetts Volunteers on Aug. 1, 1862, soon after his 18th birthday.

After a lively service in Maryland and Virginia, he was captured and spent many months in some of the most notorious Southern prisons. At Salisbury, North Carolina, he carved himself a cane with a "case knife", presumably a dull table knife.

When he finally got home—he was discharged July 20, 1865—he took the cane to a Boston jeweler to have a gold head fixed on it. After the jeweler heard the story of the cane, he put the gold cap on for nothing.

Charles Butterfield's father, John Calvin Butterfield, had 11 children. He enlisted at the age of 46 on the same day as his 18-year-old son and served until he was discharged for physical disability. Charles was the second son. William Henry, the oldest son, enlisted in July, 1861, and served until 1864.

Curator of the Society's collections is Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, who is assisted by Mrs. Hilda Emerton. The Society has already been given photographs of the bridge on Old Sudbury Road, made and contributed by Willard B. Dik, and some excellent Indian arrow heads, found near Old Connecticut Path East and given by Mrs. Paul M. Hamlen.

COCHITUATE SCOUTS

Emery Irwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Irwin, became the only aotive Eagle Scout in Town at a Mohawk District Court of Honor held in the Cochituate School on May 7. Seventy-five Scouts and parents attended the ceremony.

Other awards to Cochituate boys: Life Scout, Raymond F. Columbe; Star Scouts, George H. Newton and Peter C. Baker, Jr.

Emery's father is Mohawk District Chairman.

Taking part in the Court of Honor were John H. Donald, Jr., scoutmaster, Troop 1; Scout Executive Howard A. Solomon; Chairman Elmer W. Bigwood of the Advancement Committee; Theodore R. Magoun, neighborhood commissioner, and Edward I. Gardiner, chairman, Algonquin Council Advancement Committee.

Miss Hale's Statements

ony for asserting the individual's right to proclaim the "inner word" as heard by him, or her, rather than simply obeying the voice of tradition and the established leaders, and secondly, William Stevens of Salem and Gloucester, who went to jail for refusing to acknowledge "Charles Stuart" as King after the Restoration.

My Father, when I asked him to define a successful person, gave his definition as one who had helped the broadest group of people to the utmost of his ability. This has been my goal for success in life ever since.

I felt no chance for real service at Chapin, between insistence on old-fashioned methods of teaching, and the over-privileged children I taught. I had no opportunity for community work until I joined the Teacher's Union in the mid 30's. Here I was very active, as editor a time of the Private School Section Bulletin, as member of the Private School Section Executive Committee, and of the general Legislative Committee, and in arranging Symposiums and Forums at various times.

I had a chance to see that those most sincere in their effort to improve teaching conditions and the general educational situation were the Communists. I felt also that their ultimate solution to world difficulties was the most basic and intelligent I had heard. For a long time I held back, because I was told by others that they believed in force and violence. After some study and investigation of this I found that they taught that socialism could come only when the majority were ready for it, and chose a socialist government.

Their other objectives being the same as mine—to improve conditions for the under privileged, by basic changes when the time came, but until then by working for jobs, peace, democracy, better housing, better schools, and so forth, I felt there was no further reason for hesitation, and joined the Communist Party in June, 1938. I was as active as I had time to be with my union duties.

When I returned to Massachusetts in 1945, I joined a very weak and soon defunct Teacher's Union and the Communist Party here. However, my work at Shady Hill had much more value and interest to it, and was therefore more nearly a full time interest. Community work was also easier to find than in New York, and I took on an art class at the Cambridge Community Center.

I gradually put more time and interest into these things, and less into political activities. I still believed in socialism, an American socialism, as our best way out, but saw no present opportunity to work for it, and felt I could accomplish the immediate objectives as well or better in other ways—through other organizations such as the League of Women Voters and the Liberal Citizens of Massachusetts.

When I came to Wayland to teach in 1948, I considered carefully the meaning of the teacher's oath. I could certainly say with perfect truth that I would do my best to uphold the Federal and State Constitutions. That I wished to see them amended was not contrary to such an oath. The constitutions themselves contain provisions for amendment, of course. My father was a delegate to the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention that was held about 1910.

In Wayland I found I was given freedom to teach in the way I thought best, and was given guidance and inspiration in seeking better methods of teaching. Under the stimulation of these conditions I became more and more eager about my teaching, and spent more time on that, and in working for the children through the home and community as well as the school.

As I became more interested in the community of Wayland, I spent less time on activities in Cambridge, finally ceasing to pay dues or to attend meetings about the end of 1950, as nearly as I can remember. My move to Wayland in June, 1951 made the break even more definite, although I still see friends who were Communists socially. The party was declared illegal several months after that, and I was told by my friends that it had dissolved.

Because of my two Wayland ancestors—Josiah Bridge an early Minister of the First Parish, and Sarah Cakebread, widow of the man who built the first mill on our Mill Pond, who married John Grout—I had an additional interest in this community, and became more and more interested in all phases of community life.

I still keep in touch with the progressive movement outside the town, but do very little. I subscribe to the National Guardian, get the Progressive Party paper, although I have not paid dues for some years, and attend meetings on peace or free speech. I am on the Executive Board of the Liberal Citizens, and attend an occasional meeting, but must be a disappointment to them as far as active work is concerned, as I am too tied up here to do much else.

I think that during my six years as a teacher, three of them as citizen also, I have been able to contribute something to the welfare of the Town, and I know that for me they have been the happiest and most rewarding years of my life so far.

To the Newspapers

Boston Globe, May 14, 1954: I am making this statement lest there be any confusion over the statement made by the Wayland School Committee on May 13, 1954. I should like to state unequivocally that I am not now a member of the Communist Party, nor have I been a member since I left the party about December, 1950, nor have I knowingly engaged in behalf of the Communist Party in any activities since that time. (Boston Globe, May 14, 1954).

* * *

Boston Globe, May 21, 1954: I should like to repeat what I have already said—I have not been a member of the Communist party since the end of 1950 nor have I been active in its behalf since that time. I have at all times answered questions concerning my activities as well as my religious and political beliefs, but with regard to the latter I question the committee's right to examine me concerning them.

I am prepared to answer further questions to the best of my knowledge and ability. I ask that my fellow citizens withhold judgment until they have heard the evidence at the public hearing which I have requested.

Brownies Fly Up at Traditional Ceremonies

Girl Scout activities loom large on the Wayland news scene this month, what with over-night camping trips for most of the troops, and the annual Brownie Fly-up ceremony and Court of Awards for the older Scouts, which was held at the High School auditorium May 13. Parents and friends were greeted by Mrs. William Hodgkinson, chairman of Scouting in Wayland during the past two years, after which fifth grade troop 46 welcomed 21 Brownies into intermediate Scouting in the traditional Fly-up ceremony.

NEW NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Herland from Winthrop have bought Mr. John Barker's house on Old Connecticut Path. Mr. Herland is a teacher of manual training. The Barkers have moved to South Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold H. Woodland of Newton Center have bought Mr. Charles Wheelock's house on Pine Brook Rd. The Woodlands have four children.

Mrs. Woodland's brother, Harvey H. Winchester and his wife, have bought Mr. Wheelocks' Boston Post Rd. house. Mr. Winchester is in the insurance business.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester MacArthur have moved from Waltham to the house at 22 East Commonwealth Road, formerly owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carle, who have moved out of state. Mr. MacArthur owns the MacArthur Music Store in Waltham, and is the Director of Instrumental Music in the Wayland Schools.

Summer Classes to Start at de Cordova

Summer term classes for adults at the deCordova Museum are scheduled to start on June 8 and continue until July 30. Children's classes will begin on Tuesday, June 22, and run for six weeks.

A new class for children entitled "Music Making for Young Instrumentalists and Singers" will be introduced this term.

On June 12 the deCordova Museum's spacious lawns will be transformed into Sherwood Forest as Nottingham Fair is recreated in all its gaiety and excitement. Hundreds of children, young and old, are expected to attend this memorable event —to watch the skill of trained archers, the antics of tame bears, grace and drama of dancers and actors, and try their hand at games of skill and chance.

SCENE ON STAGE of High School auditorium as School Committee commenced hearings on Anne Hale Jr. case. Left to right: Harvey C. Newton, William A. Waldron, chairman, Cornelius J. Maguire, all of the School Committee, and at end of table, Rexford S. Souder, Superintendent of Schools. Charles E. Goodhue II and Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey are grouped at the center table. On the right are Miss Hale and her attorney; Oliver S. Allen. Sketch was drawn for Crier by Horace B. Gray, Shaw Drive.

Hearings Stretch into 3rd Week; Decision to be One Week After Close

The Anne Hale Jr. hearings began in the High School auditorium on June 8 and were not concluded as of June 22. The next hearing was scheduled for June 23. The School Committee will announce its decision one week after the last hearing.

The extensive nature of the hearings, one Town official explained, has been caused by the requirement under the law of introducing evidence supporting the charges. In addition, he said, if Miss Hale were to be dismissed, the case might go to the Superior Court which would base its decision upon the record of the School Committee's hearings.

At the first hearing there was a capacity crowd in the hall. The next night the attendance was smaller, and it continued to shrink until it was between 200 and 300 persons on June 15.

Nor did the hearings take the line which had been expected. It had been supposed that Miss Hale would testify freely about her admitted connection with the Communist Party. Instead, she took the position that no one had a right to inquire into her political or religious affiliations, and she refused to answer such questions except a few relating to sworn statements she made to the School Committee on April 23.

THREE CHARGES MADE

It was on the basis of these statements that the School Committee suspended her without pay and filed three specific charges against her. In brief, the charges

Hearing Summary

TUESDAY, JUNE 8

Chairman William A. Waldron explains background of case and reason for the hearing. After the preliminaries, Robert P. Stokey, Town Counsel, seeks to introduce as evidence three documents pertaining to Miss Hale's statements to the School Committee at a private hearing on April 23. Mr. Oliver S. Allen, her counsel, objects on grounds that her statements then are not admissable now as evidence under all of the Declaration of Rights of the Massachusetts Constitution and the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

"Did you join the Communist Party in 1938?" is Mr. Stokey's first question of Miss Hale on the witness stand.

Mr. Allen objects and reads, Chapter 71, Section 39 of the General Laws: passed in 1917:

Loyalty Oath Cards Sent to Employees

At the request of the Selectmen, says Town Clerk Leila Sears, she has sent out to all paid Town employees, with their pay checks, cards containing an oath to uphold the Constitution and to oppose the overthrow of the Government by force.

She doesn't know whether it is the first time such cards have been sent to Wayland Town employees, but it's the first time she has heard of it.

The card, a form obtained from the office of the Secretary of State of Massachusetts, says on it, "See General Laws, Chapter 264, Section 14, inserted by Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1949." Chapter 619 of 1949 is one of the laws they've been talking about at the Anne Hale hearings.

Some have grumbled at being asked to sign the cards, says Miss Sears, but nobody has refused. Those who neglect to send them in within a reasonable time, she says, will have reminder sent to them. So far, the cards have been sent only to paid Town employees, not to the unpaid ones.

Beach Open 10 to 8 Daily; Starrett in Charge

Jack Starrett is the beach supervisor at Lake Cochituate this Summer, and he has a capable corps of assistants. The hours are 10 to 8 daily, until Sept. 11.

An experiment this year is a flat family fee of $25, to enable out-of-towners to use the beach. Local residents are asked to contribute $2 per family towards the expense of upkeep of the establishment. This year registered users of the beach will have identifying patches. The Park Commissioners say no patch, no swim.

Deadline for Aug. CRIER, July 15

Dead Man's Curve Finally Gets Nod

Dead Man's Curve will be rebuilt before Winter, the Massachusetts Department of Public Works announced last month. This time, positively.

June 29 was set as the date for opening of bids and $49,000 as the cost of the job. After signing of the contract, the work is supposed to take 75 days to complete.

The new section of Route 20 will be 950 feet long, beginning 300 feet West of Pine Brook Road and extending generally Westerly to a point 400 feet East of Spring Hill Road. The section will be 40 feet wide, they say, of bituminous concrete, and it will be properly banked. On the South side there'll be a six-foot bituminous concrete sidewalk.

The Department said there were 13 accidents at this curve in 1953, with 25 persons injured and one killed. Several accidents involving big trailer trucks have occurred there in 1954.

May be no Water Rationing this Year

Fern A. Taylor of the Water Commissioners says he hopes there won't have to be any curtailment of the use of water this Summer. Thanks to the installation of a new pump at the station off Old Connecticut Path, the capacity of the system has been increased from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 gallons a day, he says. However, he says, it all depends on whether people use water carefully. If they waste it, some rationing may be necessary.

Registration Deadline Is Set for August 13

Town Clerk Leila Sears announces that all citizens applying for registration as voters must bring along either birth certificates or naturalization certificates. Deadline for fall Primary registration is August 13.

This rule is not new, she says, but is a revival of an old statute, which has been often ignored. As a result, she says, it has been discovered in many communities that freshly naturalized citizens had been voting for years.

High School Graduates 51

Fifty-one boys and girls were graduated from Wayland High School on June 10 with traditional exercises which marked, said Headmaster W. Maxwell Griffin, the 100th anniversary of the school's establishment.

The first three boys to receive their diplomas were David J. Blease, Bertram F. McLellan and Richard G. Parker. They were inducted into the United States Marine Corps earlier in the day, and they had to shove off early to make a roll call.

School Committee Chairman William A. Waldron, as he presented them with their diplomas, said, "I am sure that the Town wishes you a particular Godspeed." They went out with applause sounding in their ears.

Another special graduate was Susan A. Wales, who nearly lost her life last September when her home blew up. Although she spent a large part of the academic year in the hospital, special tutoring enabled her to get her diploma with the rest of her class.

The awards:

The Wayland Woman's Club scholarships, of $100 each, were presented by Mrs. Edward Williams to Jane Cahill and Sandra Weaver.

The P.T.A. scholarship of $250 was presented by Mrs. Rudolph Bruce to Bonnie Bamforth. P.T.A. scholarships of $100 each went to Joan Cahill and Susan Dusseault.

The Cochituate Mother's Club scholarship of $100 was presented by Mrs. John Arnold to Susan Dusseault.

The D.A.R. good citizenship award was given to Susan Dusseault.

The Charles H. Alward Social Studies award, of $5, went to Eugene K. Rumpel Jr. The Bausch and Lomb Science Award was won by John Sullivan and the Business Scholarship Key, sponsored by Becker Junior College, by Bonnie Bamforth.

The address of welcome was delivered by Eugene Rumpel, president of the

At a business meeting, the following officers were elected: Mrs. George Jones, president; Mrs. Kenneth Berry, vice-president; Mrs. Eugene Slotta, secretary; Mrs. Robert Schultz, treasurer; Nominating Committee member for three years, Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, third grade teacher; Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Alfred Witzell.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In your June issue the League of Women Voters was mentioned.

As many of your readers are unfamiliar with the purpose and policy of the League, I take this opportunity to state them:

The purpose of the League is to "promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government".

The by-laws of the League of Women Voters state that the League "shall not support or oppose any political party or candidate".

The League believes that the party system is an integral part of our form of government. It urges its members (except for its leaders during their terms of League office) to work as individuals in the parties of their choice. In encouraging party activity, the League excludes the Communist Party because the Communist doctrine is in direct conflict with the principles of the government of the United States, and therefore with the purpose and policy of the League of Women Voters.

Any woman citizen of voting age who subscribes to the purpose and policy of the League of Women Voters of the United States may be a member.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Richard A. Howard, President,
League of Women Voters of Wayland

Correction

Pardon us. The correct name appearing last month in the New Residents column should have been Harold H. Woolard on Pine Brook Road.

Doctor's Office Opened

Dr. James P. Burke has opened a doctor's office next to the Post Office on Pelham Island Road. He received his M. D. at the University of Vermont and comes from New Haven.

THE UNPRIVILEGED CHILDREN'S fund of the Kiwanis Club benefited by $500 from the auction held by the Club on June 12.

Welcome Wagon Rolls into Town

A new service, a Welcome Wagon, has been established in Wayland. The agent is Mrs. Keith H. Smith of Pequot Road, telephone Elmwood 8-7758.

The idea is that somebody comes around to visit new residents in Town, tells them where's the hospital, the bus, the fire alarm box, the Boy Scout authority, the grocery store, the oil man, the Junior Town House, the Town Crier, the Community Chorus, the Cchituate Mothers Club, the church, the fire station and so on.

Besides being a pleasant thing, the service helps newcomers in Town to get oriented, and, not to be unduly materialistic, helps put local businessmen on the trail of new customers.

D.A.R. Essay Prizes Given by Mrs. Hubler

Prize winners in the D. A. R. essay contests in the fifth and sixth grades of the Center School were Andree Ann Bilodeau, of Mr. Albert G. Kolodzik's fifth grade, for a paper on "Commander Oliver Hazard Perry"; Judith Bigwood of Mrs. Florence Shohl's sixth grade, "Our Country"; andJudith White, Mr. James Murphy's sixth grade, "America the Beautiful".

The medals were presented by Mrs. Reta Hubler, the principal, at Flag Day exercises around the flagpole in the school yard. Jerry Joyce of Mrs. Shohl's sixth grade recited a prayer of his own composition, Deborah Hill read the 121st Psalm, and all the children gave the pledge of allegiance and sang 'America the Beautiful" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic".

Bike Riders

The Board of Fire Engineers requests that children not ride their bikes right up to the fire. Bikes left lying on the ground near a fire are a menace to operations.

MRS. CALEB ROEHRIG, of Blossom Lane, went to the rescue of a swimmer at Lake Cochituate on June 20. She swam out 100 yards from shore and stood by him until life guards arrived.

DEBORAH STEBBINS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Frederick Stebbins of Nob Hill, was graduated from Beaver Country Day School.

Music Festival is Held at Cochituate

More than 500 parents and friends attended the Spring Music Festival of the Cochituate School, held in the School auditorium on June 7.

A feature of the program was the singing of Hansel and Gretel by Fifth grade pupils, with a musical chorus from the fourth grade. Principals were Eldon Goodhue, Linda Spencer, Maynard Hilton, Mary Regan, Judith Parker, Gail Johnson, Nancy Damon, John Perodeau, Peter Phyllis, Meredith Hatch and Dwight Perodeau.

The vocal music was directed by Mrs. Pauline N. Radford and the instrumental music by Mr. Lester MacArthur. Third Grade members played tonettes. Members of Grade 2 presented a little operetta, "Dream Bags". Mrs. Olivia Hill's first grade gave a rythm band demonstration, and the first grades of Miss Ethelyn M. Morrill and Mrs. Elizabeth Gladu sang safety songs.

Honor Miss Carter

Headmaster W. Maxwell Griffin of Wayland High School has received the following note from Westbrook Junior College about Stephanie Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Carter of River Road, who was graduated from Wayland High in 1953: "At a tapping ceremony on May 8, Stephanie Carter was named a Junior Dean. This is one of the highest honors Westbrook can confer and recognizes in the student chosen a sense of responsibility for upholding the cultural and ethical ideals of the college."

ANNE POWNING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kimball C. Powning of Concord Road, and Susan Colliton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Colliton of Brackett Road, are on the 1954 Boston debutante list.

Graduation —

Senior Class. The graduation pieces were spoken by Jane Cahill, George Shepard, Joan Cahill and Sandra Weaver, and the class poem, written by Susan Dusseault, was recited by her and by Joan Cahill. Singers in a special number were Marion Hall, Elizabeth Nichols, Eileen Sprusansky, Mary Ellen DePaolo, John Slade, Bertram McLellan, John McLellan and Roger Elliott.

Rev. Raymond G. Manker gave the invocation and Rev. William J. Carty the benediction. The academic procession was led by junior marshals Edward Powers and Mary Ann Lundy. Accompanist was Marilyn Harnett.

Officers of the class are Eugene Rumpel, president; Mary Ellen DePaolo, secretary; Theodore Anthony Lenda, vice-president, and Jane Denise Cahill, treasurer.

The graduates:

Susan Charlotte Dusseault, James M. Eden, Roger Quimby Elliott, Marion Elizabeth Hall, Marilyn Dawe Harnett, Richard Leon Haynes, Janet Keith, Ettrick A. Lacey Jr., David W. Lamont, Charles Thomas Laughlin, Velma Patricia Lawrence, Evelyn A. LeBlanc, Theodore Anthony Lenda, Carol Elizabeth Lloyd, Patricia R. McKnight, Bertram F. McLellan, James Richard McLellan,

Humane Society Gives Poster Contest Awards

The American Humane Society has announced its local awards to Wayland School children in its annual poster contest. The winners, Cochituate School:

First prize, a silver pin, Larry Leonhardt, Grade 4; second prize, bronze pin, James Endresen, Grade 5; Nancy Damon, Grade 5, and Allan Arnold, Grade 4, and honorable mention, with six months' subscription to ,'Our Dumb Animals," to George Witzell, Grade 5, and Charles W. Cook, Grade 5.

In the Center School: First prize, Gerald H. Dicks, Grade 6; Arnold Christle, Grade 5, and Stephen Heiln, Grade 4. Second prize, Cynthia Warwick, Grade 6; June Kerr, Grade 5; Joan Morrell, Grade 5, and Ann Zacchi, Grade4. Honorable mention, Charles Lloyd, Grade 4; William Sumner, Grade 5; Betsy Baldwin, Grade 4; Edward Sullivan, Grade 6, and Robert Emery, Grade 5.

Town Meeting Left-overs

The Town accepted a gift of $50 from the Lydia Maria Child Fund for the Library. The Town has to vote to accept gifts. Town Counsel Roger P. Stokey explains that the idea is to keep people from unloading white elephants on the Town.

The Town by-laws got printed.

Some land at Riverview will be bought by the Town, as part of a program to keep people from building in wet or otherwise unsuitable places.

Most Town employees scheduled to get pay increases under the new compensation plan have had their jobs classified and have received their raises and back pay to January 1.

League of Women Voters

Mrs. L. William Bertelsen was elected first vice-president of the Wayland League of Women Voters at the annual meeting held May 13.

Others elected were Mrs. Arthur L. Kimball, second vice-president; Mrs. John T. Howard, treasurer; Mrs. Harold E. Belles and Mrs. Charles J. Owen, Jr., directors. The nominating committee chosen includes Mrs. Roger P. Stokey, chairman, and Mrs. John C. Quinn and Mrs. Henry G. Pearson.

HOME BURGLARIZED

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan D. White of Woodridge Road was broken into on June 11 and tools, cameras and other articles valued at several hundred dollars were taken, it was reported to Chief Ernest H. Damon. The Whites, then living in Belmont, had not yet moved into their new place.

Wayland History

Field drivers—in the old days—were important men, and so were fence viewers. In the 1640's a garden or a grain field was a life-or-death matter, and animals had to be kept out. The typical fence was 3½ feet high, with three rails. Some grew hedges. A few even used ditches, one or two of which are still to be seen . . .

* * *

The meadow land was laid out in parallelograms. Strips of meadow land from Old Sudbury Road down to the river are still, in many cases, bordered by parallel lines . . .

* * *

What's now Plain Road was the main East-West road. It crossed the upper end of the mill pond, turned South on what's now Concord Road, West through what's now Roger Stokey's front yard, then through Bow Road and out Old Sudbury Road. Old Connecticut Path was laid out in 1648 . . .

Mrs. William Carver wishes to thank her many friends who visited her and sent cards during her recent illness.

Elmwood Subscribers Happy; Olympic not So

As of last month, according to Natick manager Eugene of the telephone company, there were no "held orders" for service in Wayland or Sudbury. That is, everybody who wanted a telephone or an improved kind of service had been taken care of.

Back in February, 68 Wayland residents wanted phones and couldn't get them, and 221 wanted a different grade of service and couldn't get it. Now all these persons have been taken care of and Wayland, says Mr. Murphy, is one of the few places in this region where this happy situation prevails.

As of June, there were 648 lines in use in the Wayland exchange and 866 "main stations". One telephone in a house is a main station. The capacity of the Wayland exchange is 829 lines and 1081 main stations.

In Cochituate, which is included in the Natick or Olympic exchange, the situation isn't quite so good. Last month 28 persons were waiting for phones and 194 wanted a different kind of service. Mr. Murphy set Sept. 1 as the date by which all should be taken care of.

National Honor Society Names Three Seniors

Members of the Francis Wayland Chapter of the National Honor Society, class of 1954, are Edith Louise Bamforth, Jane Denise Cahill, Joan Ellen Cahill and Sandra Elizabeth Weaver.

Members for the class of 1955 are Elfrieda Louise Boesenberg, Catherine Frances Houston, Mary Ann Lundy, Karen Patricia Riggs, Susan Hamilton Robinson, Shirley Louise Stevens and Carol Faye Yarrish.

Hale Case—

were that she didn't tell the truth to the Committee on April 23, that she is unfit to be a teacher because of lack of perception and judgement, and that she was a member of the Party for many years and adhered to its program after leaving it.

Between the time she was suspended and the day the hearings began Miss Hale changed lawyers. At first she had Endicott Peabody, former Harvard football player. At the hearing, however, her lawyers were B. Loring Young, formerly Speaker of the Massachusetts House, and Oliver S. Allen.

Roger P. Stokey, Town Counsel, presented the case for the prosecution. The School Committee, consisting of William A. Waldron, chairman, and Harvey C. Newton and Cornelius J. Maguire, sat as judges.

Mr. Allen made his position plain almost at once. He cited provisions of the Federal and Massachusetts Constitutions —but not the Fifth Amendment,—and also a 1917 Massachusetts law forbidding school committees to ask any applicant for a teaching position his politics or religion. Thereafter, Mr. Allen objected frequently to rulings, and there were continued verbal clashes between him and Mr. Stokey and between him and Chairman Waldron.

Aside from the press, Wayland teachers, those concerned with the hearing and a limited number of special guests, only registered voters of Wayland were allowed inside the hall.

Each night a small number of outsiders tried to crash the gate, but none got in.

When it became apparent that the School Committee would not be able to render its final decision on June 15, as it had intended and announced, Mr. Allen stipulated that in any possible future legal proceedings he would not make anything of the postponement.

BOARD OF HEALTH wants to remind residents that a permit must be obtained before an additional cesspool or leaching line is built.

JAMES W. GLATIS, F.B.I. counterspy, who testified at Hale hearings.

—HIGHLIGHTS—

After a packed house of 700 the first night, hearing attendance averaged between 200 and 300 townsfolk the next four evenings.

* * *

Wayland's competition in Washington, the Army-McCarthy hearings, were jokingly referred to several times by both sides the first night. The Washington show was completely forgotten and never mentioned again after that.

* * *

It-could-only-happen-in - America scene: Town Counsel Stokey graciously wielding a pitcher of ice water to fill Miss Hale's glass in center stage minutes before assuming their opposite roles at the start of the third session.

* * *

The tally of one night's "declines to answer" by Miss Hale—39 on the evening of June 14.

* * *

During the course of one hour while F.B.I. counterspy James W. Glatis was testifying, defense counsel Allen objected or asked that testimony be stricken from the record 19 times. In the same period, Town Counsel Stokey withdrew ten of the questions objected to, and the school committee overruled Mr. Allen the rest of the time.

* * *

Modesty is becoming . . . to both sides: Mr. Stokey, early in the hearings asking Mr. Allen to allow "me to conduct the questioning in my own inefficient way"; and Mr. Allen during his cross-examination of James W. Glatis in a later session saying "I admit that I am an incompetent examiner . . . "

* * *

Watch the horn-rimmed glasses—defense counsel Allen often indicated his intentions to object or interject questions by raising his hand to his glasses. If he removed them, he was sure to speak. Other times, he merely poised hand at glasses and was silent.

Hearing Summary

"No public school committee or official shall inquire concerning, or require or solicit from an applicant for a position in the public schools any information as to his religious belief, creed or practice, or his political opinions or affiliations; and no appointment to such a position shall be in any manner affected thereby."

When Mr. Stokey repeats the question, Miss Hale reads a two page statement, the gist of which is:

(a) She told the School Committee on April 23 of her political beliefs on a voluntary basis.

(b) She believes this is a private matter and when asked under compulsion she is not obligated to answer.

(c) She had answered the Committee questions previously because she wanted it understood that she held unpopular views and felt she had a right to hold them.

(d) She admits the right of the School Committee to question her on matters pertaining to any proof they might offer that she was not sufficiently prepared to teach or that she lacked perception and judgement in dealings with children or parents.

(e) The constitutions of the United States and Commonwealth forbid such inquiry as does Chapter 71, Section 29 of the General Laws.

Chairman Waldron asks: "Do I understand you are refusing to answer?" Miss Hale: "I am." The committee, apparently taken by surprise by this development, recesses.

The questioning now pertains to charge 1 d, her knowledge of Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1949. She remembers knowing about Section 2, which required all public employees to take a loyalty oath. But when questioned about Section 1 which made it illegal for a public body to employ a Communist, she says she did not know of it prior to last month. She remembers discussion earlier that year of various bills, but not their passage.

Mr. Stokey introduces photostats of Boston papers in July 1949 to show the wide publicity given passage of the law. Mr. Allen objects to the exhibit as being irrelevant, but is overruled. Mr. Stokey shows her front pages of several papers, but she can't remember whether or not she saw anything about it.

Mr. Stokey reads from the April 23 transcript, quoting her as belonging to the Harvard Square Club. It's activities, she had said, included discussions, participating in meetings at which Marx was discussed, selling the Daily Worker and holding meetings. He asks her questions about discussion on litigation and trials such as the Hollywood writers, but she declines to answer on the grounds that the questions all have to do with political affiliations.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9

"Do you know Daniel Boone Schirmer?" is Mr. Stokey's first question. Mr. Allen objects. To the question, "Do you know who he is?" she replies in the affirmative. To the question, "Do you know where he is?" she answers, "I don't know where he is." She declines to answer all other questions pertaining to his warrant for arrest, his past whereabouts or having seen him.

Mr. Stokey now introduces a series of photostats of front pages of the Daily Worker from 1939 to 1950. He draws attention to the unusual headlines before and after the Soviet Nazi non-agression pact, announcing the Finnish "Invasion" of Russia, before and after the Nazi invasion of Russia, and naming Dulles as "trigger man who started war in Korea." The headlines appear to point up the swift about-faces of Soviet foreign policy. He points out that in the light of her April 23 statement that she sold the Daily Worker she must have known the purposes of the Communist Party. Also that if she sold it there is an implication of agreement with the paper's policy.

In response to an objection by Mr. Allen, Mr. Stokey replies, "We can't expect everyone to be infallible, we all make mistakes. But there comes a time when a person may be expected to learn, to judge and draw conclusions. Events from 1939 through 1947 should have been sufficient to convince her that she had been wrong." Some reasonable understanding and perception on her part he added, would result in her drawing some other conclusions.

Miss Hale asks later if the statments she made April 23 about her activities are being interpreted as constant year-in year-out activity. "It shows how unsafe it is to answer questions on political beliefs to a public body. I did my best. I answered in good faith and thought they were asked in good faith, but now they are being used against me." Mr. Stokey: "You were warned at the time that they could be used against you."

A little later he asks her at what time she stopped selling the paper. Miss Hale, in one of her few answers to queries about her Communist activities, replies: "I have not sold it since December, 1950. Previously I was not selling it more than once a month or two or three times during a six-month period."

FRIDAY, JUNE 11

Mr. Allen specifies the constitutional grounds under which his client is declining to answer:

Article 12, Declaration of Rights, Constitution of the Commonwealth: " . . . and no subject shall be . . . deprived of his property, immunity or privileges, put out of the protection of the law . . . but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land."

Article 16: . . . The right of free speech shall not be abridged."

Article 19: "The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble to consult upon the common good; give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body . . . redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer."

14th Amendment, U.S. Constitution: "No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States . . . "

1st Amendment: "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble . . . "

* * *

Mr. Stokey then asks Miss Hale if her grounds for refusing are the same as Mr. Allen just stated. By way of reply she refers to her original statement. Mr. Stokey wants to know if this includes the privilege of declining because of self-incrimination.

TOWN COUNSEL Roger P. Stokey shown conducting examination of Miss Hale as to her memory of headlines in the Daily Worker. Sketch is by Horace B. Gray.

Her attorney states "Expressly Miss Hale does not depend upon the privilege against self-incrimination," but she continues to avoid making this claim herself.

When she refuses to answer the question, "Do you know Otis Archer Hood?" a four-way legal wrangle occurs. Mr. Stokey wants her to state her grounds. Mr. Allen asserts she is not legally qualified to answer such a technical question. Miss Hale declines, but appears to want to make a statement. Mr. Waldron urges Mr. Allen to consult with her. Mr. Allen declines the invitation.

Mr. Stokey says, "If Miss Hale can't tell under what act she claims immunity she hasn't the judgment to be a school teacher." (Applause).

Mr. Allen: "I regard that as a most ungracious remark. I hope they did not think they were coming here for a lynching." Both remarks are stricken from the record.

Mr. Stokey now establishes that on April 23 Dr. Souder asked her what was the distinction in her mind between Communism and Socialism. At that time she had said she didn't know and wasn't clear enough to explain it properly.

Then a memorandum dated April 5 written by Miss Hale to the School Committee is introduced as evidence. This statement is almost identical with her sworn statement to the Committee of April 23, except in one respect. In the April 5 memo she makes a distinction between Communism and Socialism. In the April 23 statement this distinction is omitted. She explains the inconsistency by stating that on April 5 she thought she knew the difference. But by April 23 she had changed her mind and decided she didn't know.

MONDAY, JUNE 14

Miss Hale insists she has no recollection of hearing talk bout the law of 1949, barring Communists from municipal employment. Going back to her statement of April 23, Miss Hale says:

"I said I believed in Socialism, American Socialism. I am perfectly willing to change that to, 'I still believe it.'"

Mr. Waldron says Miss Hale is "a completely uncooperative witness". Mr. Allen objects. Miss Hale continues to say she will anwer questions about the April 23 statement, but not about her political affiliations.

Mr. Stokey tries to get Miss Hale to say she resigned from the CP because she was disillusioned about it. She reads from her statement of the first night that no one has a right to question her on this subject.

Then Mr. Stokey asks her about her activities in Wayland. She belonged to the P.T.A. and the P.T.O. of the Center School, she says. She joined the Wayland League of Women Voters. She joined the Wayland Teachers Club. She sang in the Community Chorus. But she can remember little as to the number of meetings these involved.

She says she spent a lot of time on her school work, and in study and conferences on education. She says she spent much time on the Summer program (Arts and Crafts).

Mr. Stokey gets back to Soviet foreign policy and its various changes, beginning with the CP's attitude towards World War II before the Hitler-Stalin pact of August, 1939.

"Are we going to have a history of World War II?" asks Mr. Allen. "As I remember it, there was a group around here called America First, which had exactly the same policy."

Summary—

Mr. Stokey says isn't it true the CP in America zigged when Russia zigged, and zagged when Russia zagged. She won't say.

Suppose, says Mr. Stokey, some pupil should ask Miss Hale, around election time, whether the Russians have elections.

"I can't imagine it happening," she says. It's a most unlikely situation. I might say they have elections somewhat like ours. I wouldn't go into it any further."

There is a gasp from the audience at this reply.

Mr. Stokey also asks:

"If a pupil in the elementary school asked the difference between the government of the United States and the government of Russia, what would you say?"

She replies, "I doubt if I could give a good answer—one satisfactory to their parents."

TUESDAY, JUNE 15

Principal witness is James W. Glatis, undercover man for the F.B.I., who testifies that he joined the Party on April 9, 1949, on purpose to keep the F.B.I. informed of CP activities, and remained a member until May, 1954.

Mr. Glatis describes the methods used by the Party to fight unfavorable legislation, present and pending. He says it pickets places, writes letters, puts out leaflets, solicits contributions and asks people to oppose such measures.

The point of this is that Miss Hale has testified that she does not remember the passage of the 1949 bill making it illegal for a Communist to be employed by a public body. Mr. Glatis says this 1949 bill was discussed in every cell group.

Mr. Allen objects that the witness can't say this of his own knowledge, but he is overruled.

Mr. Allen keeps objecting on points of law, as he has throughout the hearings. Finally, Mr. Waldron tells him this is an administrative hearing, not strictly a trial, and that they have to be a bit more reasonable about the admissibility of testimony. "We are not bound striotly by the rules of evidence," he says. Mr. Allen doesn't like it, but he is overruled.

Then Mr. Stokey goes into the system of teaching Marxism used in the Party. His apparent purpose is to show that it isn't possible to be a Communist without knowing that it advocates the use of force to overthrow existing government.

He introduces into evidence a small, blue, paper-covered volume, "State and Revolution", by V. I. Lenin. The witness says this is one of the books studied. The witness says he also studied "Dialectical and Historical Materialism", by Joe Stalin.

Mr. Glatis reads passages advocating the use of violence in overthrowing the government. "Force," Stalin wrote, "is the midwife of every society pregnant with a new one."

* * *

Mr. Allen then cross-examines. He attempts to get Mr. Glatis to divulge to whom he reported in the F.B.I., but is rebuffed.

He is then queried about the compensation received from the Government for his services. This amounts to $2500 for six years, almost entirely for expenses. This is followed by a rapid exchange of questions and answers.

Q: Have you received any other compensation? A: Yes, less pay from General Electric.

Q: From newspapers? A: I ask for nothing and get nothing.

Q: Did you cash in in any other way? A: Yes, I've curtailed Communist Party activities.

In answer to queries as to his motive in joining, he says, "I joined at the direction of the F.B.I." In the eyes of the Communists, he says, he was a bona fide member,"but for myself I never was or will be."

NATHANIEL CANNISTRARO, Sherman Bridge Road, general sales manager of the Bettinger Corp., of Waltham, spoke recently at a meeting of the Boston Chapter of the American Marketing Assn.

Jr. Red Cross Winds Up Season's Activities

Marbles — marbles — and more marbles were counted out as the boys of the Wayland Junior Red Cross Council sorted 20 boxes of children's toys, school supplies and health items to be sent to school children in foreign countries. These goodwill gifts were given by all the children in the Center School and the Wayland High School Annex. The boys in the council are Charles Ballard, David Brownell, Robert Dew, Peter Riggs, David Rowan, Brian Spencer and Jeffry Weeks.

The girls in the council closed their part of a very successful year by helping make and decorate cookies for the patient's Easter tea at Bedford Veterans Hospital. They are Donna Atkins, Polly Ann Carter, Priscilla Harrington, Randy Johnson, Ruth Rydberg, Marcia Sandford and Paula Wiley.

D. A. R.

On Saturday, July 10, the Wayside Inn Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet at the home of Mrs. Willard Dik on Plain Road. Mrs. Flora Cody will be co-hostess with Mrs. Dik. Entertainment will include scenic moving pictures and slides taken by Mr. Willard Dik and presented by him.

Four in Contest For House Seat

Besides B. Allen Benjamin of Wayland, there are three other candidates for the Republican nomination for the seat in the Legislature being given up by Howard S. Russell. The primary will be held September 14.

The other candidates are Jefts G. Beede of Hudson, Harvey Fairbank of Sudbury and James DeNormandie of Lincoln. The Tenth Middlesex District includes Hudson, Lincoln, Sudbury and Wayland.

JEFTS BEEDE

Mr. Beede was born in Worcester in 1918 and attended the Belmont schools and Brown University. He served in the Army engineers during World War II and is now connected with a machine tool company. He is married and has two daughters and a son. He belongs to many fraternal, civic and social organizations and is endorsed by the Hudson Republican Town Committee.

He is a member of Hudson Hospital Association, Hudson Republican Town Committee, Hudson Boy Scout Association, Worcester Civic Music Association, Theta Delta Chi Fraternity, Nashoba Craftsmen's Club, Aleppo Temple Shrine, Nipmuc Rod & Gun Club and the American Society of Tool Engineers.

Write-ups and pictures of Mr. Fairbank and Mr. DeNormandie will appear in subsequent issues.

A.L. Post Gives Party to Commander

Because Commander George D. Jones, Jr. of the Charles H. Alward Post of the American Legion was transferred by his company to Los Angeles, the Post held a farewell party for him and his wife, Betty, at the Legion Home on June 5. Fifty couples danced. Commander Jones was presented with a Past Commander's jewel and he and his wife were given a gift.

On June 14 the Post elected Commander Roy J. Impey, Jr., Senior Vice Commander Donald G. Williams, Junior Vice Commander Charles F. Martell, Finance Officer Robert G. Lewis, Adjutant George R. Stockbridge, Sergeant at Arms, John F. Pelletier, Chaplain Steven Adams, Historian Earl L. Hopkins and Executive Committee members Thomas G. Noonan and James J. Bolton. It is planned to install these officers in September.

Meanwhile, Ivan E. Beale, Senior Vice Commander, has been elected Acting Commander.

Comrades John W. Leavitt and George R. Stockbridge were chosen to be delegates to the American Legion Convention at Pittsfield on June 24, 25 and 26. Alternates picked were Roy J. Impey, Jr. and Earl L. Hopkins.

Rev. Claude H. Voorheis, formerly pastor of the Cochituate Community Methodist Church, now minister of the Community Church in East Saugus, will become the minister of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Manchester, N. H.

LT. MAYNARD W. POWNING, of Concord Road, has reported to Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla. at the Aircraft Controlled School.

ARTHUR W. PETERSON, of Old Farm Road, an engineer with Charles T. Main, Inc., of 80 Federal St., Boston, was a member of the committee for the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Society of Professional Engineers.

In the Churches

St. Zepherin's Church

Forty-two girls and 36 boys received First Holy Communion on May 16. After the Mass, the children were served Communion Breakfast in the lower church by the Catholic Women's Club of the parish, with Mrs. William T. Sweeney as chairman.

On the same day, the second Annual May Procession was conducted by the Junior Sodality of Blessed Virgin Mary, assisted by all Societies of the Church and four Sisters of St. Joseph from Regis College. Marion Hall, president of Junior Sodality, was in charge of the procession. Joan Marie Barry was the Queen, attended by maids of honor, Rita Brosseau, Janet Fannon, Joan Lizotte, Catherine Regan. William Mitchell was crown bearer. Flower girls were Deborah Daly, Charlene Harris, Helen Henderson, Linda Keller, Linda Knaack, Barbara Peck, Susan Poirier and Linda Zaniboni. The pastor, Rev. Otis F. Kelly, was assisted by Rev. Philip McGinty, and Rev. Louis Sullivan, S.J., of Weston College.

May 17 was the date of the Annual May Festival of the parish, held at Mansion Inn. Harold Ward acted as master of ceremonies.

The girls of Junior Sodality attended Boston Pops concert on May 21 accompanied by Rev. Philip McGinty.

The National Council of Men and Women are conducting discussion classes in the Lower Church every other Monday evening at 8 p.m. These classes will continue through the summer.

Sunday Masses are at 7:30, 8:30 (two), 10:30 and 11:30.

First Parish

More than $1500 was cleared as a result of the Country Fair on June 5. In spite of lowering clouds and occasional showers, a large crowd attended and enjoyed the many amusements and refreshments, as well as the turkey salad supper.

Sunday morning services during July will be held at 11 a.m. as usual. In August there will be no Sunday services, during the vacation of the pastor, Rev. Raymond G. Manker.

Congregational

Sunday morning services will begin at 9:30 from June 20 through Labor Day Sunday. The church will be open every Sunday during the summer, with guest ministers during the vacation of the pastor.

Saturday, September 25 has been set as the date of the annual Fall Fair of the Church. Chairman Albion Allen announces that committees are organized and working for this big event.

Church conferences will be attended by the following members of the congregation this summer: Young People's Conference: Donna Osmond, Ann Stahl, Don and Alan Emery, Janet Shepard, Wilma Campbell. Northfield Conference: Mrs. Claire Minty; Geneva Point, N. H., Family Conferenoe, by the whole Hatch family; Geneva Point Primary Grade conference by Pearl McEwan and daughter.

Methodist

Sunday morning worship services at the Cochituate Community Methodist Church will start at 10 a.m. during the summer. While the pastor, Rev. George C. Gutekunst, is on vacation, from July 17 to August 7, the pulpit will be occupied by other preachers.

At the organ during part of the summer will be Mrs. Norman Staples of Happy Hollow, who will take the place of Mrs. Ernest Schleicher.

Plans for painting the steeple and other portions of the church this Summer have been approved.

Bolton-Forbes

Marilyn Vincent Bolton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Bolton, of Morse Road, was married to Donald Ramsland Forbes, of Weston on April 24. The wedding was held at the Second Congregational Church in West Newton, followed by a reception at the Wayside Inn. William L. Bolton gave her in marriage, and the maid of honor was Miss Marion J. Bolton, her sister. Edson Forbes, Jr. was best man, and Charles W. Nightingale of Wayland and Brian Fitzpatrick of Newtonville, ushers.

MARY D. WILLARD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Willard of Old Connecticut Path, was graduated with honors from Walnut Hill School, Natick. She also received special honors in French and history. She will enter Reed College, Portland, Oregon, in September.

School Committee Dismisses Miss Hale

By a vote of two to one, the Wayland School Committee voted to dismiss Anne Hale Jr. from her position as a teacher in the second grade of the Center School, after a total of eight hearings held over a period of weeks in the High School auditorium.

There were three charges in all, the first containing four particular charges, or counts. The majority of the Committee, Cornelius J. Maguire and Harvey C. Newton, found Miss Hale not guilty on the first two counts, guilty on the second two counts, and guilty on the other two counts.

William A. Waldron, in a dissent, said he would have voted to dismiss Miss Hale for her refusal to answer questions. As to the actual charges, however, among which refusal to answer questions was not included, he found that they were not proven.

In a postscript to his statement, Mr. Waldron announced that he was stepping down as Chairman of the Committee and turning that position over to Mr. Maguire, the senior member, in order that the Chairman might be spokesman for majority opinion. He did not resign from the Committee.

Full text of both the majority and minority decisions are printed in this issue of the Crier.

Some days after the decision, Miss Hale and her counsel, Oliver S. Allen, were studying whether to appeal the decision to the courts.

Miss Hale said she did some house cleaning work for income. She said she meant to stay in Wayland. She planned to have a few small children from Boston out to her house by the day, in August, as a sort of midget-sized Summer camp.

She would like to appeal the case, she said, as a matter of principle, "the principle that no one should lose his job on account of his political convictions." But the hearings were expensive and an appeal would also be expensive, she said, and her lawyer was studying the chances of success of an appeal. In a recent case, the court found agalnst a Boston teacher in a somewhat similar situation.

The hearings would probably cost the Town $2000 or more, it appeared, on the basis of bills presented to the School Department last month.

Mr. Henry J. Sheehan, the stenographer, put in a bill for $797.28 for the session of April 23 and for the eight public hearings. Town expenses for photostats, travel expenses and witness fees and incidentals, were $374.79. On top of that were the costs, not tabulated, for police, checkers, extra custodian's services and the services of the Town Counsel.

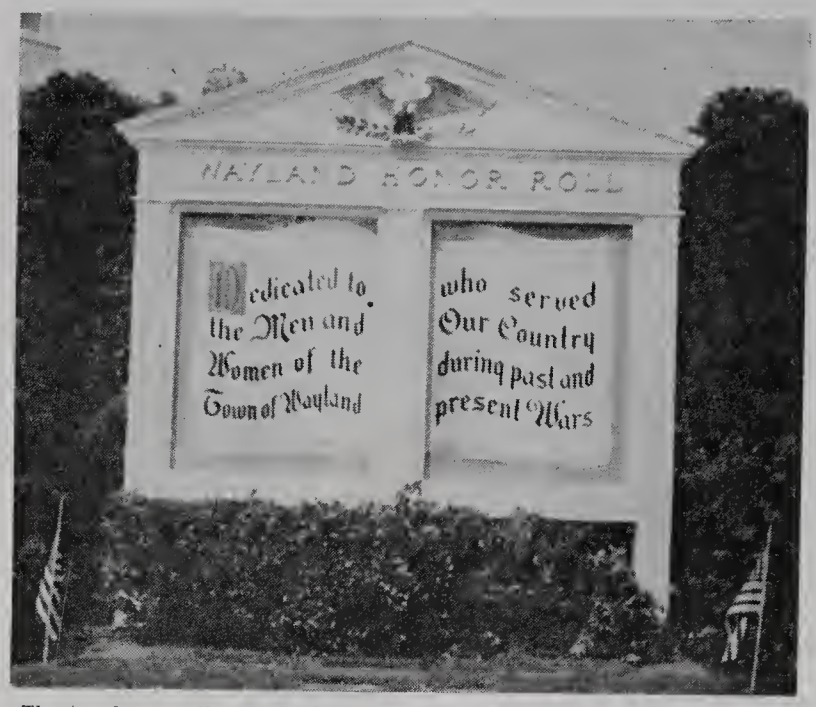
Full Text of School Committee Decisions on Page 4

New Police Officer

A new officer on the Wayland police force is John F. Pelletier, long-time resident of Cochituate who served in the Marine Corps in World War II. This gives the Town a permanent force of three: Chief Ernest H. Damon, Edward Burke and John Pelletier.

"The Town's growing," says the Chief.

Deadline for September CRIER is Aug. 19



The two honor rolls, one in Cochituate and one in Wayland Center, have been changed to the dedication shown above, by the Board of Park Commissioners, pending action by the Permanent Memorial Day Committee.

Charles E. Mathews, Town Assessor, Dies

Mr. Charles M. Mathews, 69, for the past 15 years Chairman of the Wayland Board of Assessors, died suddenly early in the morning of July 15.

He was a native of the Town and a lifelong resident. He went through the Wayland schools and was graduated from the Massachusetts College of Pharmacy. In his youth he played professional baseball and he always had an interest in sports. He was on a fishing trip the day before he died.

He was in the drug business in various connections for many years. In recent years he handled boats and real estate at Dudley Pond.

He leaves his wife, the former Vlola B. Thorne; a brother, Elmer F. Mathews, of the Quality Pharmacy, Natick, and three foster sons, Robert, Leland and Maurice Mathews Robinson.

Funeral services were held from Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home, with interment in Lakeview Cemetery.

First Shacks Razed In Town Clean-Up

As a result of condemnation proceedings brought by the Board of Health in cooperation with the Selectmen, 10 old shacks and dwellings were destroyed in Town in July. Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health says this is part of a three-year program to get rid of 80 or 90 buildings in Town.

Many of these places were built years ago as Summer camps. Then there was a depression and a housing shortage, and they were used as all-year houses. Some don't even have running water and all are dilapidated. Town authorities want to get rid of them as rapidly as they become vacant.

They destroy them by running a bulldozer through and over them. The land they stood on belongs to the Town, acquired for very little, and when the program is completed new houses can be constructed in line with the zoning ordinances and the building code.

Recover Much of Burglarized Loot

Thousands of dollars worth of stuff was taken from eight Wayland homes during a five-week period by the Leicester gang which was captured early in July, Chief Ernest H. Damon reports. Much of it was recovered, but the cash and some priceless articles seemed to have been lost.

Wayland victims, says Chief Damon, were Allen White, Woodridge Road; Anthony LaPenta, Cochituate Road; Edward Hoyt, Rice Road; David B. Turner, Lincoln Road; E. P. Blanchard Jr., Lincoln Road; A. L. Sandford, Lincoln Road; Rufus Warren, Oxbow Road, and Roger E. Ela, Shaw Drive.

The articles taken from these homes included radios, tools, jewels, cameras, movie projectors, old coins, cash, revolvers, lawn mowers, lathes, drill presses, jig saws, binoculars . . . anything portable. Mrs. Roger Ela, says the Chief, lost an irreplaceable collection of old American pennies.

Most of the persons robbed were away on vacations when the burglaries occurred. The houses were looted but not wantonly damaged.

State police moved the stolen goods to the Framingham barracks after its recovery, and there Wayland residents identified and picked up much of their stuff.

That Curve Is Dying

By the time this Crier is out — probably — work will be under way at Dead Man's Curve, after all these years. The Department of Public Works opened bids on June 29. Low bidder among 17 was Suburban Excavators of Wakefield, with a price of $35,886.90.

The job was to be completed within 75 days from the date of actual signing of the contract. Specifications call for a 40-foot bituminous concrete roadway, properly banked, with a six-foot sidewalk and curb on the South side.

Double School Sessions Planned

On account of the steel door frames, which failed to arrive until long after their appointed time, work on the new Happy Hollow school was held up and as a result there will be double sessions at the Cochituate School for some weeks his Fall, says Superintendent Rexford S. ouder.

So far as anyone knows, it will be the rst time in Wayland's history that double ssions have ever been necessary.

Beginning with the opening day of school, the children who are to attend Happy Hollow will be organized at Cochituate School for afternoon sessions in their regular classes with the teachers they are going to have.

The Cochituate School children will be organized in the same way. The Cochituate School children will attend school from 8 a.m. until 12 noon. The Happy Hollow children will arrive at 12:30 p.m. and stay until 4:30 p.m. Bus transportation will be arranged.

When the Happy Hollow School is finally finished, the pupils destined to attend it will simply shift school houses. Afternoon sessions are considered less desirable, says Dr. Souder, so the children who are to have the fun of moving into a new building have been chosen to put up with the inconvenience.

The fact that daylight saving will be extended by a month this year will tend to ease the annoyance of the afternoon sessions. Just how many weeks this arrangement will have to be continued couldn't be foretold exactly, but it was hoped it wouldn't be too long. Work on the building was being rushed as rapidly as possible.

Lunch hour will be omitted, but milk and snacks will be available at the recesses.

All Schools Open on September 8

All Wayland schools will reopen on Wednesday, Sept. 8, says Dr. Rexford S. Souder, Superintendent, with changes in hours of both the High School and the elementary schools and some changes in school bus schedules.

High School hours will be from 8:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The former closing hour was 2:10. The purpose, says Dr. Souder, is to provide six and seven-period days to accomodate activities without cutting into class time.

The regular elementary school day will be shortened by 30 minutes. Hours will be from 8:45 a.m. to 2 p.m. The purpose here is to lessen the time the younger children will be away from home, again without reducing class time. The 30 minutes was extra recess time. The special temporary schedule pending construction of Happy Hollow School is noted elsewhere.

The fifth and sixth grades will no longer be in the High School building. Whereas 625 pupils used this building last year, this year its population will be 450 in grades 7 through 12.

There will be seven buses, as at present. High School pupils will be transported first in the morning and last in the afternoon. Routes will be substantially the same as before. But Dr. Souder suggests that for the first few days of school all pupils get out at the roadside early, until the exact bus schedules are found out.

Camp Pine Acres

Charles Law of Brook Road, Weston, who used to be athletic director and coach of all sports at Weston High School, believes he runs the only Summer day camp in Wayland. It's Camp Pine Acres, back of Robin Hood's Ten Acres, at Dead Man's Curve. His establishment, which cares for 60 boys and girls from Greater Boston, includes an 80-foot swimming pool and a full athletic layout.

MRS. GEORGE BOWERS, who has been manager of the High School lunchroom, will direct all lunchrooms this year.

Letters to the Editor

Vandalism Deplored

To the Editor:

Hanna Williams Playground in Cochituate is not public property, but a corporation set up for the pleasure and use by the children of this community, mothers' clubs, and other groups that wish to use it.

The grounds, buildings, fences, and some of the play equipment were contributed by Arthur Williams, formerly of Cochituate and now living in Holliston, in memory of his mother, Hanna Williams.

No tax money supports or helps operate this playground. Except for some money received from the Community Chest, the cost of operating it comes from private people interested in helping keep it in shape.

Most of the cost falls on the shoulders of the trustees, who are George Bogren, president; William Scotland, secretary; Carlisle Scotland, treasurer; Ernest Schleicher and Fern Taylor, in charge of grounds. John Connelly and Elmer Bigwood have done and are doing much for the playground.

The budget for operating this is more than most people realize:

Grounds and equipment	$300.00
Play instructor	250.00
Play and craft materials	100.00
Vandalism repair	300.00

We, the trustees, believe that this item for vandalism can be wiped out. Broken windows is the important thing to be stopped. Little damage can be done until the windows are broken. After some child breaks a window, others break more windows. Then they get in break or steal equipment, smash benches and tables, drop big rocks on plumbing, and turn on water so the pipes freeze. The cost of just cleaning up after tipping over rubbish cans runs up to about $50.00 a year.

This is unnecessary cost for the trustees. We do not wish to charge parents of the children who do the damage for the cost of repairing, but we may have to. We feel that if all the parents whose children use the playground will see to it that they use it in a proper way and others would report to the police any disorder, it would put a stop to the damage.

The trustees are not asking for financial help, although we are glad to receive any offered, but we are asking your help in keeping the playground in order.

The trustees may by vote close or open this playground. We want to keep it open and can if all of you help.

Cesspool Permits

Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health says 52 cesspool permits were issued in the first half of 1954, and it looked as though the building rate would be as high as in previous years. Work on several developments was progressing rapidly.

Bay Circuit Bill Passed

Representative Howard S. Russell reports that the Governor has signed his bill for a restudy of the Bay Circuit plan, calling for a series of parks and open spaces, connected by roads, in a semicircle around Boston and about 20 miles out. One of the areas under consideration, he says, will be the Sudbury River marshes.

DAR

The Wayside Inn Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet on Saturday, August 7, at the home of Mrs. Phillip Richardson, King Phillp Road, South Sudbury, at 1 p.m. A travel talk with pictures will be given by Mrs. Howard Lyford, Regent of the D.A.R., who has recently returned from a southern tour.

Miss Buckingham is Married on June 26

Miss Priscilla Buckingham, daughter of Mrs. Alberta Buckingham, formerly of Bow Road, was married on June 26 to Lawrence B. Smith, of Benton Harbor, Michigan. The Rev. George Hodgkins performed the ceremony at the Congregational Church, and her sister, Roberta, was maid-of-honor.

Best man was William Smith, the groom's brother, and ushers were Richard Barlow and Frank Smith. A reception was held at Mrs. Buckingham's apartment at 347 River Street, in Waltham.

Mr. Smith is vice president of the Smith Steel Fabricating Co. in Benton Harbor. Miss Buckingham met him just a year ago at St. Joseph, Mich., at the wedding of her Wheelock School roommate.

Ten Little League Teams End Season

Ten Little League teams wound up their season at the end of July and the Little League A team took over, to play a schedule of eight games under the Cochituate lights against teams from out of Town.

On account of transportation difficulties, the League was divided into Wayland and Cochituate sections this year. A play-off among the four top teams in both divisions was scheduled, with the two top teams to play the final game under the lights.

The A team games were scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. and to run six innings. No inning was to start after 10 p.m., on account of the neighbors and because the boys shouldn't be up any later. Besides the night games, the A squad was to play three or four Saturday afternoon games in nearby towns. An A team game was scheduled for every Thursday evening in August.

The Pony League, meanwhile, including boys up to 16, had a different experience. Seventy boys registered but only 28 showed up to play, because of jobs and other reasons, and what developed was one team in each end of Town. Both played twilight games out of Town, with good success.

For August, Pony League All Star games were scheduled for each Tuesday night at Cochituate under lights.

Cub Scouts Win Honors at Resolute

Many boys of Pack 1, Cub Scouts of Cochituate, received awards at the annual outdoor pack meeting at Camp Resolute, Bolton, on June 20. Those honored:

Health Center to be Dedicated This Month

By the time school opens, say the trustees, the new Parmenter Health Center on Cochituate Road, near School Street, will be in business, a unique memorial to Jonathan Maynard Parmenter, the Wayland philanthropist who left the money for it 30 years ago.

Some time late in August, says Carlisle D. Scotland of the trustees, at a date to be announced later, there will be a formal dedication and open house. It is hoped that the names of the administrator and of the staff can be announced. And a few days after that the Center will be in operation.

The outside was all finished last month, says Mr. Scotland, and the plastering had begun. "A beautifully constructed building." he says.

Six Agencies Get $2900 from Chest

Richard W. Foster, president of the Wayland Community Chest, announces that six agencies will receive $2900 this year from funds raised in last year's Metropolitan Boston campaign.

Wayland Junior Town House will receive $1000; the Wayland branch of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, $500; the Framingham Union Hospital, $500; Hanna Williams Playground Association, $400; Cochituate Girl Scouts, $300, and Wayland Girl Scouts, $200.

In addition, 321 Wayland Boy Scouts will benefit from $3,700 allocated to Algonquin Council.

Sudbury Selectmen have appealed to Wayland residents to help man the aircraft spotting post in Sudbury, the one which serves this area. Eaoh person is asked to give three hours a month. All one has to do is to be able to see, hear and use a telephone. No aircraft spotting ability is required.

Those willing to help may call Phil Way (Hilltop 3-2402) or George Walker (Hilltop 3-6317).

PAINTINGS by Edna Hibel, watercolors by Donald Stoltenberg and a photography exhibit by Verner Reed and Ted Polumbaum will be shown at the deCordova Museum in Lincoln through August 22.

10th District Fight—

DeNormandie in Contest

JAMES DeNORMANDIE

Another candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative to the State Legislature in this district is James DeNormandie, of Lincoln.

Among other committees and organizations on which he has served with are Recess Commission for study of diary laws, appointed by Governor Saltonstall, Lincoln Republican Town Committee, and charter member and president of the Massachusetts Selective Breeding Association.

The 10th Middlesex District in which he is running includes Hudson, Lincoln, Sudbury and Wayland.

James DeNormandie was born in 1907, and is married to the former Martha Prouty of Spencer and has four children. A graduate of Harvard in 1929, he has served the town of Lincoln in many capacities including School Committee, School Building Committee and Board of Appeals. He was Director of Livestock Disease Control in the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture under Governor Saltonstall. He is a partner in the dairy firm of DeNormandie and Verrill in Concord and has long been active in agricultural affairs in Massachusetts. His herd of pure bred Guernseys has been favorably known to dairymen both for its high production records and its show ring winnings.

New Teachers for Next Fall Announced

Mrs. Frances Flynn of the English department of Wayland High School has resigned to become high school librarian at Waltham. Mrs. Clifford Hulbert, social studies teacher at the High School, has also resigned.

Some new faces:

Mrs. Mildred Reynolds of Waltham will teach speech therapy in all schools. She has been teaching at Belmont.

Marjorie Ball, a graduate of Bouvé who has taught at Westwood, will join Miss Mildred Markell in the physical education department. For the past two years she has been in the Army, as a physical therapist at Walter Reed Hospital.

Marilyn Drake of the Boston University College of Music, who has taught at Ashland, N.H., and Bennington, Vt., will join the music department at the High School.

John Michael O'Sullivan of Fitchburg State Teachers College, Boston University Graduate School of Education and the U.S. Army, will teach a special class. He has taught at Shrewsbury.

Joseph Moynahan will teach English and social studies. He has studied at B.U. and taught at Acton.

School Committee Hale Dismissal

Majority, Minority Decisions

The decision of the majority of the School Committee is printed below, signed by Cornelius J. Maguire and Harvey C. Newton.

These are proceedings conducted in accordance with General Laws, Chapter 71 Section 42, prior to a vote by the School Committee of the Town of Wayland on the matter of dismissing Anne P. Hale, Jr.

Notice of the Committee's intention to vote on the question of her dismissal was given to Miss Hale on May 13, 1954. Subsequently, Miss Hale requested a hearing before the school committee, and a written statement of the cause or causes for which her dismissal was proposed. The required statement was given, and the required hearing was held on the evenings of June 8, 9, 10, 14, 15, 23, 24 and 25. All three members of the School Committee and the Superintendent of Schools were present throughout the hearings.

General Laws, Chapter 71, Section 42 provides that a teacher cannot be dismissed unless the charges shall have been substantiated, and then only by a two-thirds vote of the School Committee. The Committee has considered the evidence in the case in accordance with the advice given to it as to the law, and has received the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools in favor of dismissal under charges 1 (c), 1(d), 2 and 3.

We would like to point out at this time that we are fully aware of the protection given by General Laws, Chapter 71, Section 39 to political opinions and affiliations. We do not believe that this statute protects affiliations with a conspiracy which masquerades as a political party. We consider the Communist Party to be such a conspiracy. Therefore, questions may properly be asked regarding affiliations with it. Despite our views of Chapter 71, Section 39, in reaching the conclusions stated below, we have not taken into consideration Miss Hale's refusal to answer questions.

CHARGES 1(a) and 1(b)

Charges 1(a) and 1(b) are that Miss Hale did not, in sworn testimony before the School Committee on April 23, 1954, tell the truth about (a) her "connections with the Communist Party during the period from June, 1938, to April 23, 1954"; and (b) her "support of the Communist Party during the same period." The Committee finds that these charges have not been substantiated.

CHARGE 1(c)

Charge 1(c) is that Miss Hale did not, in sworn testimony before the Committee on April 23, 1954, tell the truth about her "knowledge of the nature, purposes or activities of the Communist Party during the period from June, 1938, to April 23, 1954."

Miss Hale on April 23 testified in effect that

(i) "the Communist Party was a political organization dedicated by lawful means through majority action to establish Socialism in this country." (Ex. 2, Page 42)

(ii) that the purpose of the Communist Party was "more or less on the question of talking about it at meetings, about educating people gradually, with the idea being that eventually when enough people understood the need for it, they would vote for it, make the proper constitutional changes and have a socialist government." (Ex. 2, Page 31)

(iii) that she never distributed literature which advocated the overthrow of the government by force or violence or any other illegal or unconstitutional method.

(iv) that she never knew of anyone connected with the Communist Party either advocating the overthrow of the government by force or violence or any other illegal or unconstitutional method, or distributing literature which did so.

Evidence was introduced as to the actual nature, purpose, and activity of the Communist Party. This included abundant documentary evidence, and oral testimony by James W. Glatis. Mr. Glatis, as an undercover agent for the F.B.I., began attending a Communist Party training school in February, 1949, entered the Party itself in April, 1949, and remained a member until May, 1954.

Miss Hale's testimony in effect reiterated her statements of April 23, 1954.

On consideration of the credible, competent, and relevant evidence contained in the record as a whole, we conclude that Miss Hale did not tell the truth on April 23 with respect to her knowledge of the nature, purposes, and activity of the Communist Party.

Without reviewing entire record, we point out the evidence that the doctrine of the Communist Party is Marxism — Leninism, and that this doctrine is taught, studied, and advocated by the members of the Communist Party. This doctrine is extensive, but it includes the proposition that capitalism must be succeded by a "dictatorship of the proletariat," that this dictatorship can be established only through the overthrow by force and violence of the existing government, that to rely upon constitutional means rather than force is to abandon the principles of Marxism — Leninism, that it is not necessary to wait for a majority in order to establish the "dictatorship of the proletariat," that the government will be overthrown on some propitious occasion or crisis, and that the Communist Party must act as the vanguard of the proletariat in the violent revolution which will establish by force the "dictatorship of the proletariat."

We cannot believe that Miss Hale, in her twelve years of activity in the Communist Party did not learn this doctrine, or hear it advocated, or know of the distribution of literature advocating it. Her experience was too long, her activities too varied, her acquaintances too wide spread, her study of doctrine too extensive, to permit us to reach such a conclusion. We conclude that she did not tell the truth on April 23, that she did so in order to defend the Communist Party, that charge 1(c) is substantiated, and that she should therefore be dismissed.

CHARGE 1(d)

Charge 1(d) is that Miss Hale in her sworn testimony before the Committee on April 23, 1954, did not tell the truth regarding her "knowledge, during the period from October 28, 1949, to November 17, 1951, of Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1949."

Chapter 619 added sections 13 and 14 to General Laws Chapter 264. Section 13 made it illegal for the Commonwealth or any political subdivision thereof to employ a member of the Communist Party. Section 14 required persons entering the employment of the Commonwealth or any political subdivision to subscribe to a prescribed oath.

Miss Hale on April 23 testified that to the best of her knowledge she did not know about Section 13 during the period when it was law. She testified that she did know about the oath required by Section 14.

On consideration of the credible, competent and relevant evidence contained in the record as a whole, we conclude that Miss Hale did not tell the truth on April 23 in this respect. She had every reason not to tell the truth, for to do so would be to admit that she remained as a school teacher even though she knew her employment to be illegal. Without reviewing the entire record, we point out that Miss Hale herself first testified that she would not have forgotten a law such as Section 13 if she once learned of its enactment; that later she testified that she knew of the pendency of such legislation; and that she "very likely" knew of its passage. Miss Hale's testimony in its entirety, the evidence of widespread publicity given to the pending legislation, the evidence of opposition by the entire Communist Party to the legislation, Miss Hale's own membership in the Party at that time, to mention some of the evidence, all make her testimony of April 23, 1954, incredible.

We conclude that she did not tell the truth on April 23, that charge 1(d) is substantiated, and that she should therefore be dismissed.

CHARGE 2

Charge 2 is "unfitness to teach, in that in view of your continued membership in the Communist Party after 1947 and your statements to us as to the nature, purposes, and activities of the Communist Party, you lack the perception, understanding and judgment necessary in one who is entrusted with responsibility for teaching the children of the Town and representing the School Department in relationships with parents of such children."

Without reviewing the evidence at this time, we believe it sufficient to say that even the most charitable view of this case shows that Miss Hale has demonstrated an almost complete lack of perception, understanding and judgment. Furthermore, we believe that this lack materially affects her ability to discharge her duties as a teacher, whether in the second grade or in any other grade to which she may be assigned.

The mind of a child is peculiarly receptive, for it has not learned to consider, judge, and accept or reject ideas. The early years are rightly considered formative ones; the ideas planted in a child's mind at this age are particularly likely to take root and to manifest themselves throughout his or her life. It is a common place that a grown man or woman reflects in his thinking and conduct the ideas he has received as a child.

Accordingly, we believe that it is important for children, even in the lower grades, to be taught by teachers imbued with our American ideals of democracy, loyalty, love of country, and respect for our tradition of freedom. We do not believe that love for these ideals can be properly transmitted by a person whose personal conduct shows an utter lack of understanding of them.

We are aware of Miss Hale's testimony that she has attempted to teach such ideals to her pupils. However, we conclude that her lack of judgment, her lack of understanding of our free institutions, and her lack of perception of the nature of our democratic system, make her unfit to be a teacher. Her deficiencies must inevitably, as was shown during the course of the hearing, manifest themselves in her speech and conduct.

We conclude that Charge 2 has been substantiated, and that Miss Hale should therefore be dismissed.

CHARGE 3

Charge 3 is "membership in the Communist Party from 1938 at least through 1950 and your adherence thereafter to the program of the Communist Party."

The evidence shows that Miss Hale was a member of the Communist Party from 1938 through 1950; that although after 1950 she was not a formal member of the Party, her attitude toward the Party doctrine was unchanged; that she was not disillusioned regarding the Party, and that she came to the meeting of April 23 to defend it.

We believe that Charge 3 has been proved; furthermore, we believe that this vitally affects Miss Hale's ability to discharge her duties as a teacher. In this respect we refer to our statements above regarding Charge 2. As a practical matter of school administration, we believe that retention of Miss Hale would be inconsistent with maintaining the efficiency of the school system.

We conclude that Charge 3 has been substantiated, and that Miss Hale should therefore be dismissed.

CORNELIUS J. MAGUIRE
HARVEY C. NEWTON

William A. Waldron, who voted against dismissal of Miss Hale, made the following statement:

REFUSAL TO ANSWER

I believe that Miss Hale had no right — moral or legal — to refuse at the public hearing to answer our questions relating to her opinions of Communist doctrine and her connections with the Communist Party; and such refusal, in my opinion, is good cause for her dismissal.

Because of the nature of our questions, I believe that we had both the right and the duty to ask them. Certainly it is well established today that Communist doctrine and the Communist Party are not "political" in the sense in which that word is used in the law forbidding a school committee to inquire about a teacher's religious or political beliefs or affiliations.

Furthermore, Miss Hale had informed us on April 23 that she had been an active member of the Communist Party from 1938 through 1950, that she had left the Party without disillusionment, and that on April 23 her view of the Party was the same as when she had been a member. These facts, I assert, placed upon her the duty of permitting us to determine the extent to which today she is conditioned by Communist doctrine; the extent to which today she applies non-communist tests to her political opinions and challenges the dictates of the Party; in short, whether today she is intellectually free and honest. For surely no educational system should have room for a teacher who is subject to the discipline of the Communist Party.

So I would vote to dismiss Miss Hale for her refusal to answer our questions at the public hearing. The difficulty, however, is that at our meeting with her on April 23 she did answer all the questions we then asked; and since we did not anticipate that she would change her tactics at the public hearing which she requested, we did not, in our letter of May 22 stating the charges against her, include refusal to answer as one of the possible causes for her dismissal.

I personally believe that on the facts before us her refusal to answer may well have given us the right to dismiss her without supplying the further notice and opportunity for a hearing which the law otherwise would require. After all, she testified that she would, as a matter of principle, persist in her refusal to answer; and certainly her refusal requires no further specification and is subject to no factual rebuttal. In such a case it seems likely to me that our legislature would not have intended to impose upon a school committee empty and needless procedural duties. However, since our courts have never expressly said that such an interpretation of the law is proper and since the able instructions of our Town Counsel do not allow for such an interpretation, I reluctantly conclude that I should not now insist upon it so as to be able to join my colleagues in voting for Miss Hale's discharge.

CHARGE 1

As for Charge 1, I am not satisfied by a preponderance of the evidence before us that Miss Hale lied to us on April 23. I voted to make the charge on May 22 because I was skeptical of the truthfulness of some of her testimony, and I expected to be able to resolve my doubts one way or the other at the public hearing.

The statements about which I had the most doubt were those relating to her knowledge of the nature, purposes or activities of the Communist Party (Charge 1c). All that doubt remains; yet today I am no more ready than I was on May 22 to say that she did in fact lie to us on April 23.

The charge, after all, has to do with her knowledge, her state of mind — a uniquely personal matter. In my opinion, the most damaging evidence against her was the portion of her statement of April 5 which she omitted in her testimony on April 23. I do not contend that she concealed that omission from us; obviously she did not. But the omission suggests to me that she knew more about the nature and purposes of the Communist Party than she admitted on April 23. The rest of the evidence against her on this charge laid a foundation for drawing the inference that she lied.

I agree that the evidence (particularly her long and active membership in the Communist Party and her thorough study of the "Marxist classics") was strong for that purpose and that the law permits such an inference to be drawn. Yet I keep returning to the fact that we are concerned with her knowledge. The witness Glatis — forthright and conscientious as he was, however limited his experience — could not help us with that; nor, in my opinion, do the decisions of courts in other cases on other facts.

Furthermore, I am perplexed by the question of motive: If she lied to us about her knowledge of the nature, purposes and activities of the Communist Party or about her knowledge of Chapter 619 of the Acts of 1949, why didn't she do a good job of it and tell us that she left the Party disillusioned and sick at heart and that today at long last she recognizes it to be a conspiracy against our government?

That to me illustrates the great difficulty faced in drawing inferences about a person's state of mind — and why after a painstaking study of the record before us, and consideration of Miss Hale's demeanor as a witness, I am unable to draw the inference required in this case. Conceivably, Miss Hale could be a secret member of the Communist Party today; on the other hand, she could be a sheltered innocent, blinded idealist, or ignorant fool. Accordingly, I must conclude that the preponderance of the evidence before us does not prove that her knowledge was different from what she told us it was on April 23.

In this connection I want to make clear my complete respect for the contrary conclusion reached by my colleagues and my view that their conclusion is entirely proper under the law. They have approached our arduous task in the same earnest spirit I have, and future events may well show their judgment to have been more realistic than mine. My difficulties, I know, are compounded by my training as a lawyer.

I also desire to commend the Town Counsel on his presentation of the case. His duty was greatly complicated by Miss Hale's refusal to answer questions; yet he proceeded carefully, conscientiously, and intelligently. In my opinion, he did the best any lawyer could have done with the evidence he had.

CHARGE 2

As I interpret Charge 2, it is in substance an alternative to Charge 1. The latter asserts that Miss Hale is a liar; Charge 2 contends that if she isn't a liar, she is too stupid or too unreliable to be kept as a teacher.

From the beginning I have believed that I could not vote for Miss Hale's dismissal on this ground without evidence that her conduct as a teacher had been improperly influenced by her past membership in the Communist Party or her present views as to the nature, purposes and activities of the Party. Since there is no such evidence in the record before us, I still believe that I should not vote for her dismissal on Charge 2.

This has been the most difficult decision in this case for me — and, I may add, one of the most difficult in my life to date. To me, as to my colleagues and our fellow townsmen, Miss Hale's Communist activities from 1938 through 1950 and her present opinions about the Communist Party are abhorrent. I realize that public knowledge of them destroys forever the confidence of many parents in her ability to teach their children. I realize too that as a member of the School Committee I have a duty to do all I can to promote the interests of our School Department; and I agree that Miss Hale's dismissal on Charge 2 would be entirely within the bounds of the Committee's discretion under the law of the Commonwealth.

However, where as here Miss Hale's record as a teacher has been good, I believe that I may have a higher duty — particularly as a lawyer trained to the legal significance of the principles and traditions embodied in the Declaration of Rights of our Massachusetts Constitution and the Bill of Rights of our Federal Constitution. And that duty is to uphold the right of all citizens — including teachers — to freedom of belief and lawful association in their private lives.

I point out that Charge 2 assumes the truth of the information Miss Hale gave us on April 23, namely: that she has never engaged in or advocated any unlawful conduct, nor known others with whom she has been associated to do otherwise; that she has had no connections with and given no support to the Communist Party since 1950; that she has never in any way sought to influence pupils, parents or fellow teachers to her beliefs about the Communist Party; and that since 1950 those beliefs have been only beliefs — beliefs privately held.

Up to the time of Miss Hale's suspension on May 13 her competence as a teacher had been proved and had been widely accepted in the Town. Until I am satisfied that she has lied to us or that she is subject to the discipline of the Communist Party (and as I have said, I would, if it were one of our charges, now vote to dismiss her for failing to testify when that was the issue we were seeking to explore), I believe that she should be allowed in her private life the freedom traditional in America. And I should hope that if she should later change her tactics and establish before some other school authorities that she is in fact intellectually free and honest, the number of parents of children in that school system agreeing with my notions about our American way would be sufficient to permit Miss Hale to resume her career as a teacher.

CHARGE 3

In Charge 3 the phrase "adherence thereafter to the program of the Communist Party" could include, in my opinion, such things as concealed membership in the Party, participation in illegal activities, taking instruction in such activities, and similar matters. Therefore, as stated, I believe the charge certainly describes good cause for a teacher's dismissal.

However, the record before us contains no evidence of such matters. The evidence is limited to the beliefs which I have just discussed under Charge 2. Hence, for the reasons there stated, I do not vote for Miss Hale's dismissal on Charge 3.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENT

Mr. Waldron also made the following additional statement:

Though, as explained in my statement, I would have voted for Miss Hale's dismissal had her refusal to answer our questions at the public hearing been one of the charges against her, I felt unable so to vote on the three charges of May 22. In this I differed with my two colleagues, and my position therefore was not representative of the Committee's view. Hence, because traditionally the Chairman has been the Committee's spokesman and because I am most anxious to minimize possible difficulties arising from any misunderstanding on my position in the Hale case, I have joined Mr. Newton in asking Mr. Maguire, the senior member of the Committee, to serve as Chairman until next March. And this Mr. Maguire has generously agreed to do.

Era of Electric Kitchen

Before this age of mad scientists, anybody could cook.

You threw some wood in the stove and maybe a little kerosene, if you liked to live interestingly. When the top of the stove was red hot, you threw a little something in the frying pan and fried. It was simple and reliable, even if a bit hot and slow.

But with the modern electric cooking contraption, no man left alone in the house knows where he's at.

It has flashing red lights that start one feeling around on the kitchen floor with his foot for the brake pedal.

It has dials with numbers on them. And the numbers don't mean anything. How is anybody to know the difference between 375 degrees and 425? Is there a difference?

A citizen of this Town, not long ago, was left in charge of home and children in a hot spell while his wife took off in her ranch wagon for a glamorous tour of cool Northern resorts.

To keep up the spirits and strength of the abandoned kiddies, not to mention his own, he purchased one day a large steak. That part was easy. He just put down a $10 bill and received a slab of meat and a handful of M.T.A. tokens in change.

Broiling it was something else.

First, of course, he had to clean the broiling pan.

To ignore a dirty broiling pan, a woman just closes the oven door on it. That's a cinch, too. But to get on with the broiling.

On the dial it said "pre-heat". That seemed like a good idea. So our man turned the thing to pre-heat, and picked the figure 350 as one he had seen in use before.

He pre-heated a while, then slid in the steak.

A red light flashed on. Then it went out. The fellow looked inside and nothing seemed to be happening. He certainly didn't seem to be cooking with electricity.

So he flipped the dials off and back on again. A red light. And then no red light.

Well, this went on quite a while. Our hero knew perfectly well that 10 minutes is a legal time to cook a steak. But this one was raw as a green apple at the end of 10 minutes. So he fiddled with dials.

He turned it to "broil". Then he tuned, finally, to the 450 wave length. And in due time, say 30 minutes, the steak was cooked.

Cooked? It was cooked like the proverbial planked shad. That's the recipe in which you throw away the shad and eat the plank. And besides that, the green beans were underdone.

Next day he had beans again and this time he gave them enough of that modern, scientific, electric heat. He burned the edges off them, and spent the afternoon with a screwdriver, scraping the black stuff off the bottom of the pan.

Modern labor saving devices? Bah!

One of these days somebody will invent a real labor-saving kitchen. It will contain a wood stove, a sink, a pump, a tea kettle, a frying pan and a broom, with maybe a couple of geraniums blooming in tin cans on the window sill.

There, fellow citizens, will be a kitchen an abandoned husband can handle, without taking Gadgets II at old Slide Rule U. — D. B. W.

Last day for registering to vote in the September primary will be Friday, Aug. 13. The Registrars of Voters will register voters at the Cochituate Branch Library from 12 noon until 10 p.m. on that day. New voters should bring birth certificates or other proof of citizenship.

Congregational Church Holds Fair on Sept. 25

The Wayland Trinitarian Congregational Church will hold its annual fair on Saturday, Sept. 25, on the church grounds. Albion Allen is general chairman, assisted by Doc Young and Sheldon Kennedy. Robert Carson is in charge of the supper.

Chairmen of special committees are Doc Young, Claire Minty, Mrs. Andrew Thomas, Mrs. Ernest Walston, Rena Wheelock, Mrs. Sheldon Kennedy, Mrs. George Early, Lee Johnson, Donald Ide and Mrs. Ruth C. Stahl.

The children's entertainment will be handled by the Women's Fellowship and the parcel post by the Quarter Century Club.

Parking Lot Next to Library is Started

Excavation was started for a parking lot, 50 feet by 135, on the south side of the Wayland Library. Plans also call for a driveway to be built around the back of the Library building. In recent months no parking has been allowed on Concord Road, on account of the traffic hazards, and Library patrons have had no place to park except in Library Lane.

Superintendent Albert Potvin of the Highway Department says the parking lot won't be finished until late Summer. A section of Old Sudbury Road, from the railroad tracks northwestward, is to be rebuilt under Chapter 90 later on, and some of the fill from this job will be used for the Library space.

In the Churches

Congregational

Sunday morning worship services will be held at 9:30 during the summer. Guest preachers:

Aug. 1—Rev. Bradley S. Skinner, minister of the Silver Lake Community Church, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Aug. 8—Rev. Allen Tinkham, recent graduate of Chicago Theological Seminary.

Aug. 15—Rev. Leonard Gray, minister of the Second Congregational Church in East Douglas, Mass.

During-Church Nursery will operate as usual with volunteers in charge.

St. Zepherin's

Sunday Masses are at 7:30, 8:30 (two), 10:30 and 11:30.

MISS ELIZABETH C. BELCHER of Wayland was a delegate to the Conference of the New England Alliance of Unitarian Woman at Star Island in July.

Dr. Damon Opens Office in Cochituate

Dr. Ernest H. Damon Jr. son of Police Chief and Mrs. Ernest H. Damon, has returned after three years service in the U.S. Army Air Force Medical Corps and has opened an office for the general practice of medicine at 8 Shawmut Avenue, Cochituate.

Dr. Damon was graduated from Wayland High School in 1942, winning the P.T.A. scholarship. He was graduated from Boston College in 1945, cum laude, and from Tufts Medical School in 1949. He completed his interneship at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in 1950 and his residency at Cambridge City Hospital in 1951. He served in the Air Force for three years, ending as a captain.

His permanent office building is being constructed at 4 Harrison Avenue, Cochituate.

Residents used Lake Cochituate bathing beach 34,785 times last summer.

Dirt was flying furiously last month, as construction crews went to work on the new Raytheon laboratory. Persons in Wayland Center saw a raccoon one night, and it was supposed he'd been driven from his home on the site.

Published Monthly for the Residents of Cochituate and Wayland

Volume 8, No. 12 | September, 1954, Wayland, Mass. | 10c a copy, $1.00 a year

Her Majesty's Band of the Irish Guards, part of one of the outfits which wears red coats and bearskin hats around Buckingham Palace, is going to make a tour of the United States in September and, according to plans, will give its very first concert in this country on the ball field outside Wayland High School.

This happens because Lester S. MacArthur, who teaches instrumental music at Wayland High School, is also president of MacArthur Enterprises, Inc., which is arranging the tour.

The concert in Wayland is not scheduled to be public, exactly, but it will be for all the school children of Wayland and Sudbury, who will be brought to the High School in buses some time late in the forenoon of Sept. 13. In case of rain, the concert will have to be held inside the gymnasium, with the audience squeezed in the best way possible.

The regular tour begins with concerts in Symphony Hall, Boston, on Sept. 13 and

Street Numbering Job is Completed

The Town street numbering job, done by the engineering firm of Everett Brooks under the direction of the Planning Board, was practically finished last month, and the new numbers, it was announced, should be posted and available to everybody soon.

This job has been on the fire for several years, since the Town began to grow. There has been a great deal of confusion because of the lack of numbers. Delivery men from the city couldn't find houses, and even the Town Fire Department was sometimes at a loss.

Not only were there no numbers in many parts of Town, but where there were numbers, they had been chosen arbitrarily. On one street in Cochituate there were three Number Nines.

The new numbering scheme is a scientific job. Everybody gets a number, and it means something. That is, Number 57 is further along the street than Number 39.

The master list, a 52-page book, was all made up last month. Copies are to be available to every Town department and to groups which have need of them. Lists will also be posted in Town Hall.

Hereafter, the building inspector will assign street numbers to all new houses, in accordance with the plan.

Town Population is Estimated at 8,000

The list of persons 20 years of age and older, completed last month at Town Hall, indicates that Wayland's population is now around 8000.

Admittedly an estimate, this figure is nevertheless as close as anyone can come to an off-year census.

The list was made up as of Jan. 1, 1954. Since that day many have left Town and many more have moved in, but these changes are not reflected in the list.

To make the estimate, one takes the number of adults and then adds the number of children, as shown in school attendance, in the pre-school census and in an estimate of those past high school age and not yet 20.

The estimate seems to show that Wayland's population has more than doubled within the past decade. The growth, still continuing, seems to be somewhere between 1000 and 1500 a year.

The list consists of two booklets, one for each precinct. The price is 25 cents per booklet, and they may be obtained from Town Clerk Leila Sears. The list is the nearest thing to a Town directory available.

Personnel Board

Richard H. Burchill of Fairfield Road has been appointed to the Personnel Board to take the place of Dominic Anzivino, who has resigned.

Primaries to be Held Sept. 14

Much of the local interest in the Sept. 14 primaries was centered in the four-man contest for State Representative on the Republican ticket. This is the seat now held by Howard S. Russell of Wayland, who decided not to run for re-election.

The Republican candidates for this seat are B. Allen Benjamin of Wayland, James DeNormandie of Lincoln, Jefts G. Beede of Hudson and James L. Cunningham of Lincoln. The Democratic candidate, unopposed, is P. Joseph Murphy. Voting hours are 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Installation of Water Meters Commences

Installation of water meters began in Town around the first of August, says Water Commissioner Fern A. Taylor, and the first 500 meters should be in place by Spring.

Water Department men are taking the streets in alphabetical order for meter installation, doing this work from time to time as they get a chance.

Mr. Taylor says people have been most cooperative. about the meter deal. And he thinks that metering water will eventually eliminate the necessity for Summer rationing.

Announce Schedule For Football Team

No Woter Crisis

Thanks to a plentiful supply of rain this Summer, strict rationing of water for lawns and gardens was not necessary, even though all residents received notices telling them to use the hose no more than four hours a day. This, says Water Commissioner Fern A. Taylor, is a State rule.

Letters to the Editor

Rebutts Stove Attack

To the Editor:

We too deplore as we read with amusement "Era of Electric Kitchen".

While it is probably true that men were not made to cook unless they make a profession of it, the evidence is strong that electric cooking is the easiest, most efficient and least expensive method of food preparation known to man. Four out of five new homes in the Boston area install it and thousands of older homes convert to electric cooking every year. So we have reason to believe that it makes many thousands of women extremely happy.

Seriously, if you would be good enough to give us the identity of your "citizen" friend it would be a pleasure for one of our Home Service demonstrators to call at his residence and demonstrate completely the simplicity and perfection of electric cooking. Even though the situation probably found him without benefit of the culinary wisdom of the lady of the house temporarily, it might happen again and this service we provide clearly would be to his advantage.

Very truly yours,
J. V. MacDonald, Manager
Advertising, Promotion Dept.
Boston Edison Co.

Signs of Times

To the Editor:

What has happened to that "refined country atmosphere" of Wayland? When you go along the shores of Lake Cochituate you see fishermen lined up with numbers on their backs . . . and more numbers on the backs of bathers. It looks for all the world like a prison road gang . . . Couldn't they have issued cards to be shown with all the names of the family to be shown on entering the beach. It would have saved the taxpayers money instead of issuing for two years different colored rubber bands.

A Puzzled Resident

To the Editor

I enjoy the Crier very much and am very happy to enclose my dollar to renew my subscription.

Mrs. Edward F. McGee,
Cochituate

Editor's Note: Thank you.

Scout Explorers Pay Visit to New Mexico

Nick Marshall, Emery Irwin and Ken Wood, all of Post 1, Explorer Troop, Cochituate, and Dave Hollis of the Wayland Scout Troop, went to the big Scout camp at Philmont Scout Ranch in the Sangre de Christo Mountains of New Mexico this Summer.

They travelled by bus, 2200 miles out and 2300 back, and had a wonderful time seeing the country. They were gone three weeks. Nick Marshall reports that the daytime temperature in New Mexico was often 100 or 115, but it didn't seem as hot as Wayland.

Election Registration

Town Clerk Leila Sears wants to remind persons wishing to register to vote in the November election that they must show birth certificates or equivalent proof of citizenship. She says the reason for this rule is that it has been discovered in some Massachusetts communities that aliens have been voting for years. She also says that registration for the State election of Nov. 2 will begin on Sept. 15, the day after the primary election, and end Oct. 1.

Wayland Republicans Attend Herter Rally

More than 100 Wayland residents attended a Republican meeting, addressed by Gov. Christian A. Herter, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ford in Weston on the night of Aug. 17.

The gathering, attended by many Republican dignitaries, was for residents of Weston, Wayland, Lincoln and Sudbury. Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside, chairman of the Wayland Town Committee, was in charge of arrangements for Wayland people. Wayland hostesses at the meeting were Mrs. Russell Kerr, Mrs. Lewis Avard, Mrs. Ronald Wood, Mrs. Fred Berg and Mrs. Arthur Kimball. More than 500 were present.

Measles Reported to Health Board Total 67

Sixty-seven cases of measles were reported in Town in June, July and August, says Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health, who adds that there were probably more not reported. It was an unusually large number of cases.

There was one case of polio. Robert Davis, 8, of Stone Bridge Road, was taken to Haynes Memorial Hospital. No paralysis. David Large of Old Connecticut Path, another boy, was also taken to Haynes Memorial, with meningitis. He was said to be recovering.

In addition, there were 13 cases of mumps during the Summer, two of scarlet fever and 22 dog bites. No rabies.

Canham to Speak Here on Oct. 22

Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will be the first speaker in a series of lectures to be sponsored by the newly formed Wayland United Nations Association. Mr. Canham, widely known commentator on current events, will speak at the High School Friday, October 22, in conjunction with United Nations week.

The Wayland United Nations Association has been organized by a committee composed of representatives of more than half a dozen Wayland organizations for the purpose of bringing speakers here to discuss the role and influence of the United Nations in world affairs.

Other speakers scheduled for later in the year are Dr. Frank P. Graham, U.N. mediator between India and Pakistan, on January 21, and C. T. Miao, U.N. information officer, who was decorated by the U.S. Government on April 15.

Membership in the Association is $2.50 per member, and $1 for student membership. This entitles the member to free admission to the three lectures. Otherwise there will be a general admission charge to non-members and guests of $1.00 per lecture, and 50c for students. Persons desiring to enroll should send check to Mrs. Bruce F. Kingsbury, 12 Goodman Lane, Wayland, EL 8-4337.

Members of the committee which organized the Association include Mrs. Kingsbury and Mrs. David Trageser, representing the Wayland League of Women Voters; Mrs. B. Allen Benjamin, Women's Club; Mrs. Howard Weeks, Wayland Junior Town House; Mrs. Frederick Whiteside, Wayland Republican Town Committee; Mrs. John Quinn, Mrs. Walter Wilcox, Rev. George Gutekunst, Rev, George Hodgkins, and Rev. Raymond Manker, Chairman.

Sponsors have underwritten the cast of the first year's program are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Benjamin, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Cox, Mr. and Mrs. F. Stetson Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gannett, Mrs. Paul Hamlen, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Reed Morss, Mrs. Thacher Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Olmsted, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Powning, Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn, Mrs. Edmund H. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. George Vinsonhaler, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Wilcox, and the Wayland League of Women Voters.

Newton-Waltham Bank To be in Cochituate

The Cochituate Branch of the Newton-Waltham Bank will occupy an office in the building recently renovated by Edward A. Veno, on Main Street, it has been announced. The bank will move into the premises formerly occupied by Tivnan's market. The other part of the building used to house the Cochituate Reading Room.

Salvation Army Drive This Month

The annual financial drive of the Salvation Army will be carried on in Wayland during the week of Sept. 12—18. Mrs. Victor Carr is Wayland chairman. Assisting her are the following area captains, with additional names to be announced later: Mrs. Horace B. Gray, Mrs. Howard Weeks, Mrs. John L. Bandelin, Mrs. Mark A. Marbet, Mrs. L. William Bertelsen, Mrs. Harold E. Proctor, Mrs. Allan H. Turner.

In Cochituate Mrs. George F. Johnson is chairman and Frank K. Hahn, treasurer. 20% of the money collected, they say, is used for local needs.

CRIER deadline: Fri. Sept. 17

Foreign Students Here

Wayland played host to a cross-section of the United Nations last month. Fourteen foreign students studying at Massachusetts Institute of Technology spent the weekend of August 21 and 22 playing tennis, swimming, hiking and cooking out with half a dozen local families.

Their fields covered chemical, electrical, mechanical and civil engineering and chemistry. The countries represented included Korea, Scotland. England, Ireland, Egypt, India, Pakistan, Phillipines, Nigeria, Yugoslavia, Belgium, and Spain.

Following a cookout at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel E. Kennedy Jr., on Saturday evening, the group and their hosts saw movies about India at the Vokes Playhouse.

Cochituate Garden Club in Fall Show

Cochituate and Natick Garden Clubs will co-operate on a fall flower show, to be held at the Lincoln School, East Central Street, Natick, on September 9 and September 10, from 2 to 9 p.m. Chairman of the fair committee is Mrs. Graydon R. Bean, with Mrs. Duane B. Haagensen, co-chairman. Mrs. James Sandler is president of the Cochituate Club.

All residents of Cochituate and Natick are invited to submit flower arrangements for exhibit and competition. Judges will be Mrs. William J. Breed, Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood and Mrs. Richard S. Meriam. Tea will be served, at a charge of fifty cents, by a committee headed by Mrs. Raymond Dowd and Mrs. Fred N. Berg.

Vote Primary Day, Sept. 14

Congregational Fair To be on Sept. 24, 25

The annual Fair of the Trinitarian Congregational Church, which netted more than $1000 last year, will be held on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 24 and 25, and will open with an outdoor square dance on the baseball field outside the High School, at 8:30 p.m. Friday evening.

A big tent will be erected on the field, and the dance will be held inside in case of rain. Squire Davis and his Do-Si-Doers will provide the music.

On Saturday, the 25, inside the tent, will be the main events of the Fair, with an auction, food sale, church supper and all the features which go to make up a big affair.

There'll be plenty of entertainment for children, with movies and pony rides.

Girl Scout Leaders

More than 20 Girl Scout leaders, assistant leaders and consultants, who make up the Wayland Girl Scout organization, have reorganized under a new Neighborhood Plan suggested by the Girl Scouts of America. As a part of the Natick Council, they work in close co-operation with Cochituate and various neighborhood sections of Natick. Newly elected co-chairmen of the Wayland Neighborhood are Mrs. Lyman O. Seley and Mrs. Blakslee H. Colby. Other officers of the organization are: Troop organizers: Mrs. Frederick L. Heinrich and Mrs. Allan H. Turner; Troop Consultants; Mrs. Anthony Bova, Mrs. Francis C. Newton and Mrs. Edward C. Osmond.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY, SEPT. 14

JAMES DeNORMANDIE X
Warren F. Flint, Lexington Rd., Lincoln, Mass.

Republican Candidates for House

Four candidates are running for the Republican nomination for Representative in the Tenth Middlesex District, which covers Wayland, Lincoln, Sudbury and Hudson. Their biographies follow:

JEFTS BEEDE, of 18 Pleasant Street, Hudson, is married and has two daughters and a son and is now associated with a machine tool firm. He served with the Engineer Corp of the Army during World War II and attended the Belmont Schools and Brown University. He was born in Worcester in 1918. Endorsed by the Hudson Republican Town Committee, he belongs to many local fraternal, civic and social organizations.

These include the Hudson Hospital Association, Hudson Republican Town Committee, Hudson Boy Scout Association, Worcester Civic Music Association, Theta Delta Chi Fraternity, Nashoba Craftsmen's Club, Aleppo Temple Shrine, Nipmuc Rod & Gun Club and the American Society of Tool Engineers.

ALLEN BENJAMIN, of Concord Road, Wayland, for seven years was on the staff of the State Planning Board in charge of its municipal advisory service. He then served as field agent for the Massachusetts Forest and Park Assn. to assist towns in conservation problems. Later he was on the staff of the Dept. of Regional Planning at Harvard to study financial problems of growing suburban towns. He is now in business for himself as a municipal consultant.

At present on the Wayland Board of Assessors, he has also served as director of the Mass. Federation of Planning Boards, coordinator for the Sudbury Valley Commission and member of the State Civil Defense Council.

Mr. Benjamin is a veteran of World War II, is married and has three children.

JAMES L. CUNNINGHAM, of Tower road, Lincoln, is a practising attorney with an office in Lexington. Born in Lincoln in 1920, he attended the Lincoln Schools and graduated from Waltham High in 1937. He has a degree in Business Administration from Northeastern and an LLB from Boston University in 1950.

During World War II he was a fighter pilot in the Marines with 17 months combat duty in the Pacific and was recalled for seven months during the Korean War. He holds memberships in the V.F.W., Elks and Mass. Bar Association.

Always active in sports he was a member of the Cochituate Hockey Club and played semi-pro baseball with the Lincoln Mohawks.

He is married and has two children.

JAMES DeNORMANDIE, of Trapelo road, Lincoln, is a partner in the dairy firm of DeNormandie and Verrill in Concord and has long been active in agricultural affairs in the state.

Now 47 years old, he is married and has four children and has served in various organizations in Lincoln. These include the Lincoln School Committee, School Building Committee, Board of Appeals and the Lincoln Republican Town Committee. He was also appointed to the Recess Commission for study of dairy laws by Governor Saltonstall.

He is a charter member and president of the Massachusetts Selective Breeding Association and was director of Livestock Disease Control in the Department of Agriculture under Gov. Saltonstall.

Wayland Woman's Club

For the benefit of the High School Scholarship Fund, the Wayland Woman's Club will hold a food sale on the green in the center of town on Saturday, Oct. 2. In case of rain it will be in the vestry of the First Parish Church. Mrs. Clinton Lee is chairman.

McCarthy, Treasurer Augustus G. Means, Auditor William P. Constantino, Attorney General George Fingold and Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

On the Democratic side, Robert F. Murphy and Francis E. Kelly are seeking the nomination for Governor. James A. Burke is unopposed for the Lieutenant Governor nomination, as is the incumbent, Edwin J. Cronin, for Secretary. Thomas J. Buckley is unopposed for Auditor and John F. Collins for Attorney General. Foster Furcolo, Joseph L. Murphy and John I. Fitzgerald are after the nomination for United States Senator.

Daniel Frumerin is New School Head

First principal of the new Happy Hollow School will be Daniel A. Frumerin, 28, whose home town is East Bridgewater, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Rexford S. Souder announces.

Mr. Frumerin has bachelor's and master's degrees from Boston University. He has been teaching at Shelburne Falls. He is married and would like to find a place to live in Wayland.

Work on the new building was progressing last month, but it was still impossible to set a date for its opening. Pending its completion, as reported in last month's Crier, there will be double sessions at the Cochituate School. All schools will reopen Sept. 8.

Mrs. Elizabeth Phillips, a third grade teacher at Cochituate since 1950, has resigned. Her place will be taken by Miss Mary T. Connolly, from Watertown, a graduate of Emmanuel College who has ben teaching at Falls Church, Va., for the past two years.

A new second grade teacher at the Center School will be Mrs. Doris Salak of Framingham, a graduate of Wheelock. She has been teaching at Ashland. Before that, she was chairman of the primary department at Little Folk Farm School, Framingham.

Taking the place of Mrs. Frances Flynn, who resigned from the High School faculty, will be Albert W. Burns, 30, from Cambridge. Mr. Burns was graduated from the Boston College School of Education, and for a time he was an instructor in English at Boston College. He will teach English.

No Appeal Yet To Courts by Miss Hale

Anne Hale Jr. says that she is still considering an appeal to the courts from the decision of the Wayland School Committee, which dismissed her from her position as a second grade teacher in the Center School. She says there is no immediate time limit for such an appeal. During the Summer she conducted a small day camp at her home on Plain Road.

Vote Primary Day, Tuesday Septemher 14, 4 to 8 p.m.

National Geographics Wanted By Library

Miss Ruth Scannell, Wayland Librarian, is asking people to send in copies of the National Geographic Magazine for the years 1933 to 1951 inclusive, either full sets or scattered numbers, to be used in a new and interesting way.

Separate articles are taken from the magazines at a place called the College Bindery, in South Lancaster, and put in attractive covers. Then they are indexed, so that people may pick out articles on Turkey or South America or India or wherever. The cost of the binding job is small, says Miss Scannell, and the result is that the material is in much more accessible form than it would be in the bound magazines.

Wayland High School has a full set of these National Geographic articles, back to 1917, and some of these were on display at the Library in August. But these will be accessible only to High School pupils, and Miss Scannell would like a set, back to 1933 anyway, for the benefit of adults and elementary and grammar school children.

Irish Guards—

14. That is, the show plays Wayland first and Symphony Hall second.

This famous band, formed in 1900, has 66 members. Many of its members are also members of such famous British orchestras as the B.B.C. Symphony, the Royal Philharmonic, the London Philharmonic and the London Symphony.

The Irish Guards are among what are known as the Household Troops of the United Kingdom. Among the seven regiments are also the Coldstream Guards, Life Guards, Grenadier Guards, Royal Horse Guards, Scots Guards and Welsh Guards. These are the troops which American tourists see at the spectacular ceremonies at Buckingham Palace. Queen Elizabeth is Colonel-in-Chief of the Irish Guards.

Mr. MacArthur is particularly interested in having Wayland School children see and hear this famous band because he is trying to develop a first-class band in Wayland High School, and he wants his musicians to see how experts perform.

These bandsmen appear in full fancy uniform. They are probably the first British military organization to appear in Wayland since Burgoyne's Army walked through on its way home.

Blow-off of gas in North Wayland early in Summer was caused by Northeastern Gas Transmisson Co. having to relocate pipe near Bedford Airport. Won't happen again, says Company.

You Can't Teach an Old Dog To Like Sandpaper—D.B.W.

The process of refinishing old furniture begins with the acquisition, or the discovery in attic or cellar, of an objet de junk that a self respecting citizen would not contribute to a rummage sale of a Skid Row mission.

Next comes the hatching of the happy thought, in the housewife's mind, that with a little sandpapering and waxing, plus maybe the addition or subtraction of knobs, the thing will look like something that came over in the Mayflower. Or the Ark, at least.

The rest of the idea is that some man around the house should do the dirty work. This involves wrapping a piece of sandpaper around a block of wood and rubbing for 40 hours a week, plus overtime on Saturdays and Sundays. Sometimes it also involves daubing the surfaces with a foul goo known as paint remover, the feature of which is that it won't remove paint. Nothing will remove paint except a general lowering of the painted surface by approximately one eighth of an inch.

Some persons, they say, make a racket out of this deal. They shine up a $4 chest of drawers and sell it to some sucker for $85, after telling him that George Washington used to keep his other socks in it.

This sounds like the more abundant life, financially speaking, but you can't prove it by the amateur.

Take the original value of the piece. That's zero.

Add the cost of sandpaper and paint remover and scrapers. Add the cost of the gas it takes to go to the store. Add the cost of the gimcracks which have to be purchased. (Remember always to use the word "hardware" in this connection. Unless you want to be considered a peasant, never say "knobs" when you mean knobs.)

Then add labor. Even at a nickel an hour, which is a pretty fair rate for anybody silly enough to get hooked into this sort of activity, this comes to around $18 for the complete job.

Tack on medical expenses, because there's one gouged knuckle in every project. (The whip scars will heal by themselves.) Add on some more as a penalty for the foolish and unjustified pride one is likely to feel in the finished job.

What's the score here? Well there's an actual investment of $27.83 in an object which was worth nothing to begin with. It's something like gilding a parsnip.

Now, if this article would be sold for $27.90, there'd be a neat seven-cent profit in the deal, and the junk would be out of the house forever. But no. It has to be placed in some prominent position in the home, where it will probably last for 1000 horrible years.

The wise, strong man will have no part of this deal. He will announce that furniture refinishing is squaw's work, and the moment any such enterprise is undertaken in his home he will cease to occupy the home, save between the hours of 12 midnight and 8 a.m.

For the weak, or hag-ridden husband, the only chance of avoiding the sandpaper routine is to pretend to like it. If his spouse is the kind of woman who'd sentence a man to this sort of hard labor, she'll be mean enough to snatch the sandpaper away the first time he smacks his lips over it, and send him out to cut grass with a dull lawnmower.

For it is a sad fact of life that there are some women, although fortunately none in this Town, who hold that a smile on a husband's face is a sure sign he has a wife who is remiss in developing his (ugh) character.—D.B.W.

PONY RIDES for children are now featured at the new Charena Farm roadside stand operated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wheelock Jr. on Old Connecticut Path.

Highway Notes

Residents of the Edgewood Road area were delighted with the betterment job done there a year ago. Streets were wider, services were better, everything looked neater.

* * *

Traffic islands at Legion Square were being marked out. They are to be boat-shaped, like the one at West Plain Street and Old Connecticut Path. One is to be on each side of Main Street. Stop signs will be put up, making Main Street the through way.

* * *

Betterment work on Davelin Road and Orchard Lane is pretty well completed, and work was being done on Sylvan Way and Hayward Road.

* * *

Mr. Potvin says that a section of sidewalk along Old Connecticut Path, near the new Happy Hollow school, will be laid out this year. It will be six feet wide, on the school side of the Path. To the West, it will run as far as Pine Ridge Road, and to the East, a corresponding distance from Maiden Lane. This will make a total of perhaps a half mile of gravel walk, for the safety of school children. Later on, he says, the sidewalk will be extended in both directions. In the course of time, it will be given a hard surface. His idea is to get a good base laid down this Summer.

* * *

Landscaping of the fire station and library branch at Cochituate was completed. Trees and shrubs were set out, grass was planted and came up and the new building began to look as though it had always been there.

Pony League Teams Winding Up Season

Although more than 70 boys registered for Pony League baseball this Summer, jobs and other obligations kept so many of them from playing that two all-star teams were formed, instead of a league, and both teams played busy schedules with outfits from other cities and towns, as well as each other.

Up to August 18, the Wayland team had won eight and lost nine. Some of the games were twilight affairs and others were played under the Cochituate lights. The Wayland record:

Wayland 5, Cochituate 7
Wayland 3, Sherborn 2
Wayland 7, Cochituate 6
Wayland 10, South Natick 0
Wayland 0, Ashland All Stars 6
Wayland 6, Wellesley 7
Wayland 19, Sherborn 7
Wayland 8, South Natick 10
Wayland 6, Sherborn 5
Wayland 3, Cochituate 8

Wayland 2, Ashland 0
Wayland 5, Saxonville 9
Wayland 6, South Natick 7
Wayland 8, Sherborn 3
Wayland 7, Waltham Dodgers 4

On the Wayland squad were Bill and Steve Hyland, Andrews, Bigwood Stewart, Zayotti, Willard, Wilcox, Houston, Bruce, Loynd and Bresse. Coaches were Ed Caraker, Bob Page and Phil Awad.

The Cochituate All Stars, coached by George Pearce and Don Sherman, had a 3 and 5 record. They list their scores this way:

Cochituate 6, Wayland 7
Cochituate 13, Sherborn 12
Cochituate 7, Wayland 5
Cochituate 5, Wellesley 6

Mrs. Potvin Praised For Hospital Work

A copy of a letter of praise for Mrs. Sally Potvin, from Robert Fitzgerald, chief of special service at veterans' hospitals, to Mrs. James McHale, Department Commander, American Legion Auxiliary, has been received by Mrs. Potvin and made public by the Wayland Auxiliary. It goes:

"Dear Mrs. McHale:

"We are taking this opportunity to write and inform you and the members of the Department of Massachusetts, American Legion, of the outstanding work performed during the past years by Mrs. Anne Bigelow (of Marlboro) and Mrs. Sally Potvin of the American Legion Auxiliary V.A.V.S. Advisory Committee at Cushing and West Roxbury.

"Their outstanding work and untiring efforts in behalf of the veteran patients has been remarkable and has been deeply appreciated by Dr. R. R. Gasser, manager of the hospital staff, and all the patients. You may be assured that their volunteer work and that of the ladies of the Auxiliary who served under their supervision has been very beneficial to the patients' morale and has played a very important part in getting the patients back into the community.

"Please express our sincere thanks to Mrs. Bigelow and Mrs. Potvin for a job well done. Their past volunteer work reflects great credit not only upon them, but upon the American Legion Auxiliary, which they so ably represented."

Mrs. Potvin, of Sunset Road, is the wife of Albert E. Potvin, Town Highway Superintendent.

School lunchroom staff will also include Mrs. Marie Perodeau as manager of the High School lunchroom, Mrs. Ronald Wood of the Happy Hollow room, Mrs. Emma Ellis of the Center School and Mrs. Gertrude Murray of the Cochituate School. Mrs. Dorothy Bowers is director of all lunchrooms.

Dr. Ernest H. Damon Jr. has been appointed school physician for the year. Dr. James Burke of Wayland will be school physician for Sudbury.

Way-Co Baseball Committee, including all coaches, umpires and other interested persons, will hold a meeting at the Dudley Pond Improvement Association building some time in September, to discuss plans for next season. The program has become so big something may have to be done to cope with it. Bob Whelchel is director of the Committee.

Forty-two voters were added to the Town rolls in the registration period for the September Primary, says Town Clerk Leila Sears.

Ninety-two cesspool permits had been issued so far in 1954, as of August 24 . . .

The Board of Health, which has a program for the destruction of tumbledown dwellings in Town, planned to wipe out three more in September . . . Raytheon Company applied for a permit to install sewage disposal facilities at its new plant.

Parents were afraid that bathing at Lake Cochituate might be responsible for the spread of diseases. Norman Fair of the Board of Health says that's not so. The Cochituate water was tested every week and had nothing to do with disease.

Bobby Brown and Emery Irwin became Eagle Scouts this Summer.

Cochituate Giants Get Little League Title

Town Little League champs for 1954 are the Cochituate Giants, who won the title under the lights on Aug. 16 by beating the Wayland Tigers, 8 to 3. In semi-final games the Cochituate Tigers beat the Wayland Indians and the Wayland Tigers beat the Cochituate Dodgers.

On account of the transportation problem, the League was divided into two sections, one in each end of Town. Each Cochituate team played 10 games and each Wayland team played 12. The play-offs settled the Town championship.

Eddie Cheslak pitched for the winners in the final game, giving up only three hits. Steve Powers hit a homer for the winners and Eddie Marsh for the losers.

Warren Hobbs and Walter Nickerson coached the Giants, whose title was their second in three years. Ed Kenny coached the Wayland Tigers.

GAY NINETIES COCHITUATE TEAM that played the old Boston Nationals.

Nationals vs Locals

Cochituate Club Played Them in '90s

Old timers in Cochituate can remember that once upon a time the Boston Nationals, the predecessors of the Braves, played a Cochituate team on the Cochituate baseball field, and here's the picture of the local team.

Alvin B. Neale of Main Street has had it for many years, but he can't remember just when the game was played or who won it. The uniforms suggest a date in the 1880s or 1890s.

The player seated at the left in the front row, says Mr. Neale, is Elmer Bent, the catcher, who was still living in Natick in February, 1954. Second from the left in the back row was Will Hunting, who was a Wayland Assessor in later life.

The mascot with the close haircut was Ralph Bond and the mustached man in the middle was his father, Albert Bond. Others in the picture are unidentified.

Another famous Cochituate baseball player remembered by Mr. Neale was Frank Leary, son of the Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Leary for whom Leary Street was named. Frank was graduated from the grammar school in Cochituate in 1894, then went to high school in Natick and thence to college. Afterwards, Frank pitched for Cincinnati in the National League. He died of appendicitis when still a young man.

Way-Co All Stars Beat Ashland Nine

After a couple of practice games, the Way-Co Little League All Stars opened their season under the lights at Cochituate by beating the Ashland Pirates, 15 to 1.

Eddie Marsh pitched for the Wayland team, giving up three hits and two walks while striking out 15. He also hit a grand slam home run. Steve Powers, Bob Schofield and Bruce Wohlman also did some heavy hitting for Wayland.

The Way-Co All Stars were chosen by coaches Pal Hartin and Bill Morris after recommendations from coaches of the 10 teams in the Little League.

Players on the All Star squad were Powers, Woolard, Ham, Whelchel, Wohlman, Cameron, Warsky, Linnehan, Schofield, Houghton, Simoni, Wiley, Trotman, Hildebrandt, Sullivan and Marsh.

ARTHUR E. HAMMOND of 5 Pemberton Road says he's going with his family to California to live, right after Labor Day. Says he's tired of the Winters around here.

Lake is Searched For Missing Kids

Two small Cochituate children gave 600 bathers at Lake Cochituate a scare on the afternoon of July 31, when they suddenly turned up missing and everybody was ordered out of the water while a search was made for them.

Jackie Starrett, the lifeguard, organized a "line walk". Twenty-five men formed a line at right angles to the shore and walked slowly through the water, peering down and feeling with their feet. Spectators just stood around, not knowing whether to be horror-struck or not.

Then the Fire Department came tearing into the beach reservation and a crew rushed a rescue boat down into the water. The regular life boat put out, and a Conservation department boat appeared.

Turned out the kids were down at the carnival on the Cochituate baseball field. Everybody gave a sigh of relief and went back into the water.

On the Cochituate squad were Paul and George Bradley, Tobin, Irwin, Roche, Lynch, Richardson, J. LeBlanc, Brown, Leonard, Morris, Tierney and MacKenzie.

Both Wayland and Cochituate squads had uniforms—the same ones. They swapped them back and forth between games.

Announcement!

The office of Edward A. Veno, Realtor and Builder, has become associated with the newly formed Multiple Listing Bureau.

This is an association made up of a group of realtors, formed together to stimulate and facilitate the transaction of more business activity through the cooperative exchange of exclusive listings, and at the same time, to render a better service to the public by creating a wider and more active market for real estate.

At the present time, there are five realtors in this bureau. This means, by listing your property through this office with Multiple Listing Bureau, you automatically have the facilities of five offices working to sell your property, rather than one, and at the same prevailing commission rates.

Recent Deaths

H. FRANK PETTIGREW, 75, retired carpenter, of 4 Pemberton Road, Cochituate, died July 16 following a long illness. A native of West Newton, he had been a resident of this Town for some 50 years. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Bernice M. (Hersey) Pettigrew and a son, Robert L. Pettigrew of Boston. Rev. David M. Angell, M.D. officiated at services Sunday, July 18, with Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher, organist. Burial in Lakeview Cemetery.

Mrs. MARY J. HARTY, 80, in recent years of 4 Felis Ave., Milford, whose nearest relatives are local residents, Mrs. Joseph H. Decatur and Mrs. Ronald S. Campbell, died July 25 in Milford Hospital. The funeral mass was sung on July 27, with burial in St. Mary's Cemetery, Franklin, Mass.

Mrs. NETTIE M. VIALL, 92, formerly of Cochituate, died July 17 in Framingham Hospital. She leaves a son, Sumner W. Viall of Framingham, and several grandchildren including Rev. John S. Vialj of Cambridge, famous for his "Singspiration" radio program on Sunday evenings. Services and burial took place on Tuesday, July 20, with services conducted by the grandson of the deceased.

THOMAS J. DOHERTY, 53, well known Cochituate resident, son of Mrs. Etta J. Doherty of 7 Pemberton Road and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael J Maloney of this Town, died Thursday in Bellevue Hospital, New York City. He was employed as a certified public accountant. Rev. Louis A. Sullivan, S.J., celebrated a Requiem Mass in St. Zepherin's Church on Saturday, August 14, with Mrs. Cecelia Charbonneau Giadu as organist and Mrs. Helen Lynch Cahill, soloist. He was laid to rest in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Natick.

Miss LALIA HARDWICK, 78, formerly of Cochituate, died Sunday, Aug. 15 in a Natick rest home. A retired nurse, a native of Annapolis, N.S., she had lived in Natick in recent years. She leaves brothers and sisters as survivors. Rev. William J. Ogle of Fisk Memorial Methodist Church officiated at services and conducted committal prayers at Dell Park Cemetery, Natick, on Wednesday, Aug. 18. Howard N. Tyrrell, Esq., member of a well known Cochituate family, presided at the organ console.

CHESTER W. GARFIELD, 84, a native of Wayland and for years prominent in various veterans' affairs in this community, died Tuesday, Aug. 17, in Boston, where he resided at 213 Eustis Street. Besides his wife, Mrs. Minnie T. (Butler) Garfield, he leaves many relatives in Cochituate and Natick. On Thursday, Aug. 19, Rev. David M. Angell, M.D., conducted services and Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher presided at the organ. Burial followed in the old Garfield lot in the Bent Hill Section of Lakeview Cemetery.

GILBERT DENNISON HUNTINGTON, 69, a Cochituate resident for some 40 years, died Thursday, Aug. 19 in Leonard Morse Hospital. A former member of the U.S. Maritime Service in World War II, he was a cook. Two nephews, Richard D. and Russell O. Huntington survive him. Rev. George C. Gutekunst conducted services on Saturday, Aug. 21, with Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher, organist. Burial followed in Lakeview Cemetery.

(Funeral services for all the above were held from the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home.)

Camp Nacochwa

Seven Wayland Brownies and five Intermediate Girl Scouts attended Camp Nacochwa, day-camp owned and operated by the Natick Council, Girl Scouts of America. Beginners' awards in swimming were won by Dorothy Ann Paradis and Jacqueline Pelletier; swimmers' badges by Martha Collins and Randy Johnson; and the Junior Life Saving Certificate by Harriet Colby. Among the camp counselors were Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. Willis F. Johnson.

Install Oil Burner At Center School

An oil heating unit, an improvement needed for years, was installed during the Summer at the Center School, and Dr. Souder, superintendent of schools, says it should help a good deal in ventilation and temperature control.

In addition, the custodian of the building, Mr. James McDonald, will be freed of the neccssity of shoveling coal and will double as a traffic officer, thus saving the Town $900 a year.

A feature of the installation is a 6670-gallon tank, seven feet in diameter by 23 feet two inches long. This had to be sunk nine feet into the ground, in an area where the water level rises high in the soil during flood seasons. Mr. Harold Lundy of Wayland, who did this part of the job, anchored the huge tank with enough concrete to hold it down, even if it were empty of oil and floating in water. Total cost of the conversion job was around $3400.

an interview with JEFTS BEEDE
Republican Candidate for Representative

Mr. Beede, is this your first try for public office? Yes, I have never run for any office before, but when this opportunity presented itself, I considered that I should offer my services as a candidate.

What do you mean by opportunity? I was approached by my Town Committee when Howard Russell announced that he was not running again. I talked with my company officers and they thought that I should "go ahead."

Isn't this an unusual attitude for a company to take? I guess it is. Particularly when, as an industrial machine manufacturer, they have nothing to sell the state. Their thought is that the legislature could well use an engineering and business approach to its problems.

Then you will have sufficient time for the legislature? Yes, I have been assured of that.

Would you have any particular field of interest as a representative? I am convinced that the fiscal and tax structure here in Massachusetts needs more attention than any other subject. I would like to direct my efforts in that direction.

You are a strong Herter supporter? Yes, I am also a strong believer in party responsibility. For example, if a bill was proposed that did not concern the district directly and did not violate any of my principles, I would feel that I should go along with the Republican party leadership.

Then you are a Republican? I am a life-long Republican and I have a firm belief in the two-party system.

Didn't you propose some sort of district committee? Yes, I proposed that a committee of two or three members from each town in the district meet regularly with the Representative to interchange ideas and information concerning the district and the legislature. Of course, this committee would not have any authority, but the informative value is obvious.

If you are elected, how long do you plan to stay in politics? As long as I can contribute for the benefit of the district and the state.

Are you a veteran, Mr. Beede? Yes, I served in World War II as a private, a non-commissioned officer and a commissioned officer in the Army Engineers.

Do you have a family? I am married and have three children, two daughters and a son.

How do your chances look for being elected? Very good, but I would say that it depends greatly on the number of Republicans who get out and vote on September 14th.

* * *

These were the questions most often asked of Jeff in his travels around the district. It is impossible for him to see every voter personally. I hope that this will help you to decide to vote for Jefts Beede on Tuesday, September 14th.

Town to Ask $25,000; Control of River Sought

After the hurricanes of Aug. 31 and Sept. 11, the Town had floods, problems of reconstruction and future safety planning. Some of the features:

At least 50 submerged cellars. Pelham Island isolated for days. Sudbury River in flood.

Town seeking $25,000, more or less, from the Commonwealth's disaster fund.

Fifty or more trees down on public ways. Trees uncounted down in the woods and on private property. Innumerable damaged trees.

The whole Town without power and most of it without telephone service for many days.

The revelation that the wires are always in danger from falling trees, and that most of Wayland Center is always in danger from the river.

And on the brighter side:

No storm deaths or injuries.

No houses destroyed.

Devoted service by police, firemen, Town employees of all departments, civilian defense personnel and private citizens. Uncountable instances of neighborhood help with cooking and refrigerating facilities.

The first hurricane began in the morning of Tuesday, Aug. 31, and knocked down the trees. The second one began in the morning of Saturday, Sept. 11, and its eight inches of rain set off the floods.

CULVERT PLUGGED

By some mischance, the construction work on Dead Man's Curve resulted in the blocking of the culvert draining the area to the west. The water, dammed up, began to rise on Sept. 11, and by next morning a dozen houses were in trouble, with Lee Road and Wheelock Road under from five to eight feet of water. Oil burners, freezers, household and garden tools stored in basements were soaked.

Among those whose houses were more or less damaged in this neighborhood were Erving E. Cookson, Hollis E. Polk, Edward J. Kenny and Alden Wheelock, on Lee Road; Duane B. Haagensen, Burton R. Clay, J. Robert Cameron, Joseph A. Conway, George Gostenhofer and Samuel Dolce, on Wheelock Road, and Richard F. Lincoln and Granville H. Trow on Glover Road.

Crier to Print Street Numbers

The big job of numbering all the houses and lots in Wayland has been completed by a civil engineering firm, under the direction of the Wayland Planning Board, and the names and numbers of all residents will be sent out to all subscribers of the Town CRIER in a special supplement early this month. Town offices will also have copies of the CRIER supplement posted.

This job was made necessary by the growth of the Town. So many new houses and new streets had been built that not even the Fire Department knew thisaway from thataway.

The Wayland Planning Board's statement:

"The list of names and street numbers in the supplement issue of the Town Crier is published at this time as a public service by the Planning Board with the cooperation of the Crier. It is intended that a revised and up-to-date list be included in the Town Report to be distributed next March.

"A systematic numbering system has been developed by Everett M. Brooks Company, civil engineers for the Town. A set of master plates of the Town has had numbers placed on it on the basis of fixed intervals, which vary from 25 feet in the most densely developed section to 100 feet in the more open areas. The number which falls closest to each building on these plans has been assigned to that building. Thus, there is nothing arbitrary about these assignments, and provision for number assignments to future buildings is automatically provided.

Schools Reopen With Total Count at 1305

Wayland schools reopened on Sept. 8, in spite of everything, and the count of noses showed 1305 pupils in the system as of Sept. 16. This was the largest enrolment ever in the local schools, 72 more than that as of Oct. 1, 1953.

The Center school had 223 pupils; Cochituate, 320; the Happy Hollow School, 304, and the Junior-Senior High School, 458. The elementary school enrolment was up 22 and the High School was up 50.

New School Site Being Considered

The School Site Committee last month had its eyes on a site North of the Boston & Maine Railroad tracks for the location of a proposed new 18-room elementary school, to be finished, if approved by the Town, two years from now.

The Town's school program, as tentatively conceived at present, is about like this:

The School Survey Committee, as reported elsewhere, has decided to recommend that Wayland go it alone, without joining a regional school district.

As the Town grows, a new elementary school will be needed soon.

After that comes a new High School, perhaps by 1958 or 1960.

When the new North School goes into use, the present old Center School would be used for a few years as an adjunct to the Junior-Senior High School.

When the new High School gets built, the present Junior-Senior High School building becomes a Junior High. The Center School might then become, in some capacity, an elementary school again.

After all this, another elementary school, in the southeastern part of Town. And that's about as far ahead as anybody can see now.

This program is planned on account

Miss Jacobs Appointed Head of Health Center

Miss Roberta L. Jacobs of West Roxbury, a graduate of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing and a former Navy nurse, has been appointed director of the Parmenter Health Center, it was announced last month.

Miss Jacobs has a degree in health education from Boston University and she has been connected recently with the Health Department of the City of Boston. She served 3½ years in the Navy.

Weather has held up the opening of the Center. Latest indications were that it would be ready for use in October.

Survey Committee Rejects Regional Plan

The School Survey Committee, according to the latest word, will submit to the Town a report recommending that Wayland should not join in any regional school district, and should go it alone in the future in planning its school program.

The Survey Committee was set up at the March, 1954, Town Meeting. It held 11 meetings, the latest on Sept. 14. Its report will be submitted at the next regular or special Town Meeting.

Letters to the Editor

Circulation Up

To the Editor:

The excellent ten-page issue of the TOWN CRIER we have just received leads us to believe that your paper's circulation must be increasing and it would be proper for us to increase the ad size we now have.

We do a tremendous business in Wayland and Cochituate and want all customers to be aware that we are open Friday evenings. It is a very expensive matter to open for evening business, but we feel that the man working all day is entitled to bank service without taking time off from work.

Frank M. Bishop
Treasurer
Natick Trust Co.

Ed: 'Tis true. Our circulation is increasing.

Street Numbers—

"A number of inaccuracies are present in this list which the Planning Board desires to correct as soon as possible, with the help of the townspeople. For example, the Town atlas, used as the basis for the numbering system, at present shows only owners of record as of Jan. 1, 1954. Thus, new buildings, or names of owners acquiring title after that date, are not included. Other errors are undoubtedly present, as all names of owners and tenants cannot be checked without weeks of effort. To assist in bringing this list up to date, the Planning Board will welcome notification in writing (a postal card will do) of any errors.

"To make the numbering system effective, all residents are urged immediately to acquire signs depicting their numbers and to display them prominently on their lots. Use of reflecting numbers, and locating them within 15 feet of the street line and next to the driveway entrance, is suggested.

"The use and display of numbers will assist in giving proper directions to houses and, most important, will greatly enhance the effectiveness of the Fire Department."

Dr. and Mrs. Lind Start Fund for Hospital in Children's Memory

Dr. and Mrs. Lind of Pelham Island Road, whose two sons, Eric and Gregory, drowned in the Sudbury River Sept. 3, are thinking, not of themselves, but of other parents who may suffer through the illness of a child. Immediately after their tragedy became known, friends and associates of Dr. Lind at Brooks Hospital, 227 Summit Avenue, Brookline, where he is director of Sias Laboratory and a member of the board of trustees, started the Eric and Gregory Lind Memorial Fund, which is to be devoted to the comfort and reassurance of other parents and other children.

Ever since one of the Lind boys was ill, several years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Lind have hoped that hospitals might recognize the benefit to sick children in having mother near-by, and the comfort to worried parents in being with the little invalid. A time of illness, they believe, is not the occasion for enforcing new and strange disciplines, for surrounding a child with total strangers, for exchanging the reassurance of being with mother for the busy confusion of a children's ward.

FOR PRIVATE ROOMS

As they learned of the accumulating Memorial Fund, one clear purpose was indicated to Dr. and Mrs. Lind: to establish, at Brooks Hospital, at least one and possibly two private rooms where a mother may stay with a sick child. Cheerfully decorated for the pleasure of the young patient, equipped with gay furniture, a record-player and other attractive features, the room will include comfortable sleeping space for the mother who will room-in with the child.

Mrs. Lind recalls that, when one of their boys was seriously ill, distance and bad weather made it very difficult for her to be with him, even during the one hour each day when she was allowed to visit. This added greatly to the worry about the sick boy.

"Our boys are gone now," says Mrs. Lind quietly. "Of course we would like to undo the tragedy, but we cannot. Therefore, if the Eric and Gregory Lind Memorial Fund can comfort other children and other parents, it will fulfill an important living purpose."

Contributions to the fund have come from all over the United States, along with kind and helpful letters. Dr. and Mrs. Lind have turned over to Brooks Hospital complete administration of the fund and all receipts are handled through the hospital office.

With their remaining three sons, Dr. and Mrs. Lind live on Pelham Island Road. During their few weeks in Wayland they have experienced hurricane, flood, and family tragedy. Nevertheless, Mrs. Lind says:

"We think Wayland is the stable type of community in which we'd like to bring up our boys. Of course right now, we are terrified of the bridge and the river. We especially wish that little step on the bridge could be closed off. It is such a temptation to adventurous boys! We hope no other boys are lured into dangerous play and the tragedy which happened to our boys."

Wayland Garden Club

Members of the Wayland Garden Club and guests will gather for a luncheon to be given by the executive board, at the First Parish Church, on Tuesday, Oct. 26, at 12:30. Feature of the day will be a hat competition, at which judges will award prizes to the wearers of the best-decorated hats featuring flowers and other garden materials. Chairman of this event is Mrs. Robert Morgan.

—News Roundup—

Just possibly, there may be a special Town Meeting in November, to consider the school program and other business.

The double shift at the Cochituate School was working "surprisingly well", says Superintendent of Schools Souder. No date for opening of the new Happy Hollow School could be set. The storm, which cut off power for days, didn't help any.

Lay Cornerstone of Parish House

Laying of the cornerstone of the new parish house of the Trinitarian Congregational Church was scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 26, with a brief religious service and the placing of church and Town documents in a sealed box.

Some of the material enclosed:

Copies of programs of former anniversary observances; copies of by-laws, the oldest dated 1865; copies of programs of special events; a list of members and officers and the church school staff; a history of organizations, such as the Ladies Benevolent Association, formed in 1829; reports of committees which led to construction of the new building;

A history of Wayland, by Town Moderator Howard S. Russell; Wayland population statistics, by Town Clerk Leila Sears; a copy of the Town CRIER; a history of the First Parish Church, by Rev. Raymond G. Manker, and a statement by Selectman Gerald Henderson for Town officials.

Republicans Plan Rally For Candidates Oct. 6

Local Republicans plan a rally for the Republican candidates for office from this region, in the High School cafeteria at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6. Refreshments are promised and the public is invited. Robert M. Morgan will preside.

Candidates invited to speak are Andrew B. Holmstrom, for Congress; David B. Williams, for Governor's Council; Charles W. Olson, for State Senate; James DeNormandie, for the Legislature; George E. Thompson, for District Attorney; Warren J. Fitzgerald, for Register of Probate, and Alan G. Adams, for County Commissioner.

Community Chorus

Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" will be sung by the Community Chorus this Christmas in Wayland. Rehearsals have just started and are held Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m. at the High School. All are welcome to sing.

THE THAYER RUDDS, formerly of Bow Road, now of Summit, N.J. have annuonced the birth of Tracey Lynn on Sept. 12.

ERWIN D. CANHAM

U.N. Association to Hear Canham Speak

The Wayland United Nations Association will hold its first meeting on Friday, Oct. 22, at 8 p.m. in the High School, when Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will speak.

Mr. Canham will focus his talk especially on the role on the United Nations in the world today in connection with the observation of United Nations week. At present a member of the U.S. Advisory Commission in Information, he was also in 1948 appointed vice-chairman of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. conference on Freedom of Information at Geneva, and in 1949 as alternate American delegate to the U.N. General Assembly.

Membership in the Association is $2.50 per member, and $1 for student membership. This entitles the member to free admission to the three lectures. Otherwise there will be a general admission charge to non-members and guests of $1.00 per lecture and 50c for students. Persons desiring to join may send a check to Mrs. Bruce F. Kingsbury, 12 Goodman Lane, Wayland, EL 8-4337.

RUDOLPH BRUCE, of Plain Road, has been named chairman of the social committee of the Advertising Club of Boston.

Shadows Before

Shadows Before is a calendar of coming events. All coming events should be first registered on the Town calendar with Willis Ryder, Village Green office, EL 8-2002. For publication in the CRIER with story they should be submitted to Mrs. Elaine Colby, Happy Hollow Rd., EL 8-4854, before CRIER deadline of Oct. 20.

Wayland Girl Scouts

Leaders of Wayland Girl Scout troops have completed a four-session training course given by the Natick Council. Troops will be provided for girls of all ages from third grade through High School, with at least two leaders for each troop. At a leaders' meeting Sept. 16 at the home of Mrs. B. H. Colby, neighborhood co-chairman with Mrs. Lynn O. Seley, it was decided to register a new third-grade Brownie troop, and to re-establish an eighth grade troop which has been inactive for some time. New girls in town, not now registered in troops, should call Mrs. Colby, Mrs. Seley, or Mrs. Frederick Heinrich and Mrs. Allan Turner, troop organizers. Adults willing to assist with troops will be welcomed if any of the above are notified.

Cochituate Garden Club

The Cochituate Garden Club will hold its annual meeting and luncheon at the Toll House in Whitman Thurs., Oct. 14. Members will meet at the Community Methodist Church in Cochituate at 10:30 for transportation. Mrs. James Sandler is president and Mrs. Duane Haagensen vice-president of the Club.

Carol Swipes Clothes Line; Edna Returns it

Truman Sanderson, who used to be a night telephone operator in Wayland, has a mystery clothes line.

He lives in bachelor quarters on State Road West. He had a clothes line strung between two posts, with the extra line twisted around one post.

After Carol, the clothes line was gone, and he blamed it on the wind.

After Edna, it was back there again, tied and wrapped as before.

He doesn't think the wind was as freakish as all that. He just wonders.

Miss Damon Wedded to Mr. John A. Gutai

Miss Elizabeth Damon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Damon, of Concord Road, was married on Sept. 18 to John Andrew Gutai Jr., of Lexington, at St. Peter's Church in Weston. The Rev. E. F. Chauncy performed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the Wayside Inn.

Maid of honor was Miss Sally Milner, of Albany, N.Y., and the bridesmaids were Miss Patricia McElroy, of Providence, Miss Madge Gutai, of New York City, and Dorothy Grannis, of South Sudbury. Betsy Stokey was flower girl, and the organist was Mrs. Henry G. Pearson.

Mr. Gutai's best man was Joseph Redpath of Norfolk, Va., and ushers were David A. Trageser, of Wayland, Thomas E. Damon, Raymond Moore, of Lexington, and Joseph Svoboda, of Pittsburg. The couple will reside in Bedford.

Woman's Club

The first meeting of the Wayland Woman's Club will be a musical at the home of Mrs. Gerald Henderson on Plain Road, on Tuesday, Nov. 2. The program will be presented by students at New England Conservatory. Mrs. Allan Finlay and Mrs. Robert Morgan are co-chairmen.

It Must Be That We Don't Live Right—DBW on Hurricanes

What's happened around here lately might lead a rational person to conclude that our living arrangements are all wrong.

Let's take a look at them. Let's pretend we're starting all over again, not from scratch, because that recalls the time when the only bathing water was cold, but from the point where we take a fresh look at what some like to call modern living.

In the first place, who said the heating unit has to be in the basement? In time of flood, the cellar fills up with water first. It has to. Why can't the heater be upstairs, where in fact it is in some buildings?

Question: Isn't the cellar, from the point of view of possible damage, the most vulnerable part of the house?

Now wires. Back around 1880 somebody perceived that two poles were the shortest distance between two points, and hung wires on them.

Not so with pipes. From the earliest times the water pipes and the gas pipes and the sewer pipes and the natural gas lines have been underground.

Question: Don't wires belong underground, too? During the recent hurricanes most of Boston had both power and telephone service, because the wires there are mostly carried in cables below ground. Of course, they say it's more expensive to put wires below ground. But it could scarcely be more expensive than keeping several hundred linemen commuting between Boston and Cleveland. And one of these Winters the wires will come down in a bad snowstorm and people and pipes will get very cold before things get fixed again.

And look at streets. Don't all the roads which run in low places need to be raised, so that future floods can't get at them?

And houses. Three hundred years ago it was important to have houses near brooks, rivers and ponds, for convenience.

Now it's most inconvenient.

Shade trees. Many a householder just sticks a tree here and one there and another in another place, without stopping to think which way the wind blows and how big the tree will get to be, some day. Before his landscaping zeal carries him away, maybe he should stop and do a little planning.

And basement garages. Aren't they just as capable of flooding as cellars?

And alternatives to electricity. Candles are darned poor substitutes, as many found out. Kerosene lamps went out long ago, because they were never satisfactory. Camp stoves? Charcoal broilers? Outdoor fireplaces? What good is an outdoor fireplace for cooking supper after, say, the Great Blizzard of February, 1955?

Living dangerously is all right for a little while. But people have become accustomed to living in houses, with light and heat and communications at their command. And those famous home-breakers, Carol and Edna, have shown that no guarantee comes with pushbutton living.

At any time, from ice, wind, rain, snow, cold, heat or bomb, the whole complicated works may stop, leaving us with our ice cubes melting. Maybe the architects of the future had better take this problem under study.

What's going to happen if the juice quits for a week in the Winter, and one doesn't fancy going to live in an armory or with his relatives? D.B.W.

Allen Benjamin Thanks Supporters

The State Primary is now several weeks past, but in this, the first issue of the Crier since that date, I wish publicly to express my sincere thanks to those who supported me on September 14.

I recognize that there were many who voted in that Primary who do not regularly do so, and I am particularly appreciative of their effort. I also wish to give special thanks to members of the Republican Town Committee, volunteer workers, and numerous friends whose efforts, both before and on Primary day, helped to make possible the large vote that was cast.

To Jim DeNormandie, Republican nominee for Representative, I pledge my full cooperation and support, and urge others to do the same, toward his successful election in November.

Methodist

The church has secured a new assistant pastor, Mr. Harold Pat Albright, who will be responsible for youth work. Pat is married and is living in Boston, where he is studying at the B.U. School of Theology. He comes from West Virginia.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet Thursday, Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Emil Hartl, conference W.S.G.S. officer and president of Mass. Council of Church Women. All ladies are welcome.

The Methodist Men's Club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 12 at 8 p.m. Organization and election of officers and a social hour will feature the program. All men of the parish are cordially invited.

Laymen's Sunday is Oct. 17. Lay leader, George Bogren, will conduct the worship service and a guest preacher will speak as part of a district-wide exchange.

First Parish

The Layman's League will hold its first meeting of the fall season Wed., Oct. 27, in the vestry at 6:30 p.m.

The Women's Alliance will open its first meeting on October 5, first Tuesday of the month, because the regular second-Tuesday meeting date falls on October 12, a holiday.

An all-church meeting will be held Thursday Oct. 7 at 8 p.m. in the vestry for the purpose of discussing church school facilities.

St. Zepherin's

SUNDAY MASSES; 7:30, 8:30 (two), 10:30 and 11:30.

The pastor, the Rev. Otis Kelly, is still hospitalized at St. Elizabeth's in Boston.

The first meeting of the Catholic Women's Club was held Wed., Sept. 15, with a Silver Tea, chairman of which was Mrs. Irene Clements. Mrs. Harold Ward is president of the Club.

The Holy Name Society opened its fall season on Monday, Sept. 13, with a talk by Mr. Frank Kilburn on "Compulsory Auto Insurance." Mr. Stephen Belton is president.

Congregational

Mid-October is set as the date when rooms in the new parish house will be in use, if construction proceeds at the present rate.

Church services every Sunday at 11 a.m. are accompanied by a during-church nursery where small children may be left while parents attend church.

Church school sessions for all ages, including Adult Forum, are held at 9:30 each Sunday morning.

The High School Pilgrim Fellowship meets every Sunday evening from 7 to 9.

The Men's Club met Friday, Oct. 1, with Mr. Howard Russell, Town moderator and member of the legislature, as guest speaker.

The Ladies' Benevolent Association will meet at the regular time, 2:30 on Tues., Oct. 12, with Mr. Hodgkins as speaker.

The Women's Fellowship, beginning its second year, will present Mrs. Elsie Oakes Barber, who will talk on "Living Twenty-four Hours a Day," on Tues., Oct. 19. Mrs. Edward J. Williams, president, will announce the interest groups for this year as Bible Study, Church Missions, and Red Cross First Aid.

Children's classes cover painting and design, musicianship, music makers, sculpture, metalwork and watercolor.

William L. Stoddard

Services for William Leavitt Stoddard, 70, of Cochituate Road, vice-president and research director of the Lincoln and Therese Filene Foundation and one-time teacher, reporter and writer, were held in St. Peter's Church, Weston, on Sept. 15.

A native of Northampton, he was born Nov. 2, 1884, a son of John T. and Mary (Leavitt) Stoddard. He graduated from Harvard in 1907 and was an assistant in the English Department there in 1906 and 1907. He also served on the editorial staff of the Atlantic Monthly and was a reporter for the Washington bureau of the Boston Transcript.

DeNormandie Is 10th District Victor

James DeNormandie, of Lincoln, won the Republican nomination for Representative from the 10th Middlesex District in a four-man four-town contest. The total vote was:

DeNormandie	996
Benjamin	717
Beede	656
Cunningham	204

DeNormandie, Benjamin and Beede, carried their respective home towns overwhelmingly. DeNormandie however, also managed to gather a good vote in Wayland which helped put him out ahead. His other advantage appeared to have been in Sudbury which had no candidate of its own. Here the bulk of the total Republican votes went only to Beede and DeNormandie thus cutting down the strength of his Wayland opponent, Benjamin.

The DeNormandie-Benjamin contest apparently was responsible for the sizeable primary turnout of 574 in Precinct 1, but did not arouse as much interest in Precinct 2 where only 234 Republicans voted. The Democratic vote was Precinct 1, 19; Precinct 2, 53; Total, 72.

DeNormandie Thanks Voters for Support

Following his nomination as Republican candidate for Representative in the 10th Middlesex District at the primaries on September 14, James DeNormandie issued the following statement:

"Mrs. DeNormandie and I wish to express very real appreciation and thanks to the voters of the 10th Middlesex District for the gratifying support given me in the Primary election. If elected in November, I will make every effort to serve the district constructively and fairly."

Civil Defense Organization Gets Workout During Carol and Edna

All branches of the local Civil Defense got a genuine workout during the storms, reports Director W. R. Hulbert, directing traffic, providing emergency lighting, clearing fallen trees and rowing boats.

In the first storm, 15 CD persons turned out in Precinct 1 and 9 in Precinct 2. In the second storm, two men manned the report center at Cochituate but were not needed and went off duty after the wind stopped. In Precinct 1, however, where there was more damage, 16 turned out.

SUPPLY GENERATORS

The emergency generators owned by the CD organization provided lights for the municipal buildings in both ends of Town, when the regular power failed. Augustus Hatfield connected the Precinct 1 generator, as a volunteer.

Among those who turned out at Wayland in the two storms were Mr. Hulbert, Dr. Harold Chamberlin, Charles Cady, Mrs. Willard Wolff, Ralph Field, Dan Kennedy, Richard J. Rice, Maunsell Babin, Albert Sanderson Jr., William S. Lewis, Addison L. Sandford, Frederick Heinrich, Louis B. Jones, George Vinsonhaler, Bill Ryder, Dan Kennedy Jr., Gordon Holmes, Fran Fisher and Henry M. Parker.

At Cochituate, Charles H. Berkebile, Lawrence Ekdahl, Fred Newton, Ettrick Lacey, Arnold Benware, Thomas Dolan, Thomas Allen, Donald McPhee and Howard Barry.

During Edna, says Mr. Hulbert, an air raid alarm box in the report center in the Wayland Library burned out, throwing molten metal about. Nobody was burned.

Lessons of the storms, Director Hulbert thinks:

Permanent generators of sufficient capacity to supply municipal services should be installed in both Wayland and Cochituate.

Probably there should be generators at the High School and the Cochituate School. The High School would be a refugee center in a disaster, and the Cochituate School has already been designated as a hospital.

There should be a dozen auxiliary firemen in each end of Town.

The Fire Department should have some portable pumps if it is going to pump out cellars.

HELP DRAG RIVER

Among the auxiliary police who helped drag the Sudbury River for the bodies of Dr. Lind's children were Frederick L. Heinrich, Albert Sanderson, T. W. Fabisak, Fran Fisher, Robert Paine, Willis Ryder, Howard Tewksbury, Ashley Lloyd, George Hodgkins, Bert Fitch, Robert L. Whaley, Ernest Walston, Louis Jones, Dan Kennedy, Fred Perry, Gilbert Small Jr., Maunsell Babin, Keith Smith, William Lewis, A. Johnson, John Bandelin, C. A. Cady and John P. Smith, all of Wayland.

From Cochituate came Charles Berkebile, Fred Sleeper, Tom Allen, Howard Barry, Larry Ekdahl and Don Varey. The firemen recovered the first body and Harold F. Humphreys and his son, of Dudley Road, Cochituate, found the second.

RED CROSS ASSISTS

During the long hours Friday night and Saturday morning, members of the Red Cross served coffee made by Mrs. Samuel Cutler, tonic donated by Mr. Hull of Robin Hood's Ten Acres and sandwiches contributed by Mr. Malik, manager of the Red Coach Grille and by Mrs. Louis Jones.

Woodworking Class

The woodworking class for adults which proved so successful last year will re-open on Tuesday, October 5. Classes will be held for 10 weeks on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 10:30 under the supervision of Ralph Pearson. Persons wishing to enroll should call or write the office of Superintendent of Schools, EL 8-4351. The fee is $5.00.

Storm Damage

which drops only two feet in 19 miles, floods quickly and ebbs slowly. By the morning after the big rain, it was over Pelham Island Road and had backed up so that half the State Road, in front of the First Parish Church, was under water. It came almost to the top of the causeway between the High School and Pelham Island Road.

On Sunday afternoon, Sept. 12, the river was flowing so swiftly through the arches of the old bridge on Stone Bridge Road that there were reports the bridge might go out. Two houses here had bad water damage, but the bridge stood.

Oil burner repair men had more work than they could do in a series of 18-hour days. People who had gas stoves shared them with neighbors. Others used camp stoves, charcoal broilers and outdoor fireplaces. One repair man said that every submerged oil burner meant $24.95 for a new motor.

The linemen labored mightily, of course, and wire repair trucks were all over the Town. Boats appeared in the flooded districts.

On Sept. 14, there was a meeting at Concord, attended by officials from Sudbury Valley towns, to see what could be done about the floods. Wayland men present were Rep. Howard S. Russell, Selectmen Gerald Henderson, Frank S. Tarr and John W. Leavitt, and Road Commissioner Ronald Campbell.

John Volpe of the State Public Works Department took pictures in Concord and Wayland, but the report was that nothing could be done about the flood at the moment. Last year the Legislature voted $50,000 for a study of the river problem, but doing something about it would have to await action by the Legislature.

But it appeared that all present were convinced that steps should be taken to control the river as soon as possible, not at some indefinite time in the future.

It was also emphasized that the high water showed the wisdom of existing regulations aimed at preventing people from building houses in low ground.

Meanwhile, the Town prepared to apply for some of the disaster relief money appropriated by the Legislature. Joseph H. Decatur was appointed to the job of coordinator, as required in the legislation. But there was a good deal of uncertainty about it all, as the legislation was highly technical in character and there was a question whether $25,000 was enough or too much, and also whether the Town would get it or any part of it.

One thing the legislation did do, it was said, was to make it legal for Town departments to go above their appropriations in paying for emergency work.

Some of the damage, itemized:

Transportation

For some days, Wayland was a railroad terminal. The B. & M. right of way across the Sudbury marshes was adjudged weakened by the water and unsafe, so the trains ran to Wayland and buses took passengers the rest of the way to Clinton. Eastbound, the process was reversed.

During the hurricanes, bus service to Boston was halted for hours.

Streets

Highway Superintendent Albert Potvin says practically all of the Town roads were passable by nightfall on Aug. 31, after Carol. After Edna, the trouble came from the flooded brooks and the river, which kept rising after the storm had gone by

Mr. Potvin's rough estimate was that the two hurricanes would cost his depart-of the tremendous growth of the Town. At every step, of course, there will have to be action by a Town Meeting, either the March meeting or a special meeting.

The "projections"—figures showing the probable school population in the years ahead, based on the pre-school census, the building rate and other factors—show that the new school capacity will be needed about as soon as it can be provided for.

For the new Senior High School, the Site Committee thinks of finding a lot of about 50 acres, not in a swamp.

ment an extra $15,000, ten for Carol and five for Edna.

He had his full crew, plus extra men, at work 11 hours a day for weeks, with the end of the job not in sight. Included in his crew were three power saw gangs, and others going along the streets picking up brush, taking it away and burning it.

The first street cleaning job was done with bulldozers, in many places. Later, as the trucks went along the roads, they picked up brush piled up by householders.

After Edna, on Sunday, Sept. 12, there were reports that the ancient bridge on Stone Bridge Road was in danger. Water was swirling through its old arches at a great rate, but it stood there as solidly as the rocks it's made of.

The water rose some more on Monday, towards the Center and the meadows, as the river rose and backed up Mill Brook. For a time Pelham Island Road was blocked off, as was Old Sudbury Road, up near the old bridges there. Mill Brook rose and half covered State Road in front of the First Parish Church. Water came near the road near the bridge on Sherman Bridge Road, also.

Schools

A rise of a foot or two more by the Sudbury River, said Superintendent of Schools Rexford S. Souder, and the Wayland High School would have been out of business. The water came to the very edge of the causeway leading from the school to Pelham Island Road, and nearly drowned the sewage disposal field behind the building. Had the disposal field been drowned, the school would have had to be closed.

In Edna, the Cochituate School got six inches of surface water in its basement. Thanks to fast work by Frank Kane, the custodian, said Dr. Souder, all the supplies were moved upstairs and saved.

Several days after Edna, the plumbing at the Center School backfired, as a result of the flood, and it was being fixed.

In last month's Crier it was reported that the huge new oil tank of the Center School had been buried and anchored in concrete, so it couldn't float out of the ground in a wet season. Sure enough, the water came, sooner than anyone expected, but the tank stayed well and truly buried, just as it was supposed to.

Dr. Souder said the Sudbury River is a menace.

Water

Strangely enough there was almost a water shortage!

Fern A. Taylor, Water Commissioner, reports that the old pump at Baldwin's Pond, an old Diesel, had to be put into use. The main pump off Old Connecticut Path was dependent on electric current.

The Diesel was started and it did the business. It pumped 1,000,000 gallons a day for six days, and supplied the Town.

Fire

Fire Chief Clifton Haynes said he lost track, but he was sure that more than 50 Wayland cellars were flooded by Edna, and the Fire Department worked overtime trying to get them pumped out.

The alarm system was knocked out by Carol, he said, but the entire personnel of the Department rallied around and kept both stations manned on a 24-hour basis until the emergency had passed. For a time, during Carol, the radio was the only means of communication. But the whistles were back in operation by night, on Aug. 31, and by Sept. 2 communications with Natick were restored.

During Edna, a wire went down at Sandy Burr, on Cochituate Road, and burned out the alarm box at the Center School.

Water was four feet deep over Pine Brook Road, he said, from the brook that runs through there. Ordinarily, the brook is practically invisible. Other brooks in Town went up, during Edna, in similar fashion. The basement of the Trinitarian Congregational Church was flooded, but was pumped out by the Fire Department.

Trees

Charles L. Fullick, tree warden, reported that more than 50 trees along the public ways came down in the two hurricanes. Many more that were damaged will have to be taken down, he said, and it will be a long job to fix them all.

He said the silver maples seemed to be hardest hit, although many oaks, elms and pines went down, too. Many trees were twisted and torn, and he said he wished the Town would appropriate enough money to repair those that can be saved.

Center School PTO

The Parent-Teachers' Organization of the Center School scheduled its first meeting in the High School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 29.

Democrats to Meet

James E. Garvey, chairman of the Democratic Town Committee, is planning a meeting of Town Democrats to make plans for the November election. He and Joseph P. McEnroy attended the Democratic State convention in June as delegates from Wayland.

MISS SALLY ANNE BAMFORTH, who was married to Ronald Frank Wood, on Sept. 11. She is a graduate of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing.

Miss Bamforth Wed To Ronald F. Wood

Hurricane Edna did not stop the wedding on September 11 of Sally Bamforth, daughter of Mrs. Charles S. Bamforth of Sherman Bridge Road, to Ronald F. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald H. Wood, of Bent Avenue.

The ceremony and reception were held at St. Anne's Church in Lincoln. The Rev. Morris R. Robinson performed the ceremony before over 100 guests who braved the winds at the height of the storm.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Paul, and her sister, Miss Bonnie Bamforth, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Gail Osmond, and Miss Diane O'Neill, of Wayland, Miss Maybelle Sleeper of Hudson and Miss Shirley Pashiala of Westford.

George Driscoll of Cochituate was the best man and the ushers included John D. Bamforth of Wayland, a brother of the bride; Kenneth Wood of Cochituate, brother of the bridegroom; Francis Bowers of Wayland and Daniel Kollett of Cochituate.

The bride is a graduate of Wayland High School and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing. The bridegroom was graduated from Wayland High School and Boston University.

Hurricane Debris

Plenty of residents learned all the tricks about lighting briquettes quickly and vigorously argued the merits of turpentine, gasoline or alcohol as primers. But William J. Hammond, of Training Field Road is the only man in Town who cooked over a blacksmith's forge!

* * *

The Edison repair crews and their colleagues from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania did a heroic job. But the home office's promotional literature was a little unseasonable. With each August bill, which arrived three days before Carol, was inserted a flier reading, "LIVE BETTER! Try the Electric Way of Living for more Comfort and Convenience . . . for Economy and more Leisure Time."

* * *

Elleen and Fred Bresse went to High School from the Pelham Island district on the Samuel A. Cutler tractor, which was heavy enough to plow through the water.

* * *

Carol Foster, of Glezen Lane, advertising solicitor for the CRIER, was seen approaching the polls on September 14 in an aluminum canoe. No one was on hand at the shore to offer her political literature.

* * *

Bill Ryder, who had a new baby, only three weeks old, said he boiled diapers in the back yard during the electricity failure and didn't mind it. He said he didn't have to listen to "One Man's Family".

* * *

Arthur E. Hammond of Pemberton Road, who announced last month that he was leaving Cochituate for California on account of the winters here, left after Labor Day, before the second Summer hurricane.

The flagpole on the Cochituate baseball field was broken off at the base, and the one at the Center, in front of the First Parish Chuch, was tilted at a sad angle when its concrete base came apart.

* * *

The Massachusetts Audubon Society reports that one Leach's petrel, an unusual visitor to these parts, was found dead in Lincoln after the storms. But that was nothing. The blunt-nosed worcesterbus just stopped flying.

WHS Class of '09 Holds 45th Reunion

One of the most respectably seasoned organizations in Town, the Wayland High School Class of 1909, held its 45th reunion (the latest of eight reunions held consecutively) on Aug. 15, at the home of Mrs. Lena Loker Kimball in East Pepperell.

All five of the living graduates, out of nine in the beginning, were present. They were James O'Brien of Essex, Margaret Ward Kenny of Brighton, William Loker and Ernest Lawrence of Cochituate, and Mrs. Kimball.

Also present was Mrs. Maria Loker, now in her 65th year, mother of Mrs. Kimball, the only living parent of a class member. And also present was Miss Louise Thacher of Merrimac, one of the two surviving teachers of the class. Mrs. Mildred Loker, wife of William Loker, was there, too.

Members of the group had a fine home cooked dinner at a restaurant and then adjourned to the home of Mrs. Kimball, where they looked over old school pictures and talked over old times.

League of Women Voters

"What is and isn't fun in Wayland" was the topic which intrigued members of the League of Women Voters at the annual fall tea at the home of Mrs. Charles G. Smith on Sept. 22. A panel of High School students presented the teen-age slant on this problem. Mutual discussion opened the League's local-affairs unit on "A Study of Existing Recreational Facilities in the Town with Appropriate Action to Insure Opportunities for Community Use."

Late in October the League will hold Candidates' Night, for the purpose of introducing all political candidates for November election to the citizens of the Town. Exact date will be announced soon. Discussion units will meet during the year for the study of local and national affairs. Mrs. William Bertelson is unit chairman. Mrs. Richard A. Howard is president.

JOHN C. QUINN of Bow Road has joined the research department of Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates as a chemical engineer. He was formerly engaged on a combustion research project at M.I.T.

Irish Guards Play to 2100 School Children

The brilliant band of the Irish Guards. from Britain, held a concert on an improvised bandstand outside the Wayland High School on Sept. 14, with 2100 school children of Wayland and Sudbury for an audience.

Unfortunately, bad weather dimmed the show. It was planned to have all 60 bandsmen, complete with dress uniforms and bearskin hats, put on a musical and marching exhibition on the field outside the school. But first morning reports called for rain, so Capt. C. H. Jaeger, commander of the unit, brought out only 25 musicians, in undress uniforms.

There was no marching, but it was a good show, nevertheless, and the audience appreciated it. As it turned out, the weather cleared and the program could have gone on as planned.

The local school children had this musical treat because Mr. Lester MacArthur, instrumental music teacher for the Wayland and Sudbury schools, was manager of the band for the big tour of America which it was making. It played in Symphony Hall. Boston, before and after its Wayland appearance.

It was the first appearance of an organized body of redcoats in Middlesex County in a good many years. These British troops, among the sharpest in Her Majesty's service, were brought to Wayland from Boston in U.S. Army trucks.

Award 131 in Swim Classes

Certificates for various degrees of proficiency in swimming were awarded to 131 boys, girls and adults at the grand finale of the Lake Cochituate swimming season, a water carnival featured by a comedy life-saving act by Gilbert Stevens and John Starret and a racing style demonstration by John and Paul Freeman.

Said Ernest M. Cherry, Wayland water safety chairman for the Red Cross:

"We are very proud of the record of this group of swimmers. They enrolled for the course before school was out last spring, and almost without exception appeared regularly and promptly for their instruction and have mastered skills demonstrated to them by Ruth Hatch in the minimum of time required. I am more than happy to announce the successful completion of this program and to congratulate the new swimmers."

Loose Rattlesnake

Norman Harris, the well known Wayland naturalist, was entertaining the Wayland Kiwanis Club at its regular dinner at Red Coach Grill on Sept. 14 when one of his rattlesnakes got loose, according to a reliable report off the grapevine. The snake was soon recovered, without any damage. But some of the Kiwanians, the story says, rose several feet in the air.

Cochituate PTA

A reception for teachers in the Cochituate Schooi will be given by the Parent-Teachers' Association on Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m., along with an Open-House during which parents may visit the school rooms. A mother from each room will assist the teacher as hostess.

A business meeting will be called at 9 o'clock, by the acting president, Mrs. William Irwin, for the purpose of nominating a new president and vice-president. Since the spring election, the persons elected to these two offices have moved away from the community. According to the Association's by-laws, nomination at the October meeting will be followed by election in November. The regular meeting of the Association will be the third Tuesday of each month.

Wayland Town Crier

Published Monthly for the Residents of Cochituate and Wayland

Special Supplement | October, 1954, Wayland, Mass. | 10c a copy, $1.00 a year

New Street Numbers

Street numbers for all houses and buildings in Wayland have been assigned for the first time by the Wayland Planning Board. The streets, numbers and property owners as of January 1, 1954 are printed in the following six pages of this special supplement of the Town CRIER.

Residents whose names and numbers do not appear on the list, should write a postcard to Wayland Planning Board, Wayland. They are specifically requested not to telephone the Town Hall or any member of the Board. Extra copies of the supplement will be posted on public bulletin boards, Town Hall and the two libraries.

The Wayland Planning Board's statement:

"The list of names and street numbers in this supplement issue of the Town Crier is published at this time as a public service by the Planning Board with the cooperation of the Crier. It is intended that a revised and up-to-date list be included in the Town Report to be distributed next March.

"A systematic numbering system has been developed by Everett M. Brooks Company, civil engineers for the Town. A set of master plates of the Town has had numbers placed on it on the basis of fixed intervals, which vary from 25 feet in the most densely developed section to 100 feet in the more open areas. The number which falls closest to each building on these plans has been assigned to that building. Thus, there is nothing arbitrary about these assignments, and provision for number assignments to future buildings is automatically provided.

"A number of inaccuracies are present in this list which the Planning Board desires to correct as soon as possible, with the help of the townspeople. For example, the Town atlas used, as the basis for the numbering system, at present shows only owners of record as of Jan. 1, 1954. Thus, new buildings, or names of owners acquiring title after that date, are not included. Other errors are undoubtedly present, as all names of owners and tenants cannot be checked without weeks of effort. To assist in bringing this list up to date, the Planning Board will welcome notification in writing (a postal card will do) of any errors. Please do not telephone.

"To make the numbering system effective, all residents are urged immediately to acquire signs depicting their numbers and to display them prominently on their lots. Use of reflecting numbers, and locating them within 15 feet of the street line and next to the driveway entrance, is suggested.

"The use and display of numbers will assist in giving proper directions to houses and, most important, will greatly enhance the effectiveness of the Fire Department."

The street numbering project was originally undertaken two years ago by Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis Jr. and Mrs. Stephen Hodges who completed Riverview and some of Precinct 2.

Pick Plain Road For School Site

The School Site Committee, Harvey C. Newton, chairman, announces that it is prepared to recommend to the next Town Meeting acquisition by the Town of a 35-acre site, largely on Plain Road, for the construction of an 18 or 20-room elementary school.

Twenty acres of this site, on the North side of the B & M tracks, are to be the site of the school. The other 15 acres are included in the parcel, and the Committee feels that it will be just as economical to acquire them.

Foot passage either over or under the tracks would be provided for children living in the Lee Road and the Rich Valley Road areas. This accessibility by walking was one factor leading to the choice of this site.

When and if this school is built, it is planned, the old Center School would go on a stand-by basis. It might be used at some time in the future as an adjunct to the Junior High School.

The Plain Road field, high and dry, is on the south side of Plain Road, near the intersection of Claypit Hill Road. At present it is being used as truck garden land.

The idea is that this school would accomodate all the pupils north of the State Road, plus, perhaps, some of those living just south of the road, in the Center.

Harvey C. Newton of the School Committee is chairman of the Site Committee. Other members are Mrs. John Simoni, Mrs. Mary N. Baldwin, George V. Deverell, Gerald Henderson, T. Gibson Smith, George K. Lewis, Lee T. Johnson and Alfred H. Gledhill.

William S. Lewis Appointed Assessor

A new public official in Town is William S. Lewis of Pequot Road, who has been appointed to the Board of Assessors, until next March, to take the place of the late Charles M. Mathews.

Mr. Lewis, who has lived in Town since February, 1953, says he interested the Assessors by applying for an abatement.

His native town is Danbury, Conn. He was graduated from M.I.T. in 1949 and received his master's degree from that institution in 1950. He has a wife, Jane Alexander Lewis; a son, Christopher Lewis, 4, and a daughter, Pamela Lewis, 6months. He is a sales engineer with the Morrissey Brothers Tractor Company.

He says he was never an assessor before, but his father was on the zoning board in Danbury.

Post Office Considering House Deliveries Here

Postmaster Thomas E. Hynes of Wayland says that the post office authorities in Washington are considering the matter of proposed house deliveries of mail in Wayland, and he thinks that something will probably be worked out before long.

At the present time, he says, more than 500 boxes in the Wayland Post Office are in use, and 200 to 300 more persons are receiving their mail by general delivery.

Mr. Hynes says petitions have been sent to Washington and he wrote a letter two or three weeks ago.

Most of the members of the Wayland Fire Department, including both companies, turned out in uniform on Sunday, Oct. 17, to have their pictures taken in front of the new fire station in Cochituate. They are:

New Look—

CD Plans for Evacuation

Plans for civilian defense have been completely changed, says C.D. Director W. R. Hulbert of Wayland, and the picture is still a frightening one.

The new idea is to have Boston evacuated, as nearly as possible, in the event of atomic attack or threat of attack.

All roads leading out of the city would be made one-way. Motorists would be directed to parking spaces, like the one at Shoppers World, well outside the city, whence they would be re-directed to permanent refuges.

Wayland would not be evacuated. That is, they figure the windows of local houses would be blown in by a blast over Boston, but people in shelter here would survive. People could leave if they wanted to, but it wouldn't be compulsory. ,

KEEP TRAFFIC MOVING

The job of Wayland auxiliary police would be to keep the traffic moving on Routes 20 and 30, and to prevent looting by motorized mobs on the lam.

At present there are 104 auxiliary police in Town, with four pistol teams practising. Mr. Hulbert says 200 auxiliary police are needed. In the event of disaster, the posts would have to be manned 24 hours a day. In action, the auxiliaries would be equipped with helmets, arm bands, badges, whistles, pistols and sticks.

Announcement of the new plan was made at a State Civil Defense meeting

Edna to Cost $10,000 Extra; Carol $25,000

Selectman John W. Leavitt says the best present estimate is that Carol cost the Town $25,000 and Edna cost $10,000, much of which, it is supposed, will be paid for by the Commonwealth under the emergency bill passed after Carol.

The legislation, however, is complicated and full of restrictions. Also, it was passed before Edna, and presumably will have to be changed, when the Legislature reconvenes, to take care of Edna damage.

The way it works is that the Town pays the bills, then gets reimbursed by the State. But not all of the damage is covered by the act, and Mr. Leavitt says the Town will certainly have to pay for some of it out of its own funds.

CRIER deadline for December issue is: Nov. 18.

Miss Merrithew and Miss Simpson Resign

Miss Maude E. Merrithew, who had been teaching business courses in Wayland High since 1921, and Miss A. Marion Simpson, who had been teaching English and foreign languages since 1924, resigned their positions as of Oct. 1. They returned after the Summer vacation in order to allow time to find teacher replacements for themselves.

Both Miss Merrithew and Miss Simpson were prodigal with their time in assisting student activities. They were the ones who helped the students as junior and senior advisors, with the junior prom and the football dance, with the yearbook, with dramatics . . . with everything.

They wouldn't permit any fuss to be made about their departure, but Superintendent of Schools Rexford S. Souder and Headmaster Max Griffin of the High School called a faculty meeting for Oct. 1, at which they announced the retirements and expressed their appreciation for what they had done for Wayland High School.

Street Numbering Corrections are Made

Complaints and corrections about the street numbers published last month came in, as expected, and the Planning Board said it hoped all persons not correctly listed, or not listed at all, would write in the necessary information, so that the list could be correctly printed in the next Town Report. Communications should be addressed to Planning Board, Wayland.

One woman wrote in to say, jokingly, that she was concerned about her reputation. She had been married seven years and was still listed as living alone at her address. But most just sent in factual corrections.

Good Vote is Expected Nov. 2

Increasingly lively contests in the races for Governor, Senator and Congressman are expected to bring out a good vote in Wayland on Tuesday, November 2, Election Day.

Town Clerk Leila Sears reports that new registrations total 103 since registration opened up again in September. Members of the Republican Town Committee will be active at the polls getting out the vote, and it is reported that for the first time in years there will also be members of the Democratic party checking at the polls. Voting hours are 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

At the regional level, the fight for the Governor's Council 3rd District seat is arousing interest. David B. Williams, of Concord, Republican present incumbent, is being challenged by Endicott Peabody, Democrat, of Cambridge.

The candidates in order of their appearance on the ballot are as follows:

Governor
- Christian A. Herter (R)
- Robert F. Murphy (D)
- Lawrence Gilfedder (Socialist Labor)
- Guy S. Williams (Prohibition)

Lt. Governor
- Sumner G. Whittier (R)
- James A. Burke (D)
- Donald E. Babcock (Proh.)
- Francis A. Votano (Soc. Lab.)

Secretary
- Edward J. Cronin (D)
- Michael J. McCarthy (R)
- Fred. M. Ingersoll (Soc. Lab.)
- William D. Ross (Proh.)

Treasurer
- John F. Kennedy (D)
- Augustus G. Means (R)
- Henning A. Blomen (Soc. Lab.)
- Isaac Goddard (Proh.)

12 Hunting Permits Issued, Signs Posted

Selectman John W. Leavitt says that a dozen hunting permits have been issued to local residents to shoot on Town property and on lands whose owners are listed as unknown. This means, mostly, the Sudbury River marshes.

Signs were being put up on all the roads leading into Town, informing the public that no hunting is permitted in Wayland except by permit.

Last March the Town voted not to permit hunting on public land except with the written permission of the Selectmen. Shooting on private land was left up to the owners. The law automatically prohibits shooting in parks and cemeteries. The Town took this action, which was aimed primarily at out-of-town hunters, because of the careless and dangerous behavior of many gunners.

NEW TEACHERS

A new teacher of business subjects in Wayland High School is Miss Dorothy Gilmore of Somerville, who always wanted to be a teacher but got sidetracked into business for a decade or two. Two years ago, just because she still wanted to teach, she got a job at West Boylston. During two years there she obtained her master's degree in education at B.U.

Another new teacher at Wayland High School is Mr. Robert O'Hara, a graduate of Boston College who has taught English and Latin at B.C. High, and done library and editorial work.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor

Enclosed please find $1 for the CRIER which brings us untold good news and chuckles. It goes beyond the ordinary scope of the average home town paper in that it "humanizes" run-of-the-mill happenings, and cannily dramatizes trivial events,—tongue in check. Thank you for your valiant efforts.

Poem About Simpson

To the Editor:

One morning recently I was looking through my grandmother's Bible and came across this little poem. I thought it might be of interest in connection with your article about the razing of the Simpson house this year next the Mansion Inn.

(Ed Note: Reference here is to the house owned by the Marrs family, whose daughter, Elisabeth, married Michael Hoage Simpson, founder of the Roxbury Carpet Co. in Saxonville.)

My grandfather, Charles Neal, worked for M. H. Simpson for a number of years. Like the rest of the townsfolks, he thought a lot of Mr. Simpson, so I suppose that was the reason my grandmother cherished this poem. It appeared in the Framingham Gazette of October 1882.

THE OWNER OF THE MILL

A man we love, respect and honor
Is the owner of the Mill,
And good reason have we for it,
We who live in Saxonville.

In panic times—we don't-forget it—
When business was at-a standstill,
How he enlarged and packed his warehouse,
But he wouldn't stop the Mill.

When strongly urged by his advisors,
To shut down at Saxonville,
"No, my people must have employment"
Said the owner of the Mill.

"We can make no sales, sir" cried his agents,
"Your losses will be great, we fear,"
"Never mind," said this great, good man,
"We'll sell them all another year."

He's built us good homes to live in,
Has this owner of the Mill;
You'd travel far and find no better
Than we have in Saxonville.

Then do you wonder that we loved him,
Tdis good owner of the Mill?
Or think you times can e'er efface him
From our hearts in Saxonville?

M. H. Simpson—May God bless him,
He is the owner of the Mill,
And may he live long and prosper,
Pray his people in Saxonville.

ANOTHER P T A

First president of the Happy Hollow School P.T.A., elected Oct. 21, is Mr. Richard Rice of Pequot Road. Other officers are Mr. Caleb Roehrig of Blossom Lane, vice-president; Mrs. Frederick Wayland Jr., Eden Road, secretary; and Mrs. Edward Rigney, Davelin Road, treasurer. Members voted to be a PTA instead of PTO.

Condemn Buildings

The Selectmen have held several hearings lately on condemning over age buildings in Town and have had several demolished. This work is part of a long range program to get rid of buildings which are not up to the living standards of 1954.

Red Cross Will Hold Annual Meeting Nov. 8

The annual meeting of the Wayland Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held in the Shaw Room of the Wayland Library on Nov. 8 at 8 p.m., says Mrs. Robert J. Pfeiffer, secretary. Mr. Alexander M. Hammer, president, will preside.

Mr. Gifford W. Ross, former international Red Cross representative in Korea, will be the speaker.

The meeting will receive reports of the officers and committee chairman and will elect officers and committee chairmen for the coming year.

AMERICAN LEGION

Members of Charles H. Alward Unit 133, American Legion Auxiliary, are collecting gifts for the mothers, fathers, wives and children of hospitalized veterans. Persons or organizations which want to help should send their presents to Mrs. Lois Clark, West Plain Street, Cochituate. Gifts must be in by Nov. 14.

Wayland Garden Club

Mrs. Norman Alstad, a member of the Wayland Garden Club, has taken two prizes recently, at the Massachusetts Federation of Garden Clubs exhibit at Sturbridge Village, and at the Framingham Woman's Club Antique Show. At the next meeting Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the home of Mrs. Francis Devlin, Lincoln Road, Mrs. C. E. Vanderwarker will speak on holiday arrangements. Tea chairman will be Mrs. George Vinsonhaler.

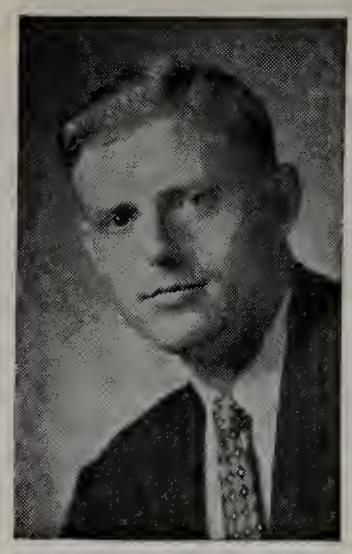
MR. FRANCIS W. BARTOL

DR. REXFORD S. SOUDER



MR. ROBERT S. LEAPER

Red Feather Drive Is Well Under Way

Wayland's Red Feather drive is united under one chairman for the first time in 8 years. Dr. Rexford S. Souder, superintendent of schools, is heading a volunteer corps of 230 workers who are covering all of Precincts 1 and 2 with a house to house canvass.

$9000 is the goal this year, a good part of which has presumably already been raised since the opening of the campaign on October 21. Funds raised help support 300 Greater Boston health and social service agencies, used by 1223 Wayland residents last year.

Vice Chairman is Theodore R. Magoun, Eden Lane, Residential co-chairmen are Francis W. Bartol, Old Connecticut Path, and Robert S. Leaper, Lawrence Road. Mrs. John Adden, of Orchard Lane, is administrative chairman, Mrs. Schuyler Hollingsworth, Administrative vice- chairman, Richard W. Foster, Advanced Gifts.

Shadows Before

Shadows Before is a calendar of coming events. All coming events should be first registered on the Town calendar with Willis Ryder, Village Green office, EL 8-2002. For publication in the CRIER with story they should be submitted to Mrs. Elaine Colby, Happy Hollow Rd., EL 8-4854, before CRIER deadline of Nov. 18.

Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous Arctic and Antarctic explorer, now on the staff of the Army weather laboratory in Natick, was the speaker on Oct. 18 at the first meeting of the Junior-Senior High School P.T.A. He was roundly applauded by 200 present in the High School cafeteria.

Ernest B. Walston, president, presided. Dr. Allan H. Woodcock, a colleague at the laboratory, presented the speaker.

Parmenter Health Consultant, to Speak

Dr. Charles Wilinsky, nationally known Boston physician who has been consultant to the trustees of the Parmenter Health Center, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the Wayland Junior Town House House Association, to be held in Odd Fellows Hall at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 1.

Another speaker will be Miss Roberta Jacobs, who is to be director of the Center.

All residents are welcome to attend. Coffee and doughnuts will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Robert G. Paine Jr., president, will preside.

Officers for 1955 to be placed in nomination will be:

Chairman of the Trustees, John A. Brownell; President, Richard W. Foster; Treasurer, George K. Lewis; Clerk, Mrs. Howard C. Weeks, and trustees, to be elected at this meeting: Mrs. Foster Abbott, Mrs. Bruce F. Kingsbury, Mrs. Seth F. Johnson, Mr. Douglas M. Surgenor and Mr. W. B. Parker. Two other trustees, nominated for election by the other trustees, are Robert G. Paine Jr. and Donald B. Willard.

Appoint Miss Brewer To Post in Library

Trustees of the Wayland Public Library announce that Miss Dorothy Brewer of Wayland is now working in the main library. Miss Brewer was formerly in the Weston Library.

The Trustees have also announced that they are preparing to send out a questionnaire to townspeople asking them what they want from the library.

Something new: The main library, hitherto closed on Thursdays, will now be open six days a week. The hours: Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.; 2 to 6 p.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 6 p.m.

Weston's Executive Secretary Serves as All Round Manager

In the report of the Committee on Compensation of Town Employees, presented at the Wayland Town Meeting in March was this suggestion:

"A full-time officer should be appointed at an adequate salary to serve as a point of contact with the public, to supervise work in the Town Hall, to act as executive secretary to all Town Boards and Commissions, and to discharge such other duties as might be assigned by the Town Boards and Departments."

The notion was that this person, who'd obviously need to be a remarkable character, should be a sort of Town Manager, without the title and without the powers which would have to be legally set up for such an officer.

As it happens, Weston has such a position in its Town government. For what it's worth, here's the man, what he does and what he thinks about it:

He is J. Ward Carter, once of Belmont, Harvard 1942, a supply and disbursing officer in the Navy from 1943 to 1946, graduate of Harvard School of Business Administration in 1947. His title is "Executive Secretary to the Board of Selectmen." As such, he says, he has no legal powers whatever. He does, however, hold the appointive job of Town Accountant.

Holding this job, he says, is something of a fortuitous circumstance. It happened that the job was vacant when he was hired. He thinks it is not necessary that anybody in his shoes should hold such a job.

Mr. Carter was appointed to his office after the March Town Meeting of 1949.

He is available to help all departments. He doesn't butt into the affairs of the departments. He simply says he is there to help if he can. He says it has worked out well.

He prepares the advertising when town departments have to bid for equipment. He helps with a good deal of the town's shopping.

He serves as secretary of the nine-man Finance Committee, without a vote.

He attends all meetings of the Board of Selectmen. In fact, he often makes up the agenda for the Selectmen's meetings.

He keeps office hours, Monday through Friday and Saturday morning, at Town Hall. "Public relations are important," he says. When a person walks in and wants to know when water is likely to be run into Q Street, he's the man to try to answer the question.

He's also secretary of the School Building Committee.

In short, he's the man who's supposed to know all about the town's official business, and the man who's available to meet the public and answer questions.

His kind of job, he says, is comparatively new. A guess is that there are no more than eight or 10 such jobs in Massachusetts. But many towns are showing an interest in such positions.

Where to get men qualified to hold such jobs? He says there are some working with town and city managers. There are a number interested in town management. Business and financial experience helps. If a town wants such a man, he thinks, the man himself is the question. He has to be a rather unusual, all-around character, willing to become a resident of the town and a more than full-time public servant.

Mr. Carter has held his job five years. He says he's still learning about town government. The Town of Weston pays him $8000 a year, plus an outside allowance of $75 for automobile mileage.

Does the arrangement work?

"You'd better ask the Selectmen or somebody," he says.

This arrangement is of interest in Wayland because there is no such person available in Wayland Town Hall to meet people, citizens or strangers, and give them information. There are plenty of devoted public servants in Wayland, to be sure, but none expressly designated to serve in all these capacities.

CD and FD Want All Purpose Truck

Civilian Defense Director W. R. Hulbert says that his organization and the Fire Department are going to ask the Town to buy a rescue truck of the latest model.

These trucks are something new. They have everything on them for clearing streets, getting people out of water, rescuing people in burning or collapsed houses. They carry winch and cable, power saws, axes, ladders, resuscitators, stretchers . . . everything.

The Town of Wakefield obtained one just two days before Carol, says Mr. Hulbert, and it did wonderful service in Wakefield and other towns after the storm.

These things cost around $8000 apiece, but if certain regulations for training men to use them are complied with, Uncle Sam will pay half.

MISS JOAN BENSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Benson of Training Field Road, is studying this year at Webber College, Babson Park, Florida.

MRS. MARY N. BALDWIN is the new secretary of the Wayland Planning Board. Mrs. Kay Hodges has resigned from the job.

Wayland League Digs Into Recreation Plans

The Wayland League of Women Voters is studying recreational facilities in Wayland this year. Under discussion are the need, the facilities, the leadership, the transportation available. One suggestion is that a recreation department, separate from the School Department or the Park Department, might be desirable.

November unit meetings on the 16th, 17th and 18th are to be led by Mrs. Janet Starr, who will give a quick review of last year's legislation.

New members of the League are Mrs. Edward B. Caraker, Mrs. E. Brayton Durfee, Mrs. James H. Flanagan, Mrs. George E. French, Mrs. A. R. Gierasch, Mrs. John P. Hyland, Mrs. George Lewis Jr., Mrs. John Sibley and Mrs. Donald Tarbell.

Junior Town House To Study Recreation, Too

The Wayland Junior Town House Association, aware that the Wayland League of Women Voters is studying the Town's recreational problems and facilities, has also chosen a committee to consider the subject and to cooperate with the League. The Way-Co Baseball Committee is also much interested.

Wayland Motors Gives Schools New Cars

Wayland Motors, Inc. has again presented the Wayland School Dept. with new 1954 Ford Fordor sedan to be used in the student driver education program. A similar car was also given to the Sudbury Schools. The presentations were made by Thomas F. McManus.

WILLIAM A. TOLMAN of Millbrook Road last month attended the 17th annual agency leaders' meeting of the John Hancock Insurance Company at White Sulphur Springs.

Draft Board Names Men in Service

Forty-four new names of Wayland men in service are on a list prepared by Gustaf M. Blomgren of the draft board as of Sept. 9, 1954.

It is by no means a list of all local men now in service. Many months ago the Crier printed a list of men then in service, many of whom have since been discharged. This is just a list of those who have been inducted since the last list was published.

They are Charles Philip Bowers, Concord Road; Richard Arthur Wallace, Rice Road; Lewis Samuel Russell Jr., State Road West; Benjamin Warren Johnson 3rd, Cochituate Road; Richard J. Riley, Dunster Avenue; Malcolm Foster Parrish Jr., Main Street;

Haven Whiteside, Rice Road; Maynard Walker Powning, Concord Road; Kenneth Edward Collins, Moore Road; Paul Dean Keith, Mayflower Path; David Paul Kicilinski, Oxbow Road; Luigi John Mascia, Stanton Street; Charles Henry Kelsey Jr., Old Connecticut Path; Thomas William Holmes, Shore Drive;

David Edgar Lawrence, Harrison Street; Robert Bruce O'Connell, Indian Road; Thomas Joseph Regan, Willard Street; Roger Morse Estey, East Plain Street; Russell Frederic Wade, West Commonwealth Road; John Dwight Morton Jr., Old Connecticut Path; Charles Michael McEnroy, Leary Street;

Daniel Brackett Clifford, Concord Road; Herbert Lee Hilton, Peck Avenue; Bertram Frederick McLellan, Riverview Circle; Richard Lee Lucas, State Road East; David Carlisle Potter, Winthrop Road;

David Richard Blease, West Commonwealth Road; Richard Buck Carter, Old Connecticut Path; Victor Joseph Graves, Lake Road, and Robert Warren Spate, Parkland Drive.

New Public Health Nurse is Appointed

The Board of Health announces that it has engaged the services, as of Sept. 21, of Miss Marian Howes of Needham, to be a public health nurse in Wayland. Miss Howes, a graduate of the Newton-Wellesley School of Nursing will supplement the efforts of Mrs. Mary McNeil, and both will have offices and telephones in the Parmenter Health Center as soon as it is opened.

Except in an emergency, Miss Howes' services will be arranged for through a physician. She will make home visits, give shots to invalids, check up on communicable diseases . . . Although the Town pays her salary, she will ordinarily collect $1.25 for each house visit, and this fee will go to the Town.

Latest report was that Health Center would open in the middle of November.

Vokes Give Comedy By John van Druten

"Bell, Book and Candle", a three-act comedy by John van Druten, will be the Vokes Players fall production.

Bonnie Grey, Mac White, Louise Kennedy, Ray Harris and Jack Ladensack have been in rehearsal for weeks under the direction of Mercedes "Chic" Bassett.

Performances will be held Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 12, 13, 19 and 20, at the Vokes Theatre on the Post Road.

All in Town are welcome to attend. Tickets, at $1.50 apiece, may be reserved by calling Mrs. William Hodgkinson, EL 8-7725.

Blackie Grannis is in charge of production, assisted by Jack Whiting, Bill Bertelsen, John Bandelin and Win Naylor.

Twinkie Luce is preparing another of her outstanding stage settings.

Others working on this play include Joyce Bertelsen, prompter; Jane Cannistraro and Bernice White, properties; Bill Hodgkinson, business; Rudy Bruce, publicity; Robert J. Pfeiffer, head usher; Jane Hodgkinson and Dorothy Grannis, tickets; John Bandelin, stage manager, and Frank Stites and Mimi Hutchinson, electricians.

Peabody Criticizes Government by Cliques

Hitting at "government run by small cliques which keep themselves in office through appointments," Endicott "Chub" Peabody" candidate for Governor's Councillor in the Third District, last week urged voters to "return the Third District to the people."

Peabody, who won a four-man primary with a large plurality, declared his opponent was appointed by the Legislature to fill a vacancy on the Governor's Council when his law partner was appointed to another state position.

"This coming election," said Peabody, "is a fine chance for voters to line up on the side of democratic elections instead of appointments to office."

Plan to Bypass Bridges is Heard

Rep. Howard S. Russell says that the recent flood has given great impetus to the movement to do something about the Sudbury River.

In addition, he says, it begins to look as though plans to by-pass the old bridges on Old Sudbury Road might soon be formulated. A hearing by the County Commissioners was scheduled on the bridge matter at Wayland Town Hall on Oct. 26. The Wayland Road Commissioners, Planning Board and Selectmen petitioned for it.

Mr. Russell says the State and County authorities seem favorably disposed towards this project. It would cost around $190,000, with State, County and two Towns, Wayland and Sudbury, sharing the cost,—the Towns paying the smallest shares.

RETAIN OLD BRIDGES

The plans call for keeping the two present bridges, which are old enough to be considered antiques, and building a new causeway and bridge to the south of the present structures. Mr. Russell has been told that perhaps this can be done by the aid of an "unbalanced appropriation" from the funds available for Chapter 90 road work.

As a result of the Governor's conference, held last month, says Mr. Russell, a report on fixing the river will be prepared and presented to the Governor in 1955, for the consideration of the Legislature.

What will also help, he says, will be the completion of the South Metropolitan Sewer, to serve Natick and Framingham, within the next year or so. This sewer is a deep rock tunnel, to take the stuff to the ocean. At present the sewage effluent goes into the river, where it stimulates the growth of the duckweed. When the sewer is completed, the river should at least be much cleaner.

—News Roundup—

A prominent local citizen says it's not true, as reported in last month's Crier, that one family cooked over an old forge during the hurricane emergency. Two families cooked over forges, he says, and he knows because the other forge is in his back yard. Works fine, he says.

Sudbury, which also has school problems, opened two elementary classrooms in the Edison building, a converted office structure, on Oct. 13. Two more classrooms will be available in this building next year.

The Selectmen have applied for admission of the Town police officers to the State Police school at Framingham, to take a one-month course each. First in line, for the November session, is officer Edward J. Burke.

Evening grosbeaks were seen in Wayland on Oct. 12. Presumably they were on their way South.

The other afternoon the school bus stopped at Davelin Road, off Old Connecticut Path. Just a few years ago there was no Davelin Road. but a field full of trees. And on this 1954 afternoon. 25 school children got off the bus and headed for home down the street.

Wayland Pony League team gave coach Edward Carraker a box of candy and a baseball autographed by all members of the squad after the last game. He has the ball in a place of honor in his living room.

Hurray for Bermuda, the Place for Bermuda Shorts!

In Bermuda, they say, onions smell sweet and Bermuda shorts look good.

Bermuda is part of the British Empire. Let the British Empire handle its own business, with the aid of a few bucks from Uncle Sam, and let us handle ours.

Specifically, let us keep Bermuda shorts out of Wayland.

And while we're at it, let us also keep dinner trousers, or whatever they call those triangular garments, out of this respectable Town.

And let us speak plainly about the reasons why.

On some women, tights look good. On some, a tattered blanket looks glorified. On Wayland women, whatever they throw on first in the morning looks good. At least, good enough. At that hour, who's looking?

But Bermuda shorts represent something calculated.

Calculated what? That's the question.

They aren't decently and sophisticatedly sloppy.

Nor are they attractively formal, like a skirt.

They look like long trousers cut off too soon. They lack the softness of rompers and they possess the harshness of blue serge or the tartan of the Clan MacScotsman.

They have a certain bulk. Does a woman have an extra inch on her hips, Bermuda shorts give her a geometrical-progression increase in apparent size. Clad in these iron pants, a 17-inch leg looks like the butt of a village elm.

There must be something of the psychologically abnormal about these garments, too.

Many a women wants to be boss. To wear the pants, as goes the vulgar expression.

But why wear half the pants? Slacks have been invented.

And why call attention to the hips? To be sure, it's well known that the Lord made hips, for various excellent reasons, but why make a big deal out of a routine transaction?

And knees?

Knees bring to mind toes. Let everybody take a good look at his own toes, and then bethink himself that his knees don't look much better.

Let 'em wear Bermuda shorts in Bermuda, if they want to.

In Wayland, let us wear the slobby old clothes that have stood the test of time, the attic, the garden, the street and the laundry. Let us protect ourselves by covering ourselves as well as possible, so that nobody may detect our weak spots. Let us not go out on our limbs.

Bermuda shorts on women? Let us look, in sorrow, if not in admiration. But on men? Let us avert the gaze. Let us, in kindness, not mention it. Let us hope the characters will go home and put on clothes. Male knees? Burp!—

D. B. W.

Alfred Morrill Elected Kiwanis President

Alfred C. (Clayt) Morrill was elected president if the Kiwanis Club of Wayland at its annual meeting, held Oct. 12. New vice president is Ed Thorburn, treasurer is still Walter Cheslak and new secretary is Joseph G. Hallenbrook.

Directors are Jim DePaolo, Fern Taylor, Frank Smith, Ed Veno, George Deverell, Joe Kelly and Hal Chamberlin.

WOMEN'S CLUB

A musical program by students at the New England Conservatory, will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 2, at the home of Mrs. Gerald Henderson on Plain Road. New members of the Woman's Club will be specially received at this meeting. Tea will be served by Mrs. Allan Finlay and Mrs. Robert Morgan, co-chairmen. Members who do not have transportation may call Mrs. Norman Alstad, who will arrange for them to get to the meeting.

Door Locker Slips Up

There's a man in Cochituate, they were saying this Summer, who's noted as a careful door locker.

He and his family went away for a week. When they came home they unlocked the back door and his wife entered.

"My!" she said. "The air smells fresh in here."

Indeed it was fresh. The conscientious door locker had gone away leaving the front door wide open.

New Woodridge Division

Two Woodridge sub-divisions on Country Corners Road have been approved, the Planning Board reports,, for a total of 15 new lots.

The first, for five lots and 534 feet of new road, for Rupert Maclaurin, of Wayland Cooperative, was approved May 17. The second, also to Mr. Maclaurin, for 10 lots and 1133 feet of road, was approved Aug. 23.

On Aug. 23 the Board also approved a relocation of High Rock Road, in Woodridge. The builders struck a ledge and had to move the street about 60 feet towards the west.

COCHITUATE P T A

Mr. Melvin Orenstein was elected president; Mrs. John J. McCann, vice-president; and Mrs. Mary Neal, a teacher, member of the nominating committee for three years at a special election.

A team was also appointed to study the possibility of kindergartens in Wayland: Mr. Charles Martin, Mrs. James Arnold, Mrs. Roger Amadon and Mrs. Landsberg. Mrs. William Irwin, retiring president, was presented with a corsage and the gratitude of the Association. The next meeting of the Association will be Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 8 p.m. at the Cochituate School.

Happy Hollow, When?

Work on the new Happy Hollow School is progressing rapidly, but only a soothsayer would dare predict the date it will be ready for use. The athletic field on the west side of the building is about as big as the playing field of Fenway Park. It's believed big enough for two Little League fields. On the side towards Maiden Lane there's a pleasant primary school play area, shaded by big trees.

NOW is the time...

to: Face the Facts and Vote on Them!

Peace- an Eisenhower campaign pledge has become a real fact.

"Our people wanted the futile sacrifices in Korea stopped. Fourteen months ago they were stopped." (Pres. Eisenhower — Oct. 9, 1954)

Honest, Decent Government-

an Eisenhower campaign pledge — has indeed become fact.

"Our people wanted clean government. They now have clean, honest, decent government again in Washington." (Pres. Eisenhower)

Facts like these point to progress promised and progress made.

Now is the time to continue this progress

And to continue this progress, give Ike the support he asks for:

"Progress is made when the leaders of the Executive branch (of our government) and the majority of Congress are members of the same political party . . . Otherwise, politics in Washington runs riot . . . the public good goes begging." (Pres. Eisenhower — Oct. 9, 1954)

St. Zepherin's

The St. Zepherin's Catholic Women's Club enjoyed a Halloween party at the church on Wednesday evening, Oct. 13 arranged by Mrs. Patrick Roche and a committee of nine.

The Club also enjoyed a fashion show on October 25, at the Bennett-Hemingway school in North Natick. Mrs. William Breeyear was chairman of this event. Clothes were arranged by Beverly's and Plotkins' of Shoppers' World.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, Nov. 10. Father Sullivan, known as "The Circus Priest", will be the speaker of the evening.

Methodist

Tues. Nov. 2—Official Board meeting 8 p.m.

Thurs. Nov. 4—Woman's Society of Christian Service, 8 p.m., Dr. Miriam Van Waters Superintendent of the Framingham Reformatory, will be guest speaker.

Sun. Nov. 7—Reception of new members at morning worship service, 10 a.m. Old fashioned hymn service at 8 p.m., sponsored by choir.

Fri. Nov. 12—Greater Natick United Church Canvass Dinner and instruction meeting, 6:30 p.m., Natick Congregational Church.

Sun. Nov. 14—Loyalty Sunday, dedication of workers. Every Member Canvass in afternoon.

Thurs. Nov. 25—Greater Natick Council of Churches Union Thanksgiving service, 8 a.m., Community Methodist Church. The public is invited.

Wed. Dec. 1 and Thurs. Dec. 2—Women's Society of Christian Service, Christmas Fair. Dinner served at 6:30 Thurs. night.

Congregational

The new Parish House is nearing completion and it is hoped that a special dedication program may mark the beginning of its use by the church during November.

At the November meeting of the Men's Club, the members will paint and decorate new rooms in the parish house. President Bill Fluhr will give exact details.

On Tuesday, Nov. 9, the Ladies Benevolent Association will have as guest a furloughed missionary from the Walker Missionary Home, and will bring gifts of food and linen, for the Home.

The Church Cabinet and Executive Committee will meet Tuesday, Nov. 9, at the church.

Friday, Nov. 12, is the supper-meeting of the Canvass organization, at the church.

On Sunday, Nov. 14, the church will participate in the nation-wide United Church Canvass. Members will be asked to remain at home until the canvassers have called.

On Tuesday, Nov. 16, the Women's Fellowship will have as their guest Mrs. Henry Clark, speaking on the subject, "Christian Family Life Preparations for Christmas."

Thanksgiving Sunday, Nov. 21, is the traditional time for the union service of worship of this church and the First Parish. This year members of both churches will gather in the Congregational Church.

On Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25, at 9 A.M., the community-wide Service of Thanksgiving will be held at this church.

First Parish

The Woman's Alliance will entertain on Thursday, Nov. 4, at a 7:30 dessert those who find it impossible to attend the regular meetings of the Alliance.

On Tuesday, Nov. 9, at the regular Alliance meeting, a workshop for the Christmas sale will be the program.

Then on Wednesday, Nov. 10, the local Alliance will be hostesses at a Nelghborhood Workshop which will be attended by Alliance members from a number of other Unitarian churches. Sessions will begin at 10 a.m. and continue through morning and afternoon.

On Sunday, Nov. 14, Rev. James Brewer, minister of Unity Unitarian Church of Natick, will occupy the pulpit, while Rev. Raymond Manker goes to Natick for a pulpit-exchange Sunday.

The annual union Thanksgiving service with the Trinitarian Congregational Church will take place Sunday, Nov. 21, at the Trinitarian Church. Rev. Manker will deliver the sermon.

The Alliance Christmas sale is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 4.

Recent Deaths

MRS. EUNICE M. BARRY, 51, a resident of Shawmut Avenue Extension for many years, who recently moved to Altedena, California, died October 5 at her home following a brief illness. Services and interment will take place at a later date in Lakeview Cemetery. She was the widow of Earl G. Barry and a native of Prince Edward Island.

MRS. NELLIE E. WOOD, 77, recently of Cochituate, formerly of Natick and Framingham, died October 12 in the Cochituate Nursing Home following a long illness. A native of New Bedford, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. William A. Robb of Framingham. Burial took place in Rural Cemetery, New Bedford.

JOSEPH E. GLADU, 71, a member of one of the families which founded St. Zepherin's Parish years ago, died October 11 in Springfield, Massachusetts. He was a precision engineer. Surviving are his wife, Atala (Valliere) Gladu; his mother, Madame Alice Dupuis Gladu Benoit; a brother, Francis, of Ashland, and two sisters, Mrs. Edna G. Minon of Cochituate and Mrs. Cira G. Butchman of Natick.

FLOYD HAMILTON SHORT, 69, retired insurance executive, died October 11 in Leonard Morse Hospital, Natick. A native of Clinton, he made his home with Frank K. Hahn, Esq. for many years. Services on Wednesday afternoon, October 13, at 2:30 o'clock, were conducted by a Methodist Episcopal Minister, and burial followed in Lakeview Cemetery.

MRS. ROSE A. MILLS, 74, a native and former Cochituate resident, died October 9 following a brief illness. She more recently lived at 117 North Main Street, Natick, and was the widow of Dr. J. A. D. Mills, Natick dentist. The funeral took place Tuesday morning, October 12, with a Requim Mass at St. Patrick's Church, Natick. Burial in St. Zepherin's Cemetery.

(Funeral Services for all the above were held from the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home.)

CUCKOOS COME

Yellow-billed cuckoos, usually rarely seen in these parts, have been reported by the thousands this autumn, the Audubon Society says. Hurricane Edna is blamed for interrupting their southward migration and blowing them back towards the north. Many of them are said to be in bad shape, from exhaustion and hunger. Useful birds, which love to eat tent caterpillars, they will take raw hamburger or meal worms.

HIGH SCHOOL P T A

A meeting of the Junior-Senior-High School PTA will be held on Monday, Dec. 6, at the High School cafeteria. Coffee will be served at 7:30 p.m., followed by a panel discussion on local school problems. Questionnaires answered by parents at the meeting on Oct. 18 indicated that a program to deal with immediate problems confronting the town and the parents would be desirable.

D. A. R.

The Wayside Inn Chapter of the D.A.R. will meet Saturday, Nov. 6, at 1 p.m. for dessert at the home of Miss Georgianna Collins, 117 Pond Street, Natick. A business meeting will open at 2 p.m., to be followed by the showing of slides taken by Mrs. John Hill.

Stage Dancing

Miss Irene Hogan of Wellesley has opened classes in stage dancing for boys and girls and for adults at the D.P.I.A. building on Old Connecticut Path. They will meet every Saturday afternoon from now until May.

DAVID C. POTTER of Winthrop Road entered the Army on Sept. 13 and is now stationed at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

Evacuation—

held in Worcester on Oct. 16, presided over by Col. John J. Maginnis, the State CD head. Besides Mr. Hulbert, Fire Chief Clifton Haynes and Chief Warden Mrs. Francis E. Hanson of Wayland attended.

The worst that the CD people can imagine is an H bomb equivalent to 1,000,000 tons of TNT exploded 2000 to 3000 feet over Central Square, Cambridge. Everything and everybody within a radius of 12 to 15 miles would be, presumably, destroyed.

ONE HOUR WARNING

At present, radar would give one hour's warning of bombers actually on the way. Intelligence reports might give longer warning. The present thinking is that the only way people in the city would possibly survive would be to flee.

They estimate now that 100,000 persons an hour could be moved out of Boston.

They have mental pictures of the traffic situation, with thousands of frightened motorists heading for the open country.

Wayland is now in the Boston CD district, not the Worcester one, as before. One of the jobs of the Wayland wardens is to find out how many refugees could be cared for in public buillings and private homes in Town. It is not planned, however, that this should be a refugee center. Presumably fugitives stuck on the roads would have to be accomodated here.

All of this, says Mr. Hulbert, is in the stage of preliminary thinking and planning. It chiefly represents a conviction that it's impossible to protect the city population by shelters, and that the only way to save as many lives as possible is to have everybody run for it.

Wayland Loss Ratio is High on Car Insurance

For every compulsory automobile insurance premium dollar received from the owners of private passenger cars in Wayland in 1953, casualty insurance companies had to pay out nearly $1.29 to settle personal injury claims arising from accidents caused by Wayland cars.

These loss ratio statistics on Wayland-garaged cars, verified by examiners of the State Insurance Department, were presented by Frank Kilburn, Wayland resident and Boston attorney, in a recent address before St. Zepherin's Holy Name Society in Cochituate.

As spokesman for the Casualty Insurance Companies Serving Massachusetts, Mr. Kilburn disclosed that while the insurance companies received a total of $58,609 in compulsory insurance premiums from the owners of Wayland private passenger cars in 1953, the companies had to pay out a total of $75,455 in accident claims found to have been caused by the Wayland cars insured.

The Wayland loss ratio of $1.29 on the premium dollar is obviously prohibitive and exceptionally bad, particularly when compared with the average statewide loss ratio of 69 cents on the premium dollar, Mr. Kilburn pointed out.

ART EXHIBITS

Exhibits of clay modeling, charcoal drawings and dioramas by pupils of the sixth grade Center School will be exhibited at the Wayland Library through Nov. 17. At the Cochituate Library will be exhibits of pupils' work at the Cochituate School. They are under the supervision of Mrs. Mildred E. Kingsbury, art supervisor.

Holstrom, Former Mayor, in Contest

Andrew B. Holmstrom, of Worcester, who is the Republican candidate for Congressman in the 4th District, has been active for many years in civic and industrial life in Worcester. A graduate of Worcester Polytechnical Institute, he has been associated with Norton Co. most of his life and is now vice president of manufacturing.

His political experience includes terms as Mayor and as City Councilman. He is now Vice Mayor. He has also been chairman of the Worcester Chamber of Commerce, Director of the Public Library and connected with many other community activities.

ENROLMENT UP

Enrolment figures for the Wayland schools, corrected to Oct. 1, show a total of 1323, as against the incomplete figure of 1305 given last month. In the elementary schools there are 864 pupils, as against 823 a year ago, and in the Junior-Senior High School, 459 as against 408.

HAZEL — R. I. P.

All Hurricane Hazel did in Wayland was to knock the fire alarm system for another goal. The comparatively gentle breeze dropped a 2300-volt power line down on the Town wires, with the result that the fire alarm system was out of order for several days, despite around-the-clock emergency repair work. Firemen manned the stations.

Ham Sends King Message

Mr. and Mrs. Harold King of Hemlock Road, Cochituate, had a happy surprise on Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, when they had a telephone call from a radio ham in Natick with a message from their son, Sergt. Francis H. King, at Clark Air Force Base, Manila. The ham, who identified himself only as "Doug", of Station WIUKO, said Sergt. King wanted to know how his parents made out in the two hurricanes. The answer, which "Doug" said he'd transmit, was that everything was all right.

SAFETY ISLANDS

Highway Surveyor Albert Potvin reports:

Two safety islands have been built and stop signs installed it the intersection of Main and Plain Streets in Cochituate. Total cost, around $800.

The Highway Department spent five weeks cleaning up hurricane debris along the roads, then knocked off long enough to do some resurfacing on West Plain Street, East Plain Street, School Street and Old Connecticut Path East.

ENTER SERVICE

David Lamont, Thomas A. Baker and James M. Eden, all graduates of Wayland High School, left for Sampson Air Force Base on Oct. 4. Robert Cardellicchio, a recent resident of Town, also left for Air Force service last month.

Published Monthly for the Residents of Cochituate and Wayland

Vol. 9, No. 3 | December, 1954 Wayland, Mass. | 10c a copy, $1.00 a year

SENATOR LEVERETT SALTONSTALL, winner in the November election, chats with Wayland Republican workers on a Hudson front porch just before Election Day. They are: Mrs. Allen Benjamin, Allen Benjamin, Robert M. Morgan, Mrs. Fred Berg, William A. Loker, Senator Saltonstall, Mrs. Roger P. Stokey, Elmer Bigwood, and Mr. Kemp Reade.

Town Growth, School Growth— What's Planned to do About it

The rapid growth of Wayland since World War II has created a great problem of school space, which various committees have been studying for several years. Bearing costs in mind, the committees have been trying to work out a program by which school rooms will be available when needed.

Two of these groups are the School Site Committee and the School Building Committee. The Site Committee, as the name indicates, recommends the site for a school building, and the Building Committee supervises the building.

Each of these committees, appointed as a result of Town Meeting vote, includes representatives of official Town bodies and members chosen from the public. Service on these committees is unpaid.

Another committee, voted at the last March Town Meeting, was the Regional School Study Committee, set up in the same way as the others. This committee will report at the special Town Meeting on Dec. 8 that the apparent advantages of joining in a regional school district are outweighed by the apparent disadvantages, and that Wayland should go it alone in building a school system.

In studying the school problem, certain facts have been available.

One fact is the rate of growth of the Wayland School population, and its projection into the future. These figures are based on the pre-school census, on the number of building permits, on zoning restriction, on the reports of probable new subdivisions.

These projections, prepared by Superintendent of Schools Rexford S. Souder, with the help of Town departments, have been made during the past three years, and have proved, so far, to be accurate.

Today's school enrollment in Wayland,

Raytheon to Build Own Lab; CC & F is Out

Raytheon, which expected to have the firm of Cabot, Cabot and Forbes build its new laboratory in Wayland, has changed signals and now means to build the plant on its own, it is announced.

Bids on construction of the building were asked for as of Nov. 19, on three different plans of building for each bidder.

The Raytheon people said there was certainly no intention of dropping the project. The work will go on. Additional ground scraping was in progress last month on account of the changed plans. Slopes on the edges of the property had been smoothed and planted to grass.

Rules for Xmas Mail Cited by Postmaster

Wayland Postmaster Thomas E. Hynes says the Christmas mailing rush has already begun, and he asks the cooperation of local residents in certain definite ways.

1. It would help if mail for local delivery were kept separate from mail going out of Town.

2. In sending cards to persons in Town, please use street addresses.

3. Deadline for deliveries in New England and Greater Boston is Dec. 10 for parcels, Dec. 15 for cards and Dec. 21 for air mail.

4. Important mail, at this season, should be sent air mail or special delivery.

5. It's a good idea to put a copy of the address inside a package, for use just in case the outside address happens to get mutilated.

6. Mail early in the day to give the handlers time to do their work and get the stuff on its way.

7. There's such a shortage of lock boxes that 300 have to get their mail by General Delivery. It would help if those who have boxes would get their own mail.

8. It helps if mail can be tied in bundles, by destinations, and handed to the clerk.

9. It helps to use first class mail. Third class mail can't be forwarded without additional postage.

Cesspools Barometer

Norman G. Fair of the Board of Health reports that as of Nov. 15, cesspool permits, traditionally a building barometer, had totalled 127 in 1954. It looks as though the number for this year will be considerably less than the total of 201 for 1953. However, he says, the procedure involved nowadays is more difficult than it used to be. Besides, cesspool permits for many of the houses built in '54 were obtained in '53. It is generally understood that each new cesspool permit represents, or will represent, one new house in Town.

Norman Taylor is Town Accountant

Mr. Norman E. Taylor of Merrimac, Massachusetts, where he has been Town Accountant, took over the job of Town Accountant in Wayland on Nov. 15. He took the place of Mrs. Walter E. Harrington, who had been a most valued public servant of the Town for many years.

Mr. Taylor, a native of Amesbury, was graduated from Bentley School of Accounting in 1930. He has had a varied career in private and public business.

Mrs. (Isabel) Taylor, a native of Merrimac, is a graduate of Simmons. She is now supervisor of the school lunch program in Merrimac. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have two children; Richard W., a senior at Bowdoin College, who is going to Tufts Medical School, and Linda, 10, who's in the fifth grade.

Mr. Taylor was recommended to the Wayland Selectmen by Herman B. Dine, Director of the Bureau of Accounts at the State House.

Mr. Taylor plans to commute to Wayland until the schools close in June. Then he means to try to find a place to live in Town.

The exchange of letters between Mrs. Harrington and the Selectmen:

September 18, 1954

Board of Selectmen
Wayland, Massachusetts
Gentlemen:

I wish to submit my resignation as Town Accountant as of October 31, 1954, or before, as I do not feel I can continue with the increase of my work at the Town Hall, as well as my personal responsibilities.

I have worked ever since I've been married, and I feel that I would like

You, Too, Can Make History

Mrs. Mabel S. Draper, curator of the collections of the Wayland Historical Society, is the person to whom might be sent any historical material anybody may have around the house.

The Society, only a year or so old, would like to have pictures of local scenes and people; copies of old books pertaining to Wayland or Cochituate; old letters, old journals, old papers, old souvenirs.

For example, the Town Crier recently turned over to the Society a number of contemporary photographs, including some showing the flood of Hurricane Edna at Dead Man's Curve. As of today such photographs don't command much interest, but a century or two hence they'll have at least a scarcity value. Pictures of Wayland as it looked in 1754 would be pretty interesting today.

To Vote on Office Plans, School Site

Three articles, two of them of wide interest, are to be considered at the special Town Meeting called by the Selectmen for Wednesday, December 8.

One is to see whether the Town will vote a sum of money not more than $10,000, for plans for a Town office building to be built on Town-owned land in Wayland Center.

Another is to see whether the Town will vote to acquire, for a new elementary school, 35 acres of land North and South of the Boston and Maine tracks, facing on Plain Road.

The third calls for the appropriation from available funds of money to take care of various Town departments which, for different reasons, have run short. Most of this article is considered routine.

The Finance Committee recommends the adoption of all three articles.

OFFICE BUILDING

The argument for the new office building, which was first mentioned publicly last Spring, is that the old Town Hall is now outgrown. A number of Town officials keep Town records in their own homes. There is not room in Town Hall for the work which has to be done there, and the experts say that the building, more than 75 years old, can not be renovated economically.

Besides that, the old hall is regarded as a fire hazard. Priceless Town records, some of them centuries old, are in a vault in the middle of the building. And thousands of dollars worth of fire equipment is parked in the fire station in the building.

The new building would be of simple construction, much like that of the new fire station in Cochituate. Its cost would be somewhere between $125,000 and $175,000, to be paid off within two years, without a bond issue.

In the building would be adequate space for all Town officers, including those who now work at home. There would be a small hearing room, Civil Defense headquarters, a fire alarm room, a basement shooting range and, in back, a new fire station.

The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to

James J. Bolton, of Morse Road, a resident of Wayland since 1901, took the agricultural census in Town this year, and found that farming here isn't what it once was.

In 1949, he says, there were 42 sure enough farms in Town. In 1954, there were 31. The comparison isn't exact, because in 1954 most of Cochituate was ruled out as an urban area, but it's enough to show the trend.

Mr. Bolton remembers that back in 1907 a train came down through Wayland from Northampton each morning, and had to stop here from 20 minutes to half an hour while milk for Boston was put aboard. Much of the Town area which is now woodland was then grassland, he recalls.

Also in that time, he says, lots of meadow hay was sent to Boston to be insulation for ice.

One of the discoveries he made in this census, he says, is that many new residents would like home delivery of mail.

MOTHERS CLUB

Guest speaker for the Nov. 3 meeting of the Mother's Club was Mr. Edward Broad of the American Leprosy Mission. For the Dec. 1 meeting, the speaker is Miss Blanche Eames of the Middlesex Extension Service, whose subject is Christmas decorations and menus. On Dec. 15, a Christmas party is scheduled at the home of Viola Johnson in Natick. St. Cecelia's Glee Club of Ashland is scheduled to sing a program of Christmas music.

Letters to the Editor

Cards of Thanks

To the Editor:

All my friends in Wayland and Sudbury I wish to thank most sincerely for their kindness toward me and for twenty-five most pleasant years in business.

Louie Graves

TO THE EDITOR:

Thank you, dear friends, so much for the wonderful testimonial dinner of last Wednesday evening. We can never express in words our great appreciation of the spirit which prompted such a party.

It was so thoughtful of the Alumni and all our friends in the Town of Wayland and in distant places to come in such large numbers to wish us well. Letters are still arriving from former students who are now living in various parts of the United States and abroad.

Needless to say, we were quite overwhelmed by the contents of the envelopes which were presented to us. Equally thrilling were the bouquets of roses with the greenback "leaves." You have all been too kind to us.

To you, your committee and to all our other friends we extend our heartfelt gratitude. Thank you all for a most wonderful tribute.

Opens New Office

Dr. Ernest H. Damon Jr. has moved into his new office in Harrison Avenue, Cochituate. The office is on the site of the old Cochituate fire station and lockup.

—News Roundup—

The naughty lady of Shady Lane, celebrated in a current popular song, is not a resident of Wayland. Nor does she have a street number. No Shady Lane in Town, in fact.

Mrs. Phyllis Bates, a teacher in the Happy Hollow School, resigned as of Nov. 8. Her place was taken by Mrs. Miriam Ruopp, a graduate of Iowa Wesleyan.

The bill for fixing the Cochituate playing field light towers, blown over by Carol, was $845, and for fixing the Honor Roll at Cochituate, $185. Rest easy, both bills are fully covered by insurance.

Wayland and Lincoln Planning Boards have approved a sub-division on the Lincoln-Wayland line, near Waltham Road. Only a couple of the proposed houses are in Wayland. Mrs. J. Gordon Baldwin, clerk of the Wayland Planning Board, is now keeping all-day office hours at Town Hall on Wednesday and Fridays.

St. Ann's Church will hold its annual Christmas fair and food sale on Saturday, Dec. 4 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Construction of Wayland-Weston section of the toll road is scheduled to start this month.

Jr. Sr. High PTA

A panel discussion on local school problems will highlight the meeting of the Junior-Senior High School PTA on Monday, Dec. 6. With a moderator, two parents, and two teachers taking part in the discussion, it is hoped that most of the urgent points presented by parents in answer to questionnaires given out at the October meeting will be covered.

Parmenter Center Is Ideal for Health Care

Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky of Boston, speaker at the annual meeting of the Wayland Junior Town House Association on Nov. 1, described the Parmenter Health Center, soon to be opened, as "an ideal development in a community of this size."

He called the Center "a preventive bridge". He also described it as "the local dispensary for health".

Bids for the equipment of the Center, he said, are now being asked, and he thought the building might open around Jan. 1.

He told how the late Jonathan Maynard Parmenter, who died more than 30 years ago, left $200,000 to the Town for construction of a hospital. The economics of the thing made building of a hospital here unwise, he said, and the money, in the custody of the Harvard Trust Company, which "has exercised its duty sagaciously", now amounts to between $600,000 and $700,000.

When the Center opens, he said, its upkeep will cost the citizens nothing.

Dr. Wilinsky, who has been advisor to the Trustees of the Center throughout, explained that the Center could be used for the whole school health program. That is, children could be taken there in buses for examinations of teeth, tonsils, eyes, ears and so on. "I commend the vision of Dr. Rexford S. Souder," he said, speaking of what had been suggested for the school program.

He also noted that "much can be done in the mental and physical care of the aged."

To YOU YOU YOU
As homeowners, as buyers or sellers of your home, you should be interested in a bill coming up before the next Legislature to LICENSE Real Estate Agents and Brokers. Write to your State Representatives in the Legislature NOW, and urge your friends to write for passage of this bill. It is in your favor to regulate the activity of real estate brokers, to license them, to have examinations. Forty of the 48 states license Real Estate Brokers, Massachustts DOES NOT. This bill does not take away any of your rights, but it would give better protection to you in the future.

High School A.A. Plans Get-together

Members of the Wayland High School Athletic Association held a meeting on Nov. 17 and made another date for the evening of Dec. 6 at the High School, when, according to the plans, movies of a Boston University, 1954, football game will be shown.

Officers of the Association chosen on Nov. 17 were Russell T. Kerr, president; G. Prentis Richardson, vice president; Harold V. Ward, treasurer, and Rudolph Bruce, secretary.

During the past few years, the Association has given jackets to members of W.H.S. teams. Last May 1 it threw a dinner for the school athletes. The general purpose of the Association is to give recognition to boy and girl athletes of the Town.

Wayside Inn Chapter DAR, 50 Years Old

The Wayside Inn Chapter, DAR, will meet Saturday, Dec. 4, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Shepard, Old Concord Road. Mrs. John Erwin will be cohostess. Feature of the meeting will be a sale of food articles and other miscellaneous objects of interest, the proceeds from which will go toward the building fund of the Hillside School at Marlboro.

On Wednesday, Dec. 29, the 50th anniversary of the Wayside Inn Chapter will be celebrated with a covered dish luncheon and musical program at the vestry of the First Parish Church. Members of the chapters in surrounding towns will be invited. Highlights of the history of the chapter will be brought out in the afternoon's program.

At its November meeting the DAR voted to present an American flag to Girl Scout troop 14. This is in line with the organization's patriotic program of seeing that American flags are on display at or available to such organizations as Scouts, where they are needed.

Plan to Replace Old Stone Bridge

Boston papers reported last month that Gov. Herter had approved an appropriation of $100,000 to replace the old stone bridge on Stone Bridge Road, between Wayland and Framingham.

The exact age of this stone structure is not generally known. One local tradition, however, says that the famous cannon from Fort Ticonderoga, which were drawn to Boston on sleds in the Winter of 1775 and 1776, crossed the Sudbury River on this bridge because it was the only one sturdy enough to bear their weight.

ONE OF TWO ROUTES

Old records show two main routes to the West from Watertown in the 1600s. They separated at what's now Red Coach Grill. Plain Road, the road to Sudbury, went to the right, and Old Connecticut Path, the old Indian trail, went to the left. What's now the State Road wasn't there. It's a modern improvement.

Before 1673, says the old history, there was a "horse bridge" over the Sudbury on Stone Bridge Road. And the name of the road came from a man named Stone, whose farm covered the present Riverview section. It was "Stone's Bridge Road".

Moreover, the neighborhood at the intersection of Old Connecticut Path and Stone Bridge Road, at some early day, was known, also according to tradition, as "Happy Hollow". The story is that there was a tavern or two around there, and it made the residents happy. Or something.

Junior Town House

John A. Brownell, of Concord Road, was elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Wayland Junior Town House at the annual meeting Nov. 1. Reports on the kindergarten, Boy and Girl Scouts, dancing classes, music lessons in the schools, and the Summer Arts and Crafts program, run jointly with the School Dept., were made. Richard W. Foster was chosen President.

Wheelock to Give "The Shoemaker" Dec. 11

The Wheelock College Players will be sponsored by the Center School PTO in their presentation of "The Shoemaker and the Elves" on Saturday, Dec. 11, at the High School auditorium. There will be two showings, one at 9:15 and one at 11 a.m. All children of Wayland elementary schools are invited to attend. Ticket sales will be conducted through the Center School and Cochituate School. Mr. Joseph Joyce is president of the PTO and Mr. Robert Charnock is in charge of plans for the play.

Cochituate Boat Club

George W. Clauson Jr. of 11 Lake Road, Cochituate, who moved out here recently because he likes the Town, is First Mate of the Cochituate Boat Club, a two-year-old organization dedicated to having some fun with outboards and sailboats on the Lake.

The Club started with half a dozen members, says Mr. Clauson, and now has 70. On Nov. 19 it had a dinner at Mansion Inn in honor of Mr. Carl Lydiard, superintendent of the Cochituate State Park.

About a dozen of the Club's members live in Cochituate and Wayland. Skipper is Joseph Winthrop of Brookline; purser is Ken Pease of Natick and yeoman is Budd Hurwitz of Newton.

A number of members boats were lost in the 1954 hurricanes, says Mr. Clauson, but the value of those still afloat is around $100,000. Meetings of the club are held on the third Monday of every month except December. Any local persons interested may call Mr. Clauson, who says the club is by no means exclusive.

Mrs. Newman to Speak to LWV

The annual holiday tea of the League of Women Voters, to be held Wednesday, Dec. 8, at the vestry of the First Parish Church, will feature a talk by Mrs. Edwin Newman, member of the state legislature, and former vice-president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. Her subject will be "Individual Liberties," which has been a vital concern during her past two years as a member of the Massachusetts Commission to Investigate Communism. The tea will begin at 3 p.m.

November project of the League's discussion units was called "A League Revue, Where Do We Go From Here, Gals?" A "review" in two senses of the word, it featured a musical chorus of League members who presented in spritely song a genuine "review" of past achievements by the League in furthering various forms of legislation on a state level. Well attended unit meetings informed members about League program, as well as the musical and song-writing talents of the local organization. Libretto for the "review" was written by Mrs. Rudolph Bruce who also acted as producer-director.

KIWANIS

The Kiwanis Club of Wayland will hold its Christmas party at the Marlboro Country Club at 7 p.m. on Dec. 7. For some reason, the Club describes this location as a bistro.

Honor Teachers At Large Dinner

The testimonial dinner at Ten Acres, on November 3, honoring Miss Maude E. Merrithew and Miss A. Marion Simpson, was attended by 350 friends, former pupils and graduates of Wayland High School. Both teachers retired Oct. 1, 1954.

Miss Merrithew, head of the business department, began her teaching duties at Wayland High in 1921. Starting the year book and serving as senior adviser are only two of the many activities which she pioneered.

Miss Simpson, teacher of languages, began her teaching days in Wayland in 1924. She served as junior adviser and in many other capacities.

Together their outstanding service did much to mold the lives of hundreds of students. From 1921 to 1954 they have guided 760 graduates. The response to the testimonial dinner was a small way of saying "Thank You" for many years of faithful, efficient, and beneficent service to the youth of Wayland.

Fall flowers decorated all tables. Class pennants designated the tables for graduates to renew acquaintances with "old classmates". The ushers, were Mr. Roger Mills '26, Mr. John Yeager '28, Mr. Eugene Rumpel '54, Mr. Edward Powers '55 (president), and Mr. Samuel Russell '45.

Telegrams and letters were received from over 60 graduates who were unable to be present. Communications came from such far off places as Germany, California, Texas, New York, South Carolina, Washington, D.C., Wisconsin and Oregon. Although words were not necessary to express the love and admiration their former pupils have for Miss Merrithew and Miss Simpson, telegrams were read from Robert Dolan '23 of California, Thomas Lyons '30 of Wisconsin and former Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Owen Kiernan of Milton. Letters were read from Joseph Vacaro, Jr. '51 with the U.S. Army in Germany, James Linnehan of Texas, and Sandy Hardy of Washington, D.C.

Reverend George Hodgkins of the Congregational Church gave the invocation and Reverend William Carty, pastor of St. Ann's Church gave the benediction.

Seated at the head table with the honored guests were Reverend and Mrs. George Hodgkins, Reverend William Carty, Thomas F. Linnehan, '22 general chairman; Richard Bishop, '32 master of ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. David Allen, Kendall Dickey, '41 and Mr. Francis Gladu.

Following the dinner Mr. Linnehan welcomed the guests and introduced Richard Bishop '32, a prominent attorney in Medford as the master of ceremonies. Mr. Bishop delighted the audience with stories and encomiums of the two honored guests. Among the tributes paid them during the evening was the observation that after 30 years in Wayland they remain "salubrious, not opulent and sagacious."

David Allen, PhD., principal from 1918 to 1944, gave a short talk on the growth of Wayland High, which was warmly applauded by the graduates.

RECEIVE $400

Mr. Francis Gladu presented Miss Merrithew and Miss Simpson with greenback bouquets of over $400. Mr. Dickey, announced that the honored guests would receive a picture album, which would contain 25 pictures of the testimonial dinner and a signed guest book.

Entertainment was as follows: Solo by Miss Mary Cahill, '49: "I Only Have Eyes For You" "With a Song In My Heart."

Dance by Miss Eileen Costello, '51: "In Appreciation" by Miss Irene Muhlbery, '49, Miss Esther Nesbit, '49, Miss Mary Cahill, '49, Mrs. Shirley Schofield, '49, Mr. George Driscoll, '51, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Woods, '51.

The song, "In Appreciation," set to the tune of "Love's Old Sweet Song" was written by Eileen Costello and sung by graduates with all guests joining in the chorus:

Just a song to thank you
For the things you've done
Since your days in Wayland
To an end have come
To you our Miss Simpson and Miss Merrithew
We are here to offer
Our fond adieu
Our mem'ries will be of you.

Testimonial Dinner Committee included: Thomas F. Linnehan, '22, Miss Beverly Barr, '52, Mrs. Jane Campbell, Miss Eileen Costello, '51, Kendall Dickey, '41, Miss Ann DiModica, '50, Mrs. Mabel Draper, Mrs. Mary McNeil, Roger Mills, '26, Edward Perry, '43, Miss Diane O'Neil, '52, Edward Powers, '55, Mrs. Mae Stickney, '23, Mrs. Doris Woods, '22, Eugene Rumpel, '54, Francis Ward, '23, Mrs. Gloria Schleicher, '42, and John Yeager, '28.

STUDY RECREATION

Several Town organizations have been studying the problem of recreation in Wayland, so far without making any definite recommendations. The League of Women Voters has held a number of sessions on this subject. The Junior Town House Association has appointed Dunbar Holmes, Mrs. Marjorie Larkin and W. Maxwell Griffin to be a committee on recreation. The Way-Co Baseball Committee is also much interested.

CENTER SCHOOL PTO

An Open-House for parents at the Center School will be conducted by the PTO on Thursday, Dec. 2, in the rooms at the school. Teachers will be happy to receive parents, and to talk about work on exhibit by the children. Coffee will be served by the room mothers at 7:30.

Local Talent Helps Complete Parish House

In the tradition of their New England forefathers, the men of the Trinitarian Congregational Church have put their shoulders to the shovel, the plane, and the paint-brush during recent autumn Saturdays, to help finish the new parish house. Finding the essential structure fairly well completed early in November, willing volunteers organized work-crews for interior decorating and finishing, exterior grading, and the installation of the drainage system around the building. This made it possible to move church school classes into the first floor rooms early in November.

Not to be out-done by this community building-bee, the women of the church have provided the workmen with good, hearty hot lunches each Saturday.

Headed up by Building Committee members Frank Smith, Henry Smith, Ken Emery, and Doug Surgenor, the following have given Saturday hours of labor: Bob Hatch, Ed Williams, Bill Stahl, Bob Charnock, Wally Allen, Frank MacKenna, Dick Hewitt, George Andrews, Norman Barrett, George Hodgkins, Doc Young, Ed Rigney, Ed Scanlan, Bill Fluhr, Al Turner, Andrew Thomas, Bill Minty, Ken Fluhr, Charlie Cole, Neven Kather, Ronald Sharpe, Roger Mills, Sheldon Kennedy, Sheldon McEwan, Dick Fuller, Floyd Wilkinson.

ROBERT A. SANDERSON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Sanderson of Cochituate Road, is among the 34 advanced students and 197 freshmen entering Rhode Island School of Design this fall.

Miss Scannell Resigns

Miss Ruth H. Scannell, who has been librarian for the Wayland Public Library since July 1953, has tendered her resignation, effective Dec. 1. Appointment of a new librarian is expected by the end of the year.

Raytheon to Build

Too Late for Page 1, Raytheon announced that construction of its new laboratory, to cost nearly a million and a half dollars, would begin Monday, Nov. 29. Date of completion was not given.

Archeologists— Why Should They Have all the Fun?

What's needed in this Town is a Wayland Trash Exchange, to liven up weekend visits to the dump and to promote the velocity of rubbish.

As things are now, people are always carrying tempting bits, the end products of a high standard of living, down to the dump and throwing them away.

This promotes envy and covetousness. The trash in the other fellow's barrel often looks better than what is in one's own. And one would get it, too, if he had the courage to pick it off the pile with everybody watching him.

It has been suggested that this shamefaced attitude is pure snobbery. Breathes there the man with soul so dead he never felt an impulse to rescue a pair of pretty fair looking shoes before they got filled with ashes and broken glass? But under present circumstances he dares not do what comes naturally. Nobody knows how many pretty good shoes have been lost on these dumps, just because of this fear of public opinion.

Much more wholesome would be the placing of all transactions at the dump on a public basis.

Too often, in the past, local dump dealings have been carried on surreptitiously. There's the story of the wastebasket with red roses painted on it, which went to the dump seven times, each time to be recovered secretly by somebody else. Finally, this wastebasket turned up at a local rummage sale, where it was bought for 50 cents by a woman who subsequently moved to Deaf Smith County, Texas, and took it with her.

Had there been a Trash Exchange, some art lover in the crowd would have smashed that wastebasket in the beginning, and saved Deaf Smith a good deal of trouble.

And trash transactions on the dump would provide good business training for the little children who so often accompany their parents do these archeological deposits.

Imagine the education value, to the child, in watching the brisk haggling, as the owner of a used Marilyn Monroe calendar seeks to swap it for a MacArthur button.

And why shouldn't a 10-year-old overcoat be swapped for a cracked golf club, or a few bundles of old personal letters for somebody else's book of check stubs? Or an old cook book for some electrical appliances burned out during Carol?

Why, this thing could be like the Stock Exchange. And if it works here it might be put on an inter-town basis. Local persons might be able to swap for some of that high-class Weston trash, or, just for curiosity, find out what Sudbury and Lincoln people are carrying around in the backs of their $300 ranch wagons.

At least, open transactions would be more wholesome. It has been said that there are two kinds of people who go to the dump: those who go to leave stuff and those who go to get stuff. Let us do something to abolish this class distinction. Let everybody take something and let everybody bring something back.

In this way, too, everybody can get rid of his dull old junk and get some fascinating new junk.

The Exchange, of course, will need officers: President, Board of Governors, House Committee, Site Committee . . . And a slogan. How about, "There's Fun in Hash, Why Not in Trash"?— D.B.W.

An outdoor Christmas pageant will be given on the steps of the First Parish Church by children of the Sunday School on Sunday, Dec. 19 at 5 p.m.

5 Won and 1 Lost Up to Weston Game

With a record of five won and one lost up to the Weston game, Wayland High School football team had its best record in years.

The game with Weston, scheduled for Nov. 20, was postponed on account of rain and wet grounds to Wednesday, Nov. 24.

A star of the team was Tommy Longtine, who made 84 points on 14 touchdowns in the season.

The scores:

Wayland, 19, Westboro, 0
Wayland 39, Wilmington, 6
Wayland 0, Bridgewater, 13
Wayland, 20, Ashland, 6
Wayland, 44, Westwood, 14
Wayland, 25, Dracut, 19

Coach Ralph Salvati received many congratulations on the team's success, and so did the boys themselves.

Mrs. Dorothy M. Harrington
Wayland, Massachusetts

Dear Dorothy:

This is our first formal acknowledgment of your September 18th letter of resignation as Town Accountant effective October 31.

Because of your deep interest in town affairs and your exceptional ability for the efficient administration of your duties, first as secretary to the Assessors and then as Town Accountant, we were greatly disturbed that your loyal services to the Town should terminate. We were hopeful to the very end that you might have a change of mind and hence your successor was not selected until after your resignation became finally effective.

We are grateful for your personal contribution to the successful administration of Town affairs during your years of service and we hope that at some later date your talents may again be available to the Town of Wayland.

With every good wish for your personal happiness we are, sincerely,

Add Latin to High School Curriculum

Report on changes in the Wayland High School curriculum, from Superintendent of School Rexford S. Souder and Headmaster W. M. Griffin:

In the college course, Latin III has been added. It's the first time in 20 years that three years of Latin have been offered.

Last year the pupils in one section out of three in the ninth grade were preparing for college. This year two sections out of three are headed towards college.

French III is being offered this year. The third year of French has sometimes been given, sometimes not.

The school continues to offer four years of mathematics, four of science, four of social studies and four of English.

Classes in music and art appreciation are offered as electives.

Four classes in Typing I are being given, three of them for students who just want to master the typewriter for personal convenience. These classes are electives, for those who can fit them into their schedules.

Christmas Sale at First Parish Dec. 4

An afternoon of activity will take place in the vestry of the First Parish Church Saturday, Dec. 4, when the Women's Alliance holds its annual Christmas Sale from 1 to 5 p.m. There will be all kinds of Christmas gifts—holiday foods, aprons, household articles, First Parish tiles and note paper, cook-books, knitted and crocheted articles, as well as wrappings and decorations to beautify the Christmas season. For the pleasure of visitors at the sale, there will be grabs for children, and a snack-bar offering hot-dogs, coffee, soft drinks, and brownies. Mrs. Frederick Walther is president of the Alliance.

Recent Deaths

CHARLES W. FAIRBANK, 86, native and life-long Cochituate and Wayland resident, died Oct. 31 following a brief illness. A former Wayland highway surveyor, he kept a large stable with horses and horse-drawn equipment for various local home and farm needs until about ten years ago.

His sister, Miss Lillian E. Fairbank, with whom he lived at 125 Main Street, Cochituate, is his sole survivor. Reverend George C. Gutekunst conducted services Wednesday, November 3, and Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher was organist.

THOMAS J. O'DONNELL, 84, who resides with his daughters, Mrs. Frank J. Maley and Mrs. Thomas F. Murray, at 4 East Commonwealth Road, Cochituate, died Friday, Nov. 12, at his home. The funeral took place on Monday with a solemn high mass of requiem in St. Zepherin's Church.

ERNEST A. POTTER, 72, formerly of Woodland Road, Cochituate, more recently of 173 North Main Street, Natick, died October 20 following a brief illness. A retired maintenance man at the Park Square Building, Boston, he leaves his wife, Berla M. (Morrison) Potter, and a son, Elwin A. Potter, of Framingham. Services and interment took place on Saturday, Oct. 23, with Reverend Paul D. Tiller, Minister of the First Congregational Church of Natick, officiating.

JAMES HUTCHINSON, infant son of Robert and Yolanda Hutchinson of 6 Waring Road in the "Wethersfield" section, parishioners at St. Zepherin's Parish, died Oct. 26 in Leonard Morse Hospital, Natick. Philip G. McGinty officiated at services in St. Zepherin's cemetery.

MRS. EUNICE M. BARRY, 51, formerly of Cochituate, died recently at her home in Altadena, California. Services and interment took place Sunday, Nov. 7, with Reverend George C. Gutekunst, pastor of Cochituate Methodist Church, officiating.

MRS. NELLIE E. WOOD, 77, recently of Cochituate, formerly of Natick and Framingham, died Oct. 12 in the Cochituate Nursing Home following a long illness. A native of New Bedford, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. William A. Robb of Framingham.

(Funeral services for the above were held from the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home.)

School Growth—

for all 12 grades, is 1323. Next year, 1475. After that, 1573. Next, 1714. Then 1802 and, in 1959, 1912. That is, the figures predict that within five years the local enrolment will have increased by 50 percent.

The figures for class rooms: In 1954, there are 51. Needed during the next five years, they predict, will be 55, 57, 62, and 70.

Since the present High School was built, back in 1934, additions and new buildings in the school system have been financed by the 20-year bond issues. (The last payment on the original High School building—not its additions—was made last June.) The Commonwealth reimburses the Town, under a complicated formula, for part of new building costs. At present the rate is around 45 percent.

Also of help in financing the school building program is the steadily increasing valuation of the Town. In 1951 it was $8,068,000; in 1952, $9,043,000; in 1953, $10,432,000; in 1954, $11,787,000. And the projection of future increases, made conservatively and without reference to the Raytheon establishment, shows a valuation of $15,700,000 by 1960. Taxes on increased valuation, of course, tend to keep the rate down.

The committees also have been studying maps stuck with colored pins showing the places where are the houses, the school children and the pre-school children. These maps show where the school population lives. One of the objects in planning new schools is to eliminate bus transportation where possible.

After studying all this evidence, the Site Committee came to the conclusion that the Plain Road location is the best for the next unit in the system.

The Site Committee has also looked for a location in the southeast part of Town, near Oak Street. Much building is already going in that region, and there are reports that soon there may be more. Sites in North Wayland are also being investigated. Eventually, it is believed, there will have to be five elementary schools: Cochituate, Center, Happy Hollow, Oak Street district and North Wayland.

Oddly enough, these locations would come near following the pattern of a century ago, when one-room rural schools were scattered around the Town. The modern schools would be in nearly the same locations as the old ones.

Also in the picture, but six or seven years away, is a new senior high school. The projections say that the day is coming when the present junior-senior building will be large enough only for the junior pupils, and educators say the present excellent building is better suited for junior high use.

Every step in this long-range program is, of course, subject to approval by the voters in Town Meeting. And, if it's any consolation to the taxpayers, what's outlined here is the whole story, so far as can be seen now.

Cochituate Garden Club

A workshop on "How to Make Corsages" will be conducted by Mrs. Charles Matthews for the Cochituate Garden Club's meeting on Thurs., Dec. 9, to begin at one o'clock, at the Cochituate Community Methodist Church. Dessert will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Peter Wanecek.

Old Country Fair

An "Old Country Fair" will be given by the Women's Society of the Cochituate Community Methodist Church on Wednesday, Dec. 1 from 2 to 9 p.m. and Thursday, Dec. 2 from 2 to 8 p.m. The second evening, there will be a supper served at 6:30.

Sunday, Dec. 26 ,Family Sunday. Church School children will attend the 11 a.m. service with their parents.

Historical Society To Discuss Old Houses

Members of the newly-formed Wayland Historical Society have had the idea that work projects might be better than formal meetings, and in line with the new idea they are to have a session in the Shaw Room of the Public Library at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Dec. 13, to consider a specific phase of local history.

On this evening, it's proposed to talk about the first 10 houses on Old Sudbury Road, going northwest from the Center. People who live in those houses, and all other persons in Town who may be interested, are particularly invited to be present.

A Loan Plan that Really Helps . . . .

THIS SEASON OF THE YEAR frequently presents financial problems which are not best solved by monthly payment loans.

MONTHLY PAYMENT LOANS definitely have their place and, of course, we offer such accommodation on a truly flexible basis.

OUR NEW AUTOMOBILE "PACKAGE LOAN PLAN" offers numerous advantages to individuals or families desiring to take the "strain" from their budgets at this season.

THIS "PACKAGE LOAN PLAN" is offered to local residents, property owners and others who have settled permanently in this community.

THE "PACKAGE LOAN PLAN" will furnish you the money to pay your present automobile loan in full and in addition will loan you the extra cash you may be able to use, for any purpose. NO MONTHLY PAYMENTS are required under this plan for the first six months and thereafter you can virtually name your own terms, for any period up to twenty-four months.

YOU KEEP YOUR INDEPENDENCE when you borrow here. Your insurance coverages, including collision, may be placed with your own favorite broker. All dealings are strictly confidential and no inquiries are made from employer, relatives, neighbors or friends.

INVESTIGATE THIS LOCAL SERVICE and the new reduced schedule of rates. Compare this plan with others and see its advantages. See what a help this new plan can be to your present budget. This service is privately owned by a lifelong local resident and all who borrow here are assured that they will know the exact costs, in advance.

DPIA to Hold First Clothing Sale Dec. 3

A clothing exchange and food sale will be held by the Dudley Pond Improvement Association on Friday, Dec. 3 at the clubhouse on Old Connecticut Path. The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Regular exchanges will be held regularly on the first Friday of each month.

Persons contributing clothing and other articles will receive 80% of the sale price, and the club the other 20%. Articles should be delivered at the clubhouse on the preceding Thursday between 12 and 4 p.m. in good condition, cleaned, pressed and priced. Inquiries should be directed to Mrs. Horace Knaack, OL 3-0479, or Mrs. Edward Coe, OL 3-7178.

First whist party of the season will be held on Saturday, Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. Proceeds are for the Children's Christmas party. Admission is 50c.

A Teenagers canteen will have its initial session on Friday, Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. Admission is 25c, plus refreshment charge. Teenagers interested may contact the committee by calling Mrs. William Morris, OL 3-6649.

A drive for new members is now underway, chairmanned by Mrs. William Hall, OL 3-0857.

Study Kindergarten

Foremost activity of the Cochituate PTA during November and December is the study of kindergarten possibilities, which was inaugurated at the October meeting by the appointment of a committee under the temporary chairmanship of Mr. Meyer Landsberg. Several meetings have been held, and plans are going forward for a report to the Association at its next meeting in January. Working with Mr. Landsberg on the project are Mrs. John Arnold, Mrs. Patrick Amidon, Mr. Charles Clark, Mr. Melvin Stone, and Mr. Charles Burgess.

NEW NEIGHBORS

New items about your "New Neighbors" shiuld be sent on postcard to Wayland Town Crier, Wayland, or telephoned to Mrs. Arthur E. Grannis Jr., HIlltop 3-2374.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Paul Moorehead and their child from South Natick have bought the Willam Sarsfield house on Bow rd. The Sarsfields are temporarily living in Waltham while their new house on Plain rd. is being built.

The Editor erred in reporting that the Philip T. Lanes had moved to New Hampshire. As a matter of fact, they are living in a new house they built in no more remote a spot than Concord Road.

NUMBERS GAME

Mrs. J. Gordon Baldwin, clerk of the Wayland Planning Board, says the Board wishes to thank all those who have sent in corrections for street numbers published in the recent supplement of the Town Crier.

The Board, she says, asks all others who have corrections to send them in. A corrected list of street numbers is to be printed with the Town Report next March, and it will help to have the correct numbers in early.

The corrections may be mailed to Planning Board, Town Hall, Wayland, Mass.

Christmas Oratorio To Be Sung Dec. 5

The Christmas concert of the Community Chorus of Wayland, Weston and Sudbury this year features a new program,—"The Christmas Oratorio", by Johann Sebastian Bach.

On Sunday afternoon, Dec. 5—at 4, the concert will be given in Wayland High School Auditorium. Once again, Chester W. Williams, Dean of the New England Conservatory of Music, is conducting the Chorus, which will be accompanied by the Community Orchestra.

The soprano part will be sung by Miss Anne English, who sang at Tanglewood last Summer.

The tenor will be Edward Munro, 1953 winner of the Handel and Haydn Scholarship, who is now studying at the New England Conservatory under Frederick Jaegel; and the bass will be George Fortune, a student at the New England Conservatory. The alto is Natalie Pakkanen.

Wayland Garden Club

A workshop on Christmas decorations will be the project of the Wayland Garden Club at its meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 14, in the Shaw Room at the Wayland Library. Starting at 10 a.m., members will spend the day creating holiday centerpieces and other decorations. All are requested to bring sandwiches. Coffee and cookies will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. John Hyland.

School Sites Needed—

Committee to Report at Town Meeting

The School Site Committee was created at a Special Town Meeting in October, 1952, to prepare recommendations concerning the acquisition of school sites. The first recommendation by the Committee of the Happy Hollow School site was approved at the March, 1953, Town Meeting. The following is the report and recommendations the Committee will make at the Special Town Meeting on December 8.

The Committee has brought its studies of the distribution of elementary school pupils and pre-school children up to date. Distribution studies of existing houses, building permits, houses on existing streets and houses in future subdivisions have been thoroughly revised following the rezoning voted in November, 1953.

These studies indicate a need for three elementary school sites in addition to the Cochituate and Happy Hollow Schools.

With lot size in most of the Town now set at 40,000 and 60,000 square feet, the density of future housing will be much less. The Committee is accordingly recommending that elementary sites be placed nearest the greatest numbers of existing and potential homes. This brings the sites in relationship to areas which are already considerably built up. The south and southwest areas are served by the Cochituate and Happy Hollow Schools.

North Wayland, Wayland Center and Southeast Wayland represent the three sections where elementary school sites need to be acquired to provide for the school enrolment which will come as houses continue to be built. The time when schools will be needed on these sites will depend upon the rate and location of future building.

At the present time the pre-school population, houses, and recent building permits are distributed in these three areas as follows:

	Pre-school Pupils	1/1/53 Houses	9/1/52-7/31/54 Building Permits
North Wayland	93	149	48
Wayland Center	297	508	51
Southeast Wayland	103	149	40

Each of the areas has very substantial opportunity for future growth through housing on existing roads and through sub-divisions. The Cochituate School is able to provide for the Cochituate area, only, at the present time. As the Happy Hollow School area continues to develop, portions of the Center and Southeast areas now served by this school will need to be provided for by schools on the new sites.

The Center School, built in 1897, is located at the extreme western edge of the present and future population of Wayland Center. It was apparent that any new elementary school facilities designed to serve this area should be located elsewhere. A site north of the Post Road and midway between the Weston-Wayland line and Concord Road has the best relation to housing in the area.

An open site located on the southerly side of Plain Road and between Glen Road and Draper Road remains as farm land. Considering the amount of housing in this area, the town is fortunate to have a well located site available.

When and if a school is built on the Plain Road site the Center School will become available to house extra students who cannot be provided for in the other schools. This type of use has several advantages:

1. The building would continue to be useful for many years to house some Junior High academic classes when the Junior-Senior High School becomes overcrowded in 1957. This use can delay the construction of a new High School building for several years.
2. Elementary pupils in each section of Town would normally be housed in reasonably equivalent facilities.
3. Housing developments can become more completely accomplished before the Town needs to make appropriations to build additional schools.

Map No. 1 shows the relationship of this site to the surrounding area. At the present time there are 149 pre-school children living within walking distance of the school. This number will increase substantially since more than 300 additional houses can be built in the area. It costs more than $3,000 per year for each school bus. Locating the site near pupils' homes will result in substantial savings.

School Site—

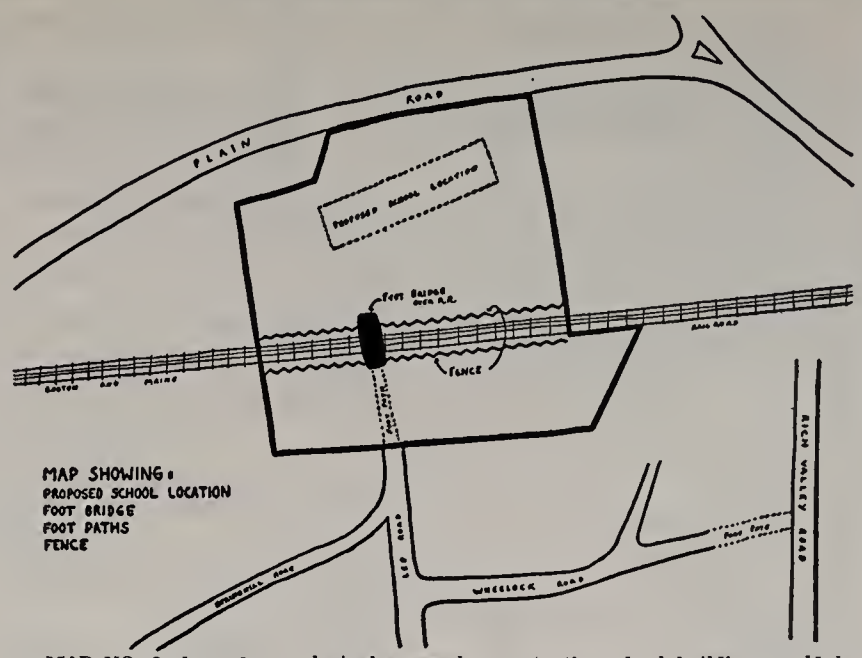
The Committee is recommending the acquisition of this site at a Special Town meeting called by the Selectmen for December 8 for the following reasons:

1. The site north of the railroad is quite level and thus economical for the construction of a building and the development of play areas.
2. The site with its 20 acres north of the railroad is very adequate in size permitting development of the building and playgrounds so there will be minimum interference with the four abutters. The 15 acres of marginal and sub-marginal land south of the railroad is needed for access.
3. The site has sufficient frontage on Plain Road for easy access to the school building.
4. All utilities are available from Plain Road.
5. The location on a secondary road minimizes noise and traffic hazards.
6. The land provides excellent drainage and good conditions for waste disposal.
7. Approaches from the south can be arranged to provide maximum safety for children. The Site Committee feels that an overpass foot bridge should be provided at the railroad crossing and that the railroad should be fenced, even though only local train service is provided on the one-track line. Access routes are shown on Map No. 2. Many children now walking across the railroad and the Post Road in the center will no longer meet these hazards. Post Road hazards will be eliminated for children in the Wheelock and Rich Valley areas.



MAP NO. 2 shows how principal access by car to the school building would be from Plain Road. Footbridge over B & M tracks from Lee Road would bring school within walking distance to children living in area just to South of site. A footpath is also planned between Rich Valley Road and Wheelock Road.

The Committee is recommending the acquisition of the Wayland Center Site now because the area is largely built up, and delay might make it necessary to accept a less desirable and more costly site. It is understood by the Committee that the land has recently been sold. If eminent domain proceedings become necessary this sale should prove helpful in establishing a fair price.

The Committee has sites in North Wayland and Southeast Wayland under study and plans to make recommendations in these areas in the near future. It is the belief of the Committee that the Town's best interest will be served by having sites reserved in advance of the full development of an area whenever possible.

First National Store And Louie Bow Out

The First National Store in Wayland which Lewis F. Graves managed for 25 years closed its doors on November 13. All day long Louie's friends and customers poured in to make last purchases, wish him well, and pay up bills. During the morning he was presented with a purse of $235., contributed by many of his customers.

Louie came to the little store on State Road East in March, 1929, from Framingham Center. Since that time he became an institution, not only because of the products he sold, but because of his unruffled demeanor in the face of impatient customers and his willingness to cash checks.

On his new job at the First National's new supermarket on the Worcester Turnpike he will be in charge of the tea and coffee section. He lives at 1081 Worcester St., Framingham Center.

His comment: "I'm going to miss my friends, though."

Cochituate Motors Nine Wins State Tourney

Cochituate Motors softball team, sponsored by Howard Phillips, won the Massachusetts softball championship for the fifth time this year by beating Sacred Heart of Natick, 6 to 0, in the final game of the tournament at Coolidge Field, Natick.

Rollie Whelchel of Cochituate, home on leave from Camp Kilmer, pitched. Cochituate Motors won 27, lost 6 and tied 2 in 1954. Eddie Garvin was manager. He took the place of Robert C. Whelchel, who was manager for several years.

Hank Henry, a salesman for Cochituate Motors, pitched the Cochituate team to two ties, 2 to 2 and 4 to 4, against the aggregation of softball wizards led by the famous Eddie Feigner.

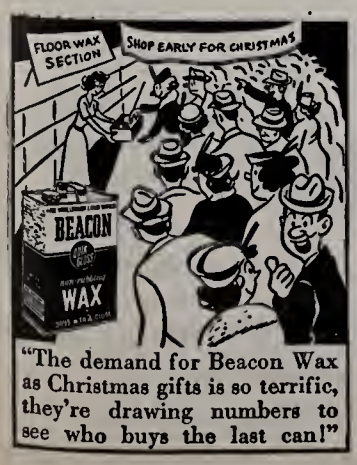
'Beacon Wax' is Best Buy for Brilliant Christmas Gleam
NEW SCIENCE DISCOVERY GIVES 'BEACON' THE HARDEST AND BRIGHTEST GLOSS
The brilliant lasting gleam that 'Beacon Wax' reflects throughout the house makes it a big favorite. Especially, on Christmas and other holiday times. No wonder 'Beacon Wax' is one of the world's largest selling floor waxes. Its longer-lasting shine makes 'Beacon' the world's biggest floor wax bargain. 'Beacon' amazingly stops floor scuffing where ordinary waxes don't.



"The demand for Beacon Wax as Christmas gifts is so terrific, they're drawing numbers to see who buys the last can!"

Annual Listing Commences Jan. 3

The "Annual Town Listing of Residents 20 Years of Age and Over" will commence January 3. Town Clerk Leila Sears points out that the listing is made by the Registrars of Voters. In the larger towns and cities this usually is carried out by the local police, and many persons refer to it as the "Police Listing" even though the Registrars really are responsible.

In Wayland, Miss Sears explains, our full-time police force is small, and its few members have plenty to do. So the Registrars choose their own team of assistants and go to work on the listing with a complete door-to-door canvass of the town. Beginning the first Monday in January, they plug away at it until every house has been covered.

This year, in addition to the usual Annual Listing, the Board of Registrars and their assistants will take the Decennial Census for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. While the two listings are made under separate, and in some respects quite different regulations, the information for both listings will be taken all at once, along with the annual preschool census and dog-listing.

BIGGER JOB

This means a much bigger job for each enumerator, and householders are asked to help make each call as quick, accurate and complete as possible. "Do not be afraid to admit the workers to your homes," Miss Sears requests, "nor be afraid to give the information asked

Elmwood Phones Up 18 per cent Since Jan. 1

The number of telephones in the Elmwood exchange increased by 18 per cent between Jan. 1, 1954, and Oct. 31, 1954, reports Manager Eugene Murphy of the Natick office.

In the same period, the number of phones in the Olympic exchange, which includes both Natick and Cochituate, increased by 10 per cent, from 9,788 to 10,799. The Elmwood increase was from 1,029 to 1,218.

Since July, says Mr. Murphy, neither Wayland nor Natick has had any customers on a waiting list for service. It's the first time since Pearl Harbor there has been no waiting list.

Regional School Plan Out; No Bridegroom

The report of the Wayland Regional School District Study Committee, given at the Dec. 8 special Town Meeting, was summarized in its first conclusion, which was:

"Even if Wayland should be willing to be a radiant bride, she could not at present find a handsome bridegroom; and that fact by itself makes it obvious that a regional high school for the Town is not now feasible."

No action on this report was taken.

There were three main points in the 3000-word report, which, alas, there is not space enough to print here in full.

But it says:

1. Lincoln and Sudbury, with urgent need of a new high school, don't want to have their problem complicated now by the possible entrance of a third party. Weston wants to go it alone. That leaves nobody else.

2. Wayland High School has been improving and should continue to make satisfactory progress.

3. Four or five years from now, when the growth of the Town will probably necessitate the building of a new Senior High School, this subject should be ex-

Plans are Voted for New Office Building

The Town voted, with only a few dissenting, to spend $5000 for plans for a new Town Office Building, to be built on land in the Center given for the purpose more than 25 years ago. This building, to include a fire station and civil defense quarters, would be placed well back from Cochituate Road, on the plot between State Road East, Cochituate Road and Millbrook Road.

The Fire Department's exit would be on Millbrook Road. Quarters for all Town departments would be provided. At present, some Town business is conducted in private homes, because there isn't room in the old Town Hall.

Cost of the building would be between $125,000 and $175,000. Construction would be simple and serviceable, like that of the Cochituate fire station.

Lights on Mill Pond Attract Many Skaters

Thanks to lights installed at the Millpond by George W. Shepard, Donald K. Ide and others, with $300 appropriated last March through the Park Department, there was night skating on the pond many nights in December.

The work of putting up the lights was all done by volunteers, as was the snow removal and the scraping. Three lights were up, and it was planned to install half a dozen more, so that there would be illumination for both hockey games and plain skating.

The Millpond is so situated that it freezes early and smoothly every year. The wooded ridge along its West side keeps the sun from it most of the day and also keeps off the wind.

What happens most years is that there's good skating on it for a short time early in December, after which snows and thaws ruin the surface. It's nobody's job to clean it off. Some would like to have a connection with a water main, so that the pond could be flooded occasionally.

Plain Road Site Is Voted Down

As a result of the unexpected defeat, at the special Town Meeting of Dec. 8, of the article calling for the acquisition for a school site of a 35-acre tract fronting on Plain Road, the school building program timetable was upset, and the situation was left somewhat in the air.

Here is what happened:

The Site Committee, of which Harvey C. Newton of the School Committee is chairman, recommended acquisition of the land, of which 20 acres are north of the railroad tracks and 15 acres, partly swamp, are south of the tracks.

The idea was to put a foot bridge over the tracks and build footpaths connecting the bridge with Rich Valley Road and the Wheelock development, so that children from those areas could walk to school. This would save much bus expense, it was said, and would allow children to stay after school for activities more conveniently.

AROUSES OPPOSITION

Opposition came from people living in the Rich Valley Road area. They objected to the bridge, to the high tension line overhead, to having children walk through the swamp. Some said they'd prefer to have the children go to school by bus.

When the vote came, after a long and rather sharp debate, it was 121 in favor and 90 against. As a two-thirds vote was needed, the article was defeated.

What happens next, according to a spokesman for the Site Committee, is this:

At the regular Town Meeting in March, or at a special Town Meeting under consideration for January, the Town will again be offered the Plain Road site, with an alternative site on Claypit Hill Road, 2000 feet to the north of the Plain Road field.

The special Town Meeting was not definite at the time of going to press. But its purpose was to maintain the school building schedule. The figures

Robert C. Wheichel, director of the Way-Co Baseball Committee program, says that plans are being made for an enlarged program for next Summer. In the program, he thinks, will be 300 boys in 12 Little League teams, four Pony League teams and one older team, the latter to include boys up to their 18th birthdays.

Audubon Society has a new service like the automatic time and weather services provided by the telephone company. Just call KEnmore 6-4050, and 30 seconds of recorded current news about birds will come off the wire. Moreover, at the end of the 30 seconds one will hear a double signal, at which he may report and have recorded any unusual bird observation he may have made. Now, if anybody sees a downy woodburner . . .

Dead Man's Curve has been so much improved that automobiles go around it much more rapidly than ever.

Fred Tassinari and Ralph Marotte have been elected co-captains of the Wayland High School football team for 1955.

The Fire Department party for Tom Barr was only slightly interrupted by an alarm for an automobile fire near Mathews Drive. It caught Chief Haynes between the roast beef and the ice cream, but he says he got back in time for the coffee. No damage. During Chief Haynes' vacation in Florida, Assistant Chief Homer L. MacDonald was in charge of the Department.

Cooney Weiland Buys House

The home of the late Dr. J. Penteado Bill on Old Sudbury Road has been bought by Cooney Weiland, former Boston Bruins hockey star who is now coach of the Harvard hockey team. The house is to be remodelled and the Weilands, it is said, won't move in until Spring.

DAR Chapter Holds Anniversary Party

A golden anniversary party, commemorating the 50 years since the founding of Wayside Inn Chapter, DAR, was held in the vestry of the First Parish Church, Dec. 29. After cutting a handsome birthday cake, gift of Mrs. John Erwin, guests from neighboring chapters, former members of the local chapter who no longer live here, and present members enjoyed a program which featured the Bedford Bell Ringers and the reading of an original poem by Mrs. William M. McKenzie of Newtown, Conn., a charter member of Wayside Inn Chapter. The committee in charge of planning the anniversary luncheon were Mrs. John Hill and Miss Georgiana Collins of Natick and Mrs. Lizzy Dean of Framingham. The program was arranged by Mrs. Howard Lyford, regent; Mrs. Flora Cody; Mrs. Evelyn Salter of Sudbury; and Mrs. John Erwin.

The regular January meeting of the DAR will be held Saturday, Jan. 8, at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Salter in South Sudbury. "Looking Backward" will be the program theme of the day. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. George Gohike and Miss Emily Thompson.

PLAN DANCE COURSE

Twenty-two children in an area near Old Connecticut Path West have been signed for dancing lessons and a teacher from Natick has agreed to take the class. Depending on when Happy Hollow School goes into use, classes will be held Tuesday afternoons, beginning in January, with pre-school children at 2:15 p.m. and older ones at 3 p.m. Quarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, off Pine Ridge Road, have been offered free for the dancing course which is a neighborhood project.

League of Women Voters

Unit discussion groups of the League of Women Voters will meet Tuesday, Jan. 18 at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. John Gregory; Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Kimball Powning; Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. David Trageser; and Thursday, Jan. 20 at 2:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Cheney. Discussion subject will be "The Bill of Rights, in Relation to Individual Liberties."

Trumpets Heard in Christmas Observances

The trumpet was the instrument-of-the-month in Wayland during December. Roger Voisin, first trumpeter of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, startled an audience of 500 at the Community Chorus' performance of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio." He filled in at the last minute as a "substitute" playing the incredibly difficult "Bach trumpet" part.

A brass choir, inciudidng two trumpets, played from the belfry of the First Parish Church during the outdoor Christmas pageant. Norman Alstad and Richard Best played trumpets, and Lester MacArthur the baritone horn, and Arthur Sargent, trombone.

A trumpet, played by Norman Alstad, also accompanied the Boy and Giri Scouts in their caroi sing on the steps of the Library.

Marjorie Ferris New Librarian

Miss Marjorie R. Ferris is the new Librarian in Wayland, taking the place of Miss Ruth Scannell, who resigned last month.

Miss Ferris was graduated from Syracuse University with a degree in library science. She spent six years in small town libraries in New York State and two years in the Boston Public Library. For the past nine years she has been working in the Harvard Law School Library, where she is the assistant in charge of the assignment division.

New Four-Arch Bridge Proposal

The building of a new bridge and causeway to replace the dangerous bridges, including the "4-arch bridge," on Old Sudbury Road was discussed at a hearing early in December in the office of Public Works Commissioner John Volpe. It was just about approved, it is reported, when another solution to the problem was suggested.

The new proposal, which involves building two miles of new road but no new bridge, is being studied by the State engineers. If they find it feasible, more hearings will be held.

The suggestion is that a road be built from Route 20 about opposite the dump, on the West side of the Sudbury River, to connect with Old Sudbury Road on the same side of the river.

This would not involve closing the present bridges or the present old Sudbury Road. But the traffic flow could be so regulated that it would go along the new road to the State Road, eastbound, and signs could take the westbound traffic along the State Road through Wayland Center to the new cutoff. Only local persons familiar with the risk would use the old bridge.

Present at the hearing, for Wayland, were Gerald Henderson, selectman; Robert M. Morgan, finance committee; Frank S. Tarr, selectman; Rep. Howard S. Russell, Highway Surveyor Albert Potvin and J.O. Post Jr.

The first proposition discussed, says Mr. Henderson, was building the new causeway and bridge south of the present dangerous structures.

This, he says, Commissioner Volpe was prepared to go ahead with. The cost would be $200,000, and after discussion it was split this way:

The Commonwealth would pay 70 per cent, the County 20 per cent, Sudbury 4 per cent and Wayland 6 per cent. That would make Wayland's share, subject of course to Town Meeting vote, $12,000.

Then the alternative suggestion was put forward, and Mr. Volpe said he saw enough merit in it to have it looked into. Cost of the piece of new road, about two miles long, might be roughly estimated at $100,000, Mr. Henderson thinks.

WHS Association To Meet Jan. 12

The Wayland High School Association, the organization which throws a dinner for school athletes each Spring and buys jackets for boys and girls who win letters, has scheduled a series of meetings for the Winter season. They are planned for the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month beginning January 12 with sports films, coffee and doughnuts.

New officers are Russell T. Kerr, president; G. Prentis Richardson, vice president; Rudolph Bruce, secretary, and Harold V. Ward, treasurer.

All men and women in Town are eligible for membership.

Pair Who Broke and Entered are Captured

Two Framingham brothers, one a juvenile, were captured by Police Chief Ernest H. Damon last month after, it was believed, they had broken into two Wayland houses and stolen money, but they had to be released for lack of evidence. However, Framingham police arrested them for similar offenses in Framingham Center and they appeared in Framingham Court.

They broke into a house on Old Connecticut Path East on Dec. 10, it was said, and took $10. They broke a door window with a snowball and turned the knob from inside. Then they went to a house in Woodridge, where it was said they also took a small sum of money.

Recruiting Unpaid Auxiliary Firemen

Clifton Haynes, Chief of the Wayland Fire Department and W. R. Hulbert, Civil Defense Director, report that during the month of November recruiting of volunteer, unpaid Auxiliary Firemen for the Town Fire Department was commenced and a regular weekly program of instruction and training instituted. Nine auxiliaries have so far been enrolled and the Department hopes eventually to have an auxiliary force of thirty men.

Training and instruction are under the direction of auxiliary Fire Chief Frank Hartin. Sessions are held every Tuesday night at the Cochituate Station and all able-bodied men are invited to apply.

In connection with the Auxiliary Fire Department program, Hulbert pointed out that the Civil Defense rescue truck, which the Town hopes to acquire during the coming year, will be assigned to the Fire Department. Members of the Fire Department are now attending the State Civil Defense rescue school at Westboro, and Auxiliary Firemen will receive a full course of instruction in rescue work so that the Town will fully comply with State and Federal regulations pertaining to the acquisition of such equipment on a "matching fund" basis. Matching Funds means that the Federal Government pays half the bill.

Panel Discusses Languages, Books

A panel discussion on the Junior-Senior High School curriculum was held in the High School cafeteria at the meeting on December 6 of the High School P.T.A.

President Ernest P. Walston of the P.T.A. presided. On the panel were Mr. Joseph Boothroyd and Mrs. Mary Keenan of the faculty, Mr. William A. Waldron of the School Committee and Mrs. Elaine Colby and Mr. Frederick P. Walther. Sixty attended.

The questions and answers revealed:

A select group of 8th grade pupils, some A and B boys and girls, is now being taught Latin, three periods a week, as an experiment in the early teaching of languages.

Next year, Latin III and French III will be given in the 12th grade.

Book reports are required. But, said Mrs. Keenan, it's almost impossible to tell whether the pupil has read the book or the comic book version of it.

Mr. Waldron said that the budget for next year will include provision for a full-time High School librarian, something new.

A new wrinkle is a Junior Division Program, mostly for seventh and eighth grades. The purpose of this is to encourage pupils to continue in subjects in which they are successful, and to help them in fields in which they are not so successful. That is, instead of saying that a pupil "fails" a whole year's work, he goes ahead in subjects he passes and gets assistance in the others. This arrangement keeps him going along with his contemporaries and, it is hoped, will encourage some to stay in school longer.

VOKES ELECTS

George Vinsonhaler was reelected president of the Vokes Players at their annual meeting, attended by 148 of the organization's 200 members, at the theatre on December 4. Blackie Grannis was reelected treasurer, Marjorie Blanchard was elected secretary, Fessenden Morse vice president and Ruby Fields, member of the Board for three years. The program was in charge of Frank Hatch, whose original musical about Wayland, "One on the Town", will be presented by Vokes in March.

Heart Fund

Mrs. John B. Donner of Haven Lane is chairman of the 1955 Heart Fund Campaign in Cochituate and Mrs. Edward J. O'Neill of Oxbow Road is chairman for the same campaign in Wayland, it was announced. The campaign will be conducted in February.

Historians Discuss Old Days in Town

The meeting of the Wayland Historical Society, held in the Shaw Room of the Wayland Library on Dec. 13, was enlivened by recollections of old times in Town, largely furnished by Ralph P. Heard and George F. Dickey, whose ancestry and acquaintances go far back.

The immediate subject was the 10 houses on Old Sudbury Road, between the railroad tracks and Bow Road. Mrs. Sophia W. Sears and Mrs. John A. Brownell presided, and Mrs. Willard B. Dik took notes, to preserve the information.

Some of the tidbits:

The Dr. J. Penteado Bill House, built in 1771, is the oldest in the section.

The first railroad trains went through in 1881. Service lapsed between 1883 and 1885, but has been continued ever since. At one time, many years ago, the Federal Express from Boston to New York and Washington, went over this line. Calvin Coolidge, when he was Governor, used to use this line all the time, on his trips between Northampton and Boston.

LWV Asks Article on Recreation for Warrant

After a long study of recreation in Town, the Wayland League of Women Voters has prepared an article for the March Town Meeting. It goes this way:

"To see if the Town will appoint a committee to study the recreational facilities of the Town and make recommendations to the Town with respect thereto."

STEPHEN HYLAND, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hyland, Plain Road, was awarded a JV letter in football at Vermont Academy, Saxtons River, Vt.

Tom Barr Surprised By Retirement Party

Tom Barr, who runs Benson's store in the Center and has been a member of the Wayland Fire Department since 1942, was surprised with a speech and the presentation to him of a watch at a Fire Department dinner in his honor at the Cochituate fire station on Dec. 13.

Mr. Barr, who has recently retired from the Department, was enticed into attending the party by the carefully planted suggestion that it was being held for Chief Clifton Haynes, who was about to leave for a couple of weeks in Florida.

The presentation was made by Police Chief Ernest H. Damon, now a Fire Engineer, whose service dates back to 1919 and is the longest in the Department. Mr. Barr said he thanked everybody, and that he was pretty happy about it. It was a complete surprise.

The roast beef dinner was prepared by Albin O. Holgerson of Stonebridge Road, chef at Red Coach Grill, who devoted his night off to it. One and all called it delicious. Sixty firemen and their wives and friends attended.

Mr. Barr joined the Department during World War II, when there was a need for men for such service. Nice things were also said about Mrs. Barr and the Barr daughters, who used to appear at fires with sandwiches and coffee for the firemen.

Trick or Treat Nets $205

Children of Wayland raised a total of $205 for underprivileged children of the world in the UNICEF collection taken up at Halloween, it is reported. Chairman of the collection committee was Rev. George Hodgkins. Also on the committee were Mrs. David Trageser, Mrs. John J. Simoni and Mrs. George Gutekunst.

Hammer Re-elected Red Cross Head

The annual meeting of the Wayland chapter of the Red Cross was held November 18 at the Library, with the election of officers and committee chairmen

Gifford W. Ross, field representative for the Red Cross, spoke, relating his vast experiences in Korea as the Red Cross' international representative.

Alexander W. Hammer, of Lincoln Road, was re-elected chairman of the local chapter. Other officers re-elected were Mrs. Pierpoint Blair, vice chairman; Willard B. Dik, treasurer, and Mrs. Robert J. Pfeiffer, secretary.

Committee chairmen elected included Mrs. F. Stetson Eddy, Jr., service groups; Mrs. John A. Brownell, canteen; Mrs. Blair, home service; Mrs. George K. Lewis, blood donor; Mr. and Mrs. John Dunning, disaster; Mrs. Richard Rice, home nursing; Mrs. Richard A. York, Junior Red Cross; Ernest M. Cherry, life saving and water safety; Mrs. C. Azel Collins, motor services; John Bandelin, fund, and George A. Douglas, Jr., publicity.

Directors elected were Mr. and Mrs. Dik, Charles Gaston Smith, Dr. James Jandl, Rev. Raymond G. Manker, Rev. William J. Carty, Rev. George Hodgkins and William Hulbert.

BUDGET IS $4900

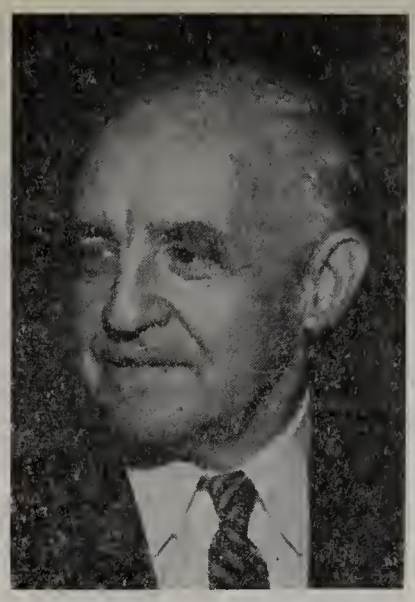
In his treasurer's report, Mr. Dik announced that the budget for the coming year will be $4,900. Chief items are $2,500 for the home service program and $1,500 for the swimming program.

The home service committee, according to Mrs. Blair's report on the year's activities, acted on 38 cases, 19 of which involved aid to servicemen and their families. The committee also aided 12 veterans and their families and seven civilians and their families.

The veteran group, Mrs. Blair reported, required for the most part financial assistance for medical expenses and emergency grants for food and fuel. Bedding and clothing were purchased for some families. Approximately, $1,662.50 was spent aiding veterans and their families, Mrs. Blair said.

FINANCIAL AID GIVEN

In three instances financial assistance, amounting to $305, was given to local servicemen's families to cover emergency situations caused by critical illness, Mrs. Blair stated. There were three cases, in this group, where medical reports were required and families were aided in preparing affidavits for compassionate transfers. The other cases were requests for health and welfare reports and furlough confirmations.



DR. FRANK P. GRAHAM

Mrs. Blair reported that approximately $200 was spent on civilian families in the town during the past year. In addition to the money spent, the home service committee supplied layettes and used clothing.

A total of 1,245 school children were members of the Junior Red Cross, according to Mrs. York's report, and this group's activities included sending good will packages overseas and the baking of 45 dozen cookies for the Easter Sunday coffee serving at the Bedford Veterans' Hospital. The school children also collected comic books to give to the children at the Waltham State Hospital.

Sudbury Valley Trustees

The annual meeting of the Sudbury Valley Trustees, Inc., will be held Tuesday, January 25, at the Wayland Public Library, in the evening. There will be a short business meeting, after which Mr. Norman Harris of Rich Valley Road, director of education at the Science Museum, will speak. Refreshments afterwards. Everybody welcome.

Dr. Frank Graham To Speak Jan. 21

Dr. Frank P. Graham, university president, Senator, and United Nations representative, will speak to the Wayland United Nations Association on Friday, January 21. The meeting, the second in a series, will be held in the High School cafeteria-library at 8:15 p.m.

Dr. Graham, who has honorary degrees from 13 universities, will speak on various phases of the United Nations in the world today. He served as U. S. representative on the United Nations Committee in the Dutch-Indonesian dispute, as a member of the U.N. mediation panel, and later as U.N. representative for India and Pakistan.

From 1949 to 1950 he served as U. S. Senator from North Carolina, and from 1930 to 1949 as President of the University of North Carolina.

Non-members and guests are invited to attend by payment of a fee of $1.00 at the door.

Health Center Topic of Woman's Club Talk

The possibilities for community service in the new Parmenter Health Center will be the subject of a talk to be given at the Wayland Woman's Club, Tuesday, January 4, at 3 p.m., in the vestry of the First Parish Church by Dr. Charles F. Wilinsky, the Center's consultant. The Woman's Club has taken this institution and its needs as its project for the year, and the talk will tie in with the opening on January 19. Refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Mrs. Pierpoint Blair.

The next meeting of the Woman's Club, on Tuesday, February 1, will be the annual evening guest-night, held at the High School auditorium. The Club will present Deana and John Sweet in "Dramatic Dialogues," an original program of character sketches in drama, comedy, and farce. This couple has played together in Paris, London, and New York. Mr. Sweet is a professor at Bowdoin College. Guest tickets will be available at the door at fifty cents each.

D.B.W. Almanac

Thripple, Schools and Cadillacs Predicted

Not to be outdone by the Old Farmer's Almanac, the Old Town Crier herewith publishes its predictions for 1955:

Jan. 11...Special Town Meeting. People vote three new school houses.

Jan. 27. Hurricane with snow. Power goes off for five days. Edison Company sends regrets and bills as usual.

Feb. 2. Groundhog Day. Woodchucks come out and snarl at people because gardens aren't yet in shape to be eaten up.

Feb. 23. Skidoo, ancient term meaning, "Ain't you the one!"

March. Town meeting. Six new schools voted. Also 12 new policemen, 18 new firemen and three smoke inspectors. Frogs sing in swamps. Bird watchers see a buff thripple and report to Audubon Society, which sends a committee.

April. Signs of love visible among the young. The old still don't like each other. Sign of wisdom, maybe. But Cochituate character says "I think Wayland elm trees are pretty," and Wayland character says, "I think Cochituate people have hearts of gold."

May. Enemy air attack, repelled by guided missiles from Fort North Wayland. All residents of Town get Croix de Guerre. Wayland High beats Weston High in baseball, as in basketball in the winter.

June. Sudbury River is cleaned up and local resident catches well-washed mermaid. Throws her back. Finds she's married. Goes over to Lake Cochituate and looks at human girls.

July. Raytheon plant looks big. Tax rate drops to $11. Two hundred residents buy Cadillacs.

August. Dry spell. Residents forbidden to drink water. Rule bothers the better element. Sudbury mosquitoes tear holes in screens. Six hundred nineteen new houses built so far this year. Special Town Meeting votes four new school houses. Crimson barred nutcracker seen in swamp. Local contractor makes his fourth million. Little League baseball team is scourge of the countryside, beating ears off other little boys with bats.

September. Schools reopen with 11,495 pupils. Double sessions for 4,598 of them. Six new schools voted, plus junior college and school of home building. Another contractor joins the four million club, endows chair of wiring. Electric chair. Ha!

October. Stock market declines, 198 Cadillacs go up on blocks. Three schools torn down. Market goes up again, people buy 84 more Cadillacs, build football stadium to seat 25,000. School Committee sends to Pennsylvania for tackles and halfbacks with steel mill backgrounds. Got to pay for that stadium.

November. New Town office building takes shape. Ike wires congratulations as sextuplets are born to Wayland woman who lives in two-bedroom ranch house. At special Town Meeting citizens vote 12 more schools, invite Harvard, Notre Dame and Vassar to move their buildings here, negotiate with big brewery for plant on Sudbury River. Wayland beats Weston, 400 to 0, in new stadium. Fireworks from Fort North Wayland in honor of the victory.

December. Eighteen new schools dedicated. Only 2,345 pupils now in double sessions. Toll road shuts off Natick. Christmas again. All Cadillacs in Town mortgaged. Season of good will. Cochituate character says "I love Wayland" and Wayland character says "I love Cochituate." Special emergency Town Meeting on Christmas Eve votes $150,000,000 bond issue for educational purposes.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. MARY E. FAIRCLOUGH, 60, a resident at 5 Carroll Place, Cochituate, for many years and the only daughter of the late John and Mary E. (Meaney) Lynn, old time residents, died Dec. 14 in the Leonard Morse Hospital, following a long illness. A requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Zepherin's Church on Dec. 16 at 9 a.m., with burial in the family lot in St. Zepherin's Cemetery.

MRS. ANNA L. SPAULDING, 86, widow of Elmer E. Spaulding of 42 Pemberton Road, Cochituate, died Monday, Nov. 29, following a brief illness. She was a native of East Brookfield, leaves a sister, Mrs. Fannie L. Clark of Southville, a niece and three nephews. The minister of Edwards' Congregational Church of Saxonville conducted services Wednesday, Dec. 1. Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher was organist and burial followed in Edwards' Churchyard Cemetery in Saxonville.

LEON H. HICKS, 83, a resident at 1 Stanton Street, Cochituate, for some 40 years, died Nov. 20, in a rest home. A native of East Bridgewater, he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Frances E. Bolivar of Auburn, Mass., Mrs. Bernice M. Celorier of Cochituate and Mrs. Erma W. Powers of Jamaica Plain. Services were conducted on Nov. 24 by Rev. George C. Gutekunst, pastor of the Cochituate Methodist Church. Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher was organist and burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery in Quincy.

MISS MARY M. GILMOUR, 80, who lived with Miss Mabel E. Damon at 67 Old Sudbury Road, Wayland, died Nov. 26 in a rest home. A native of Nova Scotia, she belonged to the Highland Congregational Church of Roxbury, whose minister, Rev. William Arthur Rice, conducted services Sunday, Nov. 28. Mrs. Jennie Wright Schleicher was organist. Burial was in North Cemetery, Wayland.

(Funeral services for the above were held, except if otherwise stated, from the Gibbs Memorial Funeral Home.)

THEODORE R. MAGOUN

Magoun Appointed Fin Com Member

Theodore R. Magoun, of Eden Road, in the Oak Street section, is a new member of the Finance Committee, appointed on December 6 for a three-year term. He replaces Frederick S. Whiteside of Rice Road, whose term expired.

John W. Leavitt of the Board of Selectmen says an effort is made to appoint Finance Committee members on a fair geographical basis. Mr. Magoun, like Mr. Whiteside, lives in the southeastern corner of Town.

The Finance Committee, of which Robert M. Morgan is chairman, has already begun the job of getting ready for the March Town Meeting by meeting with each Town department to study budgets.

"Firm and Fair"

Is Howard Russell's Motto

(In this Town are many men and women who deserve to be better known. From time to time, beginning with this little sketch of Mr. Russell, by Joan Mills, the Crier hopes to put the spotlight on some of them.)

Town Moderator Howard S. Russell, a master parliamentarian, has presided at Town Meeting for 15 years without having to toss a single citizen out of the hall. Unfortunately for those who love a fine fracas, order and dignity are likely to prevail for some time to come, inasmuch as he has long been unopposed in his candidacy for this office and expresses no wish to retire.

"OLD CHARACTERS GONE"

Avoiding open fisticuffs isn't the challenge it used to be, says the moderator, looking over some of the more strident sessions; "All the old characters are gone."

Used to be, when the meetings were held in the old Town Hall, the acoustics were better and everybody heard everything that was said, which led to some pretty lively discussion. These smaller, more intimate meetings had a smaller, more intimate budget to deal with, too, and anybody who wanted to could take a whack at any item.

The first time Mr. Russell presided, an irate opponent to a zoning proposal had gone to the trouble of distributing to every house in Wayland a flyer which demanded, "Don't allow the Oligarchy to compel you to buy a palatial estate when you will be satisfied with a fine homestead of 10,000 square feet!"

As the meeting opened on this belligerent note, it soon became obvious that Wayland was following its time-honored custom of initiating a freshman moderator with a flurry of attempts to be fuddle him. But the zoning issue was disposed of with no bones broken and the moderator still serene.

On a similar occasion, the two leaders of bitterly opposing camps became so embroiled in debate that Mr. Russell, brought to the limit of his parliamentary patience, was forced for the only time in his career to seat a speaker. The meeting was adjourned and Mr. Russell took advantage of the delay for a diplomatic visit to the antagonists. He found each grimly boning up on "Roberts Rules of Order", in preparation for the next bout.

The rule he sets himself is, "Be firm and be fair." His interest in procedure stems from his youth in Arlington, where he was a debating club founder and a great admirer of that town's moderator, Judge John G. Brackett.
